BOARD OF REGENTSSUMMARY OF ITEM FOR ACTION,
INFORMATION, OR DISCUSSION

TOPIC: New Academic Program Proposal:
Bowie State University: Bachelor of Science in Chemistry

COMMITTEE: Education Policy and Student Life

DATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: Bowie State University (BSU) proposes to offer the Bachelor of Science in Chemistry program in response to the growing disparity in minority participation in the STEM workforce pipeline at the state and national levels. Chemistry degrees awarded from Maryland's Historically Black Institutions have declined from 19 in 2008 to 7 in 2018. The proposed Chemistry program for Bowie State builds upon the success of the University as a top 5 producer of graduates in nursing, biology and computer/ information sciences and, moreover, leverages the research and instructional laboratories in the Center for Natural Sciences, Mathematics and Nursing building that opened in spring 2017. Prior to the building's opening, BSU did not have instructional and lab space necessary to offer a Chemistry program.

The proposed Chemistry program is also designed to support three existing programs: nursing, biology, and bioinformatics and provides the core basis for additional programming at the post-baccalaureate level. The program would be offered in a face-to-face format on Bowie's main campus.

ALTERNATIVE(S): The Regents may not approve the program or may request further information.

FISCAL IMPACT: No additional funds are required. The programs can be supported by the projected tuition and fees revenue.

CHANCELLOR'S RECOMMENDATION: That the Education Policy and Student Life Committee recommend that the Board of Regents approve the proposals from Bowie State University to offer the Bachelor of Science in Chemistry.

Robert L. Caret, Ph.D.
Chancellor
University System of Maryland
3300 Metzgerott Road
Adelphi, Maryland 20783-1690

Dear Chancellor Caret,

The purpose of this letter is to request your approval of a new academic program - Bachelor of Science in Chemistry (HEGIS 190500 / CIP 400501).

The new Chemistry program is designed to prepare four-year college students with the theory and with practical experience in the field of chemistry. In addition, this program will be a gateway to graduate programs in chemistry, materials sciences, engineering and biochemistry with which Bowie State students have, in the past, neither been acquainted nor qualified. In addition, the program will better prepare students for further study in medical and allied sciences, nanotechnology, biotechnology, molecular biology, bioinformatics, pharmacy, food science, environmental science, patent law, microbiology, physiology and engineering. The proposed program was developed in response to the growing disparity in minority participation in the STEM workforce at the state and national levels. Chemistry degrees from Maryland's Historically Black Institutions have declined from 19 in 2008 to 7 in 2018.

The new Center for Natural Sciences, Mathematics and Nursing has provided the necessary classroom and laboratory space to expand Bowie's STEM academic programs. The university looks forward to enhancing Maryland's STEM workforce with qualified graduates from under-represented populations. Please contact Gayle Fink, Assistant Vice President for Institutional Effectiveness (gfink@bowiestate.edu) or myself if you require any additional information about the Biotechnology concentration.

Sincerely,

Debrenna LaFa Agbenyiga, Ph.D.
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs

Mission

Bowie State University (BSU) is a comprehensive university that provides 21st century learners with a strong foundation for success with a well-rounded academic experience, an inclusive environment, and hands-on learning opportunities. Building on its rich legacy as a training ground for teachers since 1865, the university is committed to providing access to a high-quality education and cultivating emerging leaders who are prepared to succeed in a changing, global society.

The proposed Chemistry program contributes to the university's mission by empowering "a diverse population of students to reach their potential by providing innovative academic programs" and by supporting Maryland's workforce and economy. The Bachelor of Science in Chemistry contributes to the achievement of Bowie's FY 2019 – FY 2024 Racing to Excellence Strategic Plan, specifically Goal 1 Academic Excellence, Objective 1.1 High-demand, innovative academic programs. The new Center for Natural Sciences, Mathematics and Nursing has provided the necessary classroom and laboratory space to expand Bowie's STEM academic programs. The Center contains 25 research and instructional labs, 14 flexible classrooms, 5 active learning classrooms and labs and a fully enclosed greenhouse. The university is committed to providing opportunities to traditionally underrepresented populations in STEM fields. BSU is a top 5 university in Maryland for graduating African-Americans with bachelor's degrees in nursing, biology and computer/information sciences (Diverse: Issues in Higher Education). The addition of the Chemistry program will prepare underrepresented minorities for employment in the medical, academic, governmental or private sector chemical, environmental, biotech and life sciences industries.

Characteristics of the Proposed Program

This program is designed to meet the immediate and future requirements of students seeking varied career paths. It is designed to prepare four-year college students with the theory and with practical experience in the field of chemistry. In addition, this program will be a gateway to graduate programs in chemistry, materials sciences, engineering and biochemistry with which Bowie State students have, in the past, neither been acquainted nor qualified. In addition, the program will better prepare students for further study in medical and allied sciences, nanotechnology, biotechnology, molecular biology, bioinformatics, pharmacy, food science, environmental science, patent law, microbiology, physiology and engineering. This program will be run by the Department of Natural Sciences. Bowie State University currently offers majors in Biology and Bioinformatics in the Department of Natural Sciences and has enjoyed a growing reputation for education and research in recent years. The proposed major in chemistry will be an upgrade of the minor in chemistry and further grow the number of under-represented minority chemists in Maryland and the surrounding region. Departmental faculty are diverse in gender, race, and ethnic background and are committed to serving as student mentors and role models. The faculty have considerable expertise in the area of chemistry including analytical, organic, inorganic, physical and biochemistry, with five full-time faculty whose research is either underway or being established. An additional full-time faculty member specializing in Inorganic Chemistry is in the process of being hired. In this degree program Chemistry students will study composition, structure, properties, and reactions of matter with emphasis on atomic and molecular systems.

The proposed Chemistry B.S. degree will focus on preparing graduates for employment and for entrance into professional schools through interdisciplinary research experiences both internally and externally, in biomedical, pharmaceutical, and biochemistry fields and internship opportunities for students whose career paths are in the chemical or pharmaceutical sectors of industry, business and government.

Adequacy of curriculum design and delivery to related learning outcomesCurriculum Design and Delivery

This degree program will include 68 credits of core and supporting courses, 12 credits of electives and 40 general education requirements. Below is a listing of courses. Core and supporting course descriptions are included in Appendix A.

Core Courses:

Educational Objectives:

This program is designed to provide opportunities for students to attain advanced knowledge in the field of chemistry and to serve as a support discipline for Biology and Bioinformatics majors. The specific objectives are the following:

- Provide students with a broad knowledge of the major concepts, theoretical principles and experimental findings in chemistry
- Develop students' ability to understand and competently apply chemical concepts to everyday life, and specifically in their particular chosen career path
- Promote advanced scientific knowledge and skills to meet professional career demands
- Prepare students for, and foster an interest, in a post-baccalaureate education in chemistry, pharmacy, research, health professionals, engineering and other related fields in science.

Learning Goals and Objectives:

Students majoring in chemistry will:

- Understand major concepts, theoretical principles and experimental findings in chemistry
- Master basic scientific research skills by conducting experiments, analyzing data, interpreting results and employing safe laboratory practices
- Utilize chemical instrumentation and other appropriate technology for analysis
- Work effectively as a member of a diverse team
- Employ critical thinking and effective problem solving techniques in the classroom and in the laboratory
- Communicate effectively in both written and oral expression
- Utilize appropriate library and technological tools to conduct research and evaluate scientific information

Adequacy of provisions for evaluation of program (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.15).

Course-level student learning outcomes will be evaluated through quizzes, lab reports, papers and final exams. Courses taught in multiple sections and/or by multiple professors will be subjected to a standardized final to ensure that students are learning the same core concepts. A curriculum map of program student learning outcomes identifies in which courses concepts are introduced, reinforced and mastered and the evaluation method. In addition, all seniors in the seminar courses will have to successfully complete an exit exam. Program student learning outcomes data are evaluated annually according to the program assessment plan. Findings from the annual review are shared and discussed with Departmental faculty and improvements are developed according to the findings. An annual program assessment report is required for all of Bowie's academic programs.

Faculty members are evaluated on teaching performance by the students every semester. Peer faculty observations occur annually. The department chair also evaluates faculty performance against standards developed by the Faculty Evaluation Committee.

Consistency with the State's minority student achievement goals (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.05 and in the State Plan for Postsecondary Education)

As Maryland's first Historically Black Institution, Bowie State University is committed to providing access to high quality higher education to African-Americans and other under-represented minorities. The goals established in the University's Racing to Excellence FY 2019 – FY 2024 Strategic Plan support student achievement and long-term viability of the institution and align with the goals in the 2017-2021 State Plan for Postsecondary Education: Student Success with Less Debt. Specifically, Bowie continues to support educational opportunity for Marylanders (Success, Strategy 4), engage in a continuous improvement process to ensure that institutional policies and practices support student success (Success, Strategy 5), provide alternative modalities, new programs and pedagogies and streamlined student and academic support services to facilitate timely degree completion (Success, Strategy 6) (Innovation, Strategy 9), integrate high impact practices into the student experience, including career advising and planning into internship experiences (Success, Strategy 7), partner with business, government and other institutions to support workforce development and graduate readiness (Innovation, Strategy 8), and expand support for grant participation and research (Innovation, Strategy 10). Bowie State faculty, staff, students and administrators are engaging in change management strategies and embracing experimentation so that we can better meet the holistic needs of our students (Innovation, Strategy 11).

Bowie State University has a long-standing core commitment to diversity; it values and celebrates diversity in all of its forms. The University community believes that its educational environment is enriched by the diversity of individuals, groups and cultures that come together in a spirit of learning. As the University aspires to even greater racial diversity, it fully embraces the global definition of diversity that acknowledges and recognizes differences and advances knowledge about race, gender, ethnicity, national origin, political persuasion, culture, sexual orientation, religion, age, and disability. The University creates positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty and staff through infusing global diversity awareness in the curriculum, expanding co-curricular programming that promotes diversity awareness and maintaining a campus climate that respects and values diversity.

Relationship to low productivity programs identified by the Commission:

This program is in the Natural Sciences Department and has no relationship with a low productivity program identified by the Commission.

Critical and compelling regional or statewide need as identified in the State Plan:

The 2017-2021 State Plan for Postsecondary Education: Student Success with Less Debt Strategy 4 continues the focus on equal educational opportunities for Marylanders. Under this strategy, the plan calls for continued support for Historically Black College and Universities.

Quantifiable & reliable evidence and documentation of market supply & demand in the region and State:

According to a Pew Research Center report, “Blacks and Hispanics continue to be underrepresented in the STEM workforce.” The number of minority chemists remains a challenge. The American Chemistry Society reports that 9 percent of its membership identified as an under-represented minority and only 2 percent identified as African-American. According to the report “Minorities in the Chemical Workforce: Diversity Models that Work” there is a general recognition that the future success of the chemical enterprise will require the full participation of all demographic groups.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the anticipated growth of chemistry for 2016-26 is expected to grow 6 percent (+5,700 positions) in the United States. Maryland and Virginia are projected to grow the number of chemists by 3 percent each over the same time period.

Students upon completing Bowie’s Chemistry program can continue to advance their chemistry education at many top-tier universities in the Washington DC area. There are several government agencies interested in hiring chemists that are located throughout the greater Washington/Baltimore area. A few such agencies are NIH, FDA, and USPTO. According the Maryland Department of Commerce, the state leads the world in adult stem cell production and vaccine development, and represents one of the largest life sciences clusters in the U.S. with 500+ biotech firms, 2,260 life sciences companies, the NIH, the FDA, Johns Hopkins University, the University of Maryland, and plenty of funding and guidance resources.

Reasonableness of program duplication:

Bowie State University is the only institution in the University System of Maryland that does not have an undergraduate chemistry program. Both Morgan State University and St. Mary’s College of Maryland have the program as does Goucher College, Hood College, Johns Hopkins University, Loyola University of Maryland, McDaniel College, Mount St. Mary’s University, Notre Dame of Maryland University, Stevenson University, Washington Adventist University and Washington College. The curriculum for undergraduate chemistry programs is very similar across the institutions. However, the proposed Chemistry program for Bowie State is designed to support three high-demand existing programs at the institution: nursing, biology, and bioinformatics; more importantly, the chemistry program at Bowie State will serve to significantly increase African American/Black chemists graduating from USM schools and to help to meet a statewide demand to recruit more diverse graduates in all STEM fields.

Relevance to Historically Black Institutions (HBIs)

According to trend data from the Maryland Higher Education Commission, the number of baccalaureate degrees awarded in Chemistry has risen 27 percent since 2008 – from 168 to 213. Chemistry degrees from Historically Black Institutions (HBIs) have declined from 19 – 7 over this same time. In FY 2018, chemistry graduates from Maryland HBIs accounted for only 3 percent of all chemistry graduates.

As one of Maryland's Historically Black institutions, Bowie State serves an under-represented minority population, and respect and understanding of diversity is central to its mission of advancing minority student achievement. The goals of the new program are to meet the demand for additional STEM programs at HBCUs, support other STEM programs on campus, and to increase the number of African American/Black chemists in a geographical area that is searching for qualified graduates to serve in the field. Additionally, Bowie State University is compliant with all stipulations of Title VI, Title IX, and Section 504.

If proposing a distance education program, please provide evidence of the Principles of Good Practice (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.22C).

Not applicable

Resources and FinanceAdequacy of faculty resources (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.11).

The addition of the Chemistry program has been in the planning stages since the approval of the new Center for Natural Sciences, Nursing and Mathematics building. The Natural Sciences Department has been adding full-time, tenured faculty with the research and scholarship qualifications to support this proposal. The current full-time, tenure/tenure-track faculty members are listed below. A part-time Chemistry Lab Coordinator supports faculty with Chemistry I and II. Other part-time faculty are rotated each semester.

Name	Appointment Type & Rank	Terminal Degree	Courses	Status
Dr. Ray Moharezzadeh	Tenured/Associate Professor	Ph.D.	Physical and General Chemistry	Full-time
Dr. Eric Bonsu	Tenured/Associate Professor	Ph.D.	Organic and General Chemistry	Full-Time
Dr. Alan Anderson	Tenured/Associate Professor	Ph.D.	Organic Chemistry	Full-Time
Dr. Jacqueline Smith	Tenure Track/Assistant Professor	Ph.D.	Organic Chemistry and Analytical Chemistry	Full-Time
Hiring	Tenure track/Assistant Professor	Ph.D.	Inorganic Chemistry	Full-Time

Adequacy of library resources (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.12).

The Thurgood Marshall Library at Bowie State University has access to a variety of material that can be used for chemistry education and research. Bowie State has access to SciFinder through the Chemical Abstracts Services (CAS) which is a comprehensive database of published scientific literature from around the world. SciFinder provides access to literature references, reactions and chemical substances on one platform. It is a great tool for researchers and students. The campus library also has a subscription to the American Chemical Society (ACS) Publications, which includes access to 51 scholarly journals which spans all areas of chemistry. ASC Publications also includes eBooks which can be used as reference material or teaching supplements. Students also have access to Chemical & Engineering News through ACS Publications. This journal gives scientists and students access to current events in chemistry as well as job opportunities in the field. In addition to SciFinder and ACS Publications, the library has a subscription with the Journal of Visual Experimentation (JoVE). JoVE is an innovative journal which provides access to scientific videos that can be used for research training and advancement as well as science education. Faculty and students currently use JoVE for the Organic Chemistry Laboratories in order to have the students see the protocol they will be conducting beforehand. Also, Bowie State has access to the USMAI Catalog which allows access to books and media from all the University System of Maryland Libraries through interlibrary loans. Therefore, the Thurgood Marshall Library at Bowie State has an abundance of resources that can be used to support chemistry students.

Adequacy of physical facilities, infrastructure and instructional equipment (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.13)

In June of 2017 Bowie State University opened a $100-million dollar, 6,000 square foot, Center for Natural Sciences, Mathematics and Nursing building. This facility houses 23 new research labs, four of which are chemistry teaching labs and two are chemistry/biochemistry research labs. Bowie State has dedicated teaching labs for Organic, Inorganic, Analytical, and Physical Chemistry. In addition, this new facility has been equipped with new instrumentation, which gives students access in order to conduct the following analytical and characterization methods:

- Optical molecular spectroscopy (Nicolet FT-IR, Carey Eclipse Fluorescence Spectrometer, Double Beam UV-Vis Spectrophotometer)
- Optical atomic spectroscopy (Spectro ICP-OES)
- Mass spectrometry (Agilent GC/Mass Spectrometer 6850 system)
- Chromatography and separations (ThermoFischer HPLC, HPTLC)
- On-site NMR instrumentation (Bruker 400 MHz, JEOL 60 MHz)

In addition supplemental instrumentation including x-ray diffraction system (including Rigaku RU-250 rotating anode x-ray generator/confocal mirrors, Raxis-IV image plate detector, SGI protein crystallography workstation, SGI protein modeling workstation, etc.), imaging and microscopy systems (Nikon Fluorescent Microscope, JEOL 1050ex TEM microscope, Delong Electron Microscope etc.), as well as biochemical instrumentation (Azure c600 Gel Imager, Omega Multimodal Plate Reader, PHAST electrophoresis system, Floor centrifuge/refrigerated with rotors, Bench-top centrifuge/refrigerated with rotors, DNA Spectrophotometer Nano Drop, Walz Imaging PAM, Biorad CFX96 Real Time PCR, etc.).

The President and Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs have committed to continued support to maintain adequate equipment and facilities to meet the Chemistry program's needs. Senior leadership has also provided an assurance that physical facilities, infrastructure and instruction equipment are satisfactory in order to deliver high-quality instruction to 21st century STEM learners.

Adequacy of financial resources with documentation (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.14)

As stated earlier, Bowie State University has been planning the Chemistry program proposal for a number of years and has committed institutional resources to the proposal and will enhance its commitment through budget reallocation. The number of students in the undergraduate STEM programs pursuing a Bachelor of Science degree currently is approximately 550. From a formal survey of current biology students, about 10% of these students would opt for pursuing the program in Chemistry. The department anticipates admitting 12 new students per year for the first five years. This will place the number of students at a peak of 48 during the first four years of the program.

Resources and Expenditures

Table I Revenue projects enrollment for full-time-equivalent students, and number of full-time equivalent faculty for the initial five-year period. The Department estimates that 10-15 new students will be admitted in the first year, 20-25 the second year, increasing to a max of 45 full and part-time students in Year 4 and 5. Graduates are expected by the fourth year.

Table 2 Expenditures acknowledges that although most of the faculty and support staff, instructional tools and facilities are already in place in the Natural Sciences Department, it is anticipated that the new proposed program will require an additional full-time faculty member, one adjunct faculty and a lab coordinator. Additional costs for advertising and promotional materials are estimated at $2500/year.

Course Descriptions

CHEM 107 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): MATH 141 or MATH 125. The lecture portion of the course focuses on the fundamental principles of chemistry dealing with structure of matter, valence, gases, oxidation, equations, formation of compounds, and solution of problems. The laboratory component includes experiments in measurement principles, gravimetric analysis, physical behavior of gases and chemical reactions in solutions. Three hours lecture, two hours laboratory per week.

CHEM 108 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): CHEM 107 or MATH 141. This course is a continuation of CHEM 107. The lecture portion focuses on chemical reactions in solutions, chemical thermodynamics, equilibrium, ionic equilibrium, chemical kinetics, and electrochemistry, the general theory of acids and bases and nuclear chemistry. The laboratory component includes experiments in thermodynamics, kinetics, electrochemistry, physical behavior of gases and chemical reactions in solutions. Three hours lecture, two hours laboratory per week.

CHEM 201 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): CHEM 107. The lecture portion of the course will include chemical bonding, acid/base theory, thermodynamics, kinetics, organic structure, isomerism, stereochemistry, infrared spectroscopy, NMR nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy, mass spectroscopy, nomenclature principles, and the chemistry of several organic chemical functional groups. The laboratory portion of the course will include methods of purification/separation of organic chemicals, chemical kinetics, instrumental analytical techniques, and several organic syntheses. Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory per week.

CHEM 202 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): CHEM 201. This course is a continuation of CHEM 201. The lecture portion of the course will include oxygen containing functional groups, aromaticity, benzene and its derivatives, carbanions, nitrogen containing functional groups, heterocyclics, and nuclear magnetic resonance. The laboratory portion of the course will consist of organic syntheses and qualitative organic analysis. Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory per week.

CHEM 301 QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS 3 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): CHEM 107. Lecture and laboratory. This course will focus on the fundamental theory and practice of volumetric, gravimetric, and instrumental methods of analysis. The student is trained in chemical calculations as applied to quantitative analysis. Three hours of lecture a week.

CHEM 302 INSTRUMENTAL ANALYSIS 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): CHEM 201, 202. This course focuses on the basic theory, technique, and application of various instrumental method of analysis. Two hours of conference and six hours of laboratory a week.

CHEM 305 INORGANIC CHEMISTRY 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): CHEM 108. This course will cover modern theories in inorganic chemistry including atomic structure, molecular structure and bonding symmetry and point groups, molecular symmetry and its relationship to spectra, oxidation and reduction concepts, coordination chemistry, solid state, organometallic compounds. Three hours of lecture and two hours of laboratory a week.

CHEM 309 BIOCHEMISTRY I 3 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): CHEM 202. This course is a study of structure and function of proteins and carbohydrates. Topics include role and importance of water in biochemical reactions; introduction to structural and thermodynamic elements of enzymology and biochemical pathways; structure and function of allosteric proteins with a particular emphasis on hemoglobin; and carbohydrate metabolism, citric acid cycle, and oxidative phosphorylation.

CHEM 311 QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS 2 CREDITS

This lab CHEM must be taken concurrently with lecture CHEM 301. This course is a three-hour laboratory.

CHEM 401 PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY I 5 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): PHYS 272, and MATH 300. This course is an introduction to atomic and molecular structure and elementary thermodynamics. Three hours of lecture a week and 3 hours of laboratory.

CHEM 402 PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY II 2 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): CHEM 401 and CHEM 410. This course is a continuation of Physical Chemistry II, CHEM 401, including chemical kinetics and photochemistry.

CHEM 405 SEMINAR IN CHEMISTRY 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): Senior Standing Only. This course is a discussion of advanced topics in inorganic, organic, analytical, physical chemistry and biochemistry.

CHEM 406 RESEARCH IN CHEMISTRY 1-3 CREDITS

This course is an introduction to the literature of chemistry and the techniques of research.

CHEM 464 BIOCHEMISTRY LABORATORY 1 CREDIT

Must be taken concurrently with CHEM 309. This is a one credit course covering instruction in, and demonstration of, the basic laboratory techniques used in a modern biochemistry laboratory. Emphasis will be placed on the application of the lecture-based Biochemistry (Chemistry 309) course material to the understanding of protein structure and function including the theory and practical applications of protein isolation, purification and analysis of protein weight, size and pI. Included will be the theory and practice of the determination of protein structure by X-ray crystallography and the essentials of enzymology, including measurement of thermodynamic and kinetic constants, Lineweaver-Burke plots and enzyme inhibition.

COSC 112 COMPUTER SCIENCE I 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): None. This course is a study of the formal syntax and semantics of a programming language. Topics include expressions, assignments, declarations, control structures, arrays, data abstractions, subprograms, user interfaces, error handling, end of file handling, and string handling. Aspects of Software Engineering include top down design, structured programming, and style in programming conducted in a block structured language, such as Pascal, C, or C++. Ethical and social issues include information privacy, data reliability, data security, including wiretapping and encryption and ergonomics. This course may be used to satisfy the General Education Requirement in the Technology category.

MATH 225 CALCULUS I 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): MATH 150 equivalent transfer credit. This is the first of a two-course sequence in the study of the Calculus of one variable, concentrating on methods and applications of differentiation. Topics include: limits and continuity of real functions of one variable, differentiation and anti-differentiation of the standard elementary functions, the chain rule, Rolle's Theorem, the Mean Value Theorem, simple applications to optimization problems, graphing techniques, and an introduction to integration. Extensive use of graphing calculator/computer should be expected.

MATH 226 CALCULUS II 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): MATH 225 or equivalent transfer credit. This course provides the sequel to Calculus I. We concentrate on methods and applications of integration, and series summation. Topics include: various techniques of integration, including exact and approximate techniques, applications to problems involving work and solids of revolution, and an introduction to power series, including Taylor and MacLaurin series. Extensive use of graphing calculator/computer should be expected.

PHYS 271 GENERAL PHYSICS I 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): MATH 225 with a C or higher. This is a calculus-based course covering statics, dynamics, oscillatory motion, and thermodynamics. Students may not receive credit toward graduation for both PHYS 271 and PHYS 251.

PHYS 272 GENERAL PHYSICS II 4 CREDITS

Prerequisite(s): PHYS 271. This is a calculus-based course covering electricity, magnetism and optics. Students may not receive credit towards graduation for both PHYS 272 and PHYS 252.

BOARD OF REGENTSSUMMARY OF ITEM FOR ACTION,
INFORMATION, OR DISCUSSION

TOPIC: New Academic Program Proposal:
Towson University: Master of Arts in Dance Education

DATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The Dance Department in the College of Fine Arts and Communication at Towson University proposes a Master of Arts in Dance Education degree. This 36-credit program meets a workforce need to provide certified public-school dance teachers a part-time option for obtaining Maryland's "Advanced Certificate". By offering a part-time format, this program will remove one obstacle full-time teachers face when returning to school and ensure no lost work time. Towson University currently offers the only teacher certification in Dance within the state and is uniquely qualified to offer continued teacher training. The Dance Education program will focus on dance's contribution to learning, comprehensive educational value, and the promotion of the artist citizen.

With 167 current dance teachers in Maryland and 45% of Anne Arundel County Public School teachers needing the "Advanced Certificate", Towson University's program will be positioned to serve this need. It is also expected that other counties and new professionals will be attracted to this program. educators.

ALTERNATIVE(S): The Regents may not approve the program or may request further information.

FISCAL IMPACT: No additional funds are required. The programs can be supported by the projected tuition and fees revenue.

CHANCELLOR'S RECOMMENDATION: That the Education Policy and Student Life Committee recommend that the Board of Regents approve the proposals from Towson University to offer the Master of Arts in Dance Education.

Dear Chancellor Caret,

Towson University requests approval for a new Master of Arts in Dance Education,

This 36-credit program meets a workforce need to provide certified public school dance teachers a part-time option for obtaining Maryland's "Advanced Certificate". By offering a part-time format, this program will remove one obstacle full-time teachers face when returning to school and ensure no lost work time is required.

With 167 current dance teachers in Maryland and 45% of Anne Arundel County Public School teachers needing the "Advanced Certificate", Towson University's program will be positioned to serve this need. It is also expected other counties and new professionals will be attracted to this program.

Please find attached the program proposal. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

New Program Proposal

Master of Arts in Dance Education

Executive Summary

A. Centrality to institutional mission statement and planning priorities

The Masters of Arts in Dance Education (MADE) fulfills a critical need in public school dance education by providing flexible part-time graduate study within the discipline of dance not currently available to certified dance teachers employed full-time in the State of Maryland who need to qualify for the Advanced Certificate within 5 years of Initial Certification. The Dance Department offers the only Bachelor of Fine Arts in Dance and the only fully articulated teaching certificate concentration in the State of Maryland and is uniquely qualified to provide advanced study.

The proposed program will augment the Department of Dance's current offering of the Bachelor of Fine Arts in Dance Performance and Choreography. This thirty-six credit Master of Arts program emphasizes dance's unique contribution to learning, comprehensive educational value and promotion of the artist citizen.

The Master of Art in Dance Education is compatible with the Towson University mission by providing graduate education in the applied discipline of dance education and responds to the Baltimore metropolitan area educational and workforce needs. The proposed Master of Arts in Dance Education will contribute firmly to the TU Mission by 1) promoting mastery in dance education through deep reflective practice on the professional artist as pedagogue; 2) fostering innovative and diverse interdisciplinary engagement founded in individualized action research that reflects the student's diverse interests; and 3) all contextualized through the lens of the globally informed citizen artist educator. MADE preserves Towson University's leadership and innovation in the area of dance education.

B. Critical and compelling regional or Statewide need as identified in the State Plan

The Master of Arts in Dance Education (MADE) strongly addresses the 2017-2020 State Plan for Postsecondary Education: Student Success with Less Debt document in "fostering innovation in all aspects in Maryland higher education to improve access and student success." By offering a flexible program format, MADE resolves the challenges to student success that the adult student or returning professional encounters when seeking advanced study. Additionally, MADE will offer long-term graduate education opportunities to the undergraduate when considering their career trajectory. Most importantly, MADE offers a pathway for certified dance teachers to secure the Advanced Teaching Certificate required of the Maryland State Department of Education within the discipline of dance without taking a leave from their teaching positions.

C. Quantifiable and reliable evidence and documentation of market supply and demand in the region and State

The primary constituencies to be served are 1) K-12 certified dance educators, 2) qualified dance professionals and eligible non-degree seeking candidates that desire graduate study. Longitudinal data reports provided by the MSDE Fine Arts Office indicate a total of 167 dance teachers currently employed in the State of Maryland. Additionally, 45% of Anne Arundel County Public School dance educators currently need the graduate degree or its equivalent as reported by its Dance Coordinator. It is anticipated that comparable data describes the need in the three other counties with similarly sized dance offerings. A continued feed of candidates is expected as new dance educators enter the field. The Master of Arts in Dance Education program does not deliver the state teaching certificate. Candidates desiring the teaching certificate may be admitted concurrently to the existing Post Baccalaureate pathway currently available through the Department of Dance.

The proposed Master of Arts in Dance Education exemplifies Towson University's commitment to innovation in dance and teacher education. Graduates will be innovators in dance education as embodied knowledge that is fundamental to teaching and learning in the discipline. The primary constituency is certified dance professionals seeking advanced study in dance education requisite to retaining the Maryland State Department of Education's (MSDE) teaching certificate. A broader constituency includes professionals who already possess an undergraduate degree in dance and elect the MA as a prerequisite for doctoral study that culminates in the terminal degree or desires advanced study in dance education. These individuals will become active artist citizens in the classroom through exposure to a curriculum of globally informed, theoretically rich and embodied pedagogical practice.

Towson University has been the leader in dance education and state teacher certification since 1983 when it began the first State Approved Teacher Preparation program. Since that time, our graduates have had to seek graduate degrees (or their equivalents) either out-of-state or in non-dance disciplines in order to retain their certificates. The options for advanced study in dance is limited to the full-time residency program at the University of Maryland, College Park. The absence of a low residential Master's degree in Dance Education in the State of Maryland poses an unnecessary hardship for this population. The proposed Master of Arts in Dance Education would provide access to in-State advanced study in dance education without disrupting the candidate's professional teaching practice. It is a low residency program that is delivered in a flexible schedule of traditional, summer, and mini-mester terms to accommodate the working professional. Low residency is defined as the inclusion of some amount of distance education and brief on-campus or specific-site residencies of weekend intensives or several weeks. A cohort of 10 masters candidates is anticipated each year.

Table 1 below reflects an analysis of projected occupational demand in Maryland based on a crosswalk between the program's proposed Department of Education classification of instructional program taxonomical code with corresponding Bureau of Labor Statistics standard occupational code representing professions that graduates of this program could pursue. It indicates an annual demand of 1,570 positions.

Oce Code	Occupational Title	Employment		Change		Total	Educational Value
		2016	2026	Change	Replacement
25-1081	Education Teachers, Postsecondary	594	638	+44	459	503	Doctoral or professional degree
25-1121	Art, Drama, and Music Teachers, Postsecondary	865	932	+67	669	736	Doctoral or professional degree
25-2022	Middle School Teachers, Except Special and Career/Technical Education	7,677	8,253	+576	5,577	6,153	Bachelor's degree
25-2031	Secondary School Teachers, Except Special and Career/Technical Education	10,644	11,443	+799	7,503	8,302	Bachelor's degree

D. Reasonableness of program duplication

Considering the projected occupation demand and that no similar program of this kind at this level exists in Maryland program duplication does not present a challenge.

E. Relevance to the identity of Historically Black Institutions (HBIs)

Considering there is no similar program currently in existence at the graduate level, no impact upon the identity of HBIs is anticipated.

F. Relevance to high-demand programs at Historically Black Institutions (HBIs)

There are no similar programs in the state at this level; consequently, this proposed program is not anticipated to affect high demand programs at HBIs.

G. Adequacy of curriculum design and delivery to related learning outcomes

Course Title	Course Description	Credit Hours
Introduction to Laban Movement Analysis	Laban Movement Analysis (LMA) is a comprehensive vocabulary and analytic framework with which to identify patterns and changes of movement to perceive meaning. Learn to analyze the body in motion to become a more dynamic mover and communicator through understanding your movement preferences and investigate the many ways the body can shape itself and project into space.	Prerequisite
EDCI6881. Maryland Centers for Creative Classroom Intensive	MSDE Professional Development Intensives for fostering artful practices in pedagogy.	3 credit hours
IDFA703. Interdisciplinary Research Methods	Introduction to arts-based research methodologies and arts students drawing on their creative practice. This program-required course will explore theoretical frameworks and practical applications for arts-based research in education.	3 credit hours
DANC600. Global Pedagogy in Dance Education	This course explores the variety of pedagogical models from a cultural studies perspective as they apply to the student diversity reflected in contemporary dance education settings.	3 credit hours
DANC700. Culture of the Lived Body	Culture of the Lived Body examines theoretical models applied to a lived body, that is, a personal or subjective body, in tandem with models applied to a culturally inscribed or public body, and where they intersect. Topics include abjection, somatics, difference, and the influence of technology. Emphasis is placed on the role of dance in embodying these models, metaphorically and physically.	3 credit hours
DANC745. Personal Pedagogies: Embodied Practice	This course explores the embodied practices of master teachers in dance; positions these practices, along with their own, within current educational theoretical and pedagogical frameworks. Students will cultivate the values	3 credit hours and essential tools for consideration of the lived body as an integral part of the discourse of teaching and learning.

DANC845. Action Research in Pedagogical Inquiry	This course offers exemplars of master teachers within specific contexts as a guide for the summative goal for candidates to develop a plan of action for pedagogical inquiry. Students will review strategies of best-practices within the dance education field to hone their next steps for an Action Research experience. Questions and analysis will be designed in preparation for the implementation during their thesis practical phase of the capstone for the Masters in Dance Education.	3 credit hours
IDFA609. Integration Capstone Project	Implementation of action research project. Includes analysis, reflection and evaluation of project. Prerequisites: Graduate standing, and certification in teaching	3 credit hours
DANC898. Thesis	Conduct and document original research using appropriate research methods in dance education.	3 credit hours
Total Required Credit Hours		24 Credit Hours
ARED606. Community-based Arts Teaching	Theoretical, philosophical, and practical consideration for community-based arts teaching. Students develop service learning partnerships and projects among community-based organizations and programs with sensitivity to underserved populations. Prerequisite: Graduate standing.	3 Credit Hours
IDFA607. Teaching Thinking Through Arts	Exploration of the dual aspects of the art educator as artist/teacher. Includes studio work, museum trips, journal writing, research of cultural/historical expressions, and unit planning relevant to K-12 education.	3 Credit Hours
877.615. Mind, Brain & Teaching (JHU Course)	Participants in the course will review this research, examining how it intersects with the correlates of a model of research-based effective teaching including the teaching of the arts across content areas. Topics of study will include the brain's memory systems, the impact of emotions on learning, the processes involved in higher order thinking and learning, and issues related to child development. Participants will apply course studies to the creation of learning units that emphasize application of knowledge and the integration of the arts.	3 Credit Hours

DANC550. Methods for Teaching Dance: Policy & Advocacy	Examination of strategies for dance arts advocacy and dance education policies in public school contexts. Prerequisite: permission of instructor by special departmental permit.	3 Credit Hours
IDFA571. Special Topics in Social Action	A multidisciplinary and collaborative service-learning seminar that explores complex problems of the Baltimore metropolitan region. Includes creative projects and fieldwork with civic, community, and/or non-profit organizations. Topics vary and could include homelessness, domestic violence, drug abuse, disabilities, housing, education, health issues, and welfare. May be repeated for a maximum of 6 units when a different topic is covered. Prerequisites: Junior/Senior Standing or consent of instructor.	3 Credit Hours
IDFA604. Interdisciplinary Seminar in the Contemporary Arts	An interdisciplinary graduate seminar in the contemporary arts and media; topic may vary by semester. Prerequisite: Graduate-level standing or permission of the program director/instructor; upper level writing.	3 Credit Hours
Total Elective Credit Hours		12 Credit Hours
Total Required Credit Hours		24 Credit Hours
TOTAL PROGRAM CREDIT HOURS		36 CREDIT HOURS

The Master of Arts in Dance Education is a 2-year part time program delivered in a flexible schedule of traditional, summer, and mini-mester terms employing traditional and weekend intensive formats to accommodate the needs of the working professional. MADE provides maximum flexibility while maintaining a rigorous course of advanced study in dance.

A 36-credit curriculum comprised of 24 core credits and 12 elective credits culminates in a thesis based on action research in the candidate's area of interest. Funding for the new program will be provided by reallocating existing Dance Department funds; and no new facilities will be required. Staffing of the program will be through reassignment of current dance faculty. It is expected that 2-6 adjunct positions will be reallocated.

The Master of Arts in Dance Education (MADE) is an academically and pedagogically rigorous program that relies on the synergy between theory, practice and action research to foster innovation in dance education based on personal pedagogies; translating embodied knowledge into existing academic & instructional methods of research. It culminates in the thesis based on the candidate's individual action research interests. The MADE curriculum emphasizes individual teaching profiles & preferences as a foundation for innovation in the teaching and learning of dance through a curriculum of globally informed, theoretically rich and embodied pedagogical practice. The sequencing of the Program Educational Objectives provides a conceptual map of what the candidate is to know, be able to do and value at the conclusion of the degree program. A 36-credit curriculum comprised of 24 core credits and 12 elective credits culminates in a thesis based on action research in the candidate's area of interest. The curriculum was designed to meet four Key Learning Goals (KLG) and reflect three Dimensions of Learning (DOL) which are correlated to the KLGs. Additional correlations are provided to the Standard Learning Outcomes (SLO) associated with the Program Assessment Plan.

The curriculum sequence has a rhythm that fluctuates in intensity and scope and a progression of study that advances the candidate from a global perspective to one that is more personal & self-referential. The scheduling of courses allows for maximum accessibility and flexibility to candidates. Online and hybrid courses in combination with weekend intensives to deliver content accommodate students that are not within commutable distances. All courses will be taught every year.

Characteristics of the Proposed Program.

Key Learning Goals (KLG)

1. Examining current trends and confronting ethnically diverse perspectives in dance education as a global phenomenon (DOL 1, 2)
2. Creating dance pedagogies derived from personal values, experiences, and interests (DOL 1, 3)
3. Transforming the standards of dance practice through field study (DOL 1, 3)
4. Preparation for further academic advanced degrees in dance (DOL 1, 2, 3)

Program Educational Outcomes.

1. Program Assessment Plan Student Learning Outcomes. Students will
  - SLO#1. Examine Current trends and confront ethnically diverse perspectives in dance education
  - SLO#2. Create dance pedagogies derived from personal values, experiences and interests
  - SLO#3 Transform the standards of dance practice through field study
2. Additional Outcomes. Students will
  - a. Model professional excellence as an educator in the classroom and community
  - b. Utilize appropriate technology to enhance learning
  - c. Develop collaborative partnerships that enrich the educational experience

Dimensions of Learning (DOL)

1. Theory and Critical Studies in Practice
2. Dance Pedagogy as a Global Phenomena
3. Embodied Practices

PROGRAM TIMELINE

Candidates matriculate into the program as a cohort of individuals that will advance together through the Master of Dance Education program. The cohort commences each summer and is completed after six (6) trimester terms. The program schedule accommodates both full-time and part-time candidates while maintaining the integrity of the cohort. This is achieved by condensing the elective curriculum into the fall and spring trimester terms for full-time candidates. The program begins with one (1) cohort course and concludes with a thesis colloquium. Students individualize curriculum according to their interests through the selection and completion of the elective course requirement.

Sample Schedule

Prerequisite	1. Introduction to Laban Movement Analysis
Summer 1a	1. Required Elective: Maryland Centers for Creative Classrooms (3) 2. DANC600: Global Pedagogy in Dance Education (3) Incoming candidates attend Thesis Colloquium

H. Adequacy of articulation

Not applicable.

I. Adequacy of faculty resources

Narrative:

Complete the following table:

Faculty Resources
	FTE	Highest Degree Earned/Field of Study	Rank	Status (Full-time or Part-time)	Courses Teaching
Existing Faculty	Jaye Knutson	MA/CMA	Professor	Full-time	DANC600; DANC745; DANC895

(Note: Faculty resources must address minimum requirements detailed in COMAR 13B.02.03.11 and 13B.02.03.20 (1) at least 50% of the total semester credit hours within the program shall be taught by full-time faculty; and 2) at least 1/3 of the courses offered in an off-campus program shall be taught by full-time faculty of the parent institution.)

J. Adequacy of library resources

The existing library resources are sufficient to deliver the program. Acquisition of materials as needed will be subsumed by the Department of Dance's current budget for library materials.

K. Adequacy of physical facilities, infrastructure and instructional equipment

The existing physical facilities comprised of 3 dance studios, 1 classroom, audio/visual equipment and 1 informal and 1 formal performance theatres are sufficient to deliver the program.

L. Adequacy of financial resources with documentation

No new general funds will be required for implementation of the proposed Master of Arts in Dance Education (MADE). The new program will be coordinated and administered fully through the Department of Dance. The program director is a full-time faculty member from the department who currently has standing as a graduate instructor. As shown in Budget Table provided in Appendix C this program is expected to be self-supported.

M. Adequacy of provisions for evaluation of program

Students will have the opportunity to evaluate courses and faculty through a standard evaluation of every course. Our approach includes ensuring that student learning is in alignment with course learning outcomes, alignment of mission at institutional and program levels, alignment of mission with learning outcomes, then program outcomes with the curriculum, flowing down to course outcomes and the assignments. Assessment activities emphasize analysis of results and feedback loops for continuous improvement. Additional evaluation includes tracking of student retention, grade distributions, and cost-effectiveness, with regular academic program reviews considering these factors

In January each year, the Office of Assessment hosts "Assessment Day" where all programs present data and analysis on their program learning outcomes. Faculty from across the University participate in this peer review process and utilize a rubric developed by the University Assessment Council's Subcommittee on Student Affairs Assessment to evaluate program reports. Results are then synthesized and recommendations are submitted to the University Assessment Council for approval. This data is used for continuous program improvement as part of the Middle States Accreditation process.

Additionally, the University System of Maryland (USM) requires a program review by external reviewers for all academic degree programs every seven years. The seven-year program review process is extensive and consists of an internal self-study of each program within the context of the discipline as a whole and the department in which it resides. Each review must include feedback from an external reviewer and a comprehensive plan for improvement.

N. Consistency with the State's minority student achievement goals

Towson is resolutely committed to playing its role in securing the state's minority student achievement goals. The Center of Student Diversity \(CSD\) as established to aid the institution in its efforts to foster inclusion, collaboration, and relationship building. The center provides academic, social, and transition support for underserved students and promotes exchange and dialogue between individuals of diverse backgrounds and lifestyles.

CSD, housed in the Division of Student Affairs, supports the access and academic success of historically under-represented groups through programs and services that enhance the student experience.

Towson's Career Center recognizes the importance of racial and ethnic diversity and has committed us to providing resources for the social and professional development of our minority students.

The President, Dr. Schatzel, has publicly and prominently articulated the importance of diversity to Towson's role, purpose, and mission, including recently in an open editorial in the Baltimore Sun.<sup>1</sup>

Further demonstrating the institution's commitment to minority student achievement goals, Towson received a $1m grant from the Howard Higher Medical Institute to cultivate minority student achievement in STEM. Towson is one of twenty-four universities, from more than 500 applicants, selected by the Howard Hughes Medical Institute, which is committed to diversity and inclusion.<sup>2</sup>

Towson's strategic plan 'TU 2020: a focused vision for Towson University' has committed the university to 'further strengthen its commitment to diversity and continue to provide a safe, inclusive, welcoming and peaceful community respectful to all. Towson will continue as a recognized national model for diversity and closing the achievement gap. Our institutional strategies will expand and continue to provide a forum for campus dialogue and action.'<sup>3</sup>

President Schatzel's Presidential Priorities are implementing this objective, most notably via the establishment of the Office of Inclusion and Institutional Equity.<sup>4</sup>

BOARD OF REGENTS
SUMMARY OF ITEM FOR ACTION,
INFORMATION, OR DISCUSSION

TOPIC: New Academic Program Proposal:
Towson University Master of Music in Music Pedagogy

DATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The Music Department in the College of Fine Arts and Communication at Towson University proposes a Master of Music in Music Pedagogy degree. The program meets a workforce need to provide pedagogical instruction to non-classroom music instructors wishing to develop their studio expertise. With 1,410 potential new positions within the state of Maryland in music by 2026, this program will assist in meeting this demand. The Master of Music in Music Pedagogy will be unique to the state of Maryland. No other program exists within the state, with any interested students needing to attend out-of-state institutions.

The Master of Music in Music Pedagogy program differs in both content and outcome from our music education degree programs where students are trained for classroom instruction. Students in the proposed program will be exposed to a curriculum in pedagogy, music education, literature, and internship opportunities. Graduates of the program will serve the state as one-on-one instructors at public and private institutions, organizations, or businesses.

ALTERNATIVE(S): The Regents may not approve the program or may request further information.

FISCAL IMPACT: No additional funds are required. The programs can be supported by the projected tuition and fees revenue.

CHANCELLOR'S RECOMMENDATION: That the Education Policy and Student Life Committee recommend that the Board of Regents approve the proposals from Towson University to offer the Master of Music in Music Pedagogy.

Dear Chancellor Caret,

Towson University requests approval for a new Master of Music in Music Pedagogy.

The program meets a workforce need to provide pedagogical instruction to non-classroom music instructors wishing to develop their studio expertise. Students in the program will be exposed to a curriculum in pedagogy, music education, literature, and internship opportunities. Graduates of the program will serve the state as one on-one instructors at public and private institutions, organizations, or businesses.

Please find attached the program proposal.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Executive Summary

The Music Department in the College of Fine Arts and Communication at Towson University proposes a Master of Music in Pedagogy degree. The Master of Music in Pedagogy is a regimen of study that will hone student's skills as teachers on their instrument or voice. Students in this program must demonstrate an interest in developing their knowledge and skills to become master teachers in their discipline. Graduates of this program are usually employed as music teachers (one on one) or instructors at public or private institutions, organizations, or businesses (again mostly one on one).

Music teachers are employed throughout Maryland and as the levels of teaching improve, it is evident to many that the training of our music teachers needs to be raised as well. This new curriculum would provide instruction in pedagogy, music education, and literature, and finally require the completion of an internship in which the student would practice their teaching under the direction of a master teacher.

A Unique Program in Maryland

The Master of Music in Pedagogy degree will be unique in the state of Maryland. Currently students who wish to develop their expertise as studio teachers need to attend programs in other states. This degree differs dramatically from performance degrees in music offered in the state, since students do not have a final recital requirement and instead their capstone experience is a teaching internship. This program is not similar to music education master's degree programs where students are trained for classroom instruction. This program trains students for one-on-one instruction.

Builds upon Strong and Nationally Recognized Music Programs

The Department of Music is recognized as one of the leading music programs in the United States through its inclusion in the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM, <https://nasm.artsaccredit.org/>). The Department of Music curricula meet the rigorous standards of NASM at both undergraduate and graduate levels. In addition, the Department is recognized as a leader in music education by supplying the majority of music teachers in the public-school system in Maryland. Building upon this outstanding reputation, the Department could emerge as the leader of studio, one-to-one, education in pedagogy.

Minimal Financial Risk and Investment

The Department of Music already possesses the facilities, library resources, and outstanding faculty to host this program. In fact, the addition of the program will help to bolster enrollment in the master-degree offerings, which help improve graduate enrollment. No additional funding is requested.

Aligns with Maryland State and Towson University's Missions and Goals

1. The proposed program is consistent with Towson University's mission to provide select, high quality programs in professional fields where there is evidence of both need and of corresponding institutional strength.
2. The proposed program aligns with goals set forth by the Maryland State Plan for Postsecondary, Quality and Effectiveness, Economic Growth and Vitality, and Affordability and Completion.

A. Centrality to institutional mission statement and planning priorities

The proposed Master of Music in Pedagogy program reflects Towson University's mission, vision, and strategic plan. The proposed program of 30 credits will prepare students to succeed in careers in music as entrepreneurs in one-on-one instruction. The program will be the only pedagogy program for studio instruction in music in the state of Maryland.

Relationship to the Towson University's Mission, Vision, and Strategic Plan

In keeping with the Towson University 2020 Focused Vision, the University System of Maryland Strategic Plan, and the Maryland State Plan for Higher Education this degree fosters:

- Effective communication
  - This program furthers musical, verbal, and written communication. The demanding coursework fosters skills in performance, presentations, and reports.
- Critical analysis and reasoning
  - Students are required to demonstrate appropriate musical judgement in performance and pedagogical situations.
- Specialized knowledge in defined fields

- Students receive specialize training in music in preparation for careers in performance and teaching music.
- Local and global citizenship and leadership
  - The study of music by definition includes the study of artifacts from various world cultures. All students must understand terms in international languages and in particular voice students are required mastery of international language diction. Furthermore, the program will be particularly attractive to international students for whom English is a second language.
- Review and evaluate curriculum to ensure challenging content that addresses workforce and geographic demands. The training will make the students more marketable as one-on-one studio instructors as well as teachers in the music profession.
- Include diverse perspectives across the curriculum. Support students and faculty in their quest for focused international experiences and through the inclusion of global awareness in the curriculum. Promote appreciation for and advancement of equity, diversity and inclusion at TU. The performance of music fosters perspectives from multiple nations across centuries of cultures. Students gain an appreciation for the contributions of many musicians from diverse locals.

Furthermore, the Master of Music in Pedagogy will support Towson University's 2020 goal of innovation in teacher preparation. We anticipate that successful graduates will be in demand as studio teachers in music both as self-employed entrepreneurs and as teachers in private businesses.

B. Critical and compelling regional or Statewide need as identified in the State Plan

The MM in Pedagogy degree addresses several signification aspects of the 2017-2021 Maryland state plan postsecondary education.

(<http://www.mhec.state.md.us/About/Pages/2017StatePlanforPostsecondaryEducation.aspx>)

These include:

- Strategy 4. (Continue to ensure equal educational opportunities for all Marylanders by supporting all postsecondary institutions.) This degree is unique in the state, thus providing access to a program that is only available outside of Maryland. In past years, Maryland students have left the state to receive a similar degree.

- Strategy 5. (Ensure that statutes, regulations, policies, and practices that support students and encourage their success are designed to serve the respective needs of both traditional and non-traditional students.) The MM in Pedagogy degree has the minimum 30 credits, a degree standard set by the National Association of Schools of Music. Founded in 1924, the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM) is an organization of schools, conservatories, colleges, and universities with approximately 647 accredited institutional members. It establishes national standards for undergraduate and graduate degrees and other credentials for music and music-related disciplines. Furthermore, it provides assistance to institutions and individuals engaged in artistic, scholarly, educational, and other music-related endeavors. Please see <https://nasm.arts-accredit.org/>.
- Strategy 7. (Enhance career advising and planning services and integrate them explicitly into academic advising and planning.) The close mentorship in the curriculum, particularly in the capstone experience MUSC 896 Pedagogy Practicum, prepares students for employment as music teachers with apprenticeship experiences.
- Strategy 8. (Develop new partnerships between colleges and businesses to support workforce development and improve workforce readiness.) The Pedagogy Practicum (MUSC 896) relies on partnerships between Towson University faculty and professional teachers and/or music stores in the region. These increased connections will aid students in future employment.
- Strategy 9. (Strengthen and sustain development and collaboration in addressing teaching and learning challenges.) Pedagogy is the core of this degree. Graduate students in the program are provided instructional methodologies tailored to their instrument or voice. Master teachers model instruction for the students. In addition, students gain practical experiences especially through the MUSC 896 Pedagogy Practicum.
- Strategy 11. (Encourage a culture of risk-taking and experimentation.) The Master of Music degree in Pedagogy encourages musical entrepreneurship and risk taking that includes setting up a private music teaching studio, marketing skills through online forums, and online music instruction. MUSC 552, Pedagogy of Technology in Music Instruction, requires students to receive and give instruction online by various software. This experimentation aids the students in developing skills for future music instruction. This course is required for students in the degree.

C. Quantifiable and reliable evidence and documentation of market supply and demand in the region and State

The Master of Music in Pedagogy will be the first such degree in the state of Maryland. Other institutions in the region (such as Pennsylvania State University) have such degrees, but ours differs significantly with greater focus on teaching instruction and pedagogy than the other degrees which have more performing requirements.

The Department of Music at Towson University has a long tradition as the leading program teaching the next generation of music instructors. The graduate program in Music Education is one of the largest programs in the state and region. Some courses in the Master of Music in Pedagogy will draw upon existing instructional strengths in our music education curriculum.

The program will attract students from the USA and possibly, abroad. There is a demand for comprehensive training programs for applied studio (one-on-one) teachers. This degree is intended to provide students opportunities to work with expert teachers within the structure of a university environment. There are many students interested in performance and teaching careers who wish additional study beyond the bachelor's degree to fulfill their educational and professional goals. We expect demand for the new degree to parallel the enrollment in our current graduate programs:

- Students who have completed a Bachelor of Music degree and seek additional training and experience in performance and pedagogy to establish a performing and/or a career in music studio instruction. We anticipate that students will come from our undergraduate program as well as other universities in the region.
- Students who have completed a Bachelor of Music degree and seek additional training and experience to prepare for doctoral work in premiere graduate programs in the USA. Again, we anticipate that our graduates and graduates from other music schools in the area will be attracted to this program.
- International students are who seeking opportunities to study music performance and pedagogy in the United States. The program will provide international students the opportunity to achieve comprehensive working knowledge of teaching techniques and methods while earning a master's degree from an American University.

Maryland Occupational Projections 2016-26

https://data.mhec.state.md.us/mac\_Trend.asp (Accessed Nov. 2018)

This degree should not be confused with pedagogy degrees in academic disciplines such as music theory. Johns Hopkins University (JHU) offers the Master in Music Theory and Pedagogy. This is a very different degree from Towson's proposed MM in Pedagogy. The JHU program is conceived as a music scholarship and teaching degree. Towson's proposed program is conceived as a music performance and teaching degree. The difference is very clear. For example, Towson's program will expose saxophonists to best practices in saxophone teaching and performance. The focus of the JHU program is teaching students how best to teach music theory and musicianship skills. Often, graduates of such a program would go on to attain the Ph.D. in Music Theory and then teach at the college level. Graduates of the Towson MM in Pedagogy could go on to attain the DMA in performance and teach at the college level or work as professional musicians. By no calculation, are they similar intent.

This degree differs significantly from our Master of Science in Music Education currently offered at Towson University. The MS in MUED is a professional degree that is available only to students who have completed the requirements of the Bachelor of Science in Music Education. These students are certified to teach K-12 in the public school. The proposed Master of Music in Pedagogy degree does not prepare students for public school certification, rather this degree provides training for candidates interested in one-on-one studio music instruction that is most commonly given in one-on-one lessons and not in classrooms. MM candidates would prepare for a career of teaching students of all ages and proficiency levels. Students who are ineligible to enroll in the Master of Science in Music Education yet wish to develop their skills as studio instructors would find this proposed degree, the Master of Music in Pedagogy, an appropriate educational choice.

The Master of Music in Pedagogy degree differs significantly from the current Master of Music in Performance. As stated in the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM) Handbook the MM in Pedagogy degree must have between one third to two thirds of the curriculum in the pedagogy of a specific performance area or its repertory (see Appendix A). The MM in Performance falls short of that pedagogy criteria by many credits. The MM in Pedagogy does not require a recital, far fewer studio lessons are required for the degree, and as a result, students in the MM in Pedagogy degree are not required to achieve the performance competencies of graduates in the MM in Performance.

The MM in Pedagogy degree furthermore differs from pedagogy degrees offered in other USA institutions. The new degree is not limited to a single instrument, rather, it has been created with all instrumentalists—whether bassoon, violin, or guitar—and vocal students in mind. Each student's area of expertise is accommodated in the curriculum in pedagogy courses, repertoire courses, and applied lessons.

E. Relevance to the identity of Historically Black Institutions (HBIs)

The program will have no impact on the uniqueness and institutional identities and missions of HBIs.

F. Relevance to high-demand programs at Historically Black Institutions (HBIs)

The program is not expected to impact high-demand programs at Historically Black Institutions.

G. Adequacy of curriculum design and delivery to related learning outcomes Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs)

1. Pedagogy. Demonstration of successful teaching of the art of practicing and performing music.
2. Performance. Demonstration of musicianship and interpretive skills in the art of performing music.
3. Technology. Demonstration of the application of technologies to teach the art of music in online and digital formats.

Curriculum Design with Assigned SLOs

Appendix I provides the course descriptions associated with all courses that can fulfill graduation requirements.

Degree total 30 units Required Courses (21 units)

One pedagogy course in the primary medium SLO1:

- MUSC 542 Vocal Pedagogy (3 units)
- MUSC 543 Instrumental Pedagogy (1 unit) and MUSC 593 Independent Research in Music (2 units). The research will be on pedagogy.
  - MUSC 560 Piano Pedagogy (3 units)
  - MUSC 562 Guitar Pedagogy (3 units)

One literature/repertoire course in the primary medium SLO2:

MUSC 506 Survey of Solo Voice Literature (3 units)
MUSC 509 History and Literature of Guitar, Lute and Vihuela (3 units)
MUSC 513 Symphonic Literature (3 units)

Electives (9 units) to be chosen from the following:

*MUSC 629 Concepts of Music Theory (3 units)

MUSC 500-800 level courses

MUED 600 level courses

MUSA 6xx Ensemble (maximum 2 units)

MUSA 6xx Applied Lessons (maximum 3 units)

MUSC 796 Recital Research Paper (1 unit)

MUSC 797 Graduate Performance Recital (1 unit)

*This is a required course if the candidate does not pass the graduate music theory test.

Each participant will work closely the Program Director to design a personalized program to suit the participant's needs.

Exit Requirements

Students must complete an oral examination on their capstone experience that must include either a final project, a research paper, or a recital.

Admission Requirements

A bachelor's degree in music. A minimum GPA of 3.00 for admission. All GPA calculations are based upon the last 60 credits of undergraduate and post-baccalaureate study. Applicants must demonstrate expertise in an area of performance or composition through an audition. Procedures and requirements are available through the Department of Music website.

Method of instructional delivery

Students enrolled in MM in pedagogy program will be expected to complete the majority of their coursework on campus. Most of the courses will be delivered as traditional, face-to-face instruction in the Department of Music at Towson University. However, the options of offering online and hybrid instruction on select courses are being explored to serve the academic needs and interests of the students in the program. These could include elective courses in the curriculum as well as one-on-one lessons over Skype or by video. Currently one graduate course in the Department of Music offerings, MUSC 552 Pedagogy of Technology in Music Instructions, is delivered online.

H. Adequacy of articulation

I. Adequacy of faculty resources

The following text was contained in our National Association of Music (NASM) Self Study (2012) and continues to reflect the current quality of our faculty:

The qualifications of the faculty are excellent and suitably enable the Department of Music to meet its mission, goals, and objectives. As of fall 2011, 19 out of 26 (73%) of our fulltime faculty have received doctorate or other terminal degrees in their fields and have published, performed and received national recognition in areas they teach. The Department of Music is fortunate to be situated near a large city with a culturally active climate for the arts. Consequently, the Department of Music is able to meet its educational needs when necessary with the appointment of qualified part-time faculty, many of whom are professional performers in the nation's top ensembles...The faculty of the Department of Music maintain a visible presence in their fields with performances, publications and presentations in national venues and organizations. (p. 26)

J. Adequacy of library resources

The print music collection in Cook Library consists of scholarly editions of music, study scores, performance scores (with parts where appropriate), reference works, scholarly and practical books on music, serials and periodicals, LP and CD recordings, video cassettes, and DVDs. The library holds the collected editions of the complete works of many major composers and the principal historical editions of music of all periods. The collection of miniature scores and performing editions includes the major works of the common practice period and the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. The collection of historical monographs, biographies, and analytical studies is representative in the areas of the western classical music, jazz, folk, world, and popular/vernacular traditions. Below is a table of the current music holdings in the Cook Library as of 2018:

Physical Holdings:

- circulating books about music: 10,274 titles
- music reference books: 329 titles
- musical scores: 6,458 titles
- music related VHS tapes/DVDs: 272 titles
- sound recordings (CDs/cassettes/LPs): 5,373 titles
- Total Physical Holdings (excluding journals): 22,705 titles

Electronic Sources and Journal Titles (print or digital):

- e-books on music subjects: 323 titles owned by Towson University (plus at least 1,000 others accessible via database subscription platforms)
- journals/periodicals: 498 titles (includes both print and digital formats)
- electronic databases: 37 products (including multidisciplinary resources) listed under the Subject Guide to Music on the library web page
- Total: 858 products and/or titles

[Note that these figures pertain to titles, and not the number of separate volumes.]

Cook Library provides access to almost 500 journal titles in music in either print or electronic format. Many electronic journals are also indexed through indexing/abstracting databases for music and multidisciplinary topics. Faculty and students can access all of the databases, catalogs, e-book content, and electronic journals anywhere on campus through our secure wireless network as well as remotely through the Cook Library web page. Comprehensive lists of databases, electronic reference books, and journals in all formats are available through the Cook Library web page.

Electronic databases and other e-resources for music research are accessible through the library's web page. The library provides these primary databases for music research: The Music Index, RILM, and Proquest Music Periodicals Database. The library also offers other humanities-related databases with wide coverage of music topics including Humanities Abstracts, JSTOR, International Bibliography of Theatre and Dance, and Academic Search Ultimate. Music education students and faculty also access ERIC, Education Research Complete, and Teacher Reference Center databases.

A number of electronic full text reference sources for music research are also available including Oxford Music Online, The Garland Encyclopedia of World Music, Music Online: Reference by Alexander Street Press, IPA Source, and Biography in Context. Additionally, music education students and faculty have electronic access to reference titles such as The Encyclopedia of Survey Research Methods, Sage Electronic Encyclopedias in Education, and The Encyclopedia of Measurements and Statistics to assist in planning and conducting research. Other collections of electronic reference works such as Oxford Reference and Sage Knowledge are accessible for related topics in music research, and the library's acquisition of these electronic reference collections continues to grow. Students and faculty can access full text content of literally thousands of e-book titles in three e-book databases, all of which include music topics: Ebsco E-books, Ebook Central, and Early English Books Online (EEBO). A wide variety of newspaper databases used for music research are available and include Nexis Uni and the News and Newspapers Current as well as Newsbank Access World News databases.

Cook Library offers several streaming audio databases for music: Naxos Music Library, Naxos Music Library Jazz, DRAM Online, and Smithsonian Global Sound. Additionally, students and faculty can access streaming video databases such as Academic Video Online Premium, Films on Demand and Kanopy. For iconographic study of music history and related research topics, the library provides three databases of images which can be downloaded for use in student or faculty research: Artstor, Camio, and AP Images.

On-Campus Music Collections Outside the Cook Library

The Department of Music additionally maintains a working collection of LPs, CDs, VHSs, DVDs, and study scores for use by faculty in classes. These items are stored in the Resource Room in the Center for the Arts (CA3088). The collection is accessible to students on weekdays between 9 and 5 p.m. when the University is in session. Ensemble directors maintain separate collections of performance scores for our student large ensembles.

Access to Off-Campus Music Collections

The joint USMAI catalogue makes items held by our fellow institutions in the system accessible to students and faculty. The catalogue may be searched in its entirety or by individual institution collections. All members of the Towson University academic community have borrowing privileges at all of these collections. Requested materials are available for on-campus delivery. (Among USMAI members, both The University of Maryland, College Park, and the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, hold extensive music collections.) Furthermore, Cook Library provides access to music resources in libraries across the country through the Worldcat First Search database; materials can be requested for loan through standard interlibrary loan services.

The following non-University of Maryland affiliated libraries with major music collections are located within a forty-five-mile radius of Towson University and are available for reference and research:

- The Enoch Pratt Free Library of Baltimore
- The Arthur Friedheim Music Library at the Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University (Baltimore)
- The Library of Congress (Washington, D.C.)

K. Adequacy of physical facilities, infrastructure and instructional equipment

The Department of Music is housed in the Center for the Arts building that was built in 1973, and extensively renovated and augmented in 2004. The building contains offices, studios, and performance space for the departments of art, theatre and music, as well as the office of the Dean of the College of Fine Arts and Communication, and the Asian Arts Center. In 2015-16 & 2017-18 acoustic upgrades to music spaces were completed.

The Department of Music occupies three floors in two wings of the renovated and augmented Center for the Arts consisting of approximately 52,000 square feet. The wing added in 2004 contains the bulk of the faculty offices, the administrative suite, the recording studio, the keyboard lab, percussion practice rooms, resource room, computer lab and two creative music labs. The renovated 1973 wing contains most of the classrooms, practice rooms, rehearsal rooms, the large concert hall, and the new recital hall. In all, there are 45 faculty offices, (16 for classroom faculty, 29 that serve as teaching studios), and seven additional teaching studios. There are 39 practice rooms, 10 classrooms, three of which double as large rehearsal rooms, and six labs, including the large keyboard lab. Offices, studios and classrooms have all been supplied with sound-dampening doors and moldings during the renovation project. Five administrative offices, a conference room, and reception area are housed in the administrative suite. In terms of performance venues, the department possesses one recording studio, a recital hall that seats approximately 160, and a concert hall that seats approximately 500.

Stephens Hall Theatre, located in a building across campus, seats approximately 700 and is designed to meet the performance requirements of Music for the Stage [opera] productions as well as performances by other campus units and professional touring groups. The Mainstage Theatre and Studio Theatre housed in the CFA seat approximately 300 and 125 respectively and serves the Department of Theatre. However, the Department of Music occasionally uses these spaces to meet the performance requirements of the Music for the Stage productions and other Department events. The Department of Music uses its combined spaces, equipment, and musical instruments to support its mission of teaching music majors and non-majors. Music majors are given access to special facilities like practice rooms through a program that allows for card-swipe access. In many cases, faculty control access to musical instruments and equipment. Music majors also have access to concert spaces, labs, and studios through card-swipe access, special arrangements, and weekly scheduling. Music faculty are given keys or card-swipe access to those spaces that are in direct support of their teaching and scholarly activities. Description of the Department of Music's Music Instruments and Equipment Maintained by the Department.

The equipment described below this heading must be replaced and maintained out of the Department of Music Budget.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS AND EQUIPMENT

MUSIC STANDS

The Department of Music has recently purchased 60 additional music stands, for a total of 200.

ORGANS

Towson University's principal organ is housed in the Concert Hall in the Center for the Arts. Although there is only one practice room with an organ, it is a fine instrument and sufficient for our needs when one considers the small enrollment of organ students.

PIANOS

The department presently has a total of 154 pianos, not including the 20 digital pianos in the piano lab. In 2018, the Department of Music was granted 1 million dollars from the university to replace aging pianos.

EARLY MUSIC INSTRUMENT COLLECTION

A small collection of early instruments (winds, strings, percussion, and harpsichords) adequately supports the existence of Towson's Early Music Ensemble (see MDP, I.F.2, pp. 607-608).

ORCHESTRAL/BAND INSTRUMENTS

Recent purchases and repairs have brought us to a place where there are sufficient instruments to teach the methods classes.

PERCUSSION INSTRUMENTS

The Department has a wide array of percussion instruments and recently acquired a new xylophone.

INSTRUMENTS FOR TEACHING MUSIC IN EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION AND SPECIAL EDUCATION

Towson's adequate instrument collection of Orff instruments are used for teaching music in early childhood and special education classes.

KEYBOARD LAB

The keyboard lab (CA 2084) is primarily used for class piano. There are twenty individual stations (digital pianos networked to the instructor's control module), meaning that the lab can support a class of up to 19 students. The stations, including the instructor's control module, were purchased in 2005. The playing of students can be monitored at the instructor's station, either individually or in groups. Headphones are provided for all students and the instructor.

CONCERT HALL EQUIPMENT

There are three concert grand pianos housed in the Concert Hall's back stage storage. In 2015, a Bosendorfer piano was purchased. Two Steinway D pianos date from 1998 and 1972 respectively. The older Steinway D is used primarily for prepared piano works.

In the summer of 2018, the lighting system in the concert hall was significantly upgraded and augmented to include LED house lights and color changing theatrical lighting from above the stage, from three catwalk positions, and from portable strip lights. Other improvements in recent years include new stage flooring, the installation of stairs leading to the stage, and moving the organ console to the stage floor on a rolling platform. The A/V system in the Concert Hall was replaced in 2005 with all new equipment. This included an all new P/A system and new recording and P/A control equipment. A new HD projector was installed in 2018 with a new HD rear projection screen anticipated during AY 2018-19.

A new Wenger fourteen section acoustic shell was purchased with one-time money from the University in spring 2018. The Concert Hall was freshly painted and acoustic curtains cleaned in summer 2019. The Concert Hall is equipped with 100 padded orchestra chairs on racks, a conductor's podium & choral risers.

RECITAL HALL EQUIPMENT

Completed in 2004, the new Recital Hall received the full complement of A/V and lighting equipment. This included the P/A system and control booth equipment. The Recital Hall also has adjustable acoustic curtains on all four walls. A Steinway B and a Yamaha U3 were purchased in 2004 and 2005 respectively for the new hall. The current Steinway grand will be replaced with a new Steinway B as part of University funding. During the summer of 2018, the video projector and screen were upgraded. A new locking rack with new music stands was installed in summer 2018. The Recital Hall is equipped with 25 padded orchestra chairs on racks.

RECORDING STUDIO (RSTUDM)

The recording studio was completed in December of 2008. Not only is it acoustically isolated from the rest of the facility, but it has a separate soundproof control room. It provides adequate space for ensemble recordings. The RSTUDM includes equipment, purchased with funds from the CFA renovation equipment budget, but the Department of Music is responsible for future maintenance. A Steinway L was chosen as a space-saving measure. Plans are in the works to refurbish the Steinway B from the Recital Hall to place in the RSTUDM. The RSTUDM serves all students and faculty, who need only pay a nominal fee to support the labor costs for the recording assistant.

ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPLIES/EQUIPMENT

The administrative suite, CA 3095, includes a common area (CA 3095D) which provides sufficient cabinet and counter space for office supplies for faculty/staff use (e.g., preparing class materials, sending mail), as well as a supply of classroom necessities (e.g. whiteboard markers). It also contains the fax machine, two printers, and a mimeograph machine. The latter is maintained by a service contract which pays for repairs.

Department of Music's Equipment Maintained by the University.

The equipment listed and described below this heading is to be replaced and maintained by the University.

AUDIO/VISUAL EQUIPMENT AND COMPUTERS

CLASSROOMS

Each of 10 classrooms (and the Computer Labs) are equipped with an instructor station which houses a computer with interface for laptops, ipads, and portable media devices. Classroom computers are replaced on a 3-year cycle by the University's Office of Technology Services [OTS]. Each classroom includes a digital document reader that allows projection of paper documents, as well as virtual documents using the computer and serviced by a ceiling-mounted LCD projector controlled from a fully automated touch screen interface module with motorized projection screens. Each instructor station is equipped with a complete A/V suite in a locked cabinet. These include DVD/VCR players, receivers, a turntable, CD/cassette player, and wall-mounted surround speakers.

The Music Education classroom [CA 2077] and Band/Orchestra room [CA 3071] have a SMART Board Interactive Whiteboard System. 26 Apple iPads are available for Music Education classes. Music applications have been purchased for each.

Each classroom has either an acoustic grand or upright piano. Selected classrooms also include mirrors for pedagogical use.

CONFERENCE ROOM

Housed in the administrative suite, the conference room is primarily for committee meetings, but has been used for classes as needed. It has one computer, an A/V suite much like those in the classrooms, except that it utilizes a 54" LED display instead of a video projector.

RESOURCE ROOM

Housed in CA 3088, the resource room is accessible to students Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and to faculty at all hours with a key. It contains 4 Dell PC's and 2 iMacs. The computers are loaded with midi and music notation software, in addition to word processing and are networked to the laser printer in that room. MIDI keyboards are available for use with these computers. The Resource Room also includes a turntable, CD and cassette player, and headphones. An extensive CD library, many DVD's, and some scores are stored in the Resource Room.

COMPUTER LAB I

Housed in CA 3092, adjacent to the Resource Room, the Computer lab is designed to offer computer assistance in music literacy, music notation, synthesizer basics, and Internet access. The lab contains 16 iMac computers, 16 midi controllers as well as one iMac and midi keyboard at the instructor station. The bulk of the software is in direct support of the lab's pedagogical mission. The iMac computers have additional software, allowing for word processing, MIDI sequencing, editing recordings, and scanning. Since it is sometimes used to teach classes, the Computer Lab possesses an A/V suite similar to those found in the classrooms along with LCD projector, and document reader. Software available in this lab include LogicProX, Finale25, Audacity, Reaper, iLife Suite, Pyware, 3D Marching Band Software, Pro-tools, and Adobe Creative Cloud Suite. The computers are networked to a laser printer in that room.

COMPUTER LAB II & MUSIC EDUCATION LAB

Housed in CA 2078 and established in Fall 2018, the second computer lab and Music Education Lab. The lab contains 16 iMac computers, 16 midi controllers as well as one iMac and midi keyboard at the instructor station. The bulk of the software is in direct support of the lab's pedagogical mission. The iMac computers have additional software, allowing for word processing, MIDI sequencing, editing recordings, and scanning. The Music Education Lab also includes the A/V suite as the classrooms. Software available in this lab include LogicProX; Finale25; Audacity; Reaper; iLife Suite; Final Cut Pro; Adobe Creative Cloud Suite.

OTHER LABS AND REHEARSAL SPACES

The Bill and Helen Murray Jazz Rehearsal Room (CA 2075), Rehearsal Room (CA 4040), the Percussion Studio (CA 3073) and the Drum Set Room (CA 2081) all have A/V equipment similar to the other music classrooms. The World Music/ Early Music Lab (CA 3075), Rehearsal Room (CA 4040) and the Jazz Rehearsal Room (CA 3081) contain audio playback and recording equipment.

CA 3069 and 3071 are large rehearsal spaces that double as classrooms. Therefore, they are equipped with the same A/V suite as the other classrooms.

STUDIOS AND OFFICES

Each of the 45 faculty offices/studios is equipped with a receiver, speakers and headphones, but no CD player. Faculty use the computers supplied in their offices/studios for this purpose. The computers are replaced by the university as needed to maintain University specifications for the particular make of computer.

L. Adequacy of financial resources with documentation

The Department of Music already hosts several graduate programs, some of which have been declining in enrollment. There are adequate financial resources to accommodate the new students and the single additional required course (Practicum MUSC 896). No new funds are requested from Towson University.

M. Adequacy of provisions for evaluation of program

Consistent with our regional accreditor's standards all Towson University programs are assessed for the achievement of declared student learning outcomes. The Assessment Coordinator for the MM degree would oversee this program and enter data into Compliance Assist, the online repository for assessment data employed by Towson University. The proposed program would thus provide written documentation for the January Assessment meetings and would then receive evaluation at those meetings.

Students in this degree would be assessed with three measures: 1) in the capstone practicum course; 2) by their performance on an instrument or with voice. In this instance, students would be individually assessed by at least two faculty members in final jury or recital; and 3) with a technology component in MUSC 552. These assessments are forwarded to the Assessment Coordinator for the program.

The Department of Music is evaluated by the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM) every ten years. All aspects of course and program offerings by the Department of Music must be in compliance with NASM standards to receive accreditation from this organization.

N. Consistency with the State's minority student achievement goals

Towson University provides many supports and resources to aid minority students in their educational achievements. For instance, "the Center for Student Diversity (CSD) was established to aid the institution in its efforts to foster inclusion, collaboration, and relationship building. The center provides academic, social, and transition support for underserved students and promotes exchange and dialogue between individuals of diverse backgrounds and lifestyles. CSD, housed in the Division of Student Affairs, supports the access and academic success of historically underrepresented groups through programs and services that enhance the student experience."

<https://www.towson.edu/studentdiversity/>

Resources for minority students at the career center are provide on this webpage:

<https://www.towson.edu/careercenter/students/resources/minority.html>

In addition, special initiatives are targeted to minority populations such as African-American; Asian, Pacific Islander, & Desi American; Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer ... (LGBTQ+); among others.

O. Relationship to low productivity programs identified by the Commission Not applicable.

P. If proposing a distance education program, please provide evidence of the program adequacy in addressing the Council of Regional Accrediting Commissions \(C-RAC\) Interregional guidelines for the evaluation of distance education (as required in COMAR 13B.02.03.22C).

Not applicable.

Q. Program Resources and Expenditures Tables

Year 1 Tuition and Fees are taken from <https://www.towson.edu/bursar/tuition/fall-spring.html> (accessed 2018 Nov. 21). The mix of in-state and out-of-state students is: year 1—3 in-state, year 2—3 in-state, year 3—3 in-state and 1 out-of-state, year 4—3 in-state and 1 out-of-state, year 5—4 in-state and 1 out-of-state. Thus, tuition amounts in table 1 will vary depending on the mix of instate and out-of-state students.

Required lesson fees are included in Annual Tuition Rates. These are $162 per year (per three-credit course) per student each year in the program.

An annualized increase of 2% is added each year after year 1.

The salary of $69,241 is the average annual salary of all 29 current full time tenure track faculty and lecturers in the Department of Music.

SUMMARY OF ITEM FOR ACTION,
INFORMATION, OR DISCUSSION

TOPIC: New Academic Program Proposal:

COMMITTEE: Education Policy and Student LifeDATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The University of Maryland Graduate School is seeking authorization to offer a new Master of Science (MS) in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics program starting in fall 2019. To be successful, the learner must complete all required and elective coursework totaling 30 credits. The program will blend online and face-to-face instruction, and include both synchronous (e.g., live) and asynchronous (e.g., pre-recorded) lectures, readings, and reflections, along with active learning elements, including discussion boards and individual and group assignments.

Through the MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics programs, the School intends to provide learners with experiences designed to foster a deeper knowledge and understanding of the science, clinical therapeutics, and policy related to medical cannabis. Targeted students include health care practitioners, scientists, growers, policy professionals, and others with an interest in medical cannabis. Students will demonstrate their ability to design therapeutic regimens and monitoring plans, develop safe and effective dosage forms, participate in health policy decision-making processes, and identify potential areas of future research. Students will learn a wide range of skills that will allow them to be innovative leaders in the emerging medical cannabis industry.

The program will be offered at the Universities at Shady Grove and the University of Maryland, Baltimore. The four core required courses in the program cover the principles of drug action and cannabinoid pharmacology; cannabinoid chemistry and drug delivery; clinical uses and effects of medical cannabis; and an overview of current state and federal laws and regulations along with a historical overview of medical cannabis use. After taking the four foundational courses, students will take four elective courses followed by two final advanced courses (Research Methodology and Expert Seminars and Discussion). Students may choose to take elective courses in the basic sciences, therapeutics, or policy.

ALTERNATIVE(S): The Regents may not approve the program or may request further information.

FISCAL IMPACT: No additional funds are required. The programs can be supported by the projected tuition and fees revenue.

CHANCELLOR'S RECOMMENDATION: That the Education Policy and Student Life Committee recommend that the Board of Regents approve the proposals from University of Maryland, Baltimore to offer the Master of Science in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics.

Dear Chancellor Caret:

The University of Maryland Graduate School has submitted the attached academic program proposal to the Maryland Higher Education Commission seeking authorization to offer a Master's in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics program in fall 2019.

In addition to the enclosed program proposal, please find a letter from Dr. Natalie Eddington, Dean of the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, to the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee.

We appreciate your consideration of this request. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Bobby A. Zirkin
Chair, Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee
2 East Miller Senate Office Building
Annapolis, MD 21401

Dear Chairman Zirkin and Members of the Committee:

As dean of the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy (UMSOP), I applaud the merits of SB 858, Natalie M. LaPrade Medical Cannabis Commission – Academic Research – Medical Uses and Properties of Cannabis. This bill aims to afford protections to institutions of higher education or related medical facilities that register with the commission to purchase medical cannabis from Maryland dispensaries to conduct bona fide research.

As you may know, the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy is an integral part of the University of Maryland, Baltimore (UMB) – the State’s public academic medical center. Pending University System of Maryland and Maryland Higher Education Commission approval, the School plans to offer a Master of Science in Medical Cannabis Science and Therapeutics beginning this fall. As the number of states legalizing medical cannabis increases, so does the need for an educated workforce to respond to the demand for medical cannabis with an understanding and expertise regarding the science and therapeutic effects of this medicinal plant. In addition to supporting the medical cannabis industry, an educated workforce will add to the clinical and scientific research of cannabis. In a 2015 survey<sup>1</sup> of health care providers (physicians, nurse practitioners, and pharmacists), a large knowledge gap was found related to medical cannabis dosing, the development of therapeutic treatment plans, knowledge on the similarities and differences between cannabis products, education related to safety, risks and precautions for medical cannabis use, and the laws and regulations surrounding medical cannabis. A related survey<sup>2</sup> found lack of education regarding medical cannabis reported by 87% of respondents as a barrier to use in clinical practice, with 76% of respondents ranking the need for education to be strong or very strong. The UMSOP Master of Science in Medical Cannabis Science and Therapeutics will cover the principles of drug action and cannabinoid pharmacology; drug delivery and pharmaceuticals; clinical use and effects of medical cannabis; current state and federal laws along with elective courses in research methodology, basic sciences, therapeutics, and policy.

In 2017, the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine<sup>3</sup> released a comprehensive report based on the review of more than 10,000 scientific abstracts from cannabis health research. This report made approximately 100 conclusions related to the therapeutic and health effects of cannabis and suggested approaches to stimulate and improve cannabis research. The report presents a national research agenda for cannabis and a series of recommendations, including a focus on research standards for ensuring high quality cannabis research and for federal agencies to fully characterize the impact of regulatory barriers on cannabis research.

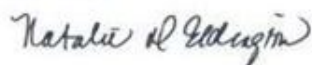

Although the Maryland General Assembly authorized a medical cannabis program in 2013, marijuana remains a Schedule I Controlled Substance Drug characterized as having no medical use. Academic researchers wishing to conduct federal marijuana research must follow a multi-step Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) and National Institute of Drug Abuse (NIDA) licensing process. Per DEA regulations, only the University of Mississippi (Ole Miss) is a recognized grower of marijuana for research purposes. This historical system was designed primarily to supply marijuana for use in federally funded research—not for commercial product development. Thus, there is no clear legal pathway for commercial enterprises to produce marijuana for product development. The product grown at Ole Miss is only available to researchers with appropriate DEA registration through NIDA. The DEA has been planning to expand the number of growers since 2016, but has yet to approve any additional applications.

Other barriers beyond DEA and NIDA restrict academic research on marijuana. UMB, like virtually every higher education institution in the United States, is the recipient of considerable federal funding for research, education, and other projects. Acceptance of these funds obligates us to comply with federal regulations, including those implemented pursuant to the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act and the Drug-Free Workplace Act. In addition, the US Department of Education (DOE) requires UMB to maintain a drug-free campus. Under the DOE regulations, institutions accepting federal funds must “adopt and implement drug prevention policies that must clearly prohibit the unlawful possession, use, or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students and employees on its property or as part of any of its activities.” Failure to comply with the regulations can result in the institution losing eligibility to receive any form of federal financial assistance.

For nearly 50 years, the United States has relied on a single grower to produce marijuana used in research. In light of the disconnect between the treatment of marijuana under federal and state law, Congress has annually prohibited the US Department of Justice from expending any funds in connection with the enforcement of any law that interferes with a state “implementing [its] own laws that authorize the use, distribution, possession, or cultivation of medical marijuana,” see section 542 of the Commerce, Justice, Science and Related Agencies Appropriation Bill, 2019. Despite this proviso, however, there is no guarantee that Congress will continue to restrict the enforcement of federal marijuana laws. Likewise, there is no analogous language regarding other agencies.

If enacted, SB 858 sets out the parameters for commercial growers and academic medical research centers and facilities to conduct bona fide research. This legislation would put Maryland on strong footing if or when the DEA chooses to modify the Controlled Substances Act or regulations governing new grow sites, and provides opportunities for research on medical cannabis grown in Maryland.

Sincerely,

Natalie D. Eddington, PhD, FAAPS, FCP

UNIVERSITY SYSTEM OF MARYLAND INSTITUTION PROPOSAL FOR

Master of Science in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics

A. Centrality to institutional mission statement and planning priorities

The University of Maryland, Baltimore (UMB) is the state's public health, law, and human services university devoted to excellence in professional and graduate education, research, patient care, and public service. As a diverse community of outstanding faculty, staff and students, and using state-of-the-art technological support we educate leaders in health care delivery, biomedical science, global health, social work, and the law. We emphasize interdisciplinary education and research in an atmosphere that explicitly values civility, diversity, collaboration, teamwork, and accountability. By conducting internationally recognized research to cure disease and to improve the health, social functioning, and just treatment of the people we serve, we foster economic development in the city, state and nation.

The University of Maryland School of Pharmacy is pleased to submit a proposal for a new Master of Science (MS) in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics. To be successful, the learner must complete all required and elective coursework totaling 30 credits. The program will blend online and face-to-face instruction, and include both synchronous (e.g., live) and asynchronous (e.g., pre-recorded) lectures, readings, and reflections, along with active learning elements, including discussion boards and individual and group assignments. The proposed Master's degree program will commence in Fall of 2019.

Through the MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics program, we intend to provide learners with experiences designed to foster a deeper knowledge and understanding of the science, clinical therapeutics, and policy related to medical cannabis. Targeted students include health care practitioners, scientists, growers, policy professionals, and others with an interest in medical cannabis. Students will demonstrate their ability to design therapeutic regimens and monitoring plans, develop safe and effective dosage forms, participate in health policy decision-making processes, and identify potential areas of future research. Our students will learn a wide range of skills that will allow them to be innovative leaders in the emerging medical cannabis industry.

This program will be offered at the Universities at Shady Grove and the University of Maryland, Baltimore. The four core required courses in the program cover the principles of drug action and cannabinoid pharmacology; cannabinoid chemistry and drug delivery; clinical uses and effects of medical cannabis; and an overview of current state and federal laws and regulations along with a historical overview of medical cannabis use. After taking the four foundational courses, students will take four elective courses followed by two final advanced courses (Research Methodology and Expert Seminars and Discussion). Students may choose to take elective courses in the basic sciences, therapeutics, or policy.

The proposed degree is consistent with and will advance the mission of the University of Maryland, Baltimore. Through this new program, we will provide our students with the knowledge and skills needed to make a positive impact on communities in Maryland and beyond.

Alignment with Institutional Strategic Goals

The proposed Master of Science degree will advance UMB's mission "to improve the human condition and serve the public good of Maryland and society at-large through education, research, clinical care, and service." Additionally, the program contributes to the fulfillment of related strategic goals for UMB, in a number of significant ways:

- One of the university's key strategic themes is to "excel at interdisciplinary research and interprofessional education, clinical care and practice, and public service." The MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics directly responds to this theme by its inclusion of interprofessional team teaching, and interdisciplinary science content focusing on pharmacology, drug delivery, analytic techniques, therapeutics, and policy.

- Another strategic theme of the university is “innovative curricular and co-curricular initiatives that multiply pathways to diverse careers and leadership opportunities inside and outside of academia.” The MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics has been critically designed to prepare graduates for the distinct segments of the medical cannabis workforce, inclusive of science, therapeutics, and policy.
- And finally, the MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics will infuse innovations in instructional design throughout the curriculum, thus creating an accessible, relatable and sustainable education program that responds to the needs and characteristics of the learner. This aligns specifically with the university’s strategic goal “on the importance of creating accessible education for individuals already engaged in their professions and developing productive discovery-to-delivery research model that serves as a catalyst for economic development.”

How will program be funded for first 5 years?

The programs will draw upon existing resources. The School of Pharmacy already has qualified faculty and offers PharmD, PhD, and Master of Science Degrees in Regulatory Science, Pharmacometrics, Palliative Care, Pharmaceutical Sciences, and Pharmaceutical Health Services Research. The school has the administrative and advising infrastructure for students.

Institutional Commitment

The School of Pharmacy has the administrative, instructional, advising, and facilities infrastructure in place to operate the programs. In the event that the programs are discontinued, the courses will be offered for a reasonable time-period so that enrolled students can finish. The faculty and administrative infrastructure will still be in place to work with students who have not finished the program.

B. Critical and Compelling Regional or Statewide Need as Identified in the State Plan

A growing number of states now permit the use of cannabis for specific medicinal purposes, and the majority of Americans favor the legalization of cannabis for medical use. Though possession, cultivation, and distribution of cannabis for both medicinal and recreational use (hereafter referred to as “adult use”) remain illegal at the federal level, many states have established individual laws and regulations regarding the sale of cannabis for medical purposes.<sup>1</sup> In early 2017, the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine released a comprehensive report based on the review of over 10,000 scientific abstracts from cannabis health research. This report made approximately 100 conclusions related to the therapeutic and health effects of cannabis and suggested approaches to stimulate and improve cannabis research. The report summarizes the effectiveness of cannabis in the treatment of a number of health conditions and diseases, including chronic pain, chemotherapy-induced nausea and vomiting, multiple sclerosis spasticity symptoms, HIV-associated anorexia/cachexia, and post-traumatic stress disorder, among others. In addition, the report also presents a national research agenda for cannabis which is articulated through a series of recommendations including a focus on research standards for ensuring high quality cannabis research, and for federal agencies to fully characterize the impact of regulatory barriers on cannabis research.<sup>2</sup>

California was the first state to permit access to the cannabis plant for medicinal use under physician supervision.<sup>1</sup> As of November 7, 2018, thirty-three states as well as Washington, D.C., Guam, and Puerto Rico will have enacted legislation governing medicinal cannabis sale and distribution; 21 states and the District of Columbia will have decriminalized marijuana and eliminated prohibition for possession of small amounts, while 10 states, including Alaska, California, Colorado, Maine, Massachusetts, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Vermont, and Michigan, as well as the District of Columbia, will have legalized adult use of marijuana(Figure 1).<sup>5</sup>

Cannabis is currently established by the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency's (DEA) Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act (Controlled Substances Act) of 1970 as a Schedule I controlled substance. All Schedule I substances are defined as having a high potential for abuse, no currently accepted medicinal use in treatment in the United States, and a lack of accepted safety data for use of the treatment under medical supervision.<sup>3</sup> In 2013, a U.S. Department of Justice memorandum (the Cole Memorandum) to all U.S. attorneys advised that in states where marijuana was legal for medical use, prosecution of individuals and operations in compliance with state law was not a federal priority.<sup>4</sup> However, the federal restriction does have other ramifications for medical use. For instance, physicians cannot legally prescribe cannabis, given its Schedule I classification, but may certify or recommend patients for treatment in states where such use is legal. Additionally, medical cannabis expenses are not reimbursable through government medical assistance programs or private health insurers.<sup>1</sup> The Cole Memorandum was rescinded in January 2018 by then Attorney General Jeff Sessions, despite the increasing number of states permitting the legal use of cannabis for medical and adult use.<sup>5</sup>

Medical Cannabis in Maryland

On June 1, 2014, the state of Maryland legalized the use of medical cannabis, with subsequent amendments to the statute on May 12, 2015. This legislation allows for the registry of authorized physicians, patients, caregivers, licensed processors, dispensaries, growers, and independent testing laboratories.<sup>6</sup> The Natalie M. LaPrade Maryland Medical Cannabis Commission (MMCC) develops policies, procedures, and regulations to implement programs that ensure medical cannabis is available to qualifying patients in a safe and effective manner. The MMCC oversees all licensing, registration, inspection, and testing measures pertaining to Maryland's medical cannabis program and provides relevant program information to patients, physicians, growers, dispensers, processors, testing laboratories, and caregivers.<sup>6</sup> MMCC lists more than 500 certified providers, 46 licensed dispensaries, 14 licensed growers, 13 licensed processors, and four independent testing laboratories. The MMCC has also issued another 15 pre-approvals to companies to grow medical cannabis, 15 pre-approvals to companies to process medical cannabis, and 102 pre-approvals to companies to dispense medical cannabis that will be added to the list of licensees once a company has completed compliance with the regulatory requirements and the Commissioners have voted on licensure. Our site selection for this program at the Universities at Shady Grove in Montgomery County recognizes the county's prominence in Maryland's burgeoning medical cannabis industry and the projected need for access to specialized education and training in that part of the state. MMCC lists some 85 certified providers, 11 licensed dispensaries, and one licensed processor, all with Montgomery County addresses. The MMCC has also issued another four preapprovals to Montgomery County companies to grow medical cannabis and 18 pre-approvals to Montgomery County companies to dispense medical cannabis.

As the number of states legalizing medical cannabis increases, so does the need for an educated workforce to respond to the demand for medical cannabis with an understanding and expertise regarding the science and therapeutic effects of this medicinal plant. In addition to supporting the medical cannabis industry, this growing workforce will add to the clinical and scientific research of cannabis. The MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics align with the goals of access, success, and innovation outlined in the 2017-2021 Maryland State Plan for Secondary Education. As a blended graduate program, the MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics allows for flexibility in learning that will ensure access for both traditional and non-traditional students, thereby helping to maintain Maryland's role as a national leader in having an educated workforce. Additionally, faculty in this program will participate in professional development related to best practices in distance learning to promote innovation in online course design and implementation.

C. Quantifiable and reliable evidence and documentation of market supply and demand in the region and state

The following section summarizes the medical cannabis industry, including market projections, and also provides workforce needs and projections in the state of Maryland, the northeast region, and nationally.

Projected Medical Cannabis Therapeutic Areas 2014 - 2025

The growth of the medical cannabis industry in the United States is projected to increase significantly over the next 10 years. The table below summarizes the projected compound annual growth rate (CAGR) for the medical cannabis therapeutic market through 2025. In addition, the table highlights the major therapeutic applications for cannabis. Based on application areas, the market is broadly categorized as chronic pain, mental disorders, cancer, and others.<sup>7</sup> The largest application segment is for chronic pain, which held a market share of 39.9% in 2016. By 2025, chronic pain is expected to emerge as the fastest growing segment, due to increased requirement of pain management across the globe.

Table 1. U.S. Medical Cannabis Market, by Application, 2014-2025 (USD million)<sup>7</sup>

United States Cannabis Market and Workforce Projections and Needs

As stated, the projections on the growth of the cannabis industry are very positive based on financial modeling. Figure 2 below presents the legal cannabis market projections from 2014 through 2025 (medical and adult use). There are a number of drivers that inform these projections and are articulated in the following sections on the market analysis on medical cannabis. The workforce projections for the medical cannabis workforce are driven by the growth of the medical cannabis industry.

In addition, according to a report published by Arcview Market Research and BDS Analytics, the legal cannabis industry will see a significant upward shift over the next 10 years. The largest group of cannabis buyers will be in North America, going from $9.2 billion spent in 2017 to $47.3 billion in 2027 (both medical and adult recreational use).<sup>8</sup> Based on these projections and the fact that medical cannabis is relatively a new industry, this growth will require a trained workforce in order to achieve the market share projections as outlined above and summarized in Figure 2.

Education and the Cannabis Workforce

Traditional educational programs for health care practitioners, analytical chemists, agriculturists, policy makers, business and sales professionals have not typically included instruction on the science, policy, and therapeutics of medical cannabis. Specifically, health care professionals report significant gaps in their cannabis-related knowledge, and the extent of this educational gap has been the focus of a number of studies. Published surveys of physicians, medical students and residents, nurse practitioners, pharmacists, and pharmacy students have described similar perceived knowledge gaps (Table 2).<sup>9-13</sup> A 2015 survey of Canadian physicians found that the largest knowledge gaps were related to medical cannabis dosing and the development of treatment plans, similarities and differences between cannabis products, and laws and regulations. In this survey, physicians most desired education related to safety, risks, and precautions for medical cannabis use.<sup>9</sup> A related survey of Canadian nurse practitioners similarly found the largest knowledge gap existed for dosing and development of therapeutic plans, laws and regulations, and similarities and differences between cannabis products. Lack of education regarding medical cannabis was reported by 87% of respondents to be a barrier to use in clinical practice, and 76% of respondents ranked the need for education to be strong or very strong.<sup>10</sup> A survey of medical students and residents surveyed indicated that trainees perceived they were “not at all” or only “slightly” prepared to answer patients questions about medical cannabis; approximately 90% reported they were “not at all” prepared to prescribe medical cannabis; and 85% reported they had received no education regarding medical cannabis.<sup>11</sup> A survey of pharmacists in Minnesota indicated that that they have a perceived knowledge deficit related to medical cannabis policies and regulations, that they were inadequately trained in medical cannabis pharmacotherapy, and were unprepared to counsel patients. More than 80% of respondents were very interested in learning more about medical cannabis pharmacotherapy, laws, regulations, and available products.<sup>12</sup> Likewise, pharmacy students reported a lack of confidence in cannabinoid pharmacology, pharmacokinetics, drug interactions, adverse effects, and patient counseling.<sup>13</sup>

Through the Maryland Medical Cannabis Commission, The School of Pharmacy conducted a needs assessment survey of employees in the Maryland medical cannabis industry to better define the educational needs and interests of this population. Of the 27 individuals who completed the survey, most identified as business or public policy professionals (59%), while 22% identified as clinicians, and the rest identified as “other,” including law enforcement and compliance officers, or a combination of health care professionals and business professionals (i.e., dispensary owner). The majority of respondents had been in the medical cannabis industry for five years or less (77%), and only one respondent had been in the industry for more than 10 years. Respondents participated in a number of different roles in the industry, including business administration (18%), plant cultivation/processing (9%), dispensary owner/manager/agent (19%), health care provider (18%), and “other” (36%), a category which includes self-described compliance, regulatory agents, clinical directors, and CEOs. The majority of respondents felt that certain aspects of an educational program were “important” or “very important,” including that the program would be primarily online and asynchronous, that many courses would be taught by interprofessional faculty, with flexible scheduling. Finally, a majority of students felt that most topics in the proposed curriculum were “important” or “very important,” including cannabinoid pharmacology, pharmaceuticals, plant genomics, clinical therapeutics, negative effects and public health implications, federal and state law, and policy.

Professionals who will be interacting with patients in a clinical capacity, including traditional health care workers as well as dispensary employees, must have knowledge of the therapeutic use of medical cannabis across a range of disease states. Additionally, professionals should be able to properly assess symptoms, recommend use of medical cannabis, and monitor the risks and benefits of medical cannabis therapy. The results of the above studies clearly indicate that there is a perceived gap in the knowledge of medical cannabis for health care providers, and signify the need for a better educated workforce that will provide care to patients using medical cannabis. Furthermore, there is a fast-growing number of patients legally using medical cannabis in the state of Maryland, in the northeast region of the US, and nationally (Table 3). To respond adequately to this growing need, educational programming must be developed and implemented to ensure that the perceived gaps in knowledge stated above are addressed.

The table below shows the total number of medical marijuana patients holding identification cards in Maryland, the Northeast region (MD, MA, VT, NY, DC, VA, OH, PA, WV, IL) and nationally (AK, AZ, CA, CO, CT, DE, FL, HI, IL, ME, MD, Na, MI, MN, MT, NV, NH, NJ, NM, NY, ND, OH, OR, PA, RI, VT, WA, and WV) and the number of health care providers in those areas.

	Maryland	Region	National

Medical Cannabis Workforce Projections

A new report from New Frontier Data<sup>16</sup> projects that, by 2020, the legal cannabis market will create more than 250,000 jobs - more than expected from manufacturing, utilities or government jobs. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, manufacturing, utilities, and government jobs are expected to decline significantly by 2024, while the fastest-growing industries are all in health care fields.<sup>17</sup> The cannabis market is experiencing rapid growth due to rising awareness regarding various medical applications such as pain management, appetite enhancement, and other health related effects of medical cannabis. These numbers confirm that medical cannabis is a major economic driver and job-creation engine for the U.S. economy. As the number of states where medical cannabis is legal increases, so does the need for an educated workforce to respond to the demand for medical cannabis with an understanding and expertise regarding science, clinical care, and policy.

Table 4 (below) summarizes the job positions in the cannabis industry in Maryland, regionally, and nationally. It should be noted that the cannabis industry is nowhere near maturity, and so the workforce estimates are not clearly constructed. As stated, the 2020 national workforce projections predict more than 250,000 jobs required for this industry. We have a dramatic shortage of educational opportunities in the state of Maryland, the northeast region, and the US that are focused on the science, therapeutics, and policy of medical cannabis. The cannabis industry will continue to expand significantly over the next 10 years, making this program integral to the training and development of this growing sector of the local, regional, and national economy.

1. Suggested program description (as it would appear in the Pharmacy School Catalog)

Suggested program description (as it would appear in the School of Pharmacy academic catalog)

The University of Maryland School of Pharmacy's MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics provides students with experiences designed to foster a deeper knowledge and understanding of the science, clinical therapeutics, and policy related to medical cannabis. Targeted students include health care practitioners, scientists, growers, policy professionals, and others with an interest in medical cannabis. The four core required courses in the program cover the principles of drug action and cannabinoid pharmacology; cannabinoid chemistry and drug delivery; clinical uses and effects of medical cannabis; and an overview of current state and federal laws and regulations along with a historical overview of medical cannabis use. After taking the four foundational courses, students will take four elective courses followed by two final advanced courses (Research Methodology and Expert Seminars and Discussion). Students may choose to take elective courses in the basic sciences, therapeutics, or policy. The program will follow a blended model, and include both synchronous (e.g., live in-person) and asynchronous (e.g., pre-recorded) lectures, readings, and reflections, along with active learning elements including discussion boards, and individual and group assignments. To be successful, the learner must complete all required and elective coursework totaling 30 credits. A student will be able to complete the program in two years but may take up to five years as desired to complete all program requirements. The program will meet all terminal performance objectives and allows for specialization (self-determined learning) within the degree.

2. Terminal Performance Objectives

After completing this degree, the graduate will be able to:

1. Apply knowledge of pharmacology, pathophysiology, clinical assessment, and traditional management strategies of pain and other physical symptoms to identify appropriate candidates for medical cannabis therapy.
2. Apply concepts of pharmacology, pharmacognosy, pharmaceuticals, and pharmacokinetics to determine appropriate cannabis dosing, dosage forms and routes of administration for optimal treatment.
3. Develop monitoring plans to determine effectiveness of medical cannabis therapy and to detect adverse effects of medical cannabis use.
4. Apply concepts of analytical chemistry, pharmacology, pharmacognosy, and pharmaceuticals to assure safe and effective design, development, and manufacture of medical cannabis products.
5. Apply knowledge of analytical toxicology methods to identify, quantify, and interpret results related to cannabinoid use and misuse.
6. Describe negative physical, psychiatric, and psychosocial effects of cannabis in individuals and populations.
7. Participate in health policy decision-making processes by evaluating primary literature to assist policy makers and prescribers in making well-informed decisions about medical cannabis therapy.
8. Apply knowledge of historical and current laws, regulations, and policies to identify, analyze, and advocate for emerging issues related to medical cannabis and health.
9. Identify areas for future research related to science, health effects, and policy of medical cannabis, and describe the challenges associated with such research.
10. Demonstrate a commitment to excellence through continuing professional development and the education and training of patients, healthcare professionals, regulatory bodies, and other relevant stakeholders.

3. Student Assessment & Documentation

The School of Pharmacy and UMB's Graduate School have a culture and support structure to assess program educational effectiveness. An Assessment Committee will review each online course annually using the Quality Matters rubric. Student retention and satisfaction and faculty satisfaction will be assessed continuously. Faculty will be provided with initial and annual educational programs to continue their development as online educators.

An advisory committee that represents disciplines from all of the professional schools at UMB has been assembled and reviews and provides feedback on every aspect of program development, which will continue during implementation.

4. Provide a list of courses with title, semester credit hours and course descriptions, along with a description of program requirements.

Course #	Course Name (all 3 credits)	Course Description
Required Core Courses (12 credits) Students take all four courses (4/4)
MSMC 601	Introduction to Medical Cannabis History, Culture, and Policy	In this introductory course, participants will learn about the cultural history of medical cannabis use, and explore how federal law and policy relating to medical and non-medical use of cannabis has evolved in the United States.
MSMC 602	Principles of Drug Action and	This course introduces students to the factors influencing drug action in the body. Students will learn about receptor theory, pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, dose-response relationships,

Course #	Course Name (all 3 credits)	Course Description
	Cannabinoid Pharmacology	and drug tolerance and dependence. This course will develop participants' skills to evaluate cannabis (and its components) from a mechanistic and pharmacologic perspective with the ultimate goal of providing the most appropriate cannabis regimen for individual patients.
MSMC 603	Basic Cannabinoid Chemistry and Drug Delivery	This course introduces students to the chemical characteristics of cannabis components. The course will describe the classification system for cannabinoids, cannabinoid compound ratios in plant materials, cannabis-derived products and their constituents, oils, terpenoids, flavenoids, hydrocarbons and nitrogen containing compounds. This course also introduces students to the science of designing dosage forms. Topics include the formulation, development, evaluation, selection and administration of safe, effective, reliable, drug delivery systems, with a focus on development of medical cannabis products. The wide variety of cannabis delivery systems and routes of delivery and the impact of those delivery systems have on the bioavailability of cannabis will be evaluated in this course.
MSMC 604	Clinical Effects of Medical Cannabis	This introductory course provides an overview of the most common uses of medical cannabis, including pain, anorexia/cachexia, and nausea/vomiting. Students will learn how to assess these conditions and determine when medical cannabis could be a therapeutic option. Side effects, drug interactions, and precautions are also discussed.
Elective Courses (12 credits) Students take four courses from the six offered (4/6)
MSMC 605	Advanced Cannabis Therapeutics I	In this advanced level course, students will learn in-depth about the physiology, pathophysiology, and treatment strategies of selected conditions, including pain, muscle spasm, nausea/vomiting, and anorexia/cachexia. Students will evaluate available evidence, complete case studies, and explore dosing strategies and formulations. Side effects, drug interactions, and precautions are also discussed. (Pre-requisite: MSMC 604 – Clinical Effects of Cannabis).
MSMC 606	Advanced Cannabis Therapeutics II	In this course, students will learn about the physiology, pathophysiology, and treatment strategies of selected conditions, including epilepsy, sleep disorders, anxiety, and post-traumatic stress disorder, among others. Students will evaluate available evidence, complete case studies, and explore dosing strategies and formulations. Side effects, drug interactions, and precautions are also discussed. (Pre-requisite: MSMC 604 – Clinical Effects of Cannabis).
MSMC 607	Negative Physical, Psychiatric, and Social Effects of Cannabis	In this course, students will explore the consequences of cannabis use, including adverse effects and misuse or addiction. Students will evaluate available evidence, analyze case studies, and participate in group discussions. This course explores the effects of cannabis on populations, including effects on the workplace, public spaces, impaired driving, adolescent use, and unintentional poisoning, among others. (Pre-requisite: MSMC 604 – Clinical Effects of Cannabis).
MSMC 608	Plant Genomics and Pharmacognosy	This course introduces students to the components of the cannabis plant and the resultant biosynthetic pathways that form active and inactive agents. Students will learn the genetic basis for the differences in components between different strains and the subsequent impact on medicinal efficacy, as well as the role that plant components have on the entourage effect. (Pre-requisite: MSMC 602 - Principles of Drug Action and Cannabinoid Pharmacology).

MSMC 609	Advanced Cannabinoid Chemistry and Analytic Testing Methodology	This course relates chemical characteristics of cannabis components to their pharmacological activity. The course covers a variety of cannabis targets, methods for improving drug activity, and the principles of rational drug design and characteristics such as solubility, stability and metabolism. Additionally, this course will explore methodologies for concentration, extraction, and purification of plant constituents, along with scope and limitations of analytical techniques for the identification and quantification of plant and synthetic cannabinoids, contaminants, and adulterants in cannabis products. (Pre-requisite: MSMC 603 - Basic Cannabinoid Chemistry and Delivery).
MSMC 610	State and Federal Cannabis Laws and Policies	In this course, students will be exposed to the federal controlled substances act and state counterparts. This will include a review of schedules I through V and the rules for prescribing and dispensing C-II through C-V. DEA and state inspections, Prescription Drug Monitoring Programs, and registration with state authorities will also be addressed. The course will then move into treatment of Schedule I substances and the differences between marijuana and other controlled substances. Physician recommendations, as opposed to prescriptions, will be addressed in light of the First Amendment. Medical Board actions against physicians will also be included. Since the Controlled Substances Act prohibits the prescribing and dispensing of Schedule I substances, the course will explore, compare, and contrast state laws and regulations regarding medical cannabis and focus on how marijuana was singled out for exemptions at the state level and why the federal government has refrained from prosecutions in the states that have decriminalized it for medical use. The course will also focus on those states that have decriminalized marijuana for recreational use and the likely consequences, if any, in those states. Other topics include but are not limited to authorized caregivers, licensed dispensaries, involvement of pharmacists and other licensed health care professionals in dispensaries, public testing facilities, regulations, state administration, authorized conditions, patients' requirements and restrictions, advertising, location of dispensaries, caregiver requirements, quantity limits, and other regulations. (Pre-requisite: MSPC 601 - Introduction to Medical Cannabis History, Culture, and Policy)
Required Core Advanced Courses (6 credits) Students take both courses (2/2)
MSMC 611	Research Design and Medical Cannabis	Participants in this course envision and plan a pilot project designed to assess clinical, scientific, economic, or public health outcomes related to medical cannabis. Students will learn how to establish a research question, establishing appropriate methods, and select outcomes to assess. Deliverable will be a proposal that is suitable for submission to an institutional review board. Students will also learn how to critically evaluate medical and scientific evidence.

Course #	Course Name (all 3 credits)	Course Description
MSMC 612	Expert Seminars and Case Studies	In this course, students will attend expert seminars and webinars discussing current scientific, clinical, and legal issues related to medical cannabis (must be taken in last semester).

5. How general education requirements will be met – Not applicable

6. Specialized Accreditation

There are no specialized accreditation or certification requirements for this program.

7. Contract with another university – Not applicable

8. Student Support Services

The program will make use of established mechanisms in UMB's Graduate School and the School of Pharmacy to provide students with clear, complete, and timely information on the curriculum, course and degree requirements, nature of faculty/student interaction, assumptions about technology competence and skills, technical equipment requirements, learning management systems, availability of academic support services and financial aid resources, and costs and payment policies. For example, course materials will be available through Blackboard, a web-interface with which faculty have many years of experience, including with current programs.

Accepted students will have the background, knowledge, and technical skills needed to undertake a distance education program. Minimally, candidates for admission will possess a baccalaureate degree. Target students include health care professionals, scientists, public policy professionals, current medical cannabis professionals, or those who wish to enter this emerging field.

Advertising & Recruiting

The program will be clearly and accurately described on the School of Pharmacy's website and at recruiting events. Recruitment and admissions materials about the program will represent the program and the services available (e.g., need for students to have access to computer that meets the minimum system requirements, broadband internet access, and a headset microphone for participation in web conference).

H. Adequacy of Articulation – Not applicable

I . Adequacy of Faculty Resources (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.11)

The University of Maryland School of Pharmacy faculty are internationally recognized for their expertise across the entire life cycle of drug development and clinical care. Broad interest areas include medicinal chemistry, pharmaceuticals, pharmacology, clinical care, and pharmaceutical outcomes and policy. These faculty, whose discoveries are impacting the lives of patients around the world, routinely present at national and international conferences, and publish in high impact peer reviewed journals. Many of the faculty hold Fellow status in associations such as the American Association of Pharmaceutical Scientists, the American Chemical Society, and the American College of Clinical Pharmacy, and most serve, or have served, as consulting, associate, or principal editors of leading journals in the field, including Pharmacology & Therapeutics, Journal of Experimental Medicine, Clinical Pharmacokinetics, Cancer Chemotherapy and Pharmacology, and many others.

The Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences trains students in the design of new drugs and the study of the biological impact of these drugs in the treatment of diseases and disorders. Further divisions within the department include pharmacology, pharmacodynamics, pharmacokinetics, and pharmacogenomics. Within the Department of Pharmacy Practice and Science, faculty train students to perform a full range of medication decision-making functions to serve as part of the patient's health care team. Faculty in the Department of Health Services Research prepare students to improve health among diverse populations through drug-related research, education, and community outreach. Students enrolled in the proposed program will receive the highest quality education by faculty who are uniquely positioned to teach in this field.

On-going Training

Opportunities to improve teaching and learning in the program will be identified through a program assessment process as described in Section M. UMB's instructional design team will provide instructional training resources, support, and consultations to faculty involved with the proposed program.

Faculty teaching in this program will have access to the instructional design team available on campus to incorporate best practices when teaching in the online environment.

J. Adequacy of Library Resources (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.12)

The University of Maryland, Baltimore's Health Sciences and Human Services Library (HS/HSL) is an excellent resource for faculty and students. The library carries a wide range of digital resources including electronic books, journals, and databases that support academic instruction and an extensive collection of online interactive resources designed to enhance information literacy. Regular in-person and online training are available in a variety of library-related topics including, but not limited to database use, citation management, effective written communication, and research data management.

Faculty librarians provide extensive expertise supporting instruction, research, and scholarly communication through embedded instruction and personalized research consultations. The School of Pharmacy is assigned a research education and outreach librarian to support academic and research activities, who will provide support to the MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics program. During the program, students will complete a variety of projects and presentations that require the review and interpretation of literature, requiring access to resources and personnel from a distance. The HS/HSL maintains proxy services to provide seamless access to electronic books, online journals, and databases from any location. Online course reserves provide an added mechanism to provide limited access to copyrighted materials licensed for instruction without requiring physical access to materials. To ensure students have the same access to personnel resources during the program, all consultation services are available both on campus and online. The program is to be implemented within existing institutional resources.

The Priddy Library at the Universities at Shady Grove (USG) provides similar workshops, training, and consultation opportunities for students on-campus. Librarians from UMB and USG regularly consult to coordinate resources and access needed to ensure students are fully supported in their academic programs at the Universities at Shady Grove.

K. Adequacy of physical facilities, infrastructure and instructional equipment (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.13)

The physical facilities, infrastructure, and instructional equipment at the school of Pharmacy are adequate to initiate this program, which will leverage existing distance learning instructional technologies to support program management and curriculum delivery. Enterprise technologies supporting student information management (e.g. Ellucian Banner), Blackboard Learning Management System, and web conferencing technologies (e.g. Blackboard Collaborate and Webex) are supported collaboratively with infrastructure support provided by UMB's Center for Information Technology Services (CITS), School of Pharmacy, and Graduate School.

Infrastructure and physical facilities within the School of Pharmacy allow course faculty to create and deliver core curriculum elements from existing offices, classroom, and dedicated studio production space. Faculty and administrative staff computers are configured to conduct web conferences and personal recordings as needed to support the delivery of courses and academic advising. For more advanced audio-visual production needs, the School houses a state-of-the-art production studio.

Additional audio-visual studio space is available in the Health Science and Human Services Library for faculty and students to produce on-camera presentations. Facilities and services at the Universities at Shady Grove provide similar capabilities offering state-of-the-art classroom and meeting facilities. Faculty offices and meeting space replicate functionality at Baltimore-based facilities.

Technology application support is available through existing helpdesks and instructional design/technology staff during operating hours at UMB and USG. Additional 24/7 support is available for web conferencing technologies through existing agreements with vendors for faculty, staff, and students. Information technology staff on both campuses coordinate regularly to ensure continuity of service and infrastructure support.

L. Adequacy of Financial Resources with Documentation (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.14)

Resources

Program will be implemented within existing institutional resources. New tuition revenues coupled with relocation of existing funds supporting the Doctor of Pharmacy Program will support the new MS in Medical Cannabis Science and Therapeutics Program. Fund balance will be used for one-time costs.

Expenditures

The unique nature of the program require 4FTE faculty and support staff. Ongoing expenditures include Library Support (curating references and materials not currently in the library), Instructional Design and Instructional Technology delivery costs, marketing & recruitment (including travel), proctors, guest lecturers and IT/software costs. There will also be a periodic need to utilize external consultants to evaluate and update the curriculum over time.

M. Adequacy of Provisions for Evaluation of Program

Extensive curricular mapping has been completed to assure each terminal performance objective in Appendix B is introduced, emphasized, and reinforced through required and elective coursework in . Successful completion of coursework will demonstrate student achievement of terminal performance objectives.

All faculty in this program will successfully complete a training program on effective techniques in online teaching as provided by UMB's Baltimore Graduate School. Best practices will be emphasized with liberal use of examples, how to operationalize these techniques, and how to assess success. Faculty will be instructed on "Standards from the QM [Quality Matters] Higher Education Rubric, Sixth Edition" including the eight standards, which cover 42 elements of assessment for an online course. An Assessment Committee will review each online course annually using this rubric to assure quality. If necessary, a corrective plan will be provided by the Assessment Committee to the Program Director. Faculty will be provided with educational programs to continue their development as online educators.

Student retention for the MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics will be tracked. Both student and faculty satisfaction will be assessed after each course.

N. Consistency with the State's Minority Student Achievement Goals (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.05).

The University of Maryland, Baltimore enjoys robust cultural diversity and minority student enrollment in all academic programs. Specifically, in 2015, 43.4% of all master's level candidates were minority students and 42.4% of students enrolled in professional practice doctorate programs were of minority status. Clearly, our university makes students of all cultures feel welcome, and they thrive accordingly. As stated above, per the mission statement, the University of Maryland, Baltimore "explicitly values civility, diversity, collaboration, teamwork, and accountability."

The proposed MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics program aims to address both UMB and the state's cultural diversity goals. As an online program, delivery enhances minority student access and success. Distance education uses technology to expand access and promote success for learners from diverse communities, and the flexibility inherent in online instruction meets the diverse needs of learners.

Recruitment for the MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics will include advertising and targeted recruitment to top health professional programs for African Americans (<http://www.bestcollegesforblacks.com/HEALTHPROFESSIONS.html>).

O. Relationship to Low Productivity Programs Identified by the Commission

The proposed MS in Cannabis Science and Therapeutics is not directly related to any identified low productivity program.

P. Adequacy of Distance Education Programs (as outlined in COMAR 13B.02.03.22)

Curriculum and Instruction

The program will be a blended instructional approach through distance education using Blackboard as the learning management system (LMS). Upon admission to the program, all students will be assigned to an academic advisor. All course materials will be posted in the LMS and include pre-recorded lectures, pre-recorded video interviews with experts in the field, readings, discussion boards, and links to interactive computer-based exercises. Students will have the opportunity to participate in live, in-person sessions, as well as web conferencing, and online active-learning instruction both independently and in groups.

Many proposed program faculty have extensive teaching experience in distance education, and continued training and support will be provided to all faculty. The program will employ existing technology to produce and deliver pre-recorded lectures (e.g., recording studio), to conduct web conferences (e.g., Blackboard Collaborate) and to design and deliver active-learning instructional activities. The School of Pharmacy has been using distance education technology to deliver our PharmD program at USG for more than 10 years, and for three highly successful Masters programs for more than seven years.

Terminal performance objectives were developed and the curriculum designed to achieve learning outcomes via distance education modalities. Curricular mapping was structured to ensure that each terminal performance objective is introduced in one of the first four courses. Each terminal performance objective is then emphasized in one or more of the elective courses, and all objectives are reinforced in the final two required courses. The choice of electives and specialized tracks allows for self-determined learning as planned by each participant. The program will combine synchronous and asynchronous online learning, providing students with multiple opportunities for interaction with faculty. We anticipate that this program will attract students from myriad disciplines, and our faculty will also represent multiple areas of expertise in the basic and clinical sciences, policy, and administration.

Faculty Support

All faculty teaching in this program will satisfactorily complete a training program on distance education provided by UMB's Graduate School. Education specialists, instructional system designers, and instructional technologists (listed below) through the Graduate School will be working hand-in-hand with faculty to develop learning activities.

Mary Jo Bondy, DHEd, PA-C, Assistant Dean, Academic Programs

Dr. Bondy administratively oversees three academic programs, and the Office for Academic Innovation and Distance Education (AIDE). Dr. Bondy also serves as the UMB representative to the University of Maryland System Academic Transformation Advisory Council. As a practicing clinician and accomplished health educator, Dr. Bondy is passionate about elevating health in underserved populations. Dr. Bondy is a recognized master teacher, education leader, and innovator. She has expertise in online education policy, curricular design, and program assessment.

Kevin Engler, MA, Instructional and Curriculum Designer

Mr. Engler holds a Masters of Arts degree in instructional design. Mr. Engler provides instructional design, audio-visual support, and faculty training in the use of instructional technologies. Mr. Engler is knowledgeable in adult learning theory, distance education pedagogical techniques, course development planning, and process management. Mr. Engler is trained and certified in the Quality Matters methodology and the ADDIE (Analysis, Design, Development, Implementation, Evaluation) approach to course design. He has experience and background in writing instructional objectives that utilize Bloom's Taxonomy.

Erin Hagar, MA/MFA, Instructional and Curriculum Designer

Ms. Hagar taught Spanish at the college level and has worked in instructional and curriculum design for colleges and universities since 2000. She previously worked at Montgomery Community College and Johns Hopkins University, helping faculty incorporate new pedagogical practices and technologies into their face-to-face and online courses. Her areas of expertise include faculty development and training, online course design using the Quality Matters standards, and authentic activities and assessments.

Sharon Gillooly, Senior Media Production Specialist

Ms. Gillooly leads media production for the AIDE team. Her main focus is to produce videos that support academic instruction. After a long career in documentary television, she completed a Master's Certificate in Online Instructional Development from Florida State University where her work focused on instructional design and emerging technologies. Ms. Gillooly is especially interested in the use of media to enhance learning.

George Anagnostou, Senior Instructional Technology Specialist, School of Pharmacy

Mr. Anagnostou supervises educational technology support for faculty and students in the School of Pharmacy, including on-campus, distance, and online programs.

William McLean, Multimedia Manager, School of Pharmacy

Mr. McLean manages the audio-visual services group in the School of Pharmacy.

Course development will be accomplished in partnership with a program director, teaching faculty, and the instructional design team, who will ensure course materials follow best practices in online education and adult learning theory. Collectively, they will produce the following materials:

- Course-level outcomes and module level objectives
- Course syllabi and student guides that outline objectives, discussion prompts and learning activities, and resources (articles, websites, online videos)
- Assignments and assessments that measure student performance, and clear instructions for completing them
- Grading rubrics

TOPIC: 2019 Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report

DATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: Effective July 1, 2008, the Maryland General Assembly required each institution of postsecondary education to develop and implement a plan for a program of cultural diversity among its students, faculty, and staff. Annually, each institution shall submit its plan through its governing body for review. Subsequently, the governing body shall submit to the Maryland Higher Education Commission a progress report regarding the institutions' implementation or improvement of their plans. Following is a USM summary, a table of examples of institutional initiatives to meet the stated goals, and each institution's cultural diversity submission.

ALTERNATIVE(S): The Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report is legislatively-mandated. BOR approval is required prior to the transmission of these files to the Maryland Higher Education Commission. Regents may approve these reports or, by May 21, 2019, make recommendations or inquiries about the reports. Those recommendations will be addressed by the appropriate party and updated files will be presented in advance of the June 21, 2019 BOR meeting, when the full Board will be asked to take action on these reports.

FISCAL IMPACT: Fiscal impact for the Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report is a function of resource needs identified by each institution.

CHANCELLOR'S RECOMMENDATION: That the Committee on Education Policy and Student Life recommend that the Board of Regents approve the 2019 Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report for submission to the Maryland Higher Education Commission.

Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report, 2018-2019

In 2008, the Maryland General Assembly required higher education institutions to develop, implement, and submit a plan for a program of cultural diversity to the Maryland Higher Education Commission (MHEC). Additionally, institutions must submit annual progress reports to MHEC summarizing institutional progress toward the implementation of its plan for cultural diversity. Within the progress reports, institutions must describe work being done to achieve the following goals:

Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally-underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty;

Goal 2: Create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus; and

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under the Clery Act.

The following tables include select initiatives USM institutions have instituted to achieve the aforementioned goals. To experience the full scope of the work, please refer to institutions' complete submissions on the USM website. Finally, it should be noted that although the original intent of this report was to address racial diversity, our institutions' efforts address diversity more broadly by considering race, gender, sexual orientation, ethnicity, religion, ability, socioeconomic status, as well as programs and training that address diversity of thought and opinion.

Table 1 offers examples of ways our institutions work to increase numerical diversity within their communities. Although institutions approach this goal differently, two themes emerged.

- Targeted Recruitment and P-20 Partnerships to Increase the Numerical Representation of Underrepresented Students

Across the USM, dozens of strategies are in use to appeal to underrepresented student populations. USM institutions are:

- engaged in partnerships with high schools in majority minority regions of the state;
- have established MOUs with community colleges to focus on transfer students;
- often offer scholarships to students who are brought to their university through one of these types of programs;
- target marketing in areas that increase the probability of it being viewed by underrepresented minorities;
- partner with HBCUs and other minority-serving institutions to recruit students into graduate and professional programs; and/or
- participating in fairs and other outreach with community-based organizations, other colleges and universities.

- Focus on the Recruitment, Hiring, Onboarding, Retention, and Advancement of Underrepresented Minority Faculty and Staff

USM institutions are employing a variety of strategies that focus on increasing faculty and staff (to a lesser extent) diversity. Institutions are considering that work from many angles from the recruitment of faculty on through hiring, onboarding, retaining them, and being able to offer opportunities for advancement. Institutions are:

- training search committees to use inclusive hiring practices;
- monitoring the diversity of search committees;
- facilitating pathways to academic careers for graduate and professional students;
- targeting job advertisements to specific publications and networks;
- providing training so departments better understand how implicit bias relates to hiring practices;
- tracking the diversity of applicants and hires;
- creating faculty networking groups and mentoring programs; and/or
- using analytics to assess progress in the diversity profiles of the applicant pool and, ultimately, hires.

Goal 2: Create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Table 2 offers examples of institutional efforts to encourage positive and inclusive interactions and cultural awareness. Although institutions approach this differently, two themes emerged.

- Programs, Courses, and Training
A wide variety of programs, courses, and trainings are designed to improve the campus culture. Campus professionals in student affairs as well as academic affairs are providing these opportunities, but this is also where students and student organizations get most involved in working to enhance inclusion and improve interactions among the campus community. Impressively, initiatives address “diversity” in the broadest sense, as courses, training, and programs address issues of race, ethnicity, nationality, religion, sexual orientation, ability differences, gender, gender identity, and socioeconomic status at least. This work encourages and facilitates collaborations, conversations, and engagement between student groups and other members of the university communities.
- Diversity and Inclusion Offices and Workgroups
Several USM institutions have offices and chief diversity officers charged with overseeing this important work. Where there is no diversity office or chief diversity officer, many university officials have established or reinvigorating diversity and inclusion workgroups or councils.

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under the Clery Act.

Each USM institution provided a statement detailing their process for reporting campus-based hate crimes, which is mandated by the Clery Act. Data were not required for this report, but annually, all institutions who receive Title IV (federal student aid) funding submit crime data to the Department of Education. Also, annually, institutions must publish and distribute an annual campus security report to all current students and employees. In most cases, these reports are on institutions’ websites, so the information is also available to perspective students and their families. Out of increased concern about hate crimes and hate-bias incidents, the 2018 Joint Chairmen's Report required the Maryland Higher Education Commission to collect information about institutions' programs about hate-bias incidents. The reports were due in October of 2018. All USM institutions responded to the request for information about (1) institution's policies on hate-bias incidents; (2) their plan or process for educating students about hate-bias incidents, including awareness, prevention, and deterrence; (3) and the number of hate-bias incidents that have occurred during the last three academic years.

The reports revealed that although not every institution has a formal policy on hate-bias incidents, they do have policies that effectively prohibit hate-bias incidents, by prohibiting activities such as verbal harassment, intimidation, and hostile expressions against other members of the campus community. Institutions treat hate-bias incidents as violations of the institutions' student conduct policies and respond as they would to other such violations: by investigating the complaint and punishing perpetrators as necessary. Regarding education and awareness, many institutions reported already providing education about hate-bias incidents to students and other members of the campus community via the school's broader cultural diversity training. Others were actively implementing education and outreach regarding hate-bias incidents.

Finally, MHEC found that it was impossible to draw any safe conclusions on the number of hate-bias incidents that occurred at colleges and universities, as institutions were not reporting based on a standardized, statewide definition, so incidents reported seemed to be inconsistent. Hate-bias incidents and hate crimes are not identical, yet it appears that these occurrences were often confused. For now, the most consistent measure of hate-motivated incidents is the count of hate crimes that is reported to the Department of Education for Clery.

Conclusion

These reports demonstrate the importance institutions place on increasing the representation of traditionally-underrepresented groups and creating a welcoming and inclusive environment for students, faculty, and staff. Most of the work to be done around these issues must take place at the campus level and depends upon involvement from a wide variety of administrative units and academic schools, colleges, and departments. Work within and across divisions is important, occurring, and will hopefully become more systemic. Institutions also note inter-institutional work and important partnerships within their communities, which is promising.

Although there was no formal diversity-related gathering since the last presentation to the Committee in September, diversity and inclusion issues are perennial issues on the agendas of the Council of University System Presidents, the provosts, the vice presidents for student affairs, and the shared governance groups. Additionally, the USM Inclusion and Diversity Council stands ready to help the System develop and implement ideas to move forward on these issues.

Institutions are appropriately tackling inclusion and diversity from multiple perspectives. This work will continue, as there is no quick or singular fix. Our colleges and universities cite the need for additional resources to most effectively implement or sustain some of their initiatives. In the meantime, they find ways to make progress on this important work. All have identified a number of areas for continuous improvement and/or programs they are willing to continue supporting, as it often takes years for the outcomes of these activities and strategies to be realized. The USM staff will continue to work with the institutions on their compliance with the statute guiding this report, with determining the best ways to bring this information to the Board of Regents, and, most importantly, with conducting the work needed to make our institutions the representative, welcoming, and productive entities we want them to be.

Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report ~ 2018-2019

§11-406 of the Education Article states that each public institution of higher education in the State shall submit a progress report regarding the institution's implementation of a plan for a program of cultural diversity. Progress on the following institutional goals should be reported:

Goal I: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty. (Select Examples)
Institution	Efforts designed to recruit and retain traditionally underrepresented students, staff, and faculty.	Metrics to measure how progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed
FSU	Enhance college-readiness programs and promote them to minority and first-generation students. -Continue programs designed to prepare underrepresented students for postsecondary education at FSU. -Provide additional academic support for underrepresented high school students from Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Prince George's, and Frederick counties and Baltimore City.	FSU programs designed to prepare underrepresented students for postsecondary education at FSU. FSU programs designed to provide academic support for underrepresented high school students from Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, and Frederick counties, and the city of Baltimore.	Over the last five years, the grant-based TRIO Upward Bound Program has served 181 participants, and 18.8% of these self identified as minorities. FSU's Upward Bound Regional Math/Science Center provided additional academic support for underrepresented high school students from Allegany, Garrett, Frederick and Washington counties and Baltimore City. An average of 68% of program participants currently in high school (52 of 77) selfidentified as minorities. Of the 950 participants who graduated from high school during the past five years, 60 (63%) were minorities, and 53 of these 60 (88%) initially enrolled in college.	Investigate additional methods to ensure the makeup and size of the transfer student class meets the university's goals.

SU	Active participation of SU administrators in the USM Promise AGEF (Alliance for Graduate Education and the Professoriate), a USM effort which increases the participation of underrepresented groups in STEM programs and facilitates pathways to academic careers.	Involvement in USM Promise AGEF activities.	Hiring one teaching post-doc from USM Promise AGEF Network to assist in development of their teaching skills and professional development and to increase diversity of our faculty.	Continue to look for opportunities to bring AGEF faculty to SU. Work to convert current post-doc into a tenure-track position.
UB	Hire a Latinx/Diversity Admissions Counselor to assist with outreach for the growing city and regional Hispanic and Asian populations.	Increase outreach to Hispanic Students.	Hispanic students represent 4% of UB's current student population.	Expand outreach to both Latinx and Asian students by increasing community college outreach.
UMB	Advertising position vacancies in diversity publications including Insight into Diversity, DiverseEducation.com, Maryland Workforce Exchange (SON).	% change of underrepresented minorities in full time professor positions over the past three years.	We have seen consistency in the increase in the # of underrepresented minorities in full-time professional positions over the past three years, which was 6% when last reported.	Continue to strengthen our diversity recruitment efforts for faculty recruitment.
UMBC	UMBC Superintendent's/CEO Awards: For students attending public schools in Maryland particularly in systems with underrepresented populations (ethnic and socio-economic) including Baltimore City and Prince George's County.	Number of eligible students from each school district offered an award.  Number of awardees who ultimately enroll.	For Fall 2018, 3 students in Baltimore City and 4 students in PG County qualified for a CEO award. 93 admitted freshmen from Baltimore City and 241 from Prince George's County were offered merit awards ranging from $1,000 to $15,000 for each of four years of study. Of these, 23 students from Baltimore City and 48 from Prince George's County accepted, compared to 12 and 44 respectively for Fall 2017.	Additional outreach to the Superintendents is needed to better identify qualified students who would benefit from the award.
UMCES	Implementation of PeopleAdmin tracking system for hiring and recruitments – March 2018. Includes applicant diversity tracking.	Faculty/Staff searches completed FY 2019 to date.	26 hiring searches initiated in FY 2019, 14 completed with 4 minority candidate hires. An increase of 3 minority hires over last year report.	Continued improvement in search process procedures to attract diverse applicant pool in underrepresented STEM field.

BSU	Encourage participation in the China Study Abroad Program.	Number of students participating in the China Study Abroad program.	Over 50 students have participated in the program to date. (Increase from the 30 students noted last year).	Expansion of study abroad opportunities.
CSU	Safe Space Training – conducted by the Counseling Center to provide training to students, faculty, and staff and to transfer knowledge, awareness, appreciation, and understanding of LGBTQIA student issues.	Number of student, faculty, and staff participants.	All 40 (students, faculty, and staff) were educated and informed about the LGBTQIA community; new efforts to provide awareness and inclusion; safe spaces created. Awareness club to be formalized in 2019.	Expand Safe Space to individual units on campus to ensure 100% participation.
TU	CEEP (Community Enrichment & Enhancement Partnership) award, managed by Student Success Programs, is designed to increase access and success of culturally diverse and traditionally underrepresented undergraduate students. CEEP (pronounced KEEP) resources focus upon retaining students through exposure to academic strategies, diverse cultural presentations, participation in student organizations, interaction with faculty and staff, and exploring graduate and career development options.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Participation numbers</li> <li>• Demographic data on participants</li> <li>• Academic performance of CEEP scholars</li> <li>• Retention and completion rates</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 106 students (92%) earned cumulative GPA(2.5+), 2017-18</li> <li>• 32 students (15%) earned Dean's List honors, spring 2018</li> <li>• 17 students (15%) graduated, spring 2018</li> </ul> CEEP scholars:  African-American, 65%  Caucasian, 3%  Asian American, 9%  Latinx, 18%  Native American, 4%  Biracial, 1%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The goal is to increase male recipient participation to 40%.</li> <li>• Additional funding would provide financial support for CEEP eligible students not receiving CEEP aid.</li> </ul>

Overall Guidelines:

- For the 2018-2019 Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report, complete the two sections (and subsections) in this template.
- In total (including all statements and tables) your report should be 10 to 12 pages.
- Please submit your report to Zakiya Lee (zlee@usmd.edu) by Wednesday, April 17, 2019.
- The USM will generate the desired demographic information; institutions are not responsible for providing that information.

Section I: Progress Report: §11-406 of the Education Article states that each public institution of higher education shall submit a progress report regarding the institution's implementation of a plan for a program of cultural diversity. Progress on the following institutional goals should be reported:

Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty.

Goal 2: Create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery.

Summary Statement

This report was prepared in accordance with the Cultural Diversity Report guidelines prepared by the Maryland Higher Education Commission (MHEC). The report meets the requirements for Education §11-406 (Plan for Cultural Diversity) and contains two sections:

1. a progress report on Bowie State University's Cultural Diversity Plan efforts to increase the numbers of traditionally underrepresented students, faculty and staff populations and a description of initiatives designed to create positive interactions and cultural awareness across the campus,
2. a summary of BSUs Cultural Diversity Plan; and

Bowie State University has a long-standing commitment to diversity; it values and celebrates diversity in all of its forms. The University community believe that its educational environment is enriched by the diversity of individuals, groups and cultures that come together in a spirit of learning. As the University aspires to even greater racial diversity, it fully embraces the global definition of diversity that acknowledges and recognizes differences and advances knowledge about race, gender, ethnicity, national origin, political persuasion, culture, sexual orientation, religion, age, and disability.

The activities that follow demonstrate Bowie State University's efforts to increasing the number of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff and faculty and ensuring positive interactions and cultural awareness.

Goal 1: Use the table to share how you are increasing the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty. Bulleted, succinct descriptions of major initiatives and strategies are ideal; additional narrative is not necessary.

The aforementioned statements and the information within the tables should be aligned with your institution's plan for cultural diversity, which is required by §1 I-406 of the Education Article. §1 I-406 states that each public institution of higher education in the State shall develop and implement a plan for a program of cultural diversity that enhances cultural diversity programming and sensitivity to cultural diversity through instruction and training of the student body, faculty, and staff at the institution of higher education. The plan should include:

- i. Implementation strategy and a timeline for meeting goals within the plan;
- ii. A description of the way the institution addresses cultural diversity among its student, faculty, and staff populations;
- iii. A description of how the institution plans to enhance cultural diversity (if improvement is needed);
- iv. A process for reporting campus-based hate crimes; and
- v. A summary of any resources, including State grants, needed by the institution to effectively recruit and retain a culturally-diverse student body.

Please submit a copy of your institution's plan for cultural diversity.
The institutional cultural diversity plan should be in an appendix and should not be included in the 12-page maximum.

Appendix A
Bowie State University
Cultural Diversity Plan - Update

Bowie State University is currently revising its approach to cultural diversity and inclusion to align with the goals and objectives in its Racing to Excellence FY 19 – FY 24 Strategic Plan. Goal 4 of the Strategic Plan specifically focuses on enhancing the campus culture of diversity, inclusion and civic engagement. Strategic Plan Goal 4 objectives are listed below.

Goal 4 - Enhancing our Campus Culture of Diversity, Inclusion and Civic Engagement

Bowie State University will embrace, promote, and support a community of cultural inclusivity, diversity and accountability by ensuring that faculty, staff and students develop a mindset of accountability in teaching, learning, support programs, and extra-curricular campus experiences designed to enhance collaboration and engagement.

Objectives

- 4.1 Community of inclusion – Sustain our commitment to fostering and supporting a safe, civil and welcoming environment for students, faculty, and staff by being intentional about how our community encourages involvement, respect, and connection among its members (State Plan: Success, Strategy 4).
- 4.2 Culturally responsive pedagogies - Expand the use of culturally responsive pedagogies through faculty development (State Plan: Success, Strategy 5, 6).
- 4.3 Multicultural programs and services - Establish an Office of Multicultural Programs and Services that promotes an appreciation of inclusion and diversity on campus and assists with the retention and graduation of international students.
- 4.4 Culture of historical richness - Cultivate a culture of historical richness through campus displays and events that celebrate historical significant events and outcomes.
- 4.5 Civic responsibility - Continue to educate the next generation of global citizens to build stronger, more engaged communities through coordinated and deliberate activities aimed at improving the quality of life in our community and strengthening our democracy through political and nonpolitical engagement.

In addition, the Strategic Plan articulates the core values of the University: Excellence, Inclusivity, Integrity, Accountability, and Innovation. Our core value of Inclusivity is defined as “intentional about creating a community that encourages involvement, respect, and connection among students, faculty, staff, and administrators regardless of differences of race, gender, ethnicity, national origin, culture, sexual orientation, religion, age, and disability.” As an HBI, the Bowie State community believed it was important to adopt a definition that went beyond race and ethnicity to include the numerous other characteristics that bring richness to our campus community.

In the past, the University took a decentralized approach to support cultural diversity. Annual objectives relating to cultural diversity flow through the offices of the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, the Executive Vice President and General Counsel, the Vice President of Administration and Finance and the Vice President for Student Affairs. Building upon the previous work of the Diversity and Inclusion Committee, President Breaux, in FY 2019, engaged in numerous discussions with campus constituencies related to the structure of diversity and inclusion activities on campus. A multi-phase proposal for a diversity and inclusion unit is in draft form with initial funding planned for FY 2020.

In anticipation of the Diversity and Inclusion unit, the Center for Academic Programs Assessment (CAPA) began to collect base-line student data on intercultural competency and diversity to inform the work of the Diversity and Inclusion Committee by participating in the Educational Testing Service (ETS) HEIghten pilot study. The ETS HEIghten study defined intercultural competency and diversity (ICD) as a “person’s capability to gather, interpret, and act upon radically different cues and function effectively in multicultural situations. Over 200 academic officers at community colleges and four-year institutions participated in the pilot study. Four pilot forms were designed for the ICD assessment. Each ICD form had 80 items and was designed to be less than 40-minutes long. Areas assess included:

- Analyze and Act: The ability to take in, evaluate and synthesize relevant information without the bias of preconceived judgments and to translate thoughts into actions.
- Approach: The overall positivity with which an individual views and responds to cross-cultural interactions.
- Positive Cultural Orientation: The evaluation of cross-cultural situations as favorable.
- Cultural Self-Efficacy: The belief that one can successfully engage in cross-cultural situations.
- Suspending Judgment/Perspective Taking: Active consideration of others’ potential viewpoints and active refrainment of preconceived cultural schema interfering with informed processing.
- Social Monitoring: Awareness of physical, verbal and nonverbal behaviors and cues of others during a social interaction; attention to others’ responses to one’s own actions and signals.

Baseline data from HEIghten indicated that BSU students were very close to the proficient level in “Analyze and Act” in “Approach”. BSU students were within .5 points or less of their national comparison peers in Positive Cultural Orientation and Cultural Self-Efficacy. Suspending Judgment/Perspective Taking and Social Monitoring were the areas where BSU students and the comparison group had the largest gaps with BSU students scoring lower than those students at comparison institutions.

The Office of Equity and Compliance and the Facilities Management collaborated on an ADA and Accessibility Survey to improve the design and detail of campus grounds and facilities to meet the needs and expectations of our community members of all abilities. Several opportunities for improvement were identified related to parking and elevator availability and reliability. The finding supported a FY 2019 grant proposal for facilities improvements.

The core value of Inclusion is measured through the Ruffalo Noel Levitz Student Satisfaction Inventory survey administered every three years and being collected in spring 2019. The University is surveying faculty and staff using the Ruffalo Noel Levitz College Employee Satisfaction Survey in fall 2019 to gather updated information on campus climate to inform the cultural diversity plan.

Findings from these and other sources will be used to inform the activity planning for the Diversity and Inclusion unit.

February 22, 2009

Having been in the employee ranks of Bowie State University (BSU) for less than six months, I am one of the newest members of the leadership team. I am not the only new member, however; the entire leadership team is new. As Dr. Mickey L. Burnim is in his third year as University President, all of his Cabinet members (five vice presidents, legal counsel, and the director of public relations) and each of the academic deans (Arts & Sciences, Business, Education, and Professional Studies) were hired after his appointment as University President. An addition to the Cabinet, the Athletic Director was added; the person in that position was not a new hire. A series of searches are currently underway to fill critical administrative positions, some of which have been vacant for more than one year. Primary among these slots are the positions of Assistant Vice President for Institutional Effectiveness and Director of Institutional Effectiveness.

As Bowie State University has a long-standing commitment to diversity, it values and celebrates diversity in all of its forms. The University community believes that its educational environment is enriched by the diversity of individuals, groups and cultures that come together in a spirit of learning. As the University aspires to even greater racial diversity, it fully embraces the global textbook definition of the term, diversity. It is one that acknowledges and recognizes difference and advances knowledge about race, ethnicity, national origin, age, gender, socio-economic status, religion, sexual orientation, veteran's status, disability, and intellectual perspective.

Evidence of BSU's commitment is seen in all of the critical documents emanating from the University and is immediately apparent to those who visit the campus. Efforts to move beyond rhetoric to additional initiatives as required by Senate Bill 438 has been somewhat slow, due, in large part to this period of administrative transition. President Burnim appointed a Strategic Plan Committee in 2006. The committee developed a Strategic Plan for 2007-2012. Details of the Plan can be found at the following address:

http://www.bowiestate.edu/UploadedFiles/about/message/reports/strategic\_plan/StrategicPlan.81706.pdf. As there is evidence of progress on the BSU campus, please note the following statistical data regarding initiatives as well as an additional listing of campus strategies and initiatives, all of which corroborate our success of our initiatives:

- a. Statistics outlining the ethnic/racial makeup of our campus community;
- b. Several critical documents where the University's commitment to diversity are delineated. Key phrases have been highlighted;
- c. A set of initiatives currently under consideration for implementation in the near future.

B. CRITICAL DOCUMENTS

INSTITUTIONAL IDENTITY

Established in 1865, Bowie State University is the oldest Historically Black Institution of higher learning in Maryland and one of the oldest in the nation. The University evolved from a normal school into a comprehensive university that offers a wide array of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. Currently, Bowie State University serves a diverse student population, providing educational opportunities that enable students to function in a highly technological and interdependent world. The University continues to honor its heritage of providing access to higher education for under-represented populations, with a commitment to African Americans. The University remains a leader in graduating African Americans in technological fields. Bowie State University fosters a supportive, rigorous, and collaborative environment that nurtures excellence in academics and in professional and cross-cultural relationships. The University places particular emphasis on excellence in teaching and research on teaching methodology in order to improve the teaching-learning process. Bowie State University produces graduates who are leaders among their peers in a global community, who think critically, who value diversity, and who are committed to high moral standards. Bowie State University is a leader in the infusion of technology into the curriculum while maintaining its role as an institution grounded in the liberal arts. The University is committed to providing a high-quality education that fosters learning and enhances skill acquisition and knowledge discovery based on proven pedagogies and an up-to-date curriculum for students at all levels. The University offers a comprehensive set of undergraduate programs that include the arts and humanities, business and management, teacher education, science and technology, and health and human services.

At the post-baccalaureate level, program offerings include the social sciences, information science and technology, and education. Students are able to pursue certificate programs as well as master's degrees in such disciplines as applied computational mathematics, business, computer science, counseling, counseling psychology, education, English, management information systems, nursing, and organizational communications. The University also offers two doctoral programs—one in computer science and one in educational leadership—and is exploring other doctoral programs in information technology and teaching. The University is aggressively collaborating with its sister institutions and other agencies to address student retention issues (i.e., Coppin State University; Morgan State University; University of Maryland Eastern Shore; University of the District of Columbia; and the Maryland Higher Education Commission); increase the number of student internships; and provide research opportunities for faculty and students (i.e., Towson University; National Aeronautics and Space Administration; Naval Research Laboratory; University of Maryland, Baltimore; Howard University; and City University of New York); increase the number of computer technologists (i.e., University of Maryland College Park; Morgan State University; Johns Hopkins University; University of Maryland, Baltimore County; and Honeywell, formerly Allied Signal Corporation); enhance the quality of the police force (Prince George's County Police Academy); and enhance the quality of teaching in the county and State through Professional Development Schools, induction programs, and critical issues workshops (i.e., Prince George's County Schools; University of Maryland College Park, Towson University; and Prince George's Community College).

The University is committed to recruiting and retaining a student mix that reflects a population of honor students as well as those who demonstrate leadership qualities, display academic potential, and exhibit the motivation to learn. Bowie State University delivers instruction to a global audience of adult learners through traditional and alternative means.

Bowie State University's workforce consists of a diverse group of dedicated professionals who are committed to implementing the mission of the University. The full-time faculty, complemented by a highly qualified adjunct faculty and supported by a skilled staff, distinguishes itself through excellence in teaching, scholarship/research, and service. Effectively and efficiently, the University will continue to provide excellent educational services to its students through recruitment, development, and retention of a talented workforce.

VISION

(new shared vision statement; adopted, fall of 2007)

Building on its image as a student-centered institution and its history as an HBCU, Bowie State University will provide its diverse student population with a course of study that ensures a broad scope of knowledge and understanding that is deeply rooted in expanded research activities. The University excels in teacher education and will become the premier teacher of teachers. Through the integration of internal business processes, technology, and the teamwork of administrators, faculty and staff, the University will be recognized statewide as a model of excellence in higher education for the effective and efficient use of human, fiscal, and physical resources.

MISSION

Bowie State University, through the effective and efficient management of its resources, provides high-quality and affordable educational opportunities at the bachelor's, master's, and doctoral levels for a diverse student population of Maryland citizens and the global community.

The educational programs are designed to broaden the knowledge base and skill set of students across disciplines and to enable students to think critically, value diversity, become effective leaders, function competently in a highly technical world, and pursue advanced graduate study. The University is committed to increasing the number of students from underrepresented minorities who earn advanced degrees in computer science, mathematics, information technology, and education. Constituent needs, market demands, and emerging challenges confronting socioeconomic cultures serve as important bases in the University's efforts to develop educational programs and improve student access to instruction.

With regard to the specifics of Senate Bill 438, the following is an update on progress made at Bowie State University:

- I. Develop and implement a plan for a program of cultural diversity.
- II. If an institution of higher education already has a program of cultural diversity, develop and implement a plan for improving the program.

BSU Response:

While the University sponsors numerous campus-wide initiatives and activities which support cultural diversity, no formal institution-wide plan has been approved to date. With the recent reorganization of the Academic Affairs area by the new Provost, several new positions have been created that will formalize and bring structure to the University's current efforts and aspirations in the area of cultural diversity. Among these positions are the following:

Assistant Vice President for Undergraduate Studies

Responsibilities: Among the primary foci of this new position are two retention-centered initiatives; (a) to provide greater academic oversight of several University student support services; and (b) to provide leadership for a new initiative at BSU, the creation of several Learning Communities. Support from the provost's office will have the cumulative effect of strengthening the University's efforts to support the special needs of our diverse student population.

Status of Search: Underway/Projected start date – July 1, 2009

Assistant to the Provost for Special Initiatives

Responsibilities: This unique new position will have a rotating portfolio of responsibility—one that will focus on a smorgasbord of initiatives that the University wishes to advance. One of the primary focus areas for the first year will be the University's Honors Program. The goal is one of making this program more select while increasing participation from majority and international students.

Status of Search: Underway/Projected start date – July 1, 2009

Coordinator for International Programs

Responsibilities: Embracing the full definition of diversity, BSU seeks to further increase its international profile, particularly with students and faculty as well as to provide the necessary accommodations to insure the success of its international students and faculty. This new position will allow the University to focus more closely this critical area.

Status of Search: Underway/Projected start date - July 1, 2009

Coordinator for Learning Communities and Interdisciplinary Studies

Responsibilities: A retention initiative, this new position reports to the newly created position Assistant Vice President for Undergraduate Studies.

Status of Search: Underway/Projected start date - July 1, 2009

With these positions in place by the beginning of the Fall, '09 semester, the Provost plans to appoint a special task-force charged to lead the University community in the creation of a BSU Cultural Diversity Plan.

- III. Include an implementation strategy and a timeline for meeting the goals within the plan. Include the following:
  - A. Description of the way the institution addressed cultural diversity among its students, faculty, and staff populations;
  - B. Description of how the institution plans to enhance cultural diversity, if improvement is needed;
  - C. Process for responding to reporting campus-based hate crimes and bias-motivated incidents that may occur on campus as defined under title 10, subtitle 3 of the Criminal Law Article and consistent with federal under 20 U.S. 1092 (F) known as the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act; and
  - D. Summary of any resources, including state grants, needed by the institution to effectively recruit and retain a culturally diverse student body, faculty, and staff.

BSU Response:

Proposed timeline for meeting goals

Institutional charge to Task-Force	-	September, 2009
Deadline for Report from Task-Force	-	November, 2009
Public Presentation of BSU Cultural Diversity Plan to University Community	-	December, 2009
1 st Phase of Implementation (Preparation for this phase will be included in the budget for AY 09-10)	-	January, 2010
2 nd Phase of Implementation (Depending on budget and Approval of anticipated curricula changes)	-	Each semester following proposed Jan., 2010 implementation date

A&B. While the University is moving aggressively to raise the bar in the way it addresses the concerns of international students, faculty, and staff, it is currently depending on Mr. Robert Batten, Interim Dean of Student Affairs and International Student Advisor, who brings issues and concerns of international students to the University's attention.

Evidence of BSU's commitment is seen in all of the critical documents emanating from the University and is immediately apparent to those who visit the campus. The role of the University Relations and Marketing (URM) team at Bowie State University (BSU) is to support internal constituents develop better long-term relationships with BSU students and external constituents. The URM team performs its role by using various marketing tools while incorporating the institutions mission and vision at the same time as adhering to the institutions core values: excellence, integrity, civility, diversity, and accountability. Examples of diversity in recent market collateral are seen in the following:

- Graduate View Book which provides testimonies from
- Male Professor of African descent
- Female Alumna of Asian descent
- Female international student, from Thailand
- Female African American student
- Semester promotions that highlight varying ethnic groups
- Inclusion of the Bowie State's five core values in brochures

BSU also has a LGBT (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual & Transgender) Resource Center. Its mission is as follows: (1) To provide programs and services that promote academic and personal growth for all of its students; (2) To assure unrestricted access to and full involvement in all aspects of the institution; and (3) To serve as a catalyst for the creation of a campus environment free from prejudice, bigotry, harassment, violence and one that is hospitable for all students.

The following are examples of activities that have been initiated or supported in support of cultural diversity by the Division of Student Affairs:

- Asian Bazaar
- African Bazaar
- Latin Bazaar
- International Cultural Fair
- We actively recruit all students for leadership roles
- Actively recruit all student for RA positions
- Fraternities and Sororities are all multicultural

- Diversity Training is at the core root of RA training.
- Staff Council started a Development
- Created a GLBTQA Advisory organization

C. Hate Crimes are reported by the 8th day of each month on the Monthly Uniform Crime Reports and are submitted to the Maryland State Police. The Supplementary Hate Bias Incident Report Form is filled out which gives the date of the incident, report number, and the circumstances surrounding the incident. These statistics are generated by the Maryland State Police Central Records. Ms Clery requires accounting for those Hate Crimes where there is a reported homicide, rape, robbery, assault, B&E, larceny, or motor vehicle theft.

D. Recent application for State Grants

Agency: MHEC (Maryland Higher Education Commission)
 Title: Accelerated BSU Program with Retention and Success Initiatives
 Objective: Expand the State's nursing capacity through shared resources and increased focus on student retention and success.
 Focus Group: Transfers from community colleges, military in active duty, second- degree seekers.

IV. Enhance cultural diversity programming and sensitivity to cultural diversity through instruction and training of the student body, faculty, and staff at the institution of higher education.

BSU Response:

Future Plans related to Cultural Diversity
 While BSU has brought speakers to campus, it has no distinguished speaker series nor does it have a concert series. Such a series will be started at BSU during the 09-10 academic year. Such a speaker series can bring to campus well-known speakers with a variety of perspectives—political and otherwise. Taking advantage of its strategic location and rich cultural offerings, BSU can easily find outstanding speakers and world-renowned concert artists in the Greater Baltimore-Washington area. Such a series would serve to bring faculty, students, and staff back to campus for the evening.

V. On or before May 1 of each year, each institution shall submit the plan to the governing body of the institution for the governing body's review.

BSU Response: We will comply.

VI. On or before August of each year, the governing body of an institution shall submit a progress report regarding the institution's implementation of its plan to the Commission.

BSU Response: We will comply.

INSTITUTIONAL PROGRAMS OF CULTURAL DIVERSITY ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT
COPPIN STATE UNIVERSITY
AY 2018 - 2019

BACKGROUND

Education Article 11-406, of the Code of Maryland Regulations, states that each public institution must annually submit updates on plans of cultural diversity. At Coppin State University (CSU), diversity refers to programming related to the inclusion of those racial and ethnic groups and individuals that are, or have been underrepresented in higher education. Additionally, the University's programs, strategies, and activities are inclusive of persons regardless of race, color, religion (creed), gender, gender expression, age, national origin (ancestry), disability, marital status, sexual orientation, and military status. As required by the University System of Maryland (USM), CSU has developed and implemented a plan that enhances cultural diversity and inclusion awareness through programming, instruction and training of the student body, faculty, and staff. Using the template provided by the USM, details of the plan are provided below.

SECTION I: Progress Report on Goals 1-3

Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty. Timeline: 2020
Programs/Initiatives	Metrics	Progress 2018-2019	Areas of Improvement
1. Continue to recruit, hire, and retain a diverse faculty and staff body using online and print publications that reach populations of various race and ethnicities.	1. No. of Faculty and staff by race/ethnicity; Affirmative Action Report; number and type of publications	1. The proportion and mix faculty changed over the previous year. Asian faculty increased from 3.7% to over 5%, while Afr. Americans decreased from 85% to 75% and White faculty increased from 9% to 12%.	1. The University should continue recruitment and hiring of faculty and staff who report are Native Americans, Foreign, and Caucasian.
2. Provide Fair Housing (Residence Hall) Training annually	2. % of Staff Participants trained	2. 100% Housing Staff Participated in training during 2018-19.	2. Continue annual training and assessment.

3. Recruitment of International Students, including student-athletes	3. Percent International Students; number and percent student-athletes	3. Percent of international students has declined from 14.6% to 12.1%	3. Enhance recruitment to target international students.
4. Annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Day – a speaker series and recognition ceremony that is open to the campus and local community	4. Number of participants annually	4. There were over 110 participants; a positive reception of the event and positive interactions among student, faculty, and staff attendees.	4. Provide formal evaluation tools for next year's event to be developed.
5. Diversity and Academic Programs –The School of Education has plans to broaden the scope of diversity within its academic programs. Also, within the scope of General Education, future plans are to infuse diversity into General Education and conduct assessments.	5. Data from future assessments on students' learning and experiences.	5. Anticipated results include greater awareness and inclusion of persons of all race and ethnicities in instructional programs and examples, and in students' practical experiences.	5. New Initiatives; measures under development; School of Education proposed teaching in urban setting courses to be approved by curriculum committee in spring 2019.
6. Denim Day	6. Number of Participants by student group.	6. The event was conducted last year but metrics not captured; invitations to be sent to all students; will count # International students and LGBTQIA.	6. This event will be held fall 2019; a count of metrics by student group.

Goal 2: Create Positive Interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Timeline: 2020

Programs/Initiatives	Metrics	Progress	Areas of Improvement
1. Safe Space Training – conducted by the Counseling Center to provide training to students, faculty, and staff and to transfer knowledge, awareness, appreciation, and understanding of LGBTQIA student issues.	1. No. of student, faculty, and staff participants.	1. All 40 (students, faculty, and staff ) were educated and informed about the LGBTQIA community; new efforts to provide awareness and inclusion; safe spaces created. Pynk, an awareness club will be formalized in 2019.	1. Expand Safe Space to individual units on campus to ensure 100% participation.
2. Campus-wide student mentoring and support programs for personal and academic intervention. Programs include CLAC, Our House, LLCs, etc.	2. No. of Programs; participants; university success rates.	2. There over 200 students served. The full impact on student success are measured through the campus' retention and graduation rates.	2. Need to attain and sustain level funding for selected mentoring and support programs; need evaluation data of each event to measure impact.
3. Professional Development for Staff by all units on campus conducted by Human Resources - HR provided training on Workplace Civility and Conflict Resolution hosted by MD Commission on Civil Rights; workshops on unconscious bias held during University Day.	3. No. of participants per training; no. of workshops	3. 7. Campus-wide Monthly, Information Sessions on LGBTQIA community; hosted by all divisions – flyers, seminars, and lectures.	7. No. of Students, faculty, staff participants and no. served	7. Progress will be measured fall 2019.	7. Continue efforts to broaden education to the campus; broaden use of safe space signage; promotions of awareness campaigns.
8. Intrusive Advisement for International Students (F-1 Visa) – includes counseling, safe space talks; government support and advice.	8. No. of students served	8. No. of students enrolled each semester have less issues and concerns with visas.	8. This will be measured fall 2019.

Statement 1 (do not include statistics): Reporting of Institutional Goal 3 - Hate Crimes

INSTITUTION HAS A PROCESS FOR REPORTING HATE CRIMES

Although hate crimes have been zero or minimal at the University, the campus has several outlets for reporting hate crimes and any other malicious acts by students, faculty, and staff. CSU is compliant with the processes outlined by the USM as well as the federal requirements under the Clery Act of 1990. The process is detailed on the University's website (Campus Police site) at https://www.coppin.edu/downloads/file/1302/complaint\_procedure. The campus police will conduct an investigation of all complaints filed in a timely manner. The information is communicated to the public using the campus' annual Public Safety Campus Crime Report, which is posted to the university's home page. Also, as crimes are reported in and around the surrounding community, the Campus Police sends e-mail blasts describing the crimes and requested the community to always exercise caution and to report these crimes. The public remains aware of any crimes primarily through this process.

Students are able to report crimes through the Office of Community Standards and Conduct within the Division of Student Affairs. Reports may also be made to the Division of Academic Affairs. Students involved in such incidents have access to the campus' judicial process, the campus police, and if necessary, Baltimore City's Police Department.

Faculty and Staff are able to report crimes through the Office of Human Resources or the Coppin State Police. This information is communicated to them through orientation processes as well as through professional development and training offered during the academic year.

Compliance with New Requirements

The Maryland Higher Education Commission (MHEC) requires that institutions submit reports on Hate-Bias Plans and Hazing Policies. CSU developed a plan that includes incident response protocols and a process for tracking reported incidents. This was a requirement by the Joint Chairs last year.

APPENDIX

SECTION II: INSTITUTIONAL PLAN NARRATIVE

SECTION III: INSTITUTIONAL DATA

SECTION II: INSTITUTIONAL PLAN NARRATIVE – Report on Progress

CSU's defines cultural diversity as strategic programming related to the inclusion of those racial and ethnic groups and individuals that are or have been underrepresented in higher education. Also, the University is inclusive of persons regardless of race, color, religion (creed), gender, gender expression, age, national origin (ancestry), disability, marital status, sexual orientation, and military status. Cultural diversity and inclusion is a central to the institution's mission.

Institutional Mission Statement (revised 2018; approved 2019)

Coppin State University, a historically black institution in a dynamic urban setting, serves a multi-generational student population, provides innovative education opportunities, and promotes lifelong learning. The University fosters leadership, social responsibility, civic and community engagement, cultural diversity and inclusion, and economic development.

Cultural Diversity Among Students

CSU is uniquely capable of addressing the preparation of multigenerational students from the State of Maryland, Baltimore City and County, and regions beyond. The University extends its preparations beyond the traditional classroom by providing experiential and authentic learning experiences to students who have been differently prepared. To address the cultural diversity goals of the USM, the university has aligned its plan to help the system meet its goals accomplish greater diversity and inclusion. Data below and explanations show progress towards greater diversity and inclusion.

Since the 2008-2009 baseline year, the University has experienced a decline in enrollment within all student categories. However, the University has been able to maintain a diverse student population. During 2018-19, there was a slight increase in the percentage African American students from 77.8% to 79%. Hispanic and Latino students declined slightly from 2.8% to 2.6%. White students experienced a slight increase from 1.5% to 2%, while international students declined from 14.6% to 12.1%.

Selected initiatives across the campus within the Student Affairs and Enrollment Management, Athletics, Administration and Finance, Information Technology, and Academic Affairs have supported the University's efforts to attract and retain a proportional mix of students that reflect the community. However, there is room for continued improvement.

The following programs, strategies, and initiatives support enrollment, retention, and graduation, and continue to yield positive results. Selected support programs and interventions include:

- Summer Academic Success Academy (SASA) - The Summer Academic Success Academy is an intensive, six-week campus-based, residential program that prepares students for the transition from high school to college. At-risk students have the opportunity to develop confidence and earn college credit prior to the start of the fall semester. SASA students receive information on financial literacy, career planning, personal growth, and other campus resources and support services.

- First Year Experience (FYE) - The First-Year Experience program serves as the advisement hub for first-year and sophomore students. Students receive intrusive advisement and guidance through the completion of the first 30 credits of their General Education curriculum.
- Academic Success Centers (ASC) - The Centers, housed within each of the four colleges, are staffed by full-time academic advisors and retention coordinators. Staff members monitor student progression, perform registration outreach, and direct students to support services needed for success.
- Our House Community Mentoring - Our House provides mentoring for incoming freshmen through a combined peer mentoring and staff mentoring program. Run as a pilot in AY2014, results show a higher freshmen to sophomore retention rate and academic achievement when compared to the University.
- Connecting Ladies across Campus (CLAC) - CLAC is designed to build self-esteem in female students with the ultimate goal of empowering them in womanhood, sustaining academic excellence, and building personal and professional relationships that may lead to successful careers. Paired with a mentor from the University's faculty or staff, CLAC supports CSU women of all backgrounds.
- Child Development Center – (Currently Closed for Renovations) Child care services offered through the James E. McDonald Child Development Center support students, employees of the University, and the community with the purpose of providing a safe, nurturing, and educational program that focuses on developmentally appropriate experiences for children. The Center addresses both the need of the campus community as well as provides quality service to the surrounding community. Students who major in Early Childhood Education complete experiential learning at the Center, contributing to their academic preparation.
- The Center for Counseling and Student Development (CCSD) - The Center provides quality counseling and mental health services to students experiencing personal, developmental, and psychological issues or distress. They assist students in crisis, intervene in potentially life threatening situations, provide quality outreach programs and offer other important additional services. These services address the developmental concerns of students while emphasizing prevention and professional consultative services that increase the understanding of challenges faced by students and promotes psychological well-being.

- Disability Support Services - Disability Support Services (DSSP) - Housed under the Division of Academic Affairs, DSSP has been charged to create an accessible university community to ensure students have equal access to University programs, activities, and services. Policies and procedures are developed to provide students with as much independence as possible and to promote self-advocacy. The services to faculty, staff, and students on disability issues address the needs of individuals to improve the quality and effectiveness of services; advocate for the upgrading and maintenance of the accessibility of all facilities; promote access to technology resources; and provide students with disabilities the same academic opportunities as non-disabled students in all areas of academic life.
- Center for Adult Learners (CAL) - The Center was formed with the adult learner in mind, given that the average age of the CSU student is 26 years of age. The goals of the CAL include the following: to increase educational opportunities for first-generation college students; to strengthen the level of engagement in the culture of academic rigor; to provide a campus climate in which adult learners demonstrate satisfaction with their program of study and go on to assume careers in their disciplines or continue matriculation into graduate or professional schools; to provide a model to be replicated on a larger-scale for the University; and to inform teaching and learning effectiveness through assessment.

Administrative Staff

The Office of Human Resources (HR) offers a variety of workshops that support cultural diversity and inclusion. These workshops are offered on a regular basis and are available to all members of the campus community at least two or more times per year. Workshops include such topics on sensitivity training, managing diverse staff members, customer service, and conflict resolution. These workshops are essential since the University has staff from all types of diverse backgrounds and remain central to the university's mission. The workshops are conducted in conjunction with the Information Technology Division, Academic Affairs, and Finance and Administration.

The University experienced an increase in the number of staff members between AY 2017-18 and AY 2018-19. The total number of staff increased from 246 to 360. The number of African American staff increased from 192 (78%) to 304 (84.4%), while Asian staff decreased from 6.5% to 2.8%. White staff also decreased from 13.4% to 8.3%. Data show that efforts to increase representation among Native Americans and Foreign staff member could be further enhanced.

Diversity among Faculty

Coppin's unique geographic location within the Baltimore City limits makes it an attractive environment for faculty to have careers and focus on instruction, research and service to the University. Overall, faculty members find the campus to be a welcoming environment. The University makes every effort to advertise in diverse publications to ensure that individuals in the country and worldwide would have access to job opportunities with the University. These publications include, but are not limited to the Washington Post, the Chronicle of Higher Education, Diverse Issues, Latinos in Higher Education, LinkedIn, HigherEdjobs.com, and other publications that are able to reach remote areas.

The University maintains subscriptions to diverse publications in an effort to ensure that when searches are conducted for new faculty, candidates will derive from diverse locations. While the limitations of dollars for advertising continue, the University is able to post positions in print and online journals, many of which may be discipline-specific. Budget constraints have contributed to the University's inability to be even more aggressive in its recruitment and hiring of an appropriate number of faculty members across all of its disciplines. Also, internally, the institution is reviewing all of its academic programs, including faculty and all other resources necessary for successful programming.

The following data show that overall, faculty recruitment has somewhat slowed. In AY 2018-2019, the University had 250 members of personnel classified in a type of faculty position; down from 376 in the previous year (Note: the faculty count includes all faculty, Full-time, tenure/tenure track, full-time, non-tenure/tenure track, adjuncts, and library personnel classified as faculty). Out of the 250 faculty members, 56% are female and 44% are male. While there has been a decrease in the number of overall faculty, the population remains largely African American (75.2%). The Asian faculty member population increased from 3.7% to 5% and Caucasians increased from 9% to 12%. Data show that enhancements could be made to increase the number of underrepresented Native American faculty members.

This report follows the University System of Maryland guidelines for the 2018-2019 Annual Progress Report on Frostburg State University's Cultural Diversity Program. The report contains the following three sections:

SECTION I:

FROSTBURG STATE UNIVERSITY'S PROGRESS REPORT ON USM GOALS ONE, TWO, AND THREE

- Summary Statement ..... 1
- Table 1: USM Goal 1 (FSU Goals 1-3) ..... 3
- Table 2: USM Goal 2 (FSU Goals 4 and 5) ..... 7
- USM Goal 3
(FSU Process for Reporting Campus-Based Hate Crimes and Bias-Motivated Incidents) ..... 12

SECTION II (APPENDIX A)

- Frostburg State University's Cultural Diversity Program ..... 13

SECTION III (APPENDIX B)

- Institutional Demographic Data ..... 23

Provides associated comparative demographic data for fall 2010, fall 2016, and fall 2017 with that of fall 2018. These data outline FSU's significant progress over the last ten years towards achieving its diversity goals.

SECTION I - SUMMARY STATEMENT

Frostburg State University is a multicultural campus where diversity is highly valued. This is affirmed in the University's Core Values Statement: "Frostburg State University is committed to developing cultural competence and cultivating understanding of and respect for a diversity of experiences and worldviews that encourage each person's ability to 'take the perspective of the other.'" The University's Cultural Diversity Program 2008-2018 puts this value into action. The program is intended to help the institution more effectively recruit and retain individuals from groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education. It is also designed to promote cultural understanding and appreciation among all members of the University community. The Cultural Diversity Program 2008-2018 establishes five institutional goals together with strategies for their attainment (see Section II). The University has made significant advances toward achieving the five goals of the program over the 10-year period 2008-2018.

1. Recruit and Enroll a Growing Number of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students

Strategies under this goal include enhancing marketing and recruitment efforts that target members of underrepresented groups as well as expanding college-readiness and bridge programs offered by the University.

The University has made notable progress in this area over the 10-year period 2008-2018. The undergraduate minority student population at Frostburg has significantly increased in the past decade. In the fall of 2008, minority students represented 26.1% of Frostburg's overall undergraduate population; and, in the fall of 2018, minority students comprised 42.48% of the overall undergraduate population. The proportion of African American students rose from 21.9% in fall 2008 to 31.18% in fall 2018, and the percentage of Hispanic/Latino students increased from 2.1% to 5.0% over that same period. (Though this institutional goal specifically references undergraduate students, Frostburg's minority graduate student population has also appreciably grown over this 10-year period. In the fall of 2008, minority students represented only 4.18% of Frostburg's overall graduate population; by fall of 2018, minority students comprised 19.82% of the overall graduate population.) An increasing number of transfer students are from minority groups. New minority transfer students represented 13.5% of the new transfer population in fall 2008 compared to 28.7% in fall 2018.

2. Increase the Retention and Graduation Rates of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students

Strengthening and expanding student support, mentoring, and advising programs are identified strategies under this goal.

Advances have been made in this area over the 10-year period 2008-2018, particularly with respect to undergraduate minority graduation rates. The second-year retention rate for all minority students has somewhat increased over the past decade, from 72% for all minority students in cohort fall 2009 to 74% for all minority students in cohort fall 2017. The second-year retention rate for African American students rose from 73% for cohort fall 2009 to 77% for cohort fall 2017. The six-year graduation rate for all minority students rose from 38.8% for cohort year 2002 to 49% for cohort year 2012. The six-year graduation rate for African American students rose from 42% for cohort year 2004 to 48% for cohort year 2012. In fall 2018, University President Ronald Nowaczynski appointed Ms. Arlene Cash the inaugural Vice President for Enrollment Management. This position consolidates important recruitment and support services for students who are considering Frostburg and throughout their college careers, with the aim of being more intentional and efficient in our recruitment and student support offerings.

3. Enhance the Cultural Diversity of Faculty and Staff

Strategies include continuing the activities of the ADA/EEO Compliance Office's Minority Recruitment Plan, expanding efforts to attract and retain minority faculty, and providing additional support for college and departmental minority faculty recruitment and retention plans.

The relative size of the minority tenure/tenure-track faculty population at Frostburg has remained fairly constant over the 10-year period 2008-2018. Minority faculty comprised 13.4% of the total tenure/tenure-track faculty population in fall 2008 and 14.7% of the total tenure/tenure-track faculty population in fall 2018. There has been a small increase in minority representation among executive-level staff. In fall 2008, 5.26% of executive-level staff were African American/Black and no executive-level staff were Asian or Hispanic/Latino. In fall 2018, the rates of representation rose to: African American/Black (6.05%), Asian (1.61%), and Hispanic/Latino (.4%). The most notable gains have been at the level of professional staff. The rates of minority representation at that level in 2008 were: African American/Black (4.05%), Asian (2.03%), Hispanic/Latino (.68%); and, by fall 2018, these rates increased to: African American/Black (6.74%), Asian (5.62%), Hispanic/Latino (1.12%)

4. *Create a Campus Environment that Promotes the Valuing of Cultural Diversity

Providing campus-wide cultural and gender diversity programming and activities through the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, Frostburg's Center for Student Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, and the Office of Gender Equity; supporting campus student organizations that focus on diversity; and providing for the multicultural quality of the curriculum are important strategies designed to help the University attain this goal. Frostburg maintains a website (<https://www.frostburg.edu/about-frostburg/cultural-diversity/index.php>) showcasing its diversity initiatives, and providing easy access to diversity-related resources for students, faculty, and staff.

In spring 2019, University President Ronald Nowaczyk, working with the University Advisory Council, formed a revamped University Council on Diversity, Equity & Inclusion (UCDEI). The new University Council will replace the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (PACDEI). The UCDEI is more inclusive in its membership, with more student and staff representatives, and is better aligned with national best practices. Like the PACDEI, it will meet regularly to set goals and launch initiatives to improve campus climate with respect to diversity. It will also oversee the University's Cultural Diversity Program, which will be reviewed and updated in AY 2019-20.

The Center for Student Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (CSDEI) fosters a sense of community among students of all ages, economic classes, ethnicities, gender identities, races, religions, sexual orientation and national origins. Frostburg is a campus affiliate of the National Coalition Building Institute (NCBI), and the CSDEI coordinates a variety of NCBI diversity-training programs, including an Introduction to Diversity Workshop that is required of all first-year, full-time students. FSU established the Office of Gender Equity in 2016 as the institutional body in charge of providing leadership to promote, sustain, and advance a campus climate free of gender-based harassment and violence.

Minority students are robustly represented in the student leadership population at Frostburg: Resident Assistants (66.6%); Lane University Center (46.2%); Civic Engagement leaders, including the ECHO Stars program, (74.1%); Student Activities/Greek Life (36.8%); Cultural Events Series (57.1%); Social Marketing Team (50.0%); and Student Government Association (27.6%). There are currently 13 student organizations at Frostburg with overt diversity-related missions.

Cultural and gender diversity issues are addressed throughout the University's curricula. The General Education Program requires all students to complete a course involving Identity and Difference. Currently, 31 courses across 16 academic disciplines satisfy this requirement. A variety of academic programs involve intensive study of cultural and/or gender diversity, including African American Studies, Cultural Anthropology, Foreign Languages & Literature, International Studies, and Women's Studies.

5. *Promote the Understanding of International Cultures

Identified strategies under this goal are increasing the number of international students on campus, enhancing international programming at the University, increasing international opportunities for students and faculty, and promoting intercultural knowledge at all levels of the campus.

The University has increased and diversified its international student population, enhanced international programming, and promoted intercultural understanding at all levels on campus. At the same time, the University is providing additional opportunities for FSU students and faculty to study and teach abroad. The number of international students enrolled at Frostburg has significantly increased over the past decade, from 34 in fall 2008 to 285 in spring 2019. Currently, international students on Frostburg's campus represent 14 nationalities, with the largest constituencies from China and Saudi Arabia. The University currently has 22 exchange partners and three cooperative-degree programs, with plans to add a fourth by summer 2019. As indicated under Goal 4 above, there are numerous curricular and co-curricular programs at Frostburg designed to promote intercultural knowledge.

Frostburg State University's Cultural Diversity Program contains a number of new and ongoing initiatives that require additional resources if they are to be fully and successfully implemented. Any state financial support of these strategies that can be garnered by the University of System of Maryland would greatly assist Frostburg's efforts. An approach to providing Frostburg State University and other Maryland institutions of higher education additional resources to enhance diversity and cultural awareness programs is to make competitive state grants available for these purposes. In the past, the state has funded important initiatives that have helped to transform and improve higher education in Maryland. The University would welcome the opportunity to apply for diversity program funds provided through the Maryland Higher Education Commission and the University System of Maryland.

Section I - Table 1

USM Goal 1: Increase the Numerical Representation of Traditionally Underrepresented Groups among Students, Administrative Staff, and Faculty.

FSU's Diversity Goal 1: Recruit and Enroll a Growing Number of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students
Timeline for meeting FSU Goal 1 is fall 2018; FSU's Diversity Program will be reviewed and updated in AY 2019-2020
Share campus-wide and program-specific efforts designed to recruit and retain traditionally underrepresented students, staff, and faculty.  Strategies are numbered followed by their Action Priorities.	Metrics to measure how progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed
FSU 1.1: Enhance marketing and recruitment efforts that target underrepresented students.  a) Continue to send mailings and electronic communications to underrepresented students who meet the University's admission criteria.  b) Continue to arrange recruitment trips to urban high schools in Maryland.  c) The University will make a good faith effort to recruit and employ qualified minority staff to enhance marketing and recruiting efforts that target underrepresented students.	The purchase of names from minority populations from the pool of students who take the PSAT in their junior year of high school.  The number of trips to urban high schools Maryland.  The number of minority candidates offered staff positions at the University.	Student Search Services Comparison data shows that minorities represented 26.8% of the total names purchased for the fall 2009 entering first-year class, as compared to 37% for the fall 2018 class. Data Source: PeopleSoft Queries F09; orig SSS file F18  During fall 2017 and spring 2018 (to recruit the Fall 2018 class): Either through individual high school visits, or visits to high schools as part of a college fair format program, FSU had a total of 30 visits at 24 high schools in Baltimore City.  See results under FSU Diversity Goal 3.	Continue to investigate other avenues of "prospect" and "inquiry names" to ensure that the makeup and size of the first-year class meets the university's goals.  Seek out new communication strategies to increase knowledge of counselors in minority markets.
FSU 1.2: Familiarize high school students, teachers, and administrators from selected areas with the University's programs and services.  a) Continue bus trips to FSU from targeted areas and engage FSU minority students to serve as tour guides.	The number of bus trips to FSU with minority attendees.  The number of minority students in attendance at FSU admitted student receptions.	The Office of Admissions hosted approximately 700 prospective high school students during 19 different bus trips to FSU from primarily minority high schools. Additionally, 60% of prospective fall 2018 students attending the "admitted student receptions" sponsored by the Admissions Office were minorities (69 of 117 students).

FSU 1.3: Enhance college-readiness programs and promote them to minority and first-generation students. a) Continue programs designed to prepare underrepresented students for postsecondary education at FSU. b) Provide additional academic support for underrepresented high school students from Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, and Frederick counties and Baltimore City.	FSU programs designed to prepare underrepresented students for postsecondary education at FSU. FSU programs designed to provide academic support for underrepresented high school students from Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, and Frederick counties, and the city of Baltimore.	Over the last five years, the grant-based TRiO Upward Bound Program has served 181 participants, and 18.8% of these self-identified as minorities. FSU's Upward Bound Regional Math/Science Center provided additional academic support for underrepresented high school students from Allegany, Garrett, Frederick and Washington counties and Baltimore City. An average of 68% of program participants currently in high school (52 of 77) self-identified as minorities. Of the 950 participants who graduated from high school during the past five years, 60 (63%) were minorities, and 53 of these 60 (88%) initially enrolled in college.
FSU 1.4: Increase the number of underrepresented students who transfer to FSU from community colleges. a) Continue to expand 2+2 and dual-degree programs with community colleges. b) Continue to establish dual-admission agreements with community colleges. c) Provide additional individualized support services to transfer students.	The number of transfer students enrolled in FSU from minority groups. The number of dual-degree agreements with community colleges. The number of dual-admission agreements with community colleges. Services provided to transfer students.	An increasing number of transfer students are from minority groups. New minority transfer students represented 16.3% of the new transfer population in fall 2009 compared to 29% in fall 2018. Data Source: Enrollment Information System file (EIS) In FY 2019, FSU had active articulations with 13 of 16 Maryland community colleges (Source: FSU's Office of Admissions). Dual-admission agreements are in place with Allegany College of Maryland and Hagerstown Community College. More dual admission agreements with regional and statewide community colleges are expected in the future. Students who transfer to FSU without a declared major or are non-degree seeking (students who transfer with a GPA less than a 2.0) are assigned to the Center for Academic Advising and Retention (CAAR) office. Staff in that office serve as the student's academic advisor and provide a welcoming connection to the campus, including training on the campus student information and learning management systems. Nineteen new transfer students were served through CAAR in the 2017 academic year; four of those students are African-American. CAAR offered Transfer Student Listening sessions in group and individual formats and 19 students took advantage of these in spring 2019.	Investigate additional methods to ensure the makeup and size of the transfer student class meets the university's goals.

FSU's Diversity Goal 2: Increase the Retention and Graduation Rates of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students
Timeline for meeting FSU Goal 2 is fall 2018; FSU's Diversity Program will be reviewed and updated in AY 2019-2020
Share campus-wide and program-specific efforts designed to recruit and retain traditionally underrepresented students, staff, and faculty.  Strategies are numbered followed by their Action Priorities.	Metrics to measure how progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed
FSU 2.1: Sustain the implementation of continuing and new programs intended to enhance student success and increase underrepresented minority and first-generation student retention and graduation rates. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Continue programs to enhance student success: Academic Success Network (ASN), First-Year Student Progress Survey, TRIO Student Support Services (SSS), Beacon Early-Alert system, and the Tutoring Center services.</li> <li>b) Implement new programs to enhance student success: Expanding the Academic Success Network scope, Predictive Analytics (PAR), and HelioCampus.</li> </ul>	Second-year and six-year graduation rates for underrepresented students at Frostburg State University.	Second-year retention and six-year graduation data generated the following findings: For the fall 2017 cohort of first-time, full-time students, FSU's second-year retention rates for African American students (77%) and minorities (74%) are similar to the rate for the total student population (77%). The retention rates improved from 71% (cohort fall 2016) to 77% (cohort fall 2017) for African Americans and from 69% (cohort fall 2016) to 74% (cohort fall 2017) for all minorities. The retention rate for all first-time, full-time students improved from 74% (cohort fall 2016) to 77% (cohort fall 2017). The African American retention rate mirrored the overall retention rate for the most recent cohort of first-time, full-time students. While the minority student retention rate was 3% points lower than the overall rate, the cohort showed a 5% point gain from the prior year. Six-year graduation rates increased over the reporting period for all student groups (cohort year 2010 to cohort year 2012): from 39% to 48% for African American students, from 40% to 49% for all minorities, and from 49% to 53% for all first-time, full-time students. FSU has been selected to participate in the first-ever national Excellence in Academic Advising (EAA) comprehensive strategic planning process, a program created by NACADA, a global association dedicated to enhancing the educational development of students in higher education, and the nonprofit Gardner Institute. EAA establishes aspirational standards for institutions to evaluate and improve academic advising and acknowledge the central role of advising in promoting student learning, success and completion.	Explore possible reasons for the lower persistence rates, particularly for the minority student population, and devise initiatives to address retention from sophomore year forward.

FSU's Diversity Goal 3: Enhance the Cultural Diversity of Faculty and Staff
Timeline for meeting FSU Goal 3 is 2018; FSU's Diversity Program will be reviewed and updated in AY 2019-2020
Share campus-wide and program-specific efforts designed to recruit and retain traditionally underrepresented students, staff, and faculty.	Metrics to measure how progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed
Strategies are numbered followed by their Action Priorities.
FSU 3.1: Expand efforts to attract and retain eminently qualified minority faculty and staff.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Establish working relationships with doctoral granting HBCUs throughout the United States with similar demographic population and geographic location.</li> <li>b) Advertise faculty and staff job openings on websites devoted to diverse hiring, work with USM on hiring strategies, and create a program for underrepresented populations (in their disciplines) to teach at Frostburg as ABD doctoral students.</li> <li>c) Utilize The REGISTRY, a national database of diverse and strategic candidates seeking ladder-rank employment as faculty members at institutions of higher education.</li> <li>d) Require all search committees for faculty and staff positions to have one member of the committee responsible for ensuring that minority outreach is a priority.</li> <li>e) Implement the annual Development and Leadership Series to provide management training to increase employee advancement and retention.</li> </ul>	The number of minority faculty and staff at Frostburg State University.	The University continues its efforts to increase the number of minority faculty and staff at FSU. As of December 2018, the University's workforce consisted of 1,033 full and part-time employees (387 faculty; 657 staff members; 75 graduate students). Females are employed at a rate of 51.1% (527) and are represented in 100% of all administrative offices and academic departments. Minorities are employed at a rate of 10% and are represented in 26.9% of the University's administrative offices and 75.0% of academic departments. The University's workforce is comprised of Black/African American 4.7% (49), Asian 4.0% (41), Hispanic/Latino 0.7% (8), Two or more races 0.4% (4) and American Indian/Alaska Native 0.1% (1). White employees represent 90.1% of the university workforce. Frostburg's Office of Human Resources continues to sponsor the annual Employee Development and Leadership Series. The current cohort, consisting of 12 FSU faculty and staff members, meets monthly to receive management training, which will lead to increased employee advancement and retention. A fundamental goal of this program is to build the skills required to manage an increasingly diverse workforce and assist in fostering an inclusive workplace environment characterized by fairness, understanding, and mutual respect and civility.	Recruit continuously, not only when there are openings. Maintain professional networks and make note of potential candidates from underrepresented groups. If possible, build and develop relationships with potential candidates, keeping them in mind for future openings and/or asking them to assist in recruiting from their own networks.

Section I - Table 2

USM Goal 2: Create Positive Interactions and Cultural Awareness among Students, Faculty, and Staff on Campus

FSU's Diversity Goal 4: Create a Campus Environment that Promotes the Valuing of Cultural Diversity Timeline for meeting FSU Goal 4 is fall 2018; FSU's Diversity Program will be reviewed and updated and revised in AY 20018-20019
Share efforts designed to create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• faculty and staff cultural training programs;</li> <li>• curricular initiatives that promote cultural diversity in the classroom; and</li> <li>• co-curricular programming for students</li> </ul> Strategies are numbered followed by their Action Priorities.	Metrics to measure how progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed
FSU 4.1: Establish institutional offices and organizations to help build intercultural understanding and broaden cultural awareness on campus by encouraging students, faculty, and staff to engage with cultures different from their own through their participation in co-curricular and professional development programs. a) FSU's Center for Student Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion: Plan and implement activities designed to reach out to racial identity groups and other marginalized student identity groups to provide guidance and support while providing education and training to the entire campus.	FSU's Center for Student Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion programs and activities designed to reach out to racial identity groups and other marginalized student identity groups to provide guidance and support while providing education and training to the entire campus.	During 2018-2019, the Center for Student Diversity, Equity and Inclusion worked collaboratively with faculty and staff to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Provide support and leadership development to marginalized student identity groups: African Student Alliance (ASA), NAACP, and the gospel choir (UVUGD).</li> <li>• Provide assistance in leadership development and support for planning of activities, programs and meetings to University student organizations: Black Student Alliance (BSA), Latin American Student Organization (LASO), National Council of Negro Women (NCNW) and Spectrum (for students identifying as lesbian, gay, bisexual, queer and transgender).</li> <li>• Coordinate and facilitate the NCBI's Introduction to Diversity Workshop—required of all first-year, full-time students as part of the programs offered in the Introduction to Higher Education (ORIE 101). Participation in the workshop was a little under 90% coming in closer to 88% with a 95% satisfaction rate. Participating in the workshops resulted in an increase in first-year students applying to attend the diversity retreat.</li> </ul>	Explore strategies to increase the effectiveness of the workshops including follow-up activities to increase retention of the knowledge gained; increase in the awareness of the resources available on campus to increase cultural competence; increase attendance.

	FSU's Center for Student Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion programs and activities to engage students, faculty, and staff in experiences targeting instruction and training on cultural sensitivity.	During 2018-2019, the Center for Student Diversity, Equity and Inclusion planned and implemented the following activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>FSU Social Justice Summit (formerly named Diversity Retreat): During the weekend a full day is dedicated to a Workshop on "Building Community through Deeper Connections." In fall 2018, a total of 37 students, one staff member, two guest facilitators and two FSU alum participated in this retreat. Funds for a second retreat were not secured. However, the impact of the retreat was demonstrated by nine of the retreat participants attending the NCBI Train-the-Trainer one month later.</li> <li>NCBI Train-the-Trainer was held in November 2018 with 25 trainees and 2 facilitators. Nine of the trainees attended the FSU Social Justice Summit; 16 were students; 3 faculty members, 3 staff members, and 2 Chartwells Dining Services staff. This will significantly increase the number of facilitators available to provide workshops for first year students.</li> </ul>	Seek funding to sustain activities led by the Center including a second retreat. Holding a second retreat allows more students to participate in the in-depth experience.
b) Continue the work of the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (PACDEI).	FSU President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (PACDEI) – programs and activities for promoting a campus community that values and embraces all genders, races/ethnicities, languages, sexual orientations, ages, faiths, cultural and social class contexts, and intellectual and physical abilities.	The President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion was dissolved. In response to feedback provided during the University's recent strategic planning process, as well as in other focus groups and forums, the University President, the Vice-President of Student Affairs, and Director of the Center for Student Diversity, Equity worked to create a revised University Council on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion.	The Council is expected to hold its first meeting before the end of spring 2019 semester. Council goals and work groups will be established at that time.
c) Continue the work of the Office of Gender Equity to provide resources and services for promoting social justice; and to plan and implement efforts to educate students, faculty, and staff about the issue of gender-based violence and related programming, policies, and services.	Office of Gender Equity programs and activities that provide resources and services for promoting social justice and that educate students, faculty, and staff about the issue of gender-based violence.	FSU established the Office of Gender Equity in 2016 as the institutional body in charge of providing leadership to promote, sustain, and advance a campus climate free of gender-based harassment and violence. The office has been actively engaged in implementing its mission by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Providing an equitable, safe, and inclusive environment for all students through the coordination of activities intended to oversee prevention, education, response, and assessment of sexual misconduct, gender-based harassment, intimate partner violence, and stalking.</li> <li>Assessing student perceptions and experiences of gender-based harassment and violence through the biennial Campus Climate Survey. Survey data from spring 2018 shows continued increases in positive responses about students' perceptions concerning their University experience, including increased engagement in the campus community and a higher sense of being valued as individuals.</li> <li>Providing recommendations in light of State and Federal expectations and best practices.</li> </ul>	Allocation of sufficient resources for sustainable prevention, response, outreach, and compliance.
d) Plan and implement activities to prevent gender-based harassment, sexual violence, intimate-partner violence, and stalking based on research and best-practice information.	Programs planned and implemented to prevent gender-based harassment, sexual violence, intimate-partner violence, and stalking based on research and best-practice information.	In 2016, FSU restructured the previously existing President's Advisory Council Against Gender Based Violence (PACAGBV) into the current FSU's Gender-Based Harassment and Elimination Task Force (G-BHAVE). Frostburg State University's Process for Reporting
Campus-Based Hate Crimes and Bias-Motivated Incidents

Hate crimes and bias-motivated incidents are violations of the University Student Code of Conduct as well as violations of law. Any such crimes that are reported to the University are handled by several offices of the University. Initial reports are handled by University Police, who conduct an investigation to determine if the incident is a hate crime or bias-motivated incident. If there is a victim involved, the determination of whether a hate crime has occurred is determined by the victim. If there is no victim, University Police will make the determination.

When a perpetrator can be identified, University Police can charge the individual(s) criminally as well as refer them through the University Judicial System. Student cases that are reported to the Judicial Board for violations of University policy are reviewed. If students are found responsible, sanctions can include disciplinary action up to and including expulsion from the University.

At the end of each month, University Police complete the hate crime report form and submit it as part of the Uniform Crime Report (UCR). At the end of each year, hate crimes and bias-motivated incidents are reported as required by the Clery Act and the Campus Crime Statistics Act (CCSA).

Frostburg State University Cultural Diversity Program 2008-2018

Prepared by: Office of the Provost

Executive Summary

Frostburg State University's Cultural Diversity Program is designed to enhance diversity on campus and further the understanding of different cultures by all members of the University community. The program establishes the following diversity goals and identifies strategies for their attainment:

1. Recruit and Enroll a Growing Number of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students: Identified strategies under this goal include enhancing marketing and recruitment efforts; familiarizing high schools students, teachers and administrators from selected areas with the University's programs and services; expanding college readiness programs and promoting them to minority and first generations students; and increasing the number of underrepresented students who transfer to Frostburg State University from community colleges.
2. Increase the Retention and Graduation Rates of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students: The identified strategy under this goal involves sustaining the implementation of continuing and new programs intended to enhance student success and increase underrepresented minority and first-generation student retention and graduation rates.
3. Enhance the Cultural Diversity of Faculty and Staff: The identified strategy under this goal involves expanding efforts to attract and retain eminently qualified minority faculty and staff.
4. Create a Campus Environment that Promotes the Valuing of Cultural Diversity: The identified strategy for this goal is establishing institutional offices and organizations to help build intercultural understanding and broaden cultural awareness on campus by encouraging students, faculty, and staff to engage with cultures different from their own through their participation in co-curricular and professional development programs.
5. Promote the Understanding of International Cultures: The identified strategies for this goal include increasing the number of international students attending Frostburg State University, and developing programs and organizations to promote students' intercultural understanding and diversity awareness through experiential exposure to global topics.

Introduction

Frostburg State University (FSU) is a multicultural campus where diversity is highly valued. The University's Cultural Diversity Program is intended to help the institution more effectively recruit and retain individuals and groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education. It is also designed to promote cultural understanding and appreciation among all members of the University community. The program establishes the following five University goals:

1. Recruit and Enroll a Growing Number of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students
2. Increase the Retention and Graduation Rates of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students
3. Enhance the Cultural Diversity of Faculty and Staff
4. Create a Campus Environment that Promotes the Valuing of Cultural Diversity
5. Promote the Understanding of International Cultures

Goal 1: Recruit and Enroll a Growing Number of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students

This Cultural Diversity Program contains effective recruitment strategies and action priorities that focus on familiarizing high school students, teachers, and administrators with the programs and services available to them at the University. These strategies and associated action priorities are summarized below. Table 1 presents strategies, action priorities, timeframes and responsible units or offices associated with Goal 1.

Summary of Strategies and Action Priorities

- Strategy, FSU 1.1: Enhance marketing and recruitment efforts that target underrepresented students.

As an action priority, the University will continue to send mailings and electronic communications to underrepresented students. In addition, the University will make a good faith effort to recruit and employ qualified minority staff to enhance marketing and recruiting efforts that target underrepresented students.

- Strategy, FSU 1.2: Familiarize high school students, teachers, and administrators from selected areas with the University's programs and services.

As an action priority, the University will continue to sponsor high school bus trips to FSU where students can meet with faculty and staff, and tour the campus.

- Strategy, FSU 1.3: Enhance college-readiness programs and promote them to minority and first generation students.

As an action priority, the University will continue programs designed to prepare underrepresented students for postsecondary education. The University will also continue its summer outreach Upward Bound programs that help enhance high school students' self-esteem, leadership skills; and awareness of, and readiness for, postsecondary education.

- Strategy, FSU 1.4: Increase the number of underrepresented students who transfer to FSU from community colleges.

As an action priority, the University will develop cooperative programs with regional and statewide community colleges in order to increase the transfer of underrepresented students to Frostburg. The University will also provide additional individualized support services to transfer students.

Strategies	Action Priorities	Time frame	Responsible Unit or Office

	c) The University will make a good faith effort to recruit and employ qualified minority staff to enhance marketing and recruiting efforts that target underrepresented students.	2008-2018	Office of the Provost
FSU 1.2: Familiarize high school students, teachers, and administrators from selected areas with the University's programs and services.	a) Continue bus trips to FSU from targeted areas and engage FSU minority students to serve as tour guides	2008-2018	Office of Admissions
FSU 1.3: Enhance college-readiness programs and promote them to minority and first-generation students	a) Continue programs designed to prepare underrepresented students for postsecondary education at FSU.	2008-2018	Program for Academic Support and Studies (PASS)
	b) Provide additional academic support for underrepresented high schools students from Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, and Frederick counties, and the city of Baltimore.	2008-2018	Upward Bound
FSU 1.4: Increase the number of underrepresented students who transfer to FSU from community colleges	a) Continue to expand 2 + 2 and dual-degree programs with community colleges	2008-2018	Office of the Provost
	b) Continue to establish dual-admission agreements with community colleges	2008-2018	Office of the Provost
	c) Provide additional individualized support services to transfer students	2008-2018	FSU Advising Center

Goal 2: Increase the Retention and Graduation Rates of Undergraduate Minority and First-Generation Students

The University's is committed to increasing the retention and graduation rates of underrepresented students. The strategy and related action priorities adopted by the University to achieve this goal are summarized below. Table 2 presents the strategies, action priorities, time frames and responsible units or offices associated with Goal 2.

Summary of Strategies and Action Priorities

- Strategy, FSU 2.1: Sustain the implementation of continuing and new programs intended to enhance student success and increase underrepresented minority and first-generation student retention and graduation rates.

Actions priorities associated with the strategy include continuing and strengthening new and ongoing programs overseen by the Office of the Provost that are designed to enhance student success.

FSU 2.1: Sustain the implementation of continuing and new programs intended to enhance student success and increase underrepresented minority and first-generation student retention and graduation rates.	a) Continue programs to enhance student success: Academic Success Network (ASN), Academic Enrichment Series, Freshman Progress Survey, TRiO Student Support Services (SSS), Beacon Early-Alert system, and the Tutoring Center Services.	2008-2018	Office of the Provost
	b) Implement new programs to enhance student success: Expanding the Academic Success Network scope, Predictive Analytics (PAR), and HelioCampus	2008-2018	Office of the Provost

Goal 3: Enhance the Cultural Diversity of Faculty and Staff

This University is committed to recruiting and retaining minority faculty and staff. The strategy and related action priorities adopted by the University to achieve this goal are summarized below. Table 3 presents the strategies, action priorities, time frames and responsible units or offices associated with Goal 3.

Summary of Strategies and Action Priorities

- Strategy, FSU 3.1: Expand efforts to attract and retain eminently qualified minority faculty and staff.

Action priorities associated with the strategy include developing relationships with doctoral granting HBCUs throughout the United States with demographic populations and geographical locations similar to FSU, utilizing the REGISTRY to fill vacant administrative positions, requiring all search committees to engage in minority outreach, advertising faculty and staff job openings on websites devoted to diverse hiring, working with the University System of Maryland (USM) on hiring strategies, creating a program for underrepresented populations (in their disciplines) to teach at Frostburg as ABD doctoral students, and implementation of an annual Development and Leadership Series designed to increase advancement and retention.

	b) Advertise faculty and staff job openings on websites devoted to diverse hiring, work with USM on hiring strategies, and create a program for underrepresented populations (in their disciplines) to teach at Frostburg as ABD doctoral students.	2018 (new)	Office of the Provost
	c) Utilize the REGISTRY, a national database of diverse and strategic candidates seeking ladder-rank employment as faculty members at institutions of higher education.	2008-2018	Office of Human Resources
	d) Require all search committees for faculty and staff positions that one member of the committee be responsible for ensuring that minority outreach is a priority.	2008-2018	Director of Human Resources
	e) Implement the annual Development and Leadership Series to provide management training leading to increased employee advancement and retention.	2008-2018	Office of Human Resources

Goal 4: Create a Campus Environment that Promotes the Valuing of Cultural Diversity

Frostburg State University's Cultural Diversity Program works to create an environment that is welcoming and safe for students. Various programs are offered on the FSU campus by a cross-section of academic and administrative offices as well as student organizations that enhance the development of students' multicultural competency skills. The strategy and associated action priorities adopted by the University to create a campus environment that promotes the valuing of cultural diversity are summarized below. Table 4 presents the strategies, action priorities, time frames and responsible units or offices associated with Goal 4.

Summary of Strategies and Action Priorities

- Strategy, FSU 4.1: Establish institutional offices and organizations to help build intercultural understanding and broaden cultural awareness on campus by encouraging students, faculty, and staff to engage with cultures different from their own through their participation in co-curricular and professional development programs.

Action priorities include reaching out to underrepresented students, continuing the work of the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (PACDEI); continuing the work of the Office of Gender Equity; creating and enhancing current inter-institutional academic opportunities and institutional curricular programs (such as African-American Studies and Women's Studies) for members of the University community that focus on equality in educational opportunities and social issues, and their relationship with underrepresented groups globally.

	b) Continue the work of the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (PACDEI).	2008-2018	PACDEI
	c) Continue the work of the Office of Gender Equity to provide resources and services for promoting social justice; and to plan and implement efforts to educate students, faculty, and staff about the issue of gender-based violence and relating programming, policies, and services.	2008-2018	Office of Gender Equity
	d) Plan and implement activities to prevent gender-based harassment, sexual violence, intimate-partner violence, and stalking based on research and best-practice information.	2008-2018	Office of Gender Equity

FSU 4.1 (Continued) Establish institutional offices and organizations to help build intercultural understanding and broaden cultural awareness on campus by encouraging students, faculty, and staff to engage with cultures different from their own through their participation in co-curricular and professional development programs.	e) Develop inter-institutional academic opportunities and institutional curricular programs for members of the University community designed to ensure equal participation in educational opportunities and encourage collaboration in activities designed to highlight the study of social issues and their relationship with underrepresented groups globally.	2008-2018	Office of the Provost
	f) Sustain the University's curricular programs designed to promote the understanding of cultural diversity.	2008-2018	Office of the Provost

Goal 5: Promote the Understanding of International Cultures

The University's Cultural Diversity Program incorporates several initiatives that promote the understanding of international cultures. The University seeks to increase its number of international students and enhance international programming while promoting intercultural understanding at all levels on campus. At the same time, the University plans to offer FSU students and faculty more opportunities to study and teach abroad.

The strategies and associated action priorities adopted by the University to promote the understanding of international cultures are summarized below. Table 5 presents the strategies, associated action priorities, time frames, and responsible units or offices.

Summary of Strategies and Action Priorities

- Strategy, FSU 5.1: Increase the number of international students attending Frostburg State University.

Action priorities include actively recruiting international students overseas and throughout the United States; increasing the number of University exchange partners; and developing cooperative degree programs with overseas partner institutions.

- Strategy, FSU 5.2: Develop programs and organizations to promote students' intercultural understanding and diversity awareness through experiential exposure to global topics.

Action priorities include expanding study abroad program and increasing study abroad student recruitment efforts.

SALISBURY UNIVERSITY

2018-2019
Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report

Institution: Salisbury University

Date Submitted: April 17, 2019

Point(s) of Contact (names and email addresses): Humberto Aristizábal, Associate Vice President
Institutional Equity: Fair Practices, Diversity and Inclusion

Cultural Diversity has been an integral part of Salisbury University (SU) for close to a decade, when the institution made a stated commitment through its Cultural Diversity Plan (CDP), pledging to support and advance diversity by targeting certain areas of focus and formulating specific goals.

To date, while SU has achieved a number of notable goals, certain challenges still persist. Since its founding, SU has traditionally attracted primarily White students, faculty and staff. Therefore, increasing recruitment and retention of members pertaining to historically underrepresented groups will remain at the forefront of our efforts. Each school, department, and office has assumed an active role in the recruitment and retention of a diverse contingent and has devised specific approaches. There is a general consensus that specific emphasis should be placed on creating and advancing mentorship and professional growth opportunities for traditionally underrepresented faculty and staff. Enhancing the cultural competency of faculty and staff remains a firm commitment so that, in turn, they can cultivate and foster an inclusive learning environment for our students. In parallel, collective efforts are made to identify and strategically eliminate inequity-related barriers to academic and professional success.

Beyond efforts directed at recruitment and retention, SU recognizes the importance of creating and supporting opportunities for meaningful interactions between campus community members, as a result of which a series of programs and initiatives was created over the years. While said initiatives have had varying degrees of success, SU has not been able to gauge their overall impact on the campus community, a rather arduous task in the absence of a Campus Climate Study. Consequently, the University has decided to commission a general Campus Climate Study – both quantitative and qualitative - within the next twelve months, an invaluable tool in helping us outline the next Diversity Strategic Plan. Moreover, assessing the campus climate is indispensable in identifying areas of concern and/or focus pertaining to diversity, in order to develop innovative, relevant, and tailored programming and in turn, will inform the enhancements to our CDP.

Concurrently, Salisbury is working on formulating the University's General Strategic Plan (2020-2025) which will capture the new University President's vision for the institution, will incorporate feedback from the campus community through the Campus Climate Study and other means, as well as considerations and corresponding approaches to address current and future trends in higher education. In order to continue to capitalize on the progress that has already been made, SU will not only have to reaffirm its commitment to diversity and inclusion but also to continue to tailor the specifics to ensure the effectiveness of the strategic approach through a truly concerted effort, where every stakeholder becomes a co-creator of a new, diverse, and congruent institutional identity.

The implementation strategy and the timeline for meeting the specified goals will align with and supplement the institution's Strategic Plan. As such, SU will uphold the institutional commitment to foster an inclusive campus by helping nurture a robust sense of identity and community so that all students, staff, and faculty experience a sense of belonging to the University. The new Center for Equity, Justice and Inclusion inaugurated in December 2018 is a fitting illustration of this endeavor and a promising, meaningful step in that direction.

The University will continue to outline and implement forward-looking action steps to dismantle systemic racism that exists within and beyond all campuses, as well as encourage and promote meaningful interactions across all-campus stakeholders to increase commitment to and support for diversity and inclusion initiatives. This particular long-term objective was catalyzed by the October 2018 workshop on the topic of systemic racism, which was attended by the 80 top SU administrators, including the new University President, as well as leaders from shared governance pertaining to all three campus community contingencies - faculty, staff, and students. This particular learning opportunity elicited courageous conversations and helped identify specific approaches that can be adopted, as well as the stakeholders that should be tasked with the implementation and monitoring. The short-term and intermediate goal is to continue to optimize institutional responses to diversity and inclusion-related matters.

Harmonizing institutional efforts, in general, and abandoning the "silo mentality" is viewed an imperative in achieving the University's long-term goals. This requires the strategic re-alignment of goals for diversity and inclusion. To that end, maintaining an updated internal inventory of diversity and inclusion-related programs and initiatives is essential in the process of identifying potential areas of collaboration and serve a variety of purposes, such as creating learning opportunities in varied formats e.g., trainings, student orientations, targeted workshops, facilitations, etc., to improve cultural literacy, hence endowing the campus community with a more profound understanding of diverse identities and perspectives.

Any efforts to support cultural diversity and inclusion on campus should also translate into a concern and commitment to strengthen the relationship with the broader SU campus community. One of the ways in which Salisbury University has been contributing and should continue to do so is by conducting culturally responsive research that supports community practice. This has concretized into various partnerships over the years. Attesting to that are the University's specific programs in education, arts and community health that impact and benefit the broader community in general, as well as historically minoritized groups in particular. Moreover, the University's cultural offerings typically reflect the diversity of the broader community, with many events being well received and well attended. Lastly, a welcoming and diverse community is undoubtedly a selling point, oftentimes even a decisive factor, for students, staff, and faculty alike when opting to come to SU for education or employment; therefore it is strategic for the University to adhere strongly to the strategic goal of "Fostering Community."

Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty.
Share campus-wide and program-specific efforts designed to recruit and retain traditionally underrepresented students, staff, and faculty.	Metrics to measure how the progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed
The President has made diversity and inclusion one of his top priorities. In speeches and engagements both internal and external, he has made this point and talked about the importance of having faculty and staff that are representative of the student body and a student body that is representative of the region and the State.	N/A	N/A	N/A
The Seidel School established the AACTE Holmes Scholar program to recruit underrepresented minorities into education career pathways and increase applicant pool for faculty positions to increase number of underrepresented minorities.	Student enrollment. Increase in diversity of candidates in applicant pool for faculty positions resulting in more diverse hires.	Application approved by AACTE. Holmes Coordinator identified. Solicitation of nominations for initial cohort from existing enrolled students. HR demographic data of applicants and faculty hires.	Increase diversity of admitted students across all program areas. Increase diversity of applicant pool for faculty positions.
The Center for International Education (CIE) supported the creation of new employee benefit to provide tuition remission for English Language Institute courses for dependents of newly hired international faculty.	Creation of policy. Enrollment of dependents of international faculty in ELI courses.	Policy created. Forms and process created - two dependents took advantage of the new benefit.	Continuing promotion of services to support international faculty hires.
The Center for International Education improved levels of participation of underrepresented groups in study abroad programs.	Increase in number of students from underrepresented groups studying abroad.	Salisbury Abroad: Global Experiences Internship program provides full-semester credit-bearing internships in nine cities around the world; 70% of participating students in spring 2019 were from underrepresented groups.	Continue to create study abroad programs that attract students from underrepresented groups.
SU opened the Center for Equity, Justice, and Inclusion (CEJI)- a new center for historically marginalized and underrepresented populations which will provide space for research, programming or just hanging out. Current occupants represent three diverse communities: LGBTQIA+, Women's Forum, and individuals with disabilities; each group has access to its own office and shared access to a board and meeting room with an occupancy of up to 75.	N/A	N/A	Three spaces in CEJI are unoccupied, allocation pending upon proposal approval.
Programs such as Powerful Connections (August 19-23, 2018), and the Multicultural Leadership Summit (March 1, 2019) are hosted by the Office of Multicultural Student Services to provide both leadership and mentorship opportunities for students.	75 new students completed the Powerful Connections Program. 75 students participated in a one-day leadership program.	Participating students completed evaluation instruments which used the Likert scale as its basis for satisfaction.	Multicultural Leadership Summit will be expanded to include four county school systems.
Athletic Training staff attend recruiting events at HBCUs.	Twelve students in the MSAT program are from traditionally underrepresented groups.	N/A	N/A
SU posts all available positions on diversejobs.net to promote and recruit traditionally underrepresented faculty and staff. Ongoing use of Reflective Review Strategy to assess progress in the diversity profiles of the applicant pool, finalist pool, and new hires.	Disclosed source(s) of recruitment during the search and selection process. Diversity metrics of the applicant pool, finalist pool, and new hires.	Increased number of diverse applicants interested in available position vacancies. Approximately 31% of Staff Hires and 25% of New Faculty Hires were from traditionally underrepresented groups.	Identification of opportunities for improvement in generating interest and expanding the applicant pool of diverse applicants. Continued focus and emphasis on attracting, hiring and retaining diverse applicants, faculty, and staff.

In the Fulton School, minority headcount in 2018-2019 increased by 20 over the previous year. Recruiting strategy is to promote liberal education not by targeting specific minority groups but combating misinformation that promotes “practical” professionally-oriented degrees over “impractical” liberal arts degrees. Nonprofit leadership certification co-curricular program illuminates work in the social justice fields. Participation in Powerful Connections programming in late summer.	No measures to test the specific impact of this messaging. Enrollment data, with the caveat that correlation is not causation, shows increase overall. Participation - launched in 2017-2018 with two students completing the program.	Overall number of Fulton School majors up 3.6% over last year. 100 students in the undergraduate pipeline now; graduate pathway in development.	N/A
The Office of Admissions offers a Counselor Visitation 2-day program every April. Invites high school and community college counselors to visit the campus over a 2-day period to learn more about SU.	Four counselors so far attending from CollegeBound Foundation, which serves underrepresented high school students in the Baltimore, MD, and DC areas.	Will measure this through next year’s admissions funnel to see if these counselors have sent any applicants.	N/A
The Office of Admissions offers on-the-spot admissions at high schools, particularly those with high populations of historically underrepresented identities. SU admissions staff makes admissions decisions on the spot upon review of an application, test scores, and transcript.	For the reporting period, SU met with 21 schools. From these events, out of 406 students, so far 120 students have committed to SU – they have until May 1 st to pay their deposit.	Students interviewed increased by approximately 50 students. Students from these groups are tracked by tagging them in CRM and following them through the admissions funnel. Had a very successful on-campus event for this group this year and will continue that in future years.	Continue to expand the program to new schools particularly NJ.
The Office of Admissions focuses on admissions visits/fairs within territories with a high percentage of historically underrepresented and marginalized students. Collaboration with SU’s Office of Marketing and Public Relations to advertise in diverse high school and community college student newspapers, outdoors, and in college fair guides in the Washington and Baltimore metro regions.	So far this season, 464 additional diverse students have been admitted and have 103 more deposits date to date (May 1 st deadline to deposit.) The Office of Marketing and PR also tracks the reach of placements when possible.	Final results available after May 1 st .	Improve tracking of individual recruiting events.
The Office of Admissions offers a multicultural Alliance Reception during Admitted Students Day to welcome prospective students of multicultural backgrounds and their families to Salisbury University, and introduce them to the programs and services offered by the Office of Multicultural Student Services.	SU had a large number of RSVPs with 19 students and 52 in total attending the reception.	Will not be able to track until after May 1 st .	Improve communication to encourage students to attend this event or make it a special interest session instead, which is earlier in the day.
The Office of Admissions hosts many diverse student groups for an information session and a tour of campus.	For the reporting period, SU brought 62 diverse groups to campus, totaling approximately 2200 students.	SU saw an increase of 21 more groups and 680 additional students. Many of these schools/programs are repeat customers and evaluate their visits positively.	Include other offices like the Office of Multicultural Student Services and TRiO to meet with the prospective students.
Active participation of SU administrators in the USM Promise AGEP (Alliance for Graduate Education and the Professoriate), a USM effort which increases the participation of underrepresented groups in STEM programs and facilitates pathways to academic careers.	Involvement in USM Promise AGEP activities.	Hiring one teaching post-doc from USM Promise AGEP Network to assist in development of their teaching skills and professional development and to increase diversity of our faculty.	Continue to look for opportunities to bring AGEP faculty to SU. Work to convert current post-doc into a tenure-track position.
A grant was awarded for the application by CHEM faculty for Project SEED from the American Chemical Society, which provides funding for fellowships from underrepresented minorities to participate in a summer research program at SU.	Recruitment of 2 URM students for Summer 2019.	None yet – TBD.	Track whether or not participants become college students that major in the sciences.

Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs (GEAR UP) project in the Department of Mathematics, which involves workshops, tours of campus, campus engagement.	Number of URM high school students.	Approximately 30-40 URM students participate each year.	Tracking of student success longitudinally.
The Henson School Dean supported and funded the launch of an informal Society of Black Scientists by a group of enterprising SU students.	Retention of URM students, before and after the launch.	TBD.	Need to formalize the group, see student activity recognition.
Nearly every theory and clinical course in the undergraduate Nursing curriculum contains one or more course objectives related to cultural sensitivity, cultural competency, health literacy, and health disparities. The doctoral program also contains many illustrations of cultural competency.	Successful completion of BS, MS, and DNP programs by our students (and pass rates on certifications exams.) Participation in international education. Successful accreditation of programs. MHEC funding for Nurse Educator. Expansion programs (ES-FAMI and WS-FAMI) that target minority and male RNs for development as clinical faculty.	98.8% first-time NCLEX pass rates, the highest for any baccalaureate institution in Maryland. 2 students went to Nicaragua with local physicians to provide healthcare services to those that otherwise would not have access. The baccalaureate, master's, and DNP programs at Salisbury University are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education.	Continue ongoing monitoring and revising the curriculum as appropriate.
Housing and Residence Life (HRL) made efforts to ensure that staff is representative of the student population.	Measure numbers of diverse HRL staff from year to year.	Out of HRL building director staff, 7 of 12 staff are from underrepresented groups (58%). From a total RA staff of 61, 23 were from an underrepresented group (37.7%).	Continue to aggressively market positions to underrepresented populations.
University Dining Services (UDS) made efforts to engage Muslim students, faculty, and staff by working with suppliers to purchase only Halal whole cut chicken and boneless chicken breasts; purchase Halal ingredients and RTE meals with a separate key-access refrigerator. Allergen, gluten-free & vegan/vegetarian offerings are indicated via the website, corresponding marking are included in the RFP requirements of the new Food Production System.	Increased meal participation numbers.	N/A	Plans are in place to transform the Bistro menu for Fall 2019 to feature GF & Vegan offerings exclusively which will provide a secure destination for those students who have those restrictions or preferences.
The UDS Director, in collaboration with the Admissions Office, maintains an updated script for tour guides to promote the dining services program and provide information about the diverse offerings and ability to accommodate all dietary needs and preferences. The Director meets each semester with the Admissions Department to review program changes and highlight the provisions for different cultures and self-identified dietary commitments.	N/A	Dining Management has intercepted and relayed information to tour groups at all 5 Open Houses thus far.	Explore, acquire, and communicate foods/items that appeal to the underrepresented populations.

Goal 2: Create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.
Share efforts designed to create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff including:	Metrics to measure how the progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed

Section II: Institutional Plan:

- I. The implementation strategy and the timeline for meeting the specified goals will align with and supplement the institution's new Strategic Plan (2020-2025) which will be presented to the campus community within nine months to a year. While certain adjustments are foreseeable given the fact that the new Strategic Plan is currently in the works, Salisbury University remains committed to the following diversity and Inclusion (D&I) intermediate and long-term goals and reserves the right to refine and adjust them, as needed.
  - Ensure that all students, staff, and faculty feel a sense of belongingness to the University by actualizing best practices around D&I.
  - Provide undergraduate and graduate students with the perspectives, skills, tools, and critical consciousness necessary to be successful in our modern-day society.
  - Ensure that campus leaders exemplify best practices in D&I.
  - Provide more opportunities for mentorship and growth for historically marginalized and underrepresented faculty and staff.
  - Develop the cultural competency of faculty and staff so they're better equipped to provide the best possible and most inclusive learning environment for our students.
  - Create innovative programs that endeavor to make the campus climate more inclusive and supportive of historically marginalized and underrepresented identities.
  - Foster cutting edge research and scholarship on socially constructed identities like race, sexual orientation, ethnicity, gender identity, etc.
  - Create opportunities and programs that facilitate meaningful interactions across all campus stakeholders and the broader community and work to concretize partnerships and connections.
  - Continuously work on efforts to recruit and retain faculty, staff, and students representing historically marginalized and underrepresented identities.
  - Develop cultural consciousness and improve racial literacy through onboarding trainings, student orientations, and campus and targeted workshops offered throughout the year.

II. A description of the way the institution addresses cultural diversity among its student, faculty, and staff populations

Salisbury University reaffirms its commitment to promote and support cultural D&I among its various stakeholders through a multi-pronged approach. Endeavoring to enhance recruitment efforts for historically marginalized and underrepresented students, staff, and faculty members remains at the fore of our efforts, paralleled by a commitment to provide adequate onboarding training/student orientation vis-à-vis D&I issues for all campus community members. On campus, many offices, academic units, faculty, staff, students, and student organizations will continue to work within and across networks and campus communities to build cultural competency, raise cultural consciousness, improve equity, access, and opportunity, and increase feelings of belongingness on campus, as new areas of potential collaborations are identified.

These important objectives are accomplished through programs and initiatives, enhanced curricula and course content, which individually and collectively aim to reflect more accurately the entirety and the diversity of the human experience. Moreover, a visible focus persists on the creation and maintenance of networks, clubs, as well as affinity and resource groups that serve historically underrepresented identities, on facilitating workshops and discussions around D&I topics and issues, and securing support for the D&I Consortium Committee through the shared governance model.

III. A description of how the institution plans to enhance cultural diversity (if improvement is needed)

We will continue to consolidate and intensify previous efforts, while reserving the option to supplement the current plan with additional goals when appropriate. We will also create new initiatives and update existing ones, aimed at building cultural competency, enhancing equity, and increasing feeling of belongingness on campus. In particular, we will further develop the Office of Institutional Equity (OIE)'s year-long diversity curriculum which guides presentations and discussion around topics such as race, sexual orientation, gender identity, triggers, etc. The OIE will engage in more concerted efforts to collaborate with other offices on campus, as well as faculty members so we can best incorporate the skills and expertise of multiple stakeholders, while addressing D&I issues in the most institutionally holistic way possible. A new series of OIE instructor-led trainings geared towards increasing the cultural competence of supervisors has elicited a positive response from participants and will be offered again in the upcoming year.

With the newly inaugurated (Fall 2018) Center for Equity, Justice and Inclusion currently featuring three identity-based centers serving historically underrepresented and marginalized identities, the focus shifts to allocating the other two remaining spaces so that the entirety of the Center can be utilized at maximum capacity. Throughout the year, we hope to further increase the exposure of the Center by developing resources, programs, and opportunities, while maintaining a close collaboration with Graduate Assistantships for Women, Latinx, and LGBTQ+ folks, as well as other current staff and faculty into its everyday operations.

SU's D&I strategy is based on the value of diversity in all persons and in all perspectives. This includes, but is not limited to, a clear institutional commitment to create an environment free of discrimination, supportive of all and in which all members of the SU community will have opportunities to thrive personally, academically, and professionally. This strategy implicitly includes the recruitment and retention of exceptional and diverse faculty, staff, and undergraduate and graduate students from across Maryland, the United States, and around the world.

In its D&I journey, SU has achieved many accomplishments; however, many challenges remain, both present and ahead. Since its founding, SU has traditionally attracted primarily white students, faculty, and staff. Recognizing a need to increase the recruitment and retention of traditionally underrepresented and marginalized groups, throughout the years, multiple cultural D&I initiatives have been launched with various degrees of success.

Pursuant to the strategic goal as established by the University System of Maryland, Salisbury University will further develop the strategic approach to recruiting and retaining a more diverse faculty. A search and selection process that successfully recruits highly qualified teacher-scholars from under-represented populations cannot be the result of wishful thinking, but rather the result of recognizing and adopting best practices as part of the standard operating procedures for recruitment at SU. Equally important, the onboarding process for faculty members from under-represented groups will be further refined, as it is deemed vital to SU's institutional success.

SU's mission statement currently identifies six core values: "excellence, student centeredness, learning, community, civic engagement, and diversity," which could potentially be updated or enhanced as a result of formulating the new Strategic Plan (2020-2025) within the next months. Moreover, the new President (who was just inaugurated on April 10, 2019) has recently shared with the campus community four goals, namely: "affordability, inclusion, stewardship, and community," which will help guide institutional approaches and vision. SU's previous Strategic Plan (2014-2018) defined growing diversity among students, faculty, and staff as a crucial aspect to SU's mission, a value the institution has fully embraced. From all indications, increasing the diversity of students, faculty, and staff is paramount to "Fostering Community," which will undoubtedly remain one of SU's goals.

The two basic premises to guide the enhancement to our efforts recruiting and retaining traditionally underrepresented and marginalized Faculty are:

- A. Develop pathways to recruit and retain a more diverse Faculty at SU.
- B. Identify and address institutional climate issues that will influence whether minority faculty stay at SU.

The expected outcomes by area are as follows:

Recruitment: The recruitment of a diverse faculty pool for an open position requires SU to publish and distribute vacancies as widely as possible. The expansion of recruiting efforts allows for the position to reach all possible potential candidates. Connections to minority professional associations are also critical to recruitment. Hiring managers and faculty chairs should maintain regular contact with graduate programs in their field and networks of underrepresented groups to encourage promising students to apply for fulltime or adjunct positions after graduation.

Hiring Committees: SU still needs to conduct a comprehensive examination of its hiring practices and specifically its hiring committees. The institution has conducted a careful review to determine what individuals are placed on committees and what strengths and perspectives those individuals bring. An important part of this process is to understand that there is value in looking for input outside of the discipline or from newer faculty. In essence, in order to cast a wider net, SU must diversify its vision of hiring. This vision is important not only in regard to ethnicity but also in a broader context including seniority, discipline, age, and background.

Mentoring: There is a need to mentor prospective full-time applicants in SU's adjunct pools. An adjunct position could be the gateway to a fulltime job. Because of this natural pipeline, administrators involved in the Faculty hiring process have a responsibility to encourage and guide adjuncts into contributing roles on campus and in the discipline.

Onboarding and Retention: SU needs to identify factors motivating faculty from underrepresented groups, so that they stay with the institution for the maximum time and effectively contribute. Tangible efforts must be taken to ensure onboarding, growth, advancement, and learning. The OIE instructor-led supervisory training series can provide an additional tool for department chairs and deans, to help with retention efforts by increasing cultural competence. To that end, the OIE will continue to lead campus efforts to manage D&I, as well as all aspects of the Fair Practices and anti-discrimination law compliance.

IV. A process for reporting campus-based hate crimes

In addition to the long-established process for reporting hate-based crimes, we currently have a "Report a Concern" button hosted on the OIE webpage on the SU website. The information is currently recorded in our cloud-based platform intervention management system. All submissions will be reviewed by the appropriate SU administrators who will determine the adequate way to address each incident. We will also continue to use this data to strategize on ways to be more proactive on campus to mitigate identity-based bias.

V. A summary of any resources, including State grants, needed by the institution to effectively recruit and retain a culturally-diverse student body.

- More financial support (e.g., scholarships, need-based aid) for recruitment and retention programs to support traditionally underrepresented and marginalized.
- Additional full-time, permanent positions to support targeted D&I effort.

To date, Salisbury University has secured the following awards to advance programs and initiatives geared towards increasing and supporting diversity:

1. US Dept. of Education – TRIO-Achieve SSS – Project to assist underserved, low-income, first-generation, and students with disabilities to increase academic success and increase graduation rates.
2. NSF Grant – Research Experiences for Undergraduates (REU) – The EXERCISE REU program was awarded a 3-year renewal for 2018-2021. EXERCISE REU is an interdisciplinary project that explores emerging paradigms in parallel computing. The project, led by a female minority faculty, has been successful in recruiting underrepresented students and aims to attract more students including those from local HBCUs in the next 3-year phase.
3. NSF Grant – AGEP Promise Alliance – Secured further funding for SU's involvement in the AGEP (Alliance for Graduate Education and the Professoriate), a USM effort to increase faculty diversity.
4. NSF Grant – NOYCE Scholarship Program – A $1.2 million federal program for increasing the number of dual science/math and secondary education students, to address a teacher shortage of secondary teachers with bachelor's degrees in their field of study. Program will provide funds for tuition and fees that would allow otherwise unfunded students to continue in their study
5. NEH Grant – Humanities Common Heritage Program – Funds for the Nabb Center to create a chronicle and digital archive of historical baseball leagues throughout the Eastern Shore.
6. USIEF Grant - Part of the US-India Educational Foundation's 21st Century Knowledge Initiative, which will promote civic engagement among the faculty, students, and community, and use multi-media tools to create interactive documentary films.

STATE AWARDS

7. Corporation for National Service – AmeriCorps – Having served the Eastern Shore of Maryland for 20 years, Salisbury University's ShoreCorps/PALS, a state program funded in part by the Governor's Office on Service and Volunteerism. ShoreCorps/PALS members meet critical needs in the communities by working with children and youth, as well as increasing the capacity of the service sites. Each year, PALS members serve over 14,000 youth and leveraged over 1,300 volunteers in their communities.
8. The Social Work Department Title IV-E program through the Maryland Department of Human Resources provides scholarships to underserved social work students annually. The Title IV-E program has assisted SU students for over ten years and the students agree to participate in child welfare training events and ultimately seek employment in Maryland's public child welfare programs upon graduation.

9. Community Health Program – Keep It Safe Sexually – a program funded by the Maryland Department of Health to broaden the number of students who are aware of safe sexual practices and know their HIV status. In partnership with UMES, this program is led by minority female faculty.
10. Small Business Development Center (SBDC) – SBDC Eastern Region receives Maryland State and SBA funding through the University of Maryland College Park SBDC in an effort to assist small business on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. The SBDC program provides many training sessions and one of their additional objectives is to work to help minorities participate in the free enterprise system through government procurement classes offered at SU and Chesapeake. They co-sponsor training classes in an effort to improve minority clients' success and work with the Maryland Capital Enterprises who provides micro loans to a predominately minority clientele.
11. The Social Work Department received funds for Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation (ECMH) and mental health programming in schools from the Maryland State Department of Education for their Early Intervention program.
12. Lower Shore Childcare Resource Center received funds from the Maryland State Department of Education for scholarships for child-care providers perusing a bachelor's in early childhood education. These funds are designed to ensure that child-care providers otherwise unable to attend college are able to receive a degree.

LOCAL/NON-PROFIT/CORPORATION/OTHER AWARDS

13. Whiting Foundation – Philosophy Fellowship awarded for a program to bring philosophy to underserved area high school students, to spark a lifelong interest in philosophy.
14. Office of Cultural Affairs received partial funding from Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation for "The Crossing," "Rene Marie: An Experiment in Truth," Bridgman Packer Dance," and "La Patronal;" and from the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council for the Tibetan Monk Residency and Mandala Creation, bringing experiences from diverse cultures to students.
15. Community Foundation of the Eastern Shore – funds for Delmarva Public Radio to broadcast live the 2019 National Folk Festival.

SUMMARY STATEMENT:

President Kim Schatzel has made a commitment to create a more diverse and inclusive campus which will be achieved through senior leadership and strategic vision for design, promotion, and delivery of best practices in developing inclusive excellence across the campus. This commitment to diversity and inclusivity grounded in respect, hopes to enrich the experiences of our student's faculty and staff. Along with supporting a positive workplace, promote excellence and cultivate the intellectual and personal growth of the entire university community.

"Towson University has a commitment to academic excellence, support for faculty research, research opportunities for students and engagement in the surrounding community." (President, Kim Schatzel)

Creating a more diverse and inclusive campus is one of eight presidential priorities that are linked to and aligned with Towson University's strategic plan. The university produces a Diversity Initiatives Progress Report <https://www.towson.edu/inclusionequity/diversity/diversity-progress.html> along with goals for the upcoming year. The Progress Report summarizes goals established in 2015. This summary statement highlights TU's accomplishments for the 2018-2019 academic year, along with proposed goals for the upcoming academic year.

1. Increasing the tenured and tenured-track underrepresented faculty and retaining them by 10 percent

Hiring

- Continue to review and seek effective institutional outreach resources. Revisions to hiring procedures, search committee trainings and onboarding processes. Dedicating resources to marketing tools for recruitment of underrepresented faculty and staff of color. Providing ongoing support for tenure track faculty
- The Office of the Provost has hired an asst. vice provost for Diversity & Inclusion who will work to identify areas of growth related to faculty searches, hiring, onboarding and retention. Close collaborations with faculty and other administrators across the institution will assist in the development of training, education and new initiatives to increase underrepresented faculty.

Retention

- Diversity initiatives and resources are shared during initial onboarding meetings for faculty. Diversity programs for faculty include, Diversity Faculty Fellows Program, Intergroup Dialogue, Multiculturalism in Action and the National Center for Faculty Development and Diversity (NDFDD) for the upcoming year. Re-develop faculty exit interview processes to increase reporting options and response rates for use in future programming

Evaluation

- Institutional reports will determine the success at the end of the year.
- Exit interviews will assist with changes in processes and support for tenure and tenure track faculty.

Challenges

- The national challenge of identifying and hiring underrepresented individuals in select academic areas. Financial concerns for providing competitive salaries across the national landscape.

2. To ensure that every college or department has one meeting per semester dedicated to cultural competency.

- Each College has a Diversity Action Committee committed to developing and providing annual training and education fall and spring.
- The University has developed two positions focused on educational models and opportunities for cultural competency training.
- The University now has a position that focuses on providing education and training for the institution.
- An institutional focus to provide education and training began in fall of 2018 offering workshops for the university community on a variety of topic related to cultural competency, ally ship and implicit bias.
- Programming for all student organizations focusing on cultural competency began last year
- Revised New Student Orientation that focuses on inclusion, cultural competency and becoming an ally.

Evaluation

- We are currently intentionally devising methods to collect information on trainings and educational opportunities across campus.
- Utilizing evaluation methods, on-line and in person to determine continued needs of the institution.

Challenges

- Meeting the needs of a large constituency with varying needs and levels of understanding.

3. To continue to provide enforcement of university policies on non-discrimination and hate/bias

- The Office of Inclusion and Institutional Equity has worked collaboratively with partners across the campus to respond to and address complaints and reports related to hate/bias.
- Programs focused on ending bias are provided regularly to new employees
- SGA has continuous programming that began in 2016 using the campaign slogan #NotAtTU.

Evaluation

- Number of complaints per year
- Request for workshops and along with written and oral feedback

Challenges

- Helping student navigate the changing landscape, external politics and their understanding of free speech and the universities ability to address bias vs hate.

4. To develop a five-year diversity strategic plan for Towson University

The vice president for Inclusion and Institutional Equity will lead the University in developing a five-year strategic plan to substantially increase diversity in all areas, to promote a campus climate that is fully inclusive, and to ensure that effective systems are in place to create a more equitable TU. The task force will focus on four key areas:

- What is the climate on campus related to diversity and inclusion and how is it experienced by individuals and members of the community?
- What is needed to recruit and retain a more diverse faculty, staff, senior administration and student body?
- What measures can be taken to productively provide education as well as prevent insensitivity and discrimination?
- How do we further promote a Model of Excellence for Campus Diversity and Inclusion?

Evaluation

- The plan will develop actionable measurable goals for the University
- The committee will meet yearly to determine progress, need for updates or changes

Challenges

- Ensuring sufficient participation in the campus-wide feedback process (focus groups, interviews, survey completion)

Institutional Progress and Changes

Towson University has begun to change and grow in the last decade. The challenges associated with new leadership, changing demographics, external changes in political ideologies that affect the nation as well as our campuses have created the express need to support all the constituents on our campus in a thoughtful and intentional manner.

With the development of the Office of Inclusion and Institutional Equity and the support of Towson's newest President, the institution has begun to create a new inclusive and equitable climate on campus. This has required new programs, policies, structures, and processes that are not just revised but also implemented. This type of systemic change takes time, resources and methods of trust building. In the next few years with the development of positions, policies, programs and initiatives the University will begin to meet its challenge to become a more inclusive and equitable TU.

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery. DO NOT INCLUDE STATISTICS.

Towson University (TU) utilizes an online incident report form as a uniform method to document the “What, When & Where” of certain reportable crimes and/or non-criminal hate-motivated incidents that have occurred and have been reported to Campus Security Authorities (CSA) other than the Towson University Police Department.

TU has defined a Hate Crime as “a criminal offense committed against any person or property which is motivated, in whole or in part, by the offender’s bias. Clery reportable hate motivated crimes include Murder, Manslaughter, Sex offenses, Robbery, Aggravated Assault, Simple Assault, Intimidation, Burglary, Motor Vehicle Theft, Destruction of Property, Theft and Arson.”

Although there are many possible categories of bias, under Clery, only the following categories are reported: Race, Gender, Religion, Sexual Orientation, Sexual Identity, Ethnicity/National Origin, and Disability.

For the purpose of Clery, CSAs are required to document (and record the category of prejudice) certain reportable crimes and non-criminal hate motivated incidents that have been reported to them and occurred in the following locations:

1. On-campus property, On-campus residential life buildings, Non-campus property (property or building owned or controlled by the university that is frequently used by students and is not within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution, or any building/property that is owned or controlled by a student organization that is officially recognized by the university.); and Public property located immediately adjacent to and accessible from campus (includes thoroughfares, sidewalks, streets, and lands).

Confidential and anonymous reports are accepted. While second hand reports are inherently unreliable and are difficult to verify, such reports are also accepted.

Certain individuals, specifically pastoral and professional counselors, are exempt from this requirement to report certain crimes. However, to be exempt from disclosing reported offenses, pastoral and professional counselors must be acting in the role of pastoral or professional counselors.

Towson University: Diversity Initiatives Progress Report (attached)

Diversity Initiatives Progress Report

In November 2015, a group of students and administrators agreed that the university would work toward the following 12 goals, many of which were already aligned with the university's strategic goals for diversity and inclusion. Here, you can track the university's progress.

1. Increasing the tenured and tenure-track black faculty and retaining them by 10 percent by 2018.

HIRING

We have implemented an outreach process that requires the development and approval of an Outreach Plan for all tenured or tenure track faculty searches. We continue to review and seek effective institutional outreach resources. Most recently, membership with The PhD Project was secured to provide access to pools of prospective faculty of color.

Revisions to hiring procedures that include additional checkpoints in the search process are under review. Training is provided for faculty search committees that includes information related to best practices before, during, and following the search. Emphasis is placed on the establishment of a fair and equitable search process. Awareness, and avoidance, of implicit bias is discussed. Following search completion, debriefs have begun with the goal of identifying and documenting the most effective methods for recruiting and hiring faculty of color.

We are developing dedicated resources for the purpose of improving our outreach to prospective faculty of color. A web portal that highlights TU's faculty diversity initiatives and resources is being developed as a marketing tool for prospective faculty. Faculty vacancy announcements will be posted on the prospective faculty web page. A brochure is under development that will serve as an outreach tool for use during conferences and meetings to attract potential faculty of color to TU's faculty employment opportunities.

We have increased our support for academic department chairs and are emphasizing their vital leadership role as it relates to diversity and inclusion. Areas for impact include, but are not limited to, recruitment, retention, climate, curriculum, research, and student development. Working with the Council of Chairs Subcommittee on Equity and Inclusion we are bringing relevant resources to facilitate institutional transformation.

We have developed an Inclusion Tool Kit and made the resources available on the Office of the Provost website. Resources located within the tool kit support TU's faculty recruitment and retention goals.

We are in the final stages of development of TU's Faculty Recruitment Incentive Program (FRIP). FRIP, a pipeline program, is designed to increase diversity within the faculty body by placing selected individuals in tenure track positions. FRIP promotes the professional development of underrepresented faculty by facilitating the initialization and completion of graduate work and other appropriate academic pursuits leading to a terminal degree and/or conducting research in their discipline.

Retention

TU's diversity initiatives and resources are highlighted during the initial meeting of new faculty orientation. The orientation program includes periodic meetings throughout the new faculty member's first academic year. Resources and programming are provided for new faculty members during these meetings.

We are supporting the development of communities of care through the networking and collaboration that take place for TU faculty participating in our diversity programs. TU's Diversity Faculty Fellows Program (DFF) provides selected faculty members with opportunities to infuse diversity into existing curriculum, create models to improve classroom dynamics in support of social justice, or identify and implement strategies to enhance institutional practices to support and affirm a campus culture that values equity, diversity and inclusion. Through sustained monthly dialogues, the DFF program offers ongoing opportunities for faculty networking and collaboration. TU's Multiculturalism in Action monthly lunch gatherings afford faculty members with opportunities to share information and gather feedback from the TU community regarding their scholarship. This program has brought together 20 faculty members that are committed to expanding diversity and inclusion at TU and has fostered the formation of a community of supportive scholars. TU's academic Intergroup Dialogue Program (IGD) delivers for-credit opportunities for students to participate in multi-week dialogues to come together across social identify differences. IGD faculty facilitators have established a supportive network that encourages faculty retention.

Focus groups with faculty have been conducted for the purpose of discussing and gathering tools for faculty success at TU. Faculty members shared information regarding what resources and support systems that were most impactful in relation to securing their tenure and promotion. As a result of extremely positive feedback from faculty members, TU's membership with the National Center for Faculty Development and Diversity (NCFDD) is being renewed for next academic year. NCFDD provides resources and programming that support faculty success. A total of 226 individuals have registered and are taking advantage of the resources available through TU's NCFDD membership.

We are in the final stages of developing TU's Faculty Exit Interview Process, designed to offer multiple reporting options for the purpose of increasing response rates. Faculty members may choose to respond in person, via telephone, and/or online. Data gathered from exit interviews will be shared in aggregate form and utilized to inform future programming.

2. Require the president to work with the provost to ensure that every college or department has one meeting per semester dedicated to cultural competency content approved by a student representative that works in the CDSO.

least one meeting per fall and spring term will be devoted to cultural competency.

The Diversity Faculty Fellows Program, established in 2015, gives selected faculty members the opportunity to infuse diversity into their existing curriculum, create models to improve classroom dynamics in support of social justice, or identify strategies to enhance institutional practices. This allows faculty to research ways to enhance diversity and inclusiveness while actively examining their effectiveness in practice. Five fellows were selected for the 2015-2016 academic year; 11 fellows were selected for the 2016-2017 academic year; and 10 fellows have been selected for the 2017-2018 academic year.

The Center for Student Diversity now includes a position for associate director for Cultural Competency Education to help develop educational models and opportunities for cultural competency training for students and for the Division of Student Affairs.

The Office of Inclusion and Institutional Equity now has a University-wide Coordinator of Diversity Training and Initiatives.

3. Advocate for IFC fraternities and Pan-Hellenic sororities to have a diversity chair who will promote diversity within their respective organizations and interact with multicultural organizations on campus.

Status: COMPLETED

Ninety-five percent of the councils and chapters have a diversity chair. Diversity chairs are trained on cultural competency by staff from the Center for Student Diversity and are given facilitator training by staff from Fraternity and Sorority Life in order to execute the Greek Life Social Justice training module. Fraternity and Sorority Life worked in close collaboration with the Center for Student Diversity to develop the year-long training module which includes Intro to Social Justice, Identity Development, Current Vocabulary and Language, How to Be an Ally/Commitment to Being an Ally, Chapter Values Alignment with Social Justice Principles, and Developing Culturally Competent Programs.

All new member orientations and Greek summits will now include a module on identity and inclusion.

In spring 2017, 48 social justice programs sponsored by Greek organizations were reported to the Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life.

4. Send a letter to the president of USM Student Council regarding the review and termination of the contract, vendoring, and purchasing of appliances, tools, furniture and any other items produced within Maryland state and federal prisons. Given the status of the prison-industrial complex and the criminalization of black bodies, along with the school-to-prison pipeline, we find it problematic that we finance the same institution that profits off of black bodies.

Status: COMPLETED

Provost Chandler, while still interim president, sent the letter to the USM Student Council president. The Maryland legislature mandates that USM institutions purchase items from Maryland Correctional Enterprises. Any Maryland resident may communicate to legislators an opinion or position on this matter.

5. Advocate to require the SGA to maintain communication with the diverse organizations and their leaders on campus through physical contact, wherein bills and policies that will affect the black student body will be made known and aware to them.

Status: COMPLETED

The Student Government Association (SGA), through the assistant director of Diversity Outreach, established a core advisory board comprised of eight students from diverse, inclusive backgrounds. Students were recommended to serve based on their interest and involvement in diversity recommended to serve based on their interest and involvement in diversity and social justice issues. The board is intended to bridge the gap between SGA and student organizations that represent diverse backgrounds, and to inform SGA about issues related to campus climate and make recommendations for programming.

The SGA conducted a survey of all student groups to better understand the effectiveness of senators' outreach to their assigned groups. As a result of the survey, the SGA has implemented a new system of accountability for senators.

The SGA has created a series of diversity-related programs including those relating to Black History Month, Women's History Month, the impact of student activism in the TU community, and other relevant occasions and subjects.

SGA & the Department of Housing & Residence Life hosted CultureCon on April 7 to highlight, through students and student organizations, a wide variety of cultures and promote multicultural exchange. More than 250 students attended.

In early August, the Division of Student Affairs assisted with the planning and support of the inaugural Ujima Retreat. The program, coordinated by the Black Student Union president, was designed to build unity across the various black student organizations. About 60 students attended.

During the 2016-2017 academic year, the SGA established Be Heard Town Hall forums to promote transparency, build cultural understandings, and foster collaboration. Due to low student attendance, future forums will be offered as needed.

6. Require the University Diversity Council and other institution-wide diversity committees to have diverse (including multi-cultural) representation on the committee that reflects the underrepresented cultures of the student body.

Status: COMPLETED

The Vice President for Inclusion and Institutional Equity will be charged with reviewing this structure and making strategic recommendations for improvements or modifications, if needed. The new vice president will be tasked with strategic vision for the design, promotion, and delivery of best practices in diversity, inclusion and cultural competency efforts across campus.

The Vice President for Inclusion and Institutional Equity will be developing a five-year strategic plan for Towson University.

The Diversity Action Committee and its hate/bias work group are comprised of diversity-related group representatives.

7. Set an expectation to diversify the representation of the committees determining tenure at Towson University and require college deans to report on their efforts and results. Such efforts could include but are not limited to: Encourage students to complete course evaluations in course syllabi; invite student feedback for pending tenure cases; provide the opportunity for faculty tenure candidates to identify an advocate to serve on any level of their choosing in the tenure process.

Status: COMPLETED

In addition to existing efforts via Blackboard and campus email each term, we have expanded marketing-related efforts to increase participation in course evaluations through messages in social media, T3, the Towerlight, and digital signage throughout campus. Housing & Residence Life also posted reminders throughout residence halls. We also developed an app through which course evaluations can be completed.

We have shared copies of Promotion, Tenure, Reappointment and Merit \(PTRM\) documents with two of the student leaders involved in establishing these 12 goals, and offered to meet for review. The vice provost will continue to be available to answer questions about this document

The Appointment, Rank and Tenure \(ART\) Document Revision Committee includes a student to provide input into potential changes to the document.

We've reminded deans, chairs and departmental PTRM chairs that their faculty have the option of securing an external reviewer for their tenure review.

8. Advocate for the director positions in the SGA to be elected by the people of this university instead of appointed, hired and/or interviewed by the president. The diversity chair is a direct representative of the minority students and should be elected directly by and for minority students.

Status: COMPLETED

After working with the Council of Diverse Student Organizations (CDSO) and others to identify new approaches, the SGA has amended its constitution to include a call for applications to the position. The CDSO will screen those applications and recommend an individual for appointment to the chair position. While this is an appointment rather than an election, the SGA included the CDSO in the process to ensure that representative consideration on matters of diversity will be considered.

9. Return the Towson University Debate Team to a traveling debate team as soon as possible and no later than fall 2016. The Debate Team is an intellectual fixture in the Towson University black community where black students have been nationally successful and active contributors to bringing justice to black people at this institution.

Status: COMPLETED

The Debate Team participated in some national travel as its handbook was finalized last spring to outline policies and procedures on expectations for participation. The team attended CEDA in spring 2016.

10. Honestly and strictly enforce the university's policies on non-discrimination. Proactively work to create a marketing campaign to educate and communicate our hate/bias procedures and response. Distribute a public statement on Towson University's response on those issues when they occur. Publicly. The mental and emotional health of this university's black students across all intersections need to be taken as seriously as their physical health.

Status: COMPLETED AND ONGOING

A collaborative university-wide group established the hate/bias procedures that were adopted in spring 2016, and a campaign led by the SGA called #NotAtTU promoted awareness and understanding of those procedures to encourage reporting. The #NotAtTU initiative included a marketing campaign, created by students in the Division of University Marketing & Communications Student Agency. While the SGA led student-centered approaches, the Office of the Provost supported and promoted the procedures for faculty, and Housing & Residence Life supported it in residence hall postings.

Over the summer, a work group chaired by the assistant vice president for Student Affairs/Diversity and comprised of faculty, staff, students and administrators reviewed the hate-bias procedures for effectiveness and clarity, and made updates the group deemed necessary.

The Housing & Residence Life "Guide to Community Living" brochure has been updated to reflect the value of inclusive and welcoming communities and the ways to report hate/bias incidents. These will be distributed to every student in fall 2016.

The Provost Fellow for Diversity and Inclusion position was established to support efforts to diversify the faculty and student body, and to assist in efforts to create a more inclusive and respectful campus community. The first provost fellow served during the 2015-16 academic year. The current Provost Fellow for Diversity and Inclusion is Gilda Martinez-Alba.

The Provosts' and Deans' Council retreat in summer 2016 focused on diversity to advance understanding and progress in non-discrimination. This included an in-depth discussion of awareness of self-identity and privilege to help in understanding the impact of that perspective on one's own actions and reactions. It also included a discussion of cultural competency, particularly in identifying and setting goals for diversity, equity and inclusion. Training on systematic racism and implicit bias was provided during the fall 2017 Provosts' and Deans' Council retreat.

As of summer 2016, the Office of the Provost now includes an assistant vice president for Diversity & Inclusion to support institutional and divisional goals.

Over the summer, Housing & Residence Life partnered with the Center for Student Diversity to provide development in diversity for professional and resident assistant staff.

Over the summer, orientation leaders were trained to facilitate discussions on inclusion.

During summer orientation, all first-year students participated in an orientation program that addressed stereotypes and hidden bias.

Over the summer, the Division of Student Affairs participated in a staff development program in which each staff member examined their own strengths and weaknesses with respect to diversity and inclusiveness. The program also provided best practices for diversity and inclusiveness, and included planning for initiatives in the 2016-17 academic year.

We established the assistant vice president for Diversity & Inclusion position in the Office of the Provost to lead efforts to diversify the faculty and staff of the Division of Academic Affairs and student body, and to oversee efforts to create a more inclusive and welcoming campus climate, particularly in TU's classrooms and the division's work environments.

Students and other TU community members can find information on publicly posted monthly reports of hate and bias incidents on the NotAtTU web page. Click on Monthly Reports for Hate Crimes and Bias Incidents, which is found below the definitions of hate and bias incidents.

NEXT STEPS

All efforts at minimizing hate/bias incidents and publicly posting reports are ongoing.

11. Require that policing practices be equitable for black events and white events alike.

Status: COMPLETED

In summer 2015, a committee of administrators reviewed and revised the process for staffing student events. A writing group rewrote the policy, specifically addressing late night parties and complex event policy. As a result, all similar events are required to use the same support and enforcement.

In summer 2016, the committee developed the TU Student Guide to Planning Events \(PDF\) to increase transparency and better inform students about policies and procedures associated with event planning.

During the 2016-2017 academic year, the Center for Student Diversity conducted a series of dialogues and workshops with Towson University Police Department (TUPD) focusing on equitable policing practices and community building between TUPD and students of color. The engagement with TUPD helps to ensure open communication and understanding between TUPD and students of color.

In summer 2017, an e-learning video was created to train key representatives from student organizations wishing to reserve event and meeting space through Event & Conference Services. The video is designed to help students better understand policies and procedures associated with room requests and reservations.

com, etc.).

Status: ONGOING

The Core Curriculum Revisions Task Force Recommendation #4 was to examine Core 11 as the most plausible place within the Core Curriculum where Race in America might be addressed as a theme. During the 2017-2018 academic year a task force was assembled to examine the feasibility of including Race in America as a major theme of Core 11 (U.S. as a Nation). The review was conducted and the task force concurs that Core 11 is the appropriate designation for Race in America. Preliminary recommendations from the task force and tentative implementation plan and timeline were shared at University Senate in February 2018. In fall 2018, a small sub-task force will be assembled comprised of one representative from each department with courses in the category to examine next steps.

UNIVERSITY OF BALTIMORE

2018-2019

INSTITUTIONAL PROGRAMS OF CULTURAL DIVERSITY
ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT

DATE SUBMITTED: APRIL 17, 2019

POINT OF CONTACT: DARLENE BRANNIGAN SMITH, PH.D.
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT AND PROVOST

Section I: Summary Statement

Diversity encompasses many ideals at the University of Baltimore (UB) such as race, ethnicity, religious affiliation, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, foreign nationality, economic status, and non-traditional students. The University embraces the challenges of multi-culturalism and inclusion in its academic and co-curricular programming, enrollment processes, retention initiatives, and hiring decisions. The University of Baltimore values a multicultural and global campus community that encourages the development of intercultural skills and competencies which are all essential to living and working in today's world.

The University of Baltimore's Institutional Plan for Cultural Diversity is aligned with the strategic plan, Re-imagining UB 2018-23. Our diversity plan goals are centered on our values of respect, inclusion, equity, community, and excellence. The plan's strategies are designed to raise awareness, sensitivity, and create a sense of appreciation for UB's diverse community. UB's objective is to cultivate a diverse, equitable, and inclusive climate. The sixth goal of the strategic plan states:

"UB fosters a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff. The experiences, perspectives, and contributions of all individuals are valued and deemed critical to intellectual growth. We will continue our commitment to supporting diverse ideas, experiences, and perspectives that strengthen professional, intellectual, and cultural agility."

The plan emphasizes the following: increasing the diversity of faculty, maintaining and advancing the diversity of our staff, developing more culturally relevant programming, working with our alumni and community partners to help ensure that our students are prepared to live and lead in a diverse, multicultural global environment, and developing the process for reporting hate crimes.

To support this objective, five goals have been established:

- Intentionally foster and sustain a welcoming campus environment based on the principles of equity and inclusion to create an environment that is respectful of differences and promotes the safety and security of all people.
- Recruit, employ, and retain a diverse faculty.
- Recruit and retain a diverse workforce and ensure that UB's staff profile reflects the diversity of Maryland's demographics.
- Prepare our students to lead and manage in a diverse and changing society by incorporating diversity and inclusion in significant ways in teaching, learning, and research.
- Build upon existing partnerships and create new partnerships that enhance the University's commitment to and work with diverse populations.

Our implementation strategies for meeting these goals can be found in the Institutional Plan for Cultural Diversity located in the Appendix. Below is a brief overview of our progress.

- The Admissions Office has continued to seek ways in which to recruit students of diverse backgrounds. To increase diversity particularly in the Latinx population, the Admissions Office will hire a Latinx/Diversity Admission Counselor. It is anticipated to have that person on board in late spring 2019.
- The University continues to offer the Featherstone scholarships. Featherstone Scholarships are the result of a partnership between the William & Lanaea C. Featherstone Foundation and the Consular Section of the Mexican Embassy in Washington, D.C. The $20,000 fund is intended to increase Baltimore's Latino college enrollment and promote higher education. This fall, 10

Latino students will receive scholarships.

- Diversity courses have been revamped or added to curriculum in the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS), College of Public Affairs (CPA), and Merrick School of Business (MSB). Course topics include managing diversity, politics and race, global health, race/ethnicity, gender issues in Criminal Justice, game design, oral communication, and debate. Courses are reviewed to ensure that the course or program has met the program Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs).
- Campus wide efforts to create positive interactions and inclusion awareness among students, faculty, and staff were offered during AY 2018-2019. Programs and events included sponsored lectures, speaker series, collaborations, and partnerships. One example of a collaborative effort was the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) Big Read grant, which provided funding to engage the community around a book selection. The book Citizen, An American Lyric by Claudia Rankin was selected. These events provided opportunities to learn more about diversity and inclusion, multiple courses, colleges, and departments participated in grant activities.
- Expansion of dual enrollments for Baltimore City high school students through USM B-Power Initiative. Increase in participation of Baltimore city high school students from 63 (2017) to 237 (2018). And, as a result, 244 students registered for a 3 credit dual enrollment course, a two-fold increase from 2017 (111).
- The College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) graduation requirement in Global Awareness and Diverse Perspectives will continue to offer Global Awareness and Diverse Perspectives certified courses. Outcomes will be assessed as part of a graduation requirement five year cycle.
- The Fannie Angelos Program selects eight Baltimore Scholars from HBCUs to attend the UB School of Law with full tuition. 45 Fannie Angelos scholars are currently at UB and 8 were selected for the 2019 Baltimore Scholars Program. The outcome has been increased diversity in the law school from 33% in 2017 to 41% in 2018.

Implementation of the Institutional Plan for Cultural Diversity began in AY 2018-2019 with the appointment of the University's Culture and Diversity committee. The Committee led by the Director of the Diversity and Culture Center (DCC) is comprised of faculty, students, and staff from UB's shared governance groups. The Committee's primary focus for 2018-2019 has been to review the diversity plan and in consultation with senior leadership and the campus community to establish annual priorities from this plan. The Committee has worked with senior leadership to prioritize implementation of the plan. In 2019-2020, the Committee will recommend the following strategies are priorities:

- Build and maintain an infrastructure that supports and promotes inclusion;
- Plan to design and conduct periodic campus-wide climate surveys (faculty, staff, and students) to frame and direct future action on diversity and inclusion;
- Develop quantitative and qualitative metrics to gain a better understanding of diversity and inclusion at UB;
- Initiate cultural competence training for faculty, students, and staff;
- Collaborate with the Human Resources office to recruit, hire and retain a diverse faculty and staff by developing a faculty and staff recruitment and retention plan; and
- Support academic units in the continued development of curriculum and service that addresses issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Implementation of the plan will continue through AY 2022-23.

Section I: Progress Report – Goal 1

Section I - Table 1: Reporting of Institutional Goal 1

Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty.

Timeline for meeting goal within the diversity plan: 2018-2023
Campus-wide and program-specific efforts designed to recruit and retain traditionally underrepresented students, staff, and faculty.	Metrics to measure how progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed
Elevate the profile of The Bob Parsons Veterans Center to both current and prospective students. Partner with Admissions to establish contact with military-affiliated students during the admissions process. Develop marketing vehicles (i.e., Be YOU at UB success stories) that can be targeted to audiences at local military institutions.	Increase in military-affiliated applications. Increase in military-affiliated matriculations. Continue to increase graduation rates. Increase in the number of website hits.	The military population continues to grow and thrive at UB. Although the overall number of military-affiliated students remained steady at about 360 from Spring 2018 to Spring 2019, the number of military graduates rose from 62 to 82 from Spring 2018 to Spring 2019. This represents a 32% increase in the number of military graduates over the past year.	Enhance relevant and beneficial programming that attracts new students to the Center. Collaborate with Admissions and Marketing to target military-related students at local military institutions.

Section I: Progress Report - Goal 3

Goal 3: Process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery.

Hate incidents/crimes at the University of Baltimore (UB) are reported directly to the University of Baltimore Police Department (UBPD). Based upon UBPD policy, these incidents/crimes are investigated by UBPD and reported to the proper agencies. The UB student code of conduct does not specifically address hate crimes. Therefore, there are no student conduct cases that would be considered hate-related. To date, there have been no hate-crime incidents reported and one (1) bias-motivated incident reported for AY 2018-2019.

Section II: Appendix – Institutional Plan for Cultural Diversity

BUILDING ON A STRONG FOUNDATION: A STRATEGY FOR ENHANCING UB'S LEADERSHIP IN DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION FY 2019 – FY 2023

This diversity plan, seeks to develop a strategic framework to identify and address practices and policies that are barriers to diversity, equity, and inclusion, particularly in the integral areas of student success and a diversified employee talent pool. In order to foster diversity and create inclusive excellence, the University embraces the following principles:

1. A shared understanding of a comprehensive, innovative, integrated approach to inclusivity in all aspects of university operations and a culture of shared responsibility, making all members of the university community integral to fostering the achievement of a diverse, equitable, supportive, and inclusive community.
2. A campus climate that acknowledges, welcomes, supports, and celebrates diversity, equity and inclusion among students, faculty and staff.
3. Recognizing that we are part of a global community, a commitment to strengthen and support programs and activities that promote cross-cultural understanding and global perspectives.
4. Diversifying the University's workforce through the development and implementation of a strategy for the recruitment, retention, and advancement of underrepresented and culturally competent faculty and staff.
5. The infusion of diversity-content in the academic curriculum and co-curricular programs.

UNIVERSITY DIVERSITY GOALS AND STRATEGIES

Implementation of the plan began 2018-19 and will continue through AY 2022-23. Senior leadership, in collaboration with the campus community, will establish annual priorities from this plan.

Goal 1: Intentionally foster and sustain a welcoming campus environment based on the principles of equity and inclusion to create an environment that is respectful of differences and promotes the safety and security of all people.

Strategy 1: Build and maintain an infrastructure that supports and promotes inclusion

- Assign the Director of the Diversity and Culture Center and the University Culture and Diversity Committee with the responsibility to sustain diversity and inclusion initiatives and support the implementation and monitoring of the diversity and inclusion plan.
- Analyze USM Data Journal and Maryland demographic data annually to assess achievement of goals to diversify faculty and staff, and develop metrics and trend data to monitor progress.
- Enhance the physical and technological infrastructure to provide accessibility for all members.

- Update existing, and create new, university procedures and policies to better meet the needs of students, faculty and staff in underrepresented groups that are not well-served by current systems.
- Develop a healthier, collegial working environment through better communication of and training in system, university and college-level policies; ensure mandatory training for all supervisors and academic leaders (e.g., deans, chairs, directors).
- Identify Ombudsperson(s) to serve as an impartial intermediary to mediate disputes and investigate and address complaints.

Strategy 2: Develop quantitative and qualitative metrics to better understand the state of diversity and inclusion at UB.

- Assess UB with regard to the Multicultural Organization Development Model<sup>1</sup> and identify areas of deficiencies.
- Design and conduct periodic campus-wide climate surveys (faculty, staff and students) to frame and direct future action on diversity and inclusion.

Strategy 3: Initiate cultural competence training for UB faculty, staff, and students. Cultural competence is a set of congruent behaviors, attitudes, and policies that enable one to function effectively across cultural difference while being respectful and responsive to the beliefs of diverse population groups.

- Include training in onboarding processes and/or orientation of new faculty, staff, and student employees.
- Offer training through Human Resource Training and Development Program or CELTT for existing faculty and staff on topics ranging from recognizing and reducing implicit bias in the application review process to best practices for inclusive interviewing and mentoring.
- Offer training via New Student Orientation of new students and via Student Affairs activities and programming for existing students.
- Train UB management and supervisory personnel in best practices that promote diversity and inclusiveness across all functions.
- Include training on the process for reporting hate crime and UB's response protocol in the onboarding of new faculty and staff, and the orientation for all new students.
- Incorporate informal and formal diversity, equity, and inclusion goals into Performance Management Process (PMP) and provide feedback regarding individual and unit-level diversity efforts and struggles.

Strategy 4: Address gains, opportunities, and challenges of becoming a diverse campus by providing "Our UB Students" data and information. Information will provide a narrative beyond demographic data to enhance knowledge of UB students' unique backgrounds, histories and lived experiences.

- Include student data and information in recruitment profiles and interview documents.
- Provide student data and information during New Faculty and Staff Orientation.
- Offer student data and information through Human Resource Training and Development Program.
- Offer student data and information as a part of CELTT professional development series.

- Offer student data and information through Student Affairs activities and trainings.

Strategy 5: Promote a more inclusive and welcoming environment.

- Add 'Preferred' name to class and grade roster through the revision of the formal "Name Change" form.
- Create online resource for transitioning individuals and their allies.
- Conduct physical inventory to create, identify and promote gender-neutral restrooms, private rooms for lactating mothers, space for meditation/prayer, etc.
- Foster an atmosphere of linguistic inclusion that empowers multilingual students to speak and write without ridicule and supports them as they attempt to expand their language acquisition.
- Find sustainable ways to support parents as they strive to advance their education.

Goal 2: Recruit, employ, and retain a diverse faculty.

Strategy 1: Expand outreach to build applicant pool

- Hold an adjunct Job Fair to promote teaching opportunities.
- In conjunction with the USM PROMISE initiative, host an Annual Preparing Future Faculty Institute for underrepresented doctoral students and postdoctoral students from USM institutions who wish to pursue careers in the professoriate.
- Attend fairs and conferences frequented by underrepresented faculty candidates (e.g., Compact for Faculty Diversity, the Leadership Alliance).
- Develop a collegial mentoring initiative for adjuncts of underrepresented background in effort to transition some into full-time positions at the university or elsewhere.
- Create courses and programs that support scholarship in diverse areas, such as Women and Gender Studies, African American Studies, Critical Race Theory, etc.

Strategy 2: Develop focused recruitment plans to increase the percentage of faculty from underrepresented groups by 35 percent within five years.

- In conjunction with faculty leadership, engage faculty in authentic discussions around diversity and inclusion to identify priorities and opportunities for building a more inclusive culture.
- Developing a clear and consistent message to administration, faculty, and staff that having a diverse workforce is an institutional priority; therefore each division will develop a plan to increase diversity approved by the Dean and Provost.
- Use strategic advertisement and identify outlets to maximize diversity in candidate pools and provide needed resources for expanded targeted recruitment (e.g., Diverse Issues in Higher Education, Hispanic Outlook).
- Enhance training for search committees, including mandatory diversity recruitment training and implicit bias training and, when appropriate, include student representation on search committees.
- Develop and include diversity statement and definition in job descriptions.
- Require applicants to submit a brief statement reflecting their commitment to diversity and inclusiveness.
- Create shared evaluation criteria for application review, interviews, and campus visits.

Strategy 3: Improve transition of underrepresented faculty to foster a smooth and welcoming entry into the University and campus community.

- Pair a new hire with early mentoring before arrival to campus; assign mentor immediately after hire.
- Develop an 'on-boarding program' to facilitate sense of belonging and community by helping new hire build connections in community (e.g., housing support, childcare resources, locate potential religious community).
- Reframe New Faculty Orientation and include quarterly meetings.

Strategy 4: Develop a faculty retention and advancement plan for women and underrepresented groups

- Educate chairs, program directors, and faculty mentors to ensure support for female and other underrepresented faculty groups.
- Secure funding for Welcome Fellowship Grants: A competitive fellowship program for new tenure-track faculty from underrepresented groups. Each award provides $10,000 to support the faculty member's research and scholarship over their first three years as an Assistant Professor.
- Secure funding to attract visiting scholars from underrepresented groups.
- Offer targeted professional development workshops, which focus on issues of interest to underrepresented faculty.
- Develop a leadership training program for recently tenured and promoted faculty to support their advancement in their professions and in the academy.
- Develop a University Faculty Award that recognizes faculty engagement in research, creative expression and/or service to promote diversity, equity, justice, and inclusion.

Goal 3: Recruit and retain a diverse workforce and ensure that UB's staff profile reflects the diversity of Maryland's demographics.

Strategy 1: Develop a staff diversity recruitment and retention plan

- Developing a clear and consistent message to administration, faculty, and staff that having a diverse workforce an institutional priority, therefore each division will develop a plan to increase diversity.
- Enhance training for search committees, including mandatory diversity recruitment training and implicit bias training.
- Include diversity statement and definition in job descriptions.
- Enhance recruitment plans to expand the number of qualified minorities in applicant pools.

Strategy 2: Develop a retention and advancement plan for underrepresented groups

- Find and create opportunities for career advancement and professional development of women and members of underrepresented groups, such as succession planning, job shadowing, interim appointments, and mentoring.
- Offer enhanced coaching and advice regarding career opportunities, planning and development.
- Develop a University Staff Award that recognizes staff efforts to promote diversity, equity, and inclusion.
- Support the professional development of staff at a level of parity with faculty development.

Goal 4: Prepare our students to lead and manage in a diverse and changing society by incorporating diversity and inclusion in significant ways in teaching, learning, and research.

Strategy 1: Support continued development of curriculum and service that address issues of structural diversity, equity, and inclusion.

- Recognize diversity and inclusion contributions in annual performance evaluations for all.
- CELTT will sponsor a series on culturally responsive and inclusive teaching and employment of relevant pedagogy.
- Evaluate other mechanisms to promote diversity (e.g., Diversity and Inclusion Certificate, online resources to share successful inclusive teaching strategies; “Difficult Dialogues” series).
- Support the development of courses that meet the diversity and global perspectives requirement.
- Develop applied research opportunities in collaboration with university partners to provide meaningful undergraduate and graduate research opportunities based upon diverse communities.

Strategy 2: Build on co-curricular programming that engages campus community members in the challenges and rewards of valuing diversity.

- Support capacity building and high-quality training for professionals who work in student services.
- Strengthen and expand student leadership training related to diversity, equity, and inclusion; and explore the development of a USM badge.
- Redesign the current student organization training to include a diversity and inclusion module that will address diversity from a broad perspective.

Strategy 3: Monitor and continue to invest in closing the achievement gap and increasing the retention and graduation rates of underrepresented groups in undergraduate, graduate, and professional degree programs. (Note: See Student Success Plan for details)

Goal 5: Build upon existing partnerships and create new partnerships that enhance the University’s commitment to and work with diverse populations.

Strategy 1: Work to develop opportunities for alumni to contribute in multiple ways to increase access, cultivate a culture of inclusive learning, support systemic transformation, and strengthen relationships with alumni from underrepresented groups.

- Acknowledge and affirm the diversity of experiences among UB alumni, including injustices in need of reconciliation.
- Implement inclusive customer service training for all staff members to equip them with tools to support prospective students and community members from all identities and backgrounds.
- Build institutional identity among underrepresented students as future UB alumni and support and strengthen mentorship opportunities for alumni and students.
- Develop active affinity groups and cultivate alumni financial giving culture that enhances diversity efforts.

Strategy 2: Enhance partnerships with local organizations to provide information and community resource materials to new faculty, administrators, and staff that may address the needs of potential employers (e.g., employment opportunities for spouse/partners, housing, religious affiliation, and social integration in the region).

Strategy 3: Build B-Power initiative to intentionally provide greater access to higher education to students from underrepresented groups.

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery. DO NOT INCLUDE STATISTICS.

The University of Maryland, Baltimore Department of Public Safety adheres to interdepartmental policy and procedures outlined in Written Directive 14.4 entitled, "Clery Reporting Policy" Section II states: "It shall be the policy of the Force to comply with federal laws impacting the daily administration and operation of the UMBPF and to comply with obligations and requirements of the "Clery Act." We publish and distribute an annual "Clery Report" to the US Department of Education. The report identifies campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal and institutional requirements. The report is published and distributed no later than the 1st of October of each year by the agency's Technical Services and Records Lieutenant or designee, consistent with the mandates of the Jeanne "Clery Act" disclosure of campus policy and campus crime statistics. An annual notice of the availability of the campus crime report is generated and made available to all current students and employees by the Technical Service and Records Lieutenant or designee no later than 10 days from the date of publication of the report by the U.S. Department of Education.

Section II: Appendix -- Institutional Plan for Cultural Diversity

The aforementioned statements and the information within the tables should be aligned with your institution's plan for cultural diversity, which is required by §1 I-406 of the Education Article. §1 I-406 states that each public institution of higher education in the State shall develop and implement a plan for a program of cultural diversity that enhances cultural diversity programming and sensitivity to cultural diversity through instruction and training of the student body, faculty, and staff at the institution of higher education. The plan should include:

- i. Implementation strategy and a timeline for meeting goals within the plan;
- ii. A description of the way the institution addresses cultural diversity among its student, faculty, and staff populations;
- iii. A description of how the institution plans to enhance cultural diversity (if improvement is needed);
- iv. A process for reporting campus-based hate crimes; and
- v. A summary of any resources, including State grants, needed by the institution to effectively recruit and retain a culturally-diverse student body.

Please submit a copy of your institution's plan for cultural diversity.

The institutional cultural diversity plan should be in an appendix and should not be included in the 12-page maximum.

Appendix A

Section II: Institutional Plan and Implementation Timeline

The University of Maryland, Baltimore (UMB) is currently in the third year of executing its strategic priorities outlined in the 2017-2021 Strategic Plan (the “Plan”). This Plan encompasses six themes, 28 strategic outcomes, and 303 goals and serves as the guidepost to direct our collective actions. Across the institution, senior leaders have aligned their unit plans with the Plan to ensure the integrity of a shared purpose, enhanced accountability, and continued improvement by adjusting our strategies with appropriate initiatives to accomplish our goals. In the context of advancing cultural awareness among faculty, staff, and students, UMB leadership is increasingly conscious of removing those institutional barriers that challenge attainment of our cultural diversity goals while also developing attainable tactics that support our objectives.

President Perman leads our efforts to ensure that cultural diversity is a strategic priority. In this regard, the theme – Inclusive Excellence – in our strategic plan addresses this objective. This theme accounts for 14% (42) of all goals in the Plan, all of which are at varying stages of completion across the institution. These goals and their implementation status are discussed in Section 1 of this report. Additionally, the progress report for the execution phase of the Plan can be found on the UMB strategic plan website.

Dr. Perman also continues to value the advice and counsel from the Diversity Advisory Council (DAC), a body comprised of at least one liaison from each of our seven schools, and a representative from the staff and faculty senate, human resource services, and the student body to inform initiatives and efforts. The school liaisons are responsible for communicating DAC efforts to faculty, staff, and students in their respective domains. In 2018-2019, the DAC created an affinity group initiative and institutional guidelines to provide an environment where faculty and staff can share prevailing ideology and purpose. The first affinity group established by members of the UMB community is Latinos Unidos. Latinos Unidos provides opportunities for Latino faculty, staff, and students to connect and share expertise to promote professional development and raise awareness of issues impacting the Latino/a community. We anticipate additional affinity groups will be created between now and the next diversity reporting cycle.

Students

Each of the Schools and central campus engage in a variety of efforts to improve cultural diversity. The campus continues to recruit diverse student, staff and faculty populations that embody the demographics of our nation. For example, spring 2019 enrollment data reveal that the diversity of our student population increased by 2% over the previous period. The following section will highlight examples of significant campus-wide initiatives during the 2018-2019 academic year focused on supporting underrepresented populations, advancing the intercultural competencies of all students, and student food security.

In February 2018, UMB administered the Education Advisory Board (EAB) Campus Climate Survey to students to understand and measure students’ experiences, perceptions, and behaviors with respect to diversity and inclusion on campus. In Fall 2018, the results were shared with University and School leaders. During Spring 2019, the findings were presented and preliminary meaning making and action planning occurred with the following: Student Affairs Deans from the seven Schools, Division of Student Affairs/Campus Life Services staff, three open forums, and the University Student Government Association. Comprehensive action planning is occurring via a work group containing student, faculty, and staff representation from each School and central campus; with the Student Affairs Deans from each School during a retreat in May; and the Division of Student Affairs/Campus Life Services with the work concluding in July 2019. The campus published the presentation and infographic summarizing key findings on the UMB website. The infographic will be updated with key initiatives and findings based on future administrations of the survey. UMB will administer the survey every two years, with the exception of the School of Social Work. Social Work will issue the survey every year because many students are enrolled in two-year programs.

A campus-wide multicultural center taskforce met between September 2018 and February 2019 to explore the need and focus of a “center” at UMB. The co-chairs, the Assistant Vice President of Student Affairs and a student, met with approximately 289 students during 10 meetings held with one or more student governing bodies or leadership groups within each School and the University Student Government Association. The taskforce learned about current diversity efforts through presentations given by individuals representing seven departments/initiatives and the Schools to avoid duplication of programming and services and to find opportunities for collaboration and synergy. The taskforce collected data from students, faculty, and staff via an online survey. In addition, we reviewed the resources offered by peer institutions and professional guidelines established for multicultural centers. A student work group provided additional insights. The taskforce recommended the creation of a taskforce and submitted the report to University leaders in February 2019 for consideration.

A campus food security committee administered a survey during the Fall 2018 semester to better understand and address food insecurity among our students. The student survey data and the food security committee generated a list of recommendations that we are implementing.

Staff and Faculty

The Human Resource Services (HRS) unit works closely with the Diversity Advisory Council and each of the Schools and administrative departments to further the goals of making UMB a more diverse and inclusive environment. In partnership with the DAC, HRS established a set of goals that included staffing and development action items. HRS also initiated the first ever campus-wide Climate and Engagement survey in 2016 and the follow-up survey in 2019.

HRS is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive environment at the university. HRS operations span the university and through our people-related processes, we are able to collaborate to positively impact the experiences of both staff and faculty. We will continue to share data and best practices across the university and provide expert input in key areas, including staff and faculty training, organizational development, employee relations, and recruitment. In this regard, UMB has increased its efforts to recruit administrators with the expertise and lens to improve diversity outcomes throughout the institution. In addition, we demonstrate our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion by seeking the most qualified candidates to fill positions regardless of race, gender, sexual orientation, or other under-represented designations. Consequently, senior leaders are diversifying their recruitment efforts to hire qualified individuals from underrepresented groups. For example, in spring 2018, UMB hired its first female chief of police and a female associate vice president for facilities and operations - males have always occupied these positions. Along with university leadership, HRS, institutional research, and the DAC are examining trends, evaluating survey results, and other metrics to inform our diversity efforts to positively impact our diversity and inclusion goals.

Process for Reporting Campus-Based Hate Crimes

The University of Maryland, Baltimore Department of Public Safety adheres to interdepartmental policy and procedures outlined in Written Directive 14.4 entitled, "Clery Reporting Policy" Section II states: "It shall be the policy of the Force to comply with federal laws impacting the daily administration and operation of the UMBPF and to comply with obligations and requirements of the "Clery Act." We publish and distribute an annual "Clery Report" to the US Department of Education. The report identifies campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal and institutional requirements. The report is published and distributed no later than the 1st of October of each year by the agency's Technical Services and Records Lieutenant or designee, consistent with the mandates of the Jeanne "Clery Act" disclosure of campus policy and campus crime statistics. An annual notice of the availability of the campus crime report is generated and made available to all current students and employees by the Technical Service and Records Lieutenant or designee no later than ten days from the date of publication of the report by the U.S. Department of Education.

As a public safety organization, the UMB Department of Public Safety provides policy disclosure, collect, classify and count crime reports, crime statistics and issue emergency notifications, and timely warnings in addition to retaining certain records for the dissemination of information. The submission of all statistical data is initiated annually by the 1st of August using an electronic online submission to the U.S. Department of Education's website. The submission of all "Clery Act" reportable statistical data including (hate-crimes) is completed annually to comply with the "2008 Amendments to the "Clery Act" which mandates that "Hate Crimes" be reported in the published annual "Clery Act" report.

In addition, in support of the mandated requirements for compliance by the University of Maryland, Baltimore Department of Public Safety, regarding the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act; Title 20, USC, SS 1092 (f), the records section request submission of required reporting from the Baltimore Police Department's Central and Western Districts which surround the University. The agency makes crime logs available to all students, employees, prospective students and prospective employees and members of the public at the Police Communications Center.

Also, the University of Maryland, Baltimore Department of Public Safety, works with the Executive Director of Diversity and Inclusion/Title IX Coordinator. The Executive Director of Diversity and Inclusion/Title IX Coordinator works closely with our agency's Clery and Victim Assistance Coordinators as needed. The Executive Director of Diversity and Inclusion/Title IX Coordinator also manages policies and procedures that permit administrative review and response apart from law enforcement when there is a hate crime including sexual violence. Where the alleged perpetrator is a member of the campus community, Office of Diversity and Inclusion/Title IX can establish a review process that includes assuring accountability for actions substantiated as having occurred. Also, when the impacted party is a member of the campus community, they can provide support and assistance to assure ongoing access to work, school, and other services.

Summary of Any Resources, Including State Grants, Needed by the Institution to Effectively Recruit and Retain a Culturally-Diverse Student Body

UMB professional schools are able to recruit and retain some of the best underrepresented minorities, but often times, students are selecting other institutions where they receive a scholarship offer that covers tuition. Our awards across the schools range from $2,000 to $35,000. Additional funding would allow us to increase awards to make a meaningful impact in the funding provided to this cohort of students whose presence in the classroom provides a richness to human services and health care educational experience.

Minority students represented 2,935 (44%) of the 6,678 enrollment total during Spring 2019. UMB awarded $2,653,078 in state funds to 436 students to recruit and retain diverse students in the School of Medicine, School of Dentistry, Carey School of Law, School of Pharmacy, the School of Social Work, the School of Nursing, BSN, The School of Medicine, Doctor of Physical Therapy, and the Department of Medical & Research Technology. Fourteen percent of the minority students enrolled in Spring 2019 received diversity state funding. Minority diversity differs based on the school/program.

Section I: Progress Report

UMBC's plan to improve cultural diversity, as well as its broad diversity goals and strategies, are outlined in its new 2019 Diversity Plan, submitted with this report. As a historically-diverse institution UMBC supports enhanced diversity both through pursuit of explicit diversity goals and through the ongoing business of the University (e.g., support of transfer students). The pages that follow delineate the granular level programs and metrics supporting diversity at UMBC.

Table 1: Reporting of Goals

USM Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, staff, and faculty. UMBC Goal 1 (from 2019 Diversity Plan): To ensure access to educational and employment opportunities for a diverse, student, faculty, and staff and community. UMBC Goal 2 (from 2019 Diversity Plan): To encourage and support individual development and advancement.

UMBC Superintendent's/CEO Awards: For students attending public schools in Maryland particularly in systems with underrepresented populations (ethnic and socio-economic) including Baltimore City and Prince George's County.	Number of eligible students from each school district offered an award.  Number of awardees who ultimately enroll.	For Fall 2018, 3 students in Baltimore City and 4 students in PG County qualified for a CEO award. 93 admitted freshmen from Baltimore City and 241 from Prince George's County were offered merit awards ranging from $1,000 to $15,000 for each of four years of study. Of these, 23 students from Baltimore City and 48 from Prince George's County accepted, compared to 12 and 44 respectively for Fall 2017.	Additional outreach to the Superintendents/CEO's is needed to better identify qualified students who would benefit from the award.

Faculty Diversity and Faculty Development Center - Continued Implementation and Expansion of UMBC STRIDE	In AY 18-19, STRIDE offered our campus-wide focused conversation series and our target consultations to departments and search committees. Met with academic deans, the URM Executive Committee, and other faculty groups informally to discuss progress and needs. Offered eight focused conversations: 1) Planning for Diversity and Inclusive Excellence in Your Search, 2) Developing Shared Evaluation Metrics, 3) Best Practices for Reducing Implicit Bias in the Application Review Process, 4) Best Practices for Inclusive Excellence in the Interview and Selection Process, Best Practices for Inclusive Mentoring, Developing an Effective Diversity Hiring Recruitment Plan. Provided consultations to search committees and departments.	In AY 18-19, STRIDE offered the following workshops from our Recruitment Series: 1) Developing and Effective Diversity Hiring Recruitment Plan (September/May), 2) Developing Shared Evaluation Criteria (November), 3) Best Practices for Reducing Implicit in Application Review (November), 4) Best Practices for Inclusive Interviewing (December/February). STRIDE also offered a new Retention conversation, Best Practices for Welcoming New Faculty (April). STRIDE also consulted with all of the searches in our College of Engineering and Information Technology for AY 18-19. In October 2018, STRIDE presented at the University of California Long Beach Faculty Diversity Retreat.	Continue the expansion of our work with our STEM searches. Develop more conversations around retention. Continue the dissemination of our work to internal and external audiences.  Continue the expansion of work in the College of Engineering and Information Technology. Continue the dissemination of our work and best practices to internal and external audiences.
Interfolio Faculty Search	Continued monitoring of the diversity of our applicant pools in the aggregate and at specific points across the lifecycle of the search in the URM Executive Committee.	The Office of the Provost, in partnership with the Deans' office's use Interfolio data to monitor the diversity of the applicant pool for all faculty searches at the application close date, long list, short list, interview, and offer stage.	Continual assessment of the diversity of our applicant pools at various stages across the lifecycle of the search to make adjustments in the search process when and where necessary.
Postdoctoral Fellowship for Faculty Diversity	Conversion of postdocs from Cohort V into tenure track positions. Engagement with College of Engineering and Information Technology.	Converted 5 of the 7 fellows from Cohort IV to tenure track positions at UMBC. Implemented on-boarding training for mentors, chair, support staff and postdocs. Implemented streamlined reporting process, which includes semester Faculty Development Plans, and End-of-Semester Progress reports for postdocs and mentors.	Expansion of the postdoctoral fellowship or a similar model into the College of Engineering and Information Technology. Assessing Cohort V in preparations for Cohort VI (2021-2023).
	Successful conversion of postdocs from Cohort IV into tenure track positions. Recruitment of a diverse pool of applicants for Cohort V 2019-2021. Departmental investment in the recruitment process and support of fellowship program. Representations of the College of Engineering and Information Technology in the program.	Developed a Postdoctoral Fellowship Brochure for recruitment. Will welcome three new fellows for Cohort V (2019-2021).	Continuously monitoring the on-boarding of new postdocs, and assessing their research, teaching, and professional development progress through the Mentor and Mentee semester reporting mechanism.
Pilot of CNMS Natural Sciences Pre-professoriate fellowship	Successful hiring of pre-professoriate fellows in the current Physics and Chemistry and Biochemistry searches. Conversion of current pre-professoriate fellow in Biological Sciences to Assistant Professor. Successful hiring of two pre-professoriate fellows in Biological Science and Chemistry and Biochemistry.	We successfully hired a Pre-Professoriate fellow in Biological Sciences in 2017. We also hired a URM Assistant Professor from the Biological Sciences applicant pool. This academic year, we have two new searches in Physics and Chemistry and Biochemistry.	Continuously monitor diversity of applicant pool and efforts by departmental faculty to recruit candidates for both positions. Monitor on-boarding of fellows and development of mechanisms to assess their research, teaching, and professional development progress.

Graduate School - Recruitment: Summer Horizons Program– co-sponsored by the Graduate School at UMBC; USM PROMISE: Maryland's AGEP; the USM Louis Stokes Alliance for Minority Participation (LSAMP, and the Meyerhoff Graduate Fellows Program.	We have pre-registration questions to assess expectations, and post-event evaluations to measure the impact of the content that was delivered.  Questions are designed to see if we are meeting needs of URM undergraduates, with respect to increasing their preparation for graduate school.	Underrepresented Minority Students = 68% (not including those who identified within the broad category of "Asian-American/Pacific Islander") 45% of the participants had not had information on preparing for graduate school prior to attending the Summer Horizons program. 64% did not know that there were funding opportunities available through NASA.	We want to be sure that we are reaching all underrepresented undergraduate students. Most participants (63%) learned about the program through their summer research/internship programs, faculty, or university staff members
PROMISE Engineering Institute (PEI) : As part of faculty diversity recruitment efforts, UMBC (COEIT) leads a new grant with MSU, UMCP, and JHU, to expedite the career preparation of graduate students and postdoctoral fellows so that they can be considered for tenure-track faculty positions. This is a NEW * discipline-specific* effort.	PEI is in early stages, and the Co-PIs are planning the activities for 2018-2019. WESTAT, an independent evaluation firm will be conducting the summative evaluation. Formative evaluation will be handled internally.	Some of the international excursions, and discussions on connecting humanitarian engineering content to student programming, are contributing to the research on retaining underrepresented students.	An official launch was held on August 18, 2018 as part of the PROMISE AGEP's Summer Success Institute (SSI). A primary task is to be sure that all URM graduate students, postdoctoral fellows, and faculty of all types are reached.
Human Resources - PageUp applicant tracking system implemented in 2017 for nonexempt and exempt staff positions.  Utilize system for data collection and reporting.	Previous manual paper system of collecting voluntary demographics on applicants produced a very low response rate (< 10 percent). We now have the ability to collect voluntary demographic data on all applicants in the PageUp system (100 percent).	Implement Job Specific EEO/Diversity report on applicant pools for search committee use to evaluate race/ethnicity of entire applicant pool and at various stages of the hiring/selection process (search committee review, phone interview, and in-person interviews).	Additional training to search committees
Women's Center - Returning Women Students Scholars + Affiliates Program	Tracking/attendance of scholarship funding and events; Retention and graduation rates; Program and event evaluations; Feedback from mid-semester check-ins.	$64,750 in scholarships awarded in FY19; 23 scholars + 5 affiliates are part of program.  Program assessment was conducted in Fall 2017 to include survey and focus groups. Overall participants reported that the RWS Program had a positive impact on different aspects of their lives, including financial support, personal care, and sense of community.	Better programming, advising, and support for this scholars program and outreach to more adult learners not affiliated with scholars program. The program evaluation specifically identified creating better outreach to campus departments and provided unique messaging and support for USG students.
1-1 Support for Students, Faculty and staff related to sexual violence, relationship violence, stalking, race/racism, LGBTQ issues, pregnancy, mental health, food insecurity (the Women's Center is a Retriever Essential food pick-up location) etc.	Track daily usage rates of this service; follow up 1-1 meetings by sending email to individual asking for feedback on the experience.	In FY19 (through 4/9/19) staff have recorded at total of 273 1-1 conversations with students, faculty and staff: 112 1-1 conversations with students and F/S related to sexual misconduct (several of these conversations have been reported to the Title IX Coordinator); 61 1-1 conversations with students/faculty/staff related to mental health; 51 1-1 conversations with students/staff/faculty related to LGBTQ issues; 13 related to race/racism.	Increase continued awareness about this critical Women's Center service; increase staffing in order to also meet the increase in numbers.

Meyerhoff Scholars Program - During the AY 2018- 2019, there were a total of 7 staff and 281 students from the Meyerhoff Scholars Program.	Demographic data for the number of students in the Meyerhoff Scholars Program.	281 students enrolled for the 2018-2019 academic year, of whom 67% are African American, 15% Caucasian, 8% Asian, 9% Hispanic, 0.5% Native American and 0.5% Pacific Islander.
Maintain high GPA and Retention rates in STEM.	Retention Rate since the inception of the Meyerhoff Program 1989 Average GPA of Current Meyerhoff Scholars	Historical Retention Rate – 88% (84% URM) Average GPA – 3.40 (3.31 URM)	Maintain high expectations and guidance with staff and peer advising.
Graduating students for the academic year 2018-2019 placement.	Number of Graduates Number of Graduates placed in Graduate and Professional Degree Programs	Graduates – 62 Placement into Graduate and Professional Programs – 50 (81%) (64% URM)	Work with Graduate schools to provide access to our scholars.
Record number of Meyerhoff Alumni attaining graduate degrees in the sciences	Total number of PhDs Total number of MD/PhDs Total number of Degrees	Total PhDs – 312 (74% URM) Total MD/PhDs – 59 (88% URM) Total Degrees – 847 (74% URM)	Every year more students are graduating from programs all across the country. Give support and advising to current Alumni.
MARC U STAR - Increase participation of underrepresented (UR) undergraduate students at UMBC in biomedically related fields with the objective of attending a PhD or MDPHD program upon the completion of a bachelor's degree.	We have 40 slots with 20 juniors and 20 senior year. We measure graduation rate, STEM major and acceptance and matriculation into graduate MDPHD and PhD programs. In 2018 of the 24 graduates 12 enrolled in PhD or MDPHD programs (50%).	Since the inception in 1998 we have had 440 trainees with a matriculation rate in graduate programs of 70 %.	Recruitment of students with disabilities. Aim for a 100% matriculation rate to graduate school.
CWIT : Increase the participation and success of female and URM undergraduates in engineering and information technology.	Demographics of incoming cohorts, GPA, graduation rate	Incoming fall 2018 CWIT scholar cohort (13 students) was 92% female and 23% URM. Incoming fall 2018 Cyber Scholar cohort (15 students) was 60% female and 40% URM. Overall GPA of current CWIT Scholars is 3.46 and of current Cyber Scholars is 3.62. Overall 6-year graduation rate for CWIT Scholars is 68% and for Cyber Scholars is 93%.	Recruitment and selection processes are under review to incorporate best practices to yield more URM scholars accepting our offers.
We have secured a NSF grant aimed at increasing the diversity in COEIT majors by supporting transfer students from Maryland community colleges. It supports the T-SITE Scholars program.	Demographics of incoming cohorts, GPA, graduation rate	Incoming fall 2018 T-SITE scholar cohort (8 students) was 50% female and 38% URM. All had financial need. Overall GPA of current T-SITE Scholars is 3.46. Overall retention rate in computing and engineering for T-SITE Scholars is 100%.	Recruitment processes are under review to incorporate best practices to increase the number of eligible applicants.
We conduct two events each year, Cyber 101 and Bits & Bytes, aimed at high school girls thinking of studying technology, with the goal of reinforcing that interest and recruiting them to UMBC and CWIT.	Demographics and numbers of participants	This year, Bits & Bytes served 20 girls, 6 of whom (30%) were from under-represented minorities. Cyber 101 served 21 girls, but demographic data is not available.	We continually assess and improve the effectiveness of these outreach programs.

Graduate School --The Summer Success Institute, sponsored by PROMISE: Maryland's AGEP, intended to increase significantly the number of domestic students receiving doctoral degrees in the sciences, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM), with special emphasis on those population groups underrepresented in these fields (i.e., African- Americans, Hispanics, American Indians, Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians or other Pacific Islanders).	Two days of programming in August, including activities connected to Dissertation House and the Bridging conference co-hosted with the USM LSAMP group. We ask questions during registration process and have evaluations for select sessions during event. The 2018 SSI workshops focused on science communication, preparation for leadership, and academic success.	In 2018, the # of participants who completed the survey was 86. 92% stated that the program provides them with a stronger sense of identity as a scholar. SSI invests in bringing "Mentors-in- Residence" to the event – these are faculty and leaders of color who are already role models in their respective fields.	Providing professional development programming that isn't covered by labs or other university entities is a top priority for organizers of SSI. SSI works to improve visibility of faculty of color in STEM professoriate, hopefully convincing more scholars of color to consider faculty careers.
Human Resources - Diversity Session: Disability as Diversity on the Job (HR Diversity Learning Track; 10/23/2018)	Learn more about what disability, the interactive process, and accommodation are about, as well as challenges that affect the connection with campus resources in this dynamic session. Providing reasonable accommodation is part of UMBC's core value, and the Office of Accessibility and Disability Services staff has designed this training to explain the process and offer expert guidance.	12 attended (12 staff)	66.67% of respondents rated overall course content above average and 33.33% average. Attendees recommended more group conversation.
Intercultural Development (HR Diversity Learning Track; 03/04/2019)	This theory-based workshop provides UMBC staff with an opportunity to explore the concept of inclusive excellence within the framework of intercultural development. During the workshop, participants will explore basic and intermediate concepts related to intercultural communication and develop skills designed to improve their interactions across cultural difference our own biases as well as illuminating and effectively confronting those of others.	9 attended (5 staff, 4 faculty)	45.45% of respondents rated overall course content excellent, 36.36% above average and 18.18% average. Attendees recommended a longer, more in-depth session
Race in the Workplace, Parts 1 & 2 (spring 2019)	Two sessions, including a keynote speaker and a discussion co-facilitated by Allison Manswell and Brett Kirkpatrick, dives into the topic of Race in the Workplace and detailed concepts of organizational culture shift and career development for people of color. It includes an opportunity for participants to have their questions about race answered in a safe environment.	35 (34 staff , 1 faculty) attended keynote and 23 (21 staff, 1 faculty, 1 student) attended discussion	75% of respondents rated overall course content excellent and 25% above average. Attendees recommended a symposium and more Q&A.

Human Resources contd.. Allyship: Supporting our LGBTQ+ Community (HR Diversity Learning Track; 1/23/2018)	Participant survey to measure before and after knowledge, skills, and abilities related to the following learning objectives: increased understanding around how it manifests in personal and professional life (particularly in our higher education environment); learn applied strategies for confronting our own biases as well as effectively confronting those of others (particularly around judgment and decision-making processes).	11 attended (6 staff, 5 faculty). Of these, 9 responded to survey. Prior knowledge: 33.33% reported excellent prior knowledge; 44.44% above average; and 11.11% average prior knowledge, skills and abilities related to objectives. Knowledge post-session: 37.50% reported excellent; 37.50% reported above average and 25% average.	62.50% of respondents rated overall course content excellent and 37.50% above average. Attendees recommended a longer, more focused session and offering a part II session.
ACIREMA: Understanding the International Student Experience (HR Diversity Learning Track; 2/14/2018)	Participant survey to measure before and after knowledge, skills, and abilities related to the following learning objectives: enhanced understanding regarding the multitude of hurdles that international students face in their quest for a U.S. education; increased ability to relate and be helpful in working with international students; enhanced empathy and understanding and decreased judgment.	17 attended (17 staff). Of these, 13 responded to survey. Prior knowledge: 15.38% reported above average prior knowledge; 53.85% average; 23.08% average; and 7.69% poor prior knowledge, skills and abilities related to objectives. Knowledge post-session: 16.67% reported excellent; 66.67% reported above average and 16.67% average.	66.67% of respondents rated overall course content excellent and 33.33% above average. Attendees recommended including international students as facilitators.
Intercultural Development (HR Diversity Learning Track; 5/10/2018)	Participant survey to measure before and after knowledge, skills, and abilities related to the following learning objectives: Definition of terms and exploration of the IDI questionnaire results (a statistically reliable and rigorously validated 50-item questionnaire designed to measure intercultural competence at the individual, group and organizational levels); increased awareness and understanding of basic and intermediate concepts related to intercultural communication; development of skills designed to improve their interactions across cultural difference.	18 attended (18 staff). Of these, 11 responded to survey. Prior knowledge: 54.55% reported above average prior knowledge; and 45.45% average; prior knowledge, skills and abilities related to objectives. Knowledge post-session: 9.09% reported excellent; 81.82% reported above average and 9.09% average.	36.36% of respondents rated overall course content excellent; 36.36% above average; and 27.27% average. Attendees recommended more practical examples and personalization.
Student Affairs (Career Center) collaborated with International Education Services on International Student Career Conference for unique needs of international students in job search process in U.S.	Student Attendance. Post-participation survey measured: Satisfaction	56 students attended the Spring 2019 conference compared to 76 in spring 2018. Received the "Best Practices in International Education" award for this work at the 2019 NASPA Annual Conference.	Continue to increase student participation.

Student Affairs (Athletics) - RISE Campus Conversation and survey for staff and students co-sponsored with the America East Conference a solution-orientated conversation focused on bringing Retriever Athletics and campus community together to identify strategies to help advance diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives on campus, discuss misconceptions, and determine positive strategies for change.	Staff, student and community attendance to conversation; survey distributed by America East Conference	Over 35 staff, community members, students and student athletes in attendance; America East will be compiling data from the surveys and sharing with the respective institutions	Continuing to make Spread Respect and RISE events/surveys a part of the ongoing conversation and experience for staff and students
PHED 202 Curriculum for first year student-athletes on topics of diversity and inclusion	End of semester course evaluation	In progress	Continue to create opportunities for student athletes to engage in conversations around diversity and inclusion.
Trans Support Group is a semester-long, emotional support group for UMBC students who identify as trans, genderqueer, gender fluid, non-binary, bigender, and/or those who are questioning their gender identity. This is a student-centered group to explore gender identity as well as gain support from peers on issues that may impact trans college students experience	Faculty and staff attendance	Over 20 faculty and staff attended the event, materials to help support students were shared	Continue to develop ways to better support students.
Women's Center One-time events on variety of issues related to diversity and cultural awareness (e.g. Trans In College Panel, Trans Visibility Film Screening, Knowledge Exchanges; Take Back the Night, etc.)	Event surveys/assessment; Attendance uploaded to myUMBC participant data in order to access better data about students using these programs.	100% of survey respondents agreed that "As a result of this roundtable/knowledge exchange, I believe that I can engage in a conversation about why this is a social justice issue." (n = 80) (FY18 data since FY19 is not available as of yet) 93% of TBTN 2018 respondents reported increased understanding of sexual assault, and 70.2% indicated increased knowledge of resources available (n=57) (TBTN 2019 data not available as of yet)	Continue to increase campus community participation and awareness of these events; for larger events increase the evaluation participation rates

Women's Center contd.. - On-going identity-based discussion-based programs: Women of Color Coalition; Between Women (for LGBTQ-identified women); Spectrum (for transgender and gender non-binary students); Women in STEM; and We Believe You (for survivors of sexual violence); Beginning in March of 2019, Women's Center re-launched Telling Our Stories Project which provides opportunities for women of color to debunk stereotypes and share personal narratives about themselves	Attendance and observation rubrics completed by group facilitators; Attendance for Between Women and WOCC uploaded to myUMBC participant data in order to access better data about students using these programs.  No data has been collected as of yet on relaunch of TOS	Observation rubrics indicate participants consistently indicated feelings of campus-based engagement, belonging, or empowerment as a result of group discussion and membership; Between Women moved from meeting every other week to once a week due to increased/consistent attendance	Attendance at some of these discussion-based programs vary and are often inconsistent and may benefit from more formal assessment to help re-shape or brand this programming; Spectrum programming moved from 1-time events since group meetings happen in Counseling Center and through LGBTQ Student Union and therefore a rebranding of this program needs to be considered
Week-long initiative dedicated to social justice + diversity called Critical Social Justice (CSJ) (co-sponsored by 18 other campus departments and offices)	Post-event participant surveys administered to measure: satisfaction; knowledge gained; ability to use knowledge and skills; and confidence to use knowledge and skills; Program Evaluation conducted by graduate psychology student in Fall 2017	Data from 2018 post-event surveys indicated 47.2% reported a better understanding of specific social justice issues; 57.5% reported gaining Strategies for engaging in activism; 48% reported a better understanding of social justice overall; 45.7% reported gaining a commitment to engaging in inclusive excellence (n = 172). The overall theme from the program assessment was the CSJ participants firmly believed that CSJ is an important campus initiative.	A common theme from the program assessment was the lack of awareness from the campus community about CSJ from select campus groups/constituents.

Item 3:

USM Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of hate-based crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery, UMBC Goal 3 (from 2019 Diversity Plan): To provide a culture of safety, inclusion and respect.

The UMBC Police have specific protocols and policies for reporting and response to hate crimes on Campus. Individuals or groups who are a victim of a hate crime can report this by calling UMBC Police or by emailing us through our website. In addition, victims can report to a variety of offices on Campus, including Student Judicial Programs, Title IX Office, Student Disability Services, and Residential Life. Once UMBC Police receive report of hate crime officers must follow specific response policy that outlines mandated steps, including notification and engagement of UMBC Police Command Staff, crime scene processing, witness canvassing, written statements, removal of any offensive language or symbols, and victim support. All hate crimes assigned to a UMBC Detective for high priority follow up. Lastly a mass email notification is sent to the community notifying them of the incident.

2019 Diversity Plan-UMBC

DIVERSITY PLAN

UMBC

April 2019

INTRODUCTION

The University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC) has established a commitment to diversity as one of its core principles for the recruitment and retention of faculty, staff and students and for the quality of the academic and campus community. Founded in 1966, UMBC is a selective, historically-diverse, public research university with a total student enrollment of 13,767 for Fall 2018. Diversity is defined at UMBC in its fullest scope, embracing not only racial and ethnic groups and individuals who are or have been underrepresented in higher education, but also including religious affiliation, sexual orientation and gender identity, disability, foreign nationality, non-traditional student status, and other important characteristics.

UMBC's first Diversity Plan was written in 2009, in response to a state mandate. The original plan articulated four overarching diversity goals for UMBC. Over the intervening years, UMBC's wealth of diversity initiatives has deepened and grown, while the four overarching institutional goals have remained constant. The 2019 Diversity Plan for UMBC retains the four overarching UMBC diversity goals and integrates them with the two guiding diversity goals from USM, as required in the Diversity Report UMBC is mandated to submit annually.

In development of the 2019 plan, UMBC has integrated the broad diversity scaffolding with the specific, diversity-related goals from UMBC's recent strategic plan to form part one as the core of the plan. It is anticipated that part one of the 2019 Diversity Plan will warrant review for possible updating in 2024. Part two of the 2019 Diversity Plan is the annual update portion. This portion of the plan integrates the specific, diversity-related strategies (identified for 2018-2020 and continuing from 2016-17 and 2017-18) from UMBC's 2018 strategic planning implementation document. It is anticipated that part two of the Diversity Plan will be updated annually--as needed and based on continued implementation of UMBC's strategic plan--at the time UMBC develops its annual Diversity Report.

Finally, it is important to note that UMBC frequently implements its plans for diversity through programs executed in the normal course of daily operations of the University, without designating them as diversity programs. For example, a large proportion of UMBC's transfer students are persons of color. Because UMBC is strongly committed to ensuring the success of its transfer students, UMBC actively supports the racial and cultural diversity in its student population through programs that support transfer students. Because UMBC has thus woven many of its diversity programs into the fabric of how it supports all students, faculty, and the campus community, some of the initiatives included in part two of this plan may not include descriptors such as "diversity" but are nevertheless an important part of UMBC's ongoing plan for supporting and enhancing cultural and racial diversity at UMBC.

Overarching Diversity Goals of USM and UMBC

USM Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, staff, and faculty.

UMBC Goals:

1. To ensure access to educational and employment opportunities for a diverse, student, faculty, and staff community
2. To encourage and support individual development and advancement
3. To provide conditions for personal success

USM Goal 2: Create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.

UMBC Goal:

4. To provide a culture of safety, inclusion and respect

PART I

Core Diversity Plan, 2019-24

Excerpts from Our UMBC, A Strategic Plan for Advancing Excellence that support and advance USM's and UMBC's overarching diversity goals

Strategic Plan Preface

With this plan, our UMBC community focuses on strategic steps toward the next level of inclusive excellence. The plan honors our founding commitment to serve the citizens of Maryland and welcome people of all backgrounds into the life of the university. It builds on our achievements as a selective, public research university strongly connected with the economic and civic life of the Baltimore region and the State of Maryland.

University Mission

UMBC is dedicated to cultural and ethnic diversity, social responsibility, and lifelong learning.

University Vision

Our UMBC community redefines excellence in higher education through an inclusive culture that connects innovative teaching and learning, research across disciplines, and civic engagement. We will advance knowledge, economic prosperity, and social justice by welcoming and inspiring inquisitive minds from all backgrounds.

2019 Diversity Plan-UMBC

FOUR FOCUS AREAS OF STRATEGIC PLAN

Focus Area One: The Student Experience

Strategic Goals

Leverage the strength of UMBC's compositional diversity by increasing the cultural and global competencies of all students.

Supporting Objectives

- 3.1 Develop communities of practice that deliberately focus on developing skills, attitudes, and experiences that promote global and cultural competency. Consider adding global and cultural competency as the fifth area of student competency.

Students can clearly articulate how interactions and connections with diverse people on campus can translate to their lives and careers post-graduation.

- 3.2 Increase significantly the diversity of tenure-track faculty.

Aggressively recruit and retain underrepresented minority faculty with the goal of increasing the diversity of UMBC faculty to, at a minimum, mirror the diversity of UMBC's student population.

- 3.3 Research student perceptions of staff diversity to better understand the effects of staff compositional diversity in the student experience and guide staff diversity priorities.

Conduct an assessment of and develop recommendations concerning the impact of staff compositional diversity in the student experience.

- 5.1 Improve student services

FOCUS AREA TWO: Collective Impact in Research, Scholarship, and Creative Achievement

Primary Goal

Elevate UMBC as a nationally and internationally recognized research university strongly connected with the economic and civic life of the Baltimore region and the State of Maryland. The key drivers in achieving this goal are: creating an inclusive environment for faculty, students, and staff developing excellence in new intellectual frontiers; and fostering multidisciplinary and inter-institutional approaches that build research across the campus.

Strategic Goals

1. Potential focus areas for the development of multidisciplinary scholarship, creative activity, and research excellence include, but are not limited to, environmental studies, health, national security, data science, and civically engaged and global/transnational scholarship
2. Increase UMBC's research prominence through sustained investment in faculty and staff hiring, retention, and development.

Supporting Objectives

- 2.1 Recruit, support, promote, and proactively retain a more diverse, research-active faculty at both the junior and mid-career levels to build research capacity, productivity and excellence.

Support significant, sustained growth in ethnic, racial, and gender diversity among tenure-track faculty and exempt and non-exempt staff.

- 2.2 Attract a highly diverse graduate student body, based on UMBC's national model of undergraduate diversity and success.

- 2.4 Increase the number of faculty, in all disciplines and interdisciplines, with national and international reputations for the quality and impact of their scholarship or creative activities.

FOCUS AREA THREE: Innovative Curriculum and Pedagogy

Supporting Objectives

- 1.2 Increase the size and diversity of full-time faculty and their engagement in first- and second-year student learning experiences.

Steadily grow the diversity of full-time faculty.

FOCUS AREA FOUR: Community and Extended Connections

Primary Goal

To build, nurture, and extend connections with diverse internal and external partners to enrich campus life, local neighborhoods, the state, and the surrounding region.

2019 Diversity Plan-UMBC

Strategic Goals

Promote a campus-wide culture that recognizes, supports, catalyzes, and celebrates collaboration and partnerships with groups at the local, state, regional, national, and international levels, including the K-12 education system.

Supporting Objectives

- 1.1 Adopt a common framework of best practices for developing and maintaining community connections and partnerships that includes ways to recognize and reward community connections and community-engaged scholarship.

Increase the number and quality of community connections.

Increase engaged scholarship and learning.

- 3.5 Better communicate availability of campus services and events to community

PART II

2019 Annual Update to UMBC Diversity Plan

Excerpts from UMBC's Strategic Plan Implementation Document, August 2018, that support and advance USM's and UMBC's overarching diversity goals

FOUR FOCUS AREAS AND FOUNDATIONS OF STRATEGIC & IMPLEMENTATION PLANS

Selected from Next Steps for 2018-20 and continuing initiatives from 2016-17 and 2017-18

The Student Experience 2.1

- Continue to support the MOU Data Sharing agreement with feeder schools, to improve experiences of transfer students (IRADS)
- Continue to implement STEM Transfer Student Success Initiatives (CNMS)
- Continue to implement BUILD Initiatives/Hill-Lopes Scholarship to support students placed at high risk (CNMS)

- Continue to increase participation in the Summer Bridge Program through enhanced marketing and the newly established Retriever Jumpstart Scholarship (UAA; EM)

The Student Experience 3.1

- Expand Interact - a pilot program designed to develop basic listening and interaction skills to help first year students navigate culturally diverse contexts - to all first year residence halls (SA)
- Participate in the American Council on Education 2018-2020 Internationalization Laboratory, a cohort-based program that will enable UMBC to further develop the international dimensions of our strategic plan
- Participate in MIEC retreat and plan activities for AY 2019
- Develop an updated vision for diversity and inclusion in COEIT (COEIT; CWIT)
- Expand New Student Orientation “Dawg Days” optional excursions to include “Dawg Days Abroad” to introduce new students to the many benefits of study abroad (EM; IES)
- Transition Study Abroad Fair to Global Opportunities Fair to encourage student participation in both on- and off-campus global learning programs (IES)
- Continue to expand New Student Orientation “Dawg Days” optional excursions to include “Dawg Days Abroad” to introduce new students to the many benefits of study abroad (EM; IES)

The Student Experience 3.2

- Conduct 10 more searches from the multi-year hiring plan (CAHSS)
- Conduct searches for the next cohort of Pre-Professoriate Fellows (CNMS, COEIT)
- Conduct searches for the next cohort of new Postdoctoral Fellows for Faculty Diversity
- Where appropriate consider conversion of current Postdoctoral Fellows for Faculty Diversity and Pre-Professor Fellows to tenure-track positions
- Conduct assessment to respond to issues related to staff diversity and student experience
- Continue to support the five-year initiative to promote diversity and inclusion in the humanities through a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation (CAHSS; Dresher)

2019 Diversity Plan-UMBC

- Continue to bring in and support international professors, researchers and scholars to UMBC via the US Department of State's Exchange Visitor Program (IES)

The Student Experience 3.3

- Develop the work plan of the Director of Inclusion in Student Affairs, to assess and respond to issues related to staff diversity and student experience (SA)

The Student Experience 4.1

- Continue to work with the International Student Exchange Program, a study abroad consortia, to help students study abroad for about the same cost as studying at UMBC (IES)

The Student Experience 5.1

- Implement an online immigration case management system for international students (IES)
- Hire an additional advisor to increase access to international student support services (IES)
- Continue to offer a financial literacy introductory session as part of our mandatory new student orientation program
- Continue to provide Financial Smarts Cash Course to hundreds of students
- Continue to pilot the "Financialsmarts Grant," a program designed to encourage financially neediest students to complete our online financial literacy course (EM; FS)

The Student Experience 5.3

- Expand promotion of arts and culture events to students
- Continue to develop intercultural development workshops and simulations for faculty and staff (IES; HR)

The Student Experience 5.4

- Continue to expand the 'Study Abroad Ambassador Program' to fall and spring semester study abroad programs (IES)

FOCUS AREA TWO: Collective Impact in Research, Scholarship, and Creative Achievement

The Student Experience 3.2

- Conduct searches for the next cohort of new Postdoctoral Fellows for Faculty Diversity
- Where appropriate consider conversion of current Postdoctoral Fellows for Faculty Diversity and Pre-Professor Fellows to tenure-track positions
- Launch Request for Proposals for multi-disciplinary ILSB-related convergent research initiatives

Collective Impact in Research, Scholarship, and Creative Achievement 1.2

- Explore ways to leverage the Federal Work Study Program to support more diverse student participation in undergraduate research (EM, UAA)
- Continue to explore ways to leverage the Federal Work Study Program to support more diverse student participation in undergraduate research (EM, UAA)

FOCUS AREA THREE: Innovative Curriculum and Pedagogy

The Student Experience 3.2

- Conduct searches for the next cohort of new Postdoctoral Fellows for Faculty Diversity
- Where appropriate consider conversion of current Postdoctoral Fellows for Faculty Diversity and Pre-Professor Fellows to tenure-track positions

2019 Diversity Plan-UMBC

FOCUS AREA FOUR: Community and Extended Connections

Community and Extended Connections 1.4

- Continue to prepare local high school students from low-income and first-generation college backgrounds to succeed in higher education through the Upward Bound Program
- Continue to work with the “Math Coach” program we launched at Lakeland Elementary Middle School (UAA)
- Staff, students, and faculty continue to play a leadership role in Breaking Ground Imagining America

Community and Extended Connections 3.2

- Develop partnerships with other arts and culture organizations in Baltimore (CAHSS)
- Continue to work with the Choice Program at UMBC which was chosen by Starbucks to be the community partner for their new Baltimore City opportunity cafe under construction in East Baltimore
- Continue to establish the Sherman Center for Early Learning in Urban Communities to improve STEM, literacy, and mathematics education in early childhood
- Continue to partner with Northrop Grumman Foundation and Northrop Grumman Mission Systems to create the new Lakeland Community and STEAM Center
- Continue to implement a professional development program for math teachers at Lakeland Elementary Middle School and expand it to four other schools in Baltimore (UAA)

Community and Extended Connections 3.4

- Continue to offer Summer Enrichment Experiences (SEE) program to 273 K-12 students on campus (DPS)
- Continue to enhance the Office of Extended Learning to offer additional programs for youth and adults, including Summer Enrichment Experiences, Home Visitor Program, How Girls Code, and Maryland Leadership Workshop (DPS)

Community and Extended Connections 3.5

- Continue to develop the website on Race, Equity, Inclusion, & Justice to provide a calendar of relevant events, a list of courses, and links to campus resources (CAHSS)
- Continue to develop the Diversity & Inclusion website to share our institutional values, resources, and policies (OIA)

FOUNDATIONS

- Support transfer students by 1) re-purposing a vacant admissions line for transfer student recruiting, 2) dedicating consulting resources in the PeopleSoft 9.2 upgrade for transfer credit evaluation, 3) hiring a full-time transfer credit evaluator, and 4) piloting EAB's Transfer Collaborative Tool (EM; DOIT)

The processes for reporting and investigating hate crimes are outlined in the annual Diversity Report.

INSTITUTIONAL PROGRAMS OF CULTURAL DIVERSITY ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT TEMPLATE

Institution: _____ University of Maryland, College Park _____ Date Submitted: _____ 4/17/19 _____

Point(s) of Contact (names and email addresses): _____ Cynthia Edmunds, Interim CDO, cedmunds@umd.edu _____

Total Document Length excluding Appendices: 10 – 12 pages

Section I: Progress Report: §I 1-406 of the Education Article states that each public institution of higher education shall submit a progress report regarding the institution's implementation of a plan for a program of cultural diversity. Progress on the following institutional goals should be reported:

- Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty.
- Goal 2: Create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.
- Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery.

Summary Statement of your institution's plan to improve cultural diversity. (2-3 pages max)

2018-2019 marked another year of transitions at The University of Maryland, College Park due to external scrutiny and internal process improvement. As the University swiftly implemented the recommendations of external athletic review boards, President Loh faced another challenge with turnover in the Office of Diversity and Inclusion. Moving quickly, President Loh appointed Cynthia Edmunds interim CDO in August upon the resignation of Roger Worthington and his return to the faculty. The President's charge to Interim CDO Edmunds was to identify actionable steps following from recommendations of the Joint Task Force on Inclusion and Respect, the External Review, and the Campus Climate Survey. Additionally, she as the leader of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI) was to develop a comprehensive communications program to fully capture and promote the full breadth of diversity, equity and inclusion activities within UMD; finally, President Loh tasked Interim CDO with preparing ODI for the inaugural Vice President of Diversity and Inclusion (VPDI).

Interim CDO Edmunds asked ODI to review all of the documents produced in recent years related to equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) at UMD. The synthesis of 500+ pages of information and recommendations yielded a clear consensus as to where UMD should/could focus on enhancing EDI. These were: Collaboration & Coordination of diversity and inclusion efforts across campus, Resource Allocation, Leadership & Accountability, Communication, Training & Development (visual included in the Appendix).

During all of the transitions, including personnel changeover and status shifts (ODI, MICA, ADVANCE, UHR, and others), resource availability, and other changes that occur during the regular course of academic life, offices, units, departments, and colleges continued to provide direct services to students, faculty, staff and the community to improve cultural diversity, enhance personal experiences, and foster a sense of belonging. The Self-Study Report in the Appendix provides a comprehensive overview of equity, diversity, and inclusion efforts at UMD. Also in the Appendix is the External Review that provides an analysis of UMD by expert observers who used multiple investigatory research techniques to gather a deeper view of what is currently being done at UMD and what opportunities remain to be explored. The University has already acted on one recommendation, namely to elevate the role of CDO to VP and expediently conducting a thorough search leading to the selection of VPDI Dodd.

The major goals outlined in the Strategic Plan (included in the Appendix) of the University remain unchanged and units continue to work towards them; the short-term goal of selecting a new VPDI has been met with the selection of Dr. Georgina Dodd. VPDI Dodd will take up her position in June 2019. Her initial plan of action includes a listening program wherein she will meet with a broad range of campus constituents to learn what matters to them, what they see as issues – and strengths – and what they offer to UMD. She will also have responsibility for collaborating with colleges on localized DI efforts; the short-term goal remains to fully understand the breadth of EDI activities on campus, to vigorously promote them, and to analyze their impacts. She will be supported in her efforts by the work done by ODI and the campus in the past few years.

Areas of emphasis for UMD remain unchanged from previous years and are reflective of Goals 1 and 2 of this report. UMD aims to:

- Improve recruitment and retention of under-represented faculty;
- Improve recruitment and retention of under-represented minorities, with specific attention to African-American students. Recent data provided by enrollment services and IRPA reveal a multi-year, downward trend in application, acceptance, and matriculation rates;
- Provide support and outreach to campus community members to increase opportunities for academic and social success, improve well-being, and foster a sense of belonging as a Terp.

The tables below highlight some of the efforts UMD makes towards achieving these goals. Unfortunately, it is not complete, and UMD does not currently have a systematic process to capture all of its EDI initiatives and efforts. This challenge has been identified by President Loh and assigned to ODI to solve with the assistance and support of Strategic Communications and other units as necessary.

While this report catalogs broadly many successful and visible efforts, there are many other similar efforts within individual colleges or departments that (as of this year) do not automatically get credited in this report because UMD does not have an official, centralized data collection point or process. Creating that mechanism and process will be crucial short-term goals for UMD to achieve within the next few years under the leadership of VPDI Dodd.

Areas of Success:

- Successful VPDI search
- Implementation of Hate Bias Program Response Protocol
- Creation of Enrollment Action Committee , a cross campus partnership to study and improve African American student numbers
- Second Thriving Survey underway (April 2019) following 2 years of positively shifting work-life perceptions on campus
- Campus Climate Survey report (April 2019) provided additional reinforcement of findings of Joint Task Force Report and External Review.
- Successful Director of OCRSM search
- Reorganization of the Counseling Center to provide additional mental health services to students

During this year of tremendous challenge, UMD continues to improve equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) efforts. Established efforts continue such as the President’s Commissions on Disability, Ethnic Minority, LGBT, and Women’s Issues, and new initiatives continue to be envisioned and actualized. UMD continues to move towards its strategic diversity goals and meeting challenges with pragmatic optimism.

Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty. Timeline for meeting goal within the diversity plan: 2018 (see pages 19-20 of Transforming Maryland in the appendix) Format: Bulleted, succinct descriptions of major initiatives and strategies are ideal; additional narrative is not necessary.
Share campus-wide and program-specific efforts designed to recruit and retain traditionally underrepresented students, staff, and faculty.	Metrics to measure how progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated	Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success	Areas where continuous improvement is needed
The Office of Undergraduate Admissions has created a multi-tiered strategy designed to impact students from prior to the point of application through enrollment and includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Education about the college application process</li> <li>• Recruitment</li> <li>• A holistic application review process</li> <li>• Special program and merit scholarship review and selection and,</li> <li>• Yield efforts</li> </ul>	The primary metrics to evaluate progress are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The number of interactions with traditionally underrepresented students and those who support them</li> <li>• The number of students who chose to apply for admission</li> <li>• The numbers of these students who complete the application process</li> <li>• The number of these students that apply, enroll, and graduate from Maryland</li> </ul>	From Fall 2017 to Fall 2018, the percentage of incoming first-year students who are underrepresented minorities decreased.	We will continue to learn from what the environment presents and adjust our strategies during periods where numbers are not increasing. We have experienced great success in attracting talented and diverse students to the university over time. We anticipate periods when the numbers may not increase, and at times may even dip because of unforeseen factors. As we are currently experiencing one of those periods, we are redoubling our recruitment efforts while we continue to learn and adjust our strategies.

Graduate School initiatives include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Annual Networking Reception for Diverse Students and Faculty</li> <li>• PROMISE AGEP programming and activities including PhD Completion Workshops</li> <li>• Fall Harvest Dinner and Networking Reception</li> <li>• Writing retreats</li> <li>• Annual Research Symposium and Professional Development Conference</li> <li>• Invited guest speakers of STEM initiatives</li> <li>• Bi-monthly listening sessions with URM graduate students</li> <li>• Spring Speaker Series</li> <li>• Conversations on Graduate Diversity Series</li> <li>• Continued outreach for URM undergraduate research programs nationally and HBCU institutions</li> </ul>	The primary metrics to evaluate progress are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Tracking for the last five years of URM students from initial application to admissions to enrollment</li> </ul>	From 2017 to 2018, we have seen an increase in overall graduate student enrollment with a slight increase in URM enrollment.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Continue to identify and develop appropriate recruitment methods and outreach</li> <li>• Build relationships with institutions, programs, and directors and coordinators that serve minority/URM/URG students.</li> <li>• Build relationships among institutions, programs, and directors/coordinators to enhance and maximize recruitment efforts among applicant pool</li> <li>• Expand fee waiver programs</li> <li>• Support of more UMCP faculty for recruitment initiatives</li> </ul>

  - Share data about reports with UMPD and OCRSM as they are received.
- Refer individuals who report to campus resources for support and guidance.
  - UMPD
    - Provide report and contact information for individuals affected to ODI's Program Manager for Hate/Bias Response.
  - OCRSM
    - Automated response for hate/bias incident report form will include list of campus resources for support and guidance. Provide report and contact information for individuals affected to ODI's Program Manager for Hate/Bias Response.
  - ODI
    - Consult with individuals affected by hate/bias incidents and formulate action plans in coordination with Hate/Bias Response Team.
- Inform and consult with relevant campus administrators regarding any necessary and appropriate action.
  - UMPD, OCRSM, ODI
    - Send confidential notification to relevant campus administrators.
- Coordinate community outreach and educational programming to address campus climate issues.
  - ODI
    - Consult with individuals affected by hate/bias incidents and formulate action plans in coordination with Hate/Bias Response Team.

Criminal and/or University sanctions may be pursued against perpetrators of true threats, hostile environment harassment or other legally actionable misconduct. Sanctions will not be pursued when speech is determined to be legally protected.

Clery Act Requirements:

The Hate Bias Response Program Manager in coordination with UMPD follows Clery guidelines for reporting hate bias incidents annually in the ASR in accordance with procedures outlined by the US Department of Education. Per FBI policy, the Hate Bias Response Program Manager may also report hate crimes on a case by case basis to the FBI. Policy guidance available here: https://www2.ed.gov/campus-crime/HTML/pdf/cs\_hate\_crimes.pdf.

Equity, Diversity, & Inclusion at the University of Maryland

Self-Study Report

This study provides an overview of the current state of equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) at the University of Maryland in College Park. It is supported by the Report of the Joint President/Senate Task Force on Inclusion and Respect, a Preliminary Report of the UMD Campus Climate Study conducted in February 2018, a Report on Diversity Assets at UMD, a Human Resources Strategist Report on the current needs of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI) at UMD, and the proposed FY19 base budget for ODI.

Background

The University of Maryland College Park was founded in 1856 as the Maryland Agricultural College. Like other institutions of higher learning at the time, it was created to benefit the sons of landowners. As Maryland was a slave state, many of those landowners also owned slaves. Indeed, of the twenty-four original trustees, sixteen were slave owners (Steven, 2011). The student body began to become a bit more diverse in the 1870s with the admission of male international students primarily from Latin and South America. One of the most notable early international students was Pyon Su, class of 1891. He was the first Korean to receive a degree from any American college or university. Non-black women were first admitted in 1916 concurrent with the institution's renaming as Maryland State College. In 1920, the college became part of the existing University of Maryland. The first black students were admitted in 1951 despite the "separate but equal" stance of then President Harry Clifton "Curley" Byrd (president, 1936-1954).<sup>1</sup> The first African American member of faculty, M. Lucia James, began in 1955 and continued working with classes until her death in 1977 (umdarchives, 2015).

Desegregation did not begin in earnest until 1977 when a federal appeals court ordered Maryland colleges to speed up the process (Barnes, 1977). Though more slowly than we would wish, the University continues to become a more diverse and inclusive institution. We have sought to transform the campus into a national leader on issues of EDI. Evidence of our national stature was manifested in 1998 with the publication of the Diversity Blueprint: A Planning Manual for Colleges and Universities, published by the University of Maryland with the Association for Colleges and Universities (Office of Human Relations Programs, University of Maryland, College Park, 1998). More recently, UMD received the 2015 Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) Award from INSIGHT Into Diversity magazine, and for over five years running, we have been recognized by Campus Pride as among the "best of the best" LGBTQ-friendly campuses (Seabolt, 2015).

Leadership

Many dedicated members of the campus community have guided the progress of EDI. The most notable have been four exceptional leaders beginning with Dr. John Slaughter (chancellor, 1982-88). Slaughter was one of the first African American chancellors of a major state university. He challenged the campus to become a "model multiracial, multicultural, and multigenerational academic community" (Holter, 1983). Under his leadership, the university moved from being an institution focused on compliance to an academic community that proactively addressed diversity.

<sup>1</sup> The football stadium at College Park was named for Byrd when it was built in 1950. His name was stripped from the stadium in 2015 to remove one of the most prominent symbols of a painful aspect of campus history. President Loh explained that the effort was not intended to "purge history," but to find a "principled compromise." Byrd's name is now memorialized in one of the campus libraries (Wenger, 2015).

Among his many accomplishments, Dr. William E. Kirwan (president, 1988-98) led the institution's defense to a legal challenge of the university's Banneker scholarship, a program designed to enroll academically talented African American students. While the court eventually ruled against the race-exclusive nature of the scholarship, the university's defense was a first step in developing the now wide-spread use of the diversity rationale to advance affirmative action goals in higher education (Synnott, 2005).

Dr. C. D. Mote, Jr. (president, 1998-2010) built on earlier accomplishments and expanded on the focus of our commitment to diversity. He sponsored programs that reach into Maryland communities with large numbers of disadvantaged students and created pipelines for these students to obtain an affordable college education. Graduation rates of students from all racial/ethnic backgrounds grew with substantial progress in closing the achievement gap. He championed the rights of LGBT people with aggressive support for domestic partner benefits, and established family-friendly policies and programs to help faculty, staff, and students balance academic, work, and family responsibilities ("Dr. C.D. 'Dan' Mote, Jr.," 2016).

Dr. Wallace D. Loh (president 2010-present) continues in the tradition established by his three immediate predecessors. During his tenure, the first strategic plan for diversity was adopted, the position of chief diversity officer (CDO) was created, and diversity officers were established in each of the colleges and divisions. On July 6, 2017, Loh announced that the position of CDO would become a vice president. "A VP for Diversity and Inclusion indicates a major institutional commitment of effort and resources..." (Loh, 2017b). In an interview with the Baltimore Sun, Loh spoke of $3.8 million for new diversity measures (Campbell, 2018).

Offices that Promote EDI

A variety of units promoting EDI have been established over the years. The first unit with a broad, campus-wide, multidimensional mission for EDI was the Office of Human Relations Programs (1971). It has evolved over time and is now the Office of Diversity & Inclusion (ODI). Today, ODI is considered a department with three sub-departments. They include the Nyumburu Cultural Center (1971), the LGBT Equity Center (1998), and Diversity Training and Education (2017). Diversity Training and Education (DTE) evolved from an interim version of what was the Office of Human Relations Programs and the current ODI.

Other important units focused on diversity with campus-wide responsibilities have included the Office of Multi-Ethnic Student Education (1971), Accessibility & Disability Service (1977), the Maryland Incentive Awards Program (2000), and the Multicultural Involvement and Community Advocacy Office (2006). As the dates suggest, each of these units was established in response to concerns raised at the time of their founding, but there was no overarching vision or plan into which they fit. They were also scattered into different administrative structures within the university. Today, the Office of Multi-Ethnic Student Education (OMSE) and the Maryland Incentive Awards Program (IAP) are located in the Office of Undergraduate Studies. Accessibility & Disability Service (ADS) is part of the Counseling Center. The Multicultural Involvement and Community Advocacy Office (MICA) is within the Stamp Student Union. While collaboration between units is encouraged, accountability and reporting flows to the heads of the units where these various offices are located in the institution. These units are all mentioned in the 2010 diversity strategic plan (Diversity Plan Steering Committee, 2010).

In addition to these units, others may not have a specific focus on diversity, yet they serve a high proportion of students of color, economically disadvantaged students, and others with identities protected by law and university policy. This would include units such as Academic Achievement Programs in the Office of Undergraduate Studies. Many of these are cited in the Report on Diversity Assets at UMD.

Most recently, students have called for an indigenous cultural center, a Latinx cultural center, and an increase in the number of designated prayer spaces on campus for Muslim students (Hughes, 2016). An increase in resources for additional identity groups is not new. This is particularly true for a Latinx center, community resources for people with disabilities that go beyond compliance, and a Women's center.<sup>2</sup> Given the highly decentralized nature of existing resources, it is difficult to know where any new resources should be placed or even who should be responsible for attending to these needs or overseeing accountability assessments to measure impact and progress to broader institutional goals and objectives.

Within the colleges and divisions, there is a multitude of additional units and other ongoing efforts in support of EDI. Many of these are detailed in the Report on Diversity & Inclusion Assets at UMD. Like the campus-wide efforts, these were typically created in response to local specific needs with accountability and reporting within their respective colleges and divisions. Collaborations vary widely and may include the involvement of campus-wide units, but collaborations across major organizational boundaries is less frequent.

Diversity in the Curriculum

Interdisciplinary programs have been part of the university since at least 1945 when the American Studies program began. Other academic programs focused on social identities have been established over time. They include African American Studies (1969), Women's Studies (1977), Jewish Studies (1980), Latin American Studies (1989), Asian American Studies (2000), Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Studies (2002), Persian Studies (2004), and U.S. Latino Studies (2007). These programs and the courses they offer are indispensable for any comprehensive academic institution and UMD's offerings are highly regarded.

These areas of scholarship are interdisciplinary by their nature and frequently involve a small cadre of core faculty within a specific department along with many more affiliate faculty from other departments. Courses taught by affiliate faculty tend to be cross-listed with the program and the academic home of the faculty member. Affiliate faculty may also play a role in any conferences, symposia, lecture series, etc. These collaborations are concentrated in the colleges of Arts and Humanities, and Behavioral and Social Sciences. There are few structural organizational incentives or supports specifically designed to foster collaborations that extend beyond their academic home, and in some ways the decentralized framework of the institution may be prohibitive of such collaborative partnerships.

<sup>2</sup> Luke Jensen has been aware of these efforts over the last twenty years. In particular, requests for support of Latinx students and students with disabilities were submitted to the Moving Maryland Forward Grant Program while he was chair. Some of the proposals were not funded primarily because there was no logical "home" for the resources.

Undergraduate students have had a General Education diversity requirement since 1990. Today, the requirement consists of six credit hours. Students must complete two Understanding Plural Societies courses (3-6 credits), or one Understanding Plural Societies course (3 credits) and one Cultural Competence course (1-3 credits). In cultural competence courses, students are required to think about their own culture and how it compares with others, and they must negotiate across cultural difference. Plural societies courses are more about systems and structures. It could all be very theoretical or completely historical. For example, Classics course, CLAS311 Inventing Ancient Greek Culture, is an understanding plural societies course.

Current Context

Diversity plan

The University published its first strategic plan for diversity in 2010 (Diversity Plan Steering Committee, 2010). The core of the plan included a set of recommendations in six categories. They were a) leadership, b) climate, c) recruitment and retention, d) education, e) research and scholarship, and f) community engagement (see Appendices for a copy of the 2010 Diversity Plan). The Diversity Plan triggered the creation of the position of CDO, but the first hire was made as an associate vice president reporting directly to the provost rather than the recommendation of the 2010 Diversity Plan for the CDO to be a vice president reporting directly to the president (p. 14). President Loh has recently announced the elevation of the CDO to the level of vice president along with new resources to support the Office of Diversity and Inclusion.

Kumea Shorter-Gooden was appointed as the first CDO in 2012 and served until January 2017. Dr. Shorter-Gooden was instrumental in the creation of diversity officers in each of the colleges and divisions as called for in the plan (p. 15). This important achievement began the process of building a more robust infrastructure to address issues of diversity and inclusion.

Responsibilities for implementation as outlined in the plan were pushed from the CDO, provost, and president, to the separate colleges and divisions. Diversity officers regularly provided goals and plans for implementation of the plan within their separate units, but there was no annual progress report posted on the university website, and the individual reports from the colleges and divisions were not shared publicly (pp. 27-28).

Shorter-Gooden resigned in January 2017. Cynthia Edmunds became the interim CDO in January until Roger L. Worthington was appointed beginning on July 6, 2017.

Troubling campus incidents

In recent years, a number of troubling campus incidents have occurred with a negative impact on campus climate. They include a 2015 racist, sexist email by a member of a fraternity on campus. The email became public. The administration expressed indignation and anger over the language while stressing free speech rights. Many students felt frustrated. They believed that condemning speech without also punishing those who expressed it did not go far enough (New, 2015).

In May 2016, there was an incident involving the University of Maryland Police that played out against the national discussion on police violence against African Americans. On May 21, campus police received a call about a party at an apartment complex on campus. The 911 callers reported a potential fight and underage drinking. It was later determined that the call was retaliation by non-UMD students who had been denied entry into the party. At the scene, the two officers initially spoke with people in the parking lot who pointed them to the party claiming there were weapons inside. When they arrived at the party, the hosts assured the officers that there was no fight and there were no weapons. The situation escalated to the point that the police used pepper spray. The Prince George's County Fire and EMS Department arrived on the scene and they attempted to treat partygoers who came into contact with the spray. The police felt that crowd control around those being treated was becoming difficult. Once again, they used pepper spray to disburse the crowd. Chief David Mitchell later stated that the use of pepper spray did not adhere to department standards and added, "We should have handled the situation with more diplomacy" (Thomas, 2016).

The number and intensity of incidents grew rapidly after the 2016 presidential election. Posters promoting a white supremacist group appeared on campus in December (Moyer, 2016). Alarmed at this development and the outcome of the election, a coalition of 25 student groups came together as ProtectUMD. They presented a list of 64 demands to the university (Hughes, 2016). While President Loh responded by praising the students' engagement and passion, he noted that work was already underway to advance progress on some of the demands whereas other demands were dismissed as misguided and inappropriate for campus action. Some students found his reaction inadequate (Loh, 2017a).

On April 27, 2017, a noose was found in one of the fraternity houses on campus (Wells, 2017). Reports mention that it was found by a black chef in the kitchen of the house. The news sparked a student march and sit-in protest (Limon, 2017). Frustration among students on campus were raised because the perpetrator(s) was/were never charged with a criminal act or violation of the conduct policy, and the fraternity was never sanctioned either.

About 3:00 a.m. on May 20, 2017, 2nd Lieutenant Richard Collins III was murdered on our campus. Lt. Collins was about to graduate from Bowie State University, an Historically Black College or University (HBCU) about 12 miles from College Park. He was visiting friends at UMD and was waiting for an Uber when he was attacked. Sean Urbanski, a student at UMD, was charged with the murder, which was elevated to a hate-crime charge three months later. News of the murder shocked and traumatized the campus and made national headlines (“Opinion | A Murder at College Park,” 2017).

Many saw the murder as indicative of the campus climate. For example, students, especially students of color, took a slogan that had been associated with UMD Athletics, “Fear the Turtle,” and voiced their experiences on Twitter. “I had straight As in HS but more than once YT [white] classmates have told me I am only here bc of affirmative action #FearTheTurtle.” “Turned away from a frat party because I’m Black #FearTheTurtle.” “When your story of sexual assault is not taken seriously #FearTheTurtle.” And so on (Higginbotham, Byrne, & Donlan, 2018).

Against this backdrop, during the first week of classes in the fall of 2017, an email exchange became public between a professor teaching a mock trial class and one of his coaches. The coach sent an email to the instructor (who also happened to be her father) to inquire about whether to admit one or more Latino students into the mock trial class following auditions, stating, “There were three (obviously) Latino students who came; 1 was mediocre, two were pretty bad...but we have almost no Latino students on the team. If I were to rank purely on performance, I would probably only take one of them. Should I take 2? All three? None have mock trial experience” (Silverman, 2017). The email was accidentally sent to all students in the class, and one of the students (who had been identified as “mediocre”) posted the email to Twitter, resulting in an uproar on campus, in part because it occurred during the first week of classes of the semester that followed the murder of 2nd Lt. Collins (which occurred the previous May). The instructor and the coach were both asked to step down from teaching the course. However, there was extensive media coverage of the incident, some of which included OP-ED articles defending (or criticizing) the actions and reputations of the coach and instructor as “affirmative action.”

Also, during the Fall 2017 semester, the Diamondback student newspaper published an article quoting the Title IX Coordinator and the UMPD as providing two different numbers for reports of hate-bias incidents on campus (27 from the Office of Civil Rights and Sexual Misconduct but only 15 from UMPD). Strategic Communications attempted to explain the discrepancy in a statement issued to the Diamondback and the campus, stating that the two offices had different criteria for taking reports. The issue came quickly following the release of a new hate-bias protocol and the announcement of a search for a new program manager for hate-bias response by the Office of Diversity and Inclusion.

Actions following the murder of 2nd Lieutenant Richard Collins III

When Lt. Collins was murdered, an active search for a new permanent CDO was well underway. Given the now more urgent need, President Loh and Provost Rankin made a special plea for Roger Worthington to accept the job, promising to elevate the position to the rank of Vice President (Loh, 2017b). Professor Worthington was chair of the Department of Counseling, Higher Education and Special Education in the College of Education. A nationally recognized scholar on diversity in higher education and a former CDO at the University of Missouri, he had deep expertise and experience as both a scholar and a practitioner. He had been co-chair of the search committee and issued several conditions before considering the request. Ultimately, he accepted and became Interim Associate Provost and CDO on July 6, 2017. On September 7, 2017, he spoke of the urgency of the work, citing the murder of Lt. Collins and a white supremacist rally at the University of Virginia. He outlined ten concrete early steps needed to strategically and methodically assess and improve EDI at UMD (Worthington, 2017).

Substantial progress has been made with Worthington's outline. The list and the April 2016 state of each follow.

- Joint Task Force on Inclusion and Respect – the final report became public on April 17, 2018 (included in the materials for the site visit team) and recommendations to be presented to the University Senate on April 24, 2018.
- Rapid-response campus team to assist victims of hate and bias on campus – the membership of the team has been established; the leader of this team, Program Manager for Hate/Bias Response, a newly created position, to begin on April 20, 2018.
- New UMD Student Leadership Council for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion – first meeting was held November 16, 2017; subsequent meetings have been delayed.
- Reinvigoration of the President's Commission on Disability, Ethnic Minority, LGBT, and Women's Issues – convening of the respective chairs occurred in the Fall 2017, and meetings with two Commissions (Racial-Ethnic and Disability) also occurred in the fall.
- Dialogue and discourse on diversity and inclusion – a consultant was contracted to meet with campus leaders of dialogue programs at UMD and has submitted a draft proposal for the new Campus-wide Difficult Dialogues Initiative; resources have been set aside in ODI to provide funding for the new initiative once it has been announced.
- New Center for Diversity and Inclusion in Higher Education (CDIHE) – established in the summer of 2017 under the leadership of Roger Worthington as the executive director and Candace Moore as the director; two post-docs have been hired along with staffing support from CHSE and two part-time graduate assistants; the CDIHE has convened a national thought leaders conference in January and begun planning to co-host a conference in October with the Difficult Dialogues National Resource Center.
- Campus-wide external benchmarking and review of diversity and inclusion programs, activities, and resources – site visit April 25-27, 2018, with final report expected in May.
- Campus Climate Study – data collection in February of 2018 with a preliminary report of findings now available (included in the external review materials) and a final report expected in June.
- Revision of Diversity Strategic Plan – to be informed by the Joint Task Force, the external review, the campus climate study, along with additional campus voices; scheduled for 2018-19 academic calendar year.
- Black History and the University of Maryland: A Campus Landmark Walking Tour – self-guided version went live online in February at <http://umd.edu/blackhistorytour>; in-person, guided tours available beginning on April 28, 2018. Developed in collaboration with Dr. Kim Nickerson.

It is important to underscore that these steps are not an end product. Rather, they are intended to provide data and recommendations for moving forward.

ODI was and is seen as a central organizing unit for issues of EDI for the entire campus. As the data and recommendations come in from a variety of sources (e.g., Climate Study, Joint Task Force Report, HR Strategist Report, External Review Report), ODI will need to expand dramatically to undertake the many new responsibilities coming on top of existing ones. At its height, there were at least eight full-time positions plus graduate assistants and occasional contractual employees. Yet in August 2017, the unit had only two full-time staff, the CDO and an Executive Administrative Assistant, and a small cadre of graduate assistants, a couple contractual employees, and additional staff on overloads or administrative adjustments. We began our work by backfilling existing positions, a task that remains incomplete.

President Loh recognized almost immediately that additional resources would be needed if UMD was to adequately address the many issues of EDI that were raised in the wake of the murder. Initially, he committed $100,000 to ODI to begin working toward a campus-wide response. In January, he spoke of $3.8 million set aside for new diversity measures in an interview with the Baltimore Sun (Campbell, 2018).

Overview of Self-study Process

The need for campus-wide external benchmarking and review of diversity and inclusion programs was publicly stated in an email by Worthington to the entire campus on September 7, 2017 (Worthington, 2017). In order to complete a self-study in a timely manner, we decided to begin with the map of Diversity, Inclusion, Equity and Social Justice Assets created by Kevin Allison the previous spring. Allison was an American Council on Education (ACE) Fellow working with President Loh. The map came at the request of Cynthia Edmunds, Interim CDO from January through July 5, 2017. It was the first attempt, at least in recent years, to provide an overview of these assets across campus. We understood Allison's map as an excellent effort. It may not have captured everything, but it did include the major elements.

The map is organized thematically rather than where the various assets are physically located within the university. Identifying organizational location was the first task. We next determined which units should supply additional information. These included academic programs, research units, student support and services, community engagement, and a few others. We did not include some of the of the safety and governance units such as the Department of Public Safety and the ombuds officers. Having identified the units and programs, we then determined the information that would be useful and should be readily available or easily obtained.

On February 2, the requests for information were sent to nearly sixty (60) different campus units, with a deadline of February 23 to submit the data. Given the type of information, we felt a short turnaround was reasonable. It would also encourage brevity.

Most reports arrived on time, several required an extra effort to obtain, and a few never responded. The reports vary considerably in the amount of data and the level of detail. Assisted by three graduate students, we summarized the reports. We attempted to impose some degree of uniformity, but the variety from one report to the next caused variations in the summaries. Allison's map, the organizational structure showing the institutional home for each asset, the assets arranged thematically, and the summaries of the reports are found in the appendix, Report on Diversity Assets at UMD.

The report of the Joint President/Senate Task Force on Inclusion and Respect is complete and will be presented to the University Senate on April 24. Given the visibility of their work and the importance to EDI associated with their recommendations, their report is also included in the appendix.

The third item in the appendix is a preliminary analysis of the data collected in a climate survey deployed earlier in the 2018 spring semester. It is followed by a report from our human resources consultant with information on backfilling positions and projecting needed new positions. Finally, ODI's budget request for fiscal year 2019 (beginning on July 1, 2018) is included.

In sum, the materials for the external review team includes the following:

1. Overview and brief analysis
2. Report on Diversity Assets at UMD
3. Report of the Joint President/Senate Task Force on Inclusion and Respect
4. Preliminary Report on the climate survey conducted during the spring 2018 semester
5. Report from human resources strategist

Brief Analysis

The Report on Diversity Assets at UMD was produced by Kevin Allison from Virginia Commonwealth University during his ACE Fellowship with President Loh during the 2016-17. It was the first and most comprehensive attempt to map our campus diversity assets in the history of the institution. This self-study report, building on the work of Dr. Allison, takes the work to another stage in the process of our campus-level review of EDI efforts at UMD. The report submitted by the external review team will then advance the work to yet another level by offering conclusions and recommendations based on a comprehensive review of EDI assets never before attempted in this institution.

In collecting data from the various EDI assets, we were struck by the variety of assets and their wide distribution within the institution. The quality of many diversity assets is made evident in the individual reports, while others are already highly respected and known to be valuable to the university by their reputation. Even so, the perspective gained from this exercise is only the beginning of any comprehensive understanding of EDI work at UMD. Simply gaining an overview of these efforts is a formidable task. When individuals who are actually engaged in EDI work at UMD struggle to gain a comprehensive understanding of what we have and what we do, it is no wonder that others are unaware and do not know where to turn to learn more. Other reports underscore the general issue of “not knowing.”

The missions of EDI units run the gamut. Those with the broadest responsibilities tend to be located in the Office of the Provost, in the Office of Undergraduate Studies, and in the Division of Student Affairs. Those in the colleges tend to be generally aligned with fields of study included within their particular college.

There are extremely few articulations of how EDI units relate to one another, or an overarching mission or vision of the university. This theme was also articulated in the recently released Joint President/Senate Task Force Report:

- Diversity programming is not comprehensive and does not have a broad overarching vision.
- There is a lack of coordination between campus units and no central source of information, making it difficult to find information on current diversity and inclusion programming and resources.

One is struck by missing data regarding programming. Both traditional academic programs and so-called nonacademic EDI units and initiatives were asked to provide the name and a brief description of each of their programs. We also asked for the goals or objectives of each and the number of participants. For the nonacademic EDI units, we also asked for key indicators of success. Sometimes, a goal or objective could be gleaned from the description. Numbers were reported sporadically. Relatively few provided key indicators of success. There are many possible reasons why a unit failed to report these data. One could fairly conclude that such data were either not easily assembled, or they simply didn't exist. The sheer number of reports coupled with our aggressive timeline precluded returning to the various units for clarification.

One cannot fairly ascertain from the report summaries precisely which units did not supply all the requested data. For example, the Office of Civil Rights and Sexual Misconduct, and the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Equity Center both provided very long and detailed responses. These data were omitted in the process of summarizing due to the exceptional length of their reports. While essential in evaluating the individual units, omitting that data in these cases seemed reasonable for this report due to the overall paucity of these data and the consequent inability to provide any global analysis.

The reports provide an impressive list of key collaborations with off campus entities. UMD is connected to a wide variety of community and scholarly organizations with both our academic and nonacademic EDI units. Collaborations within the university are fairly predictable. Academic units included in this study appear to be dependent on traditional units for affiliate faculty and cross listing of courses. They are concentrated in two of the colleges. Collaborations across major organizational boundaries are less frequent. Nonacademic units also collaborate in fairly predictable ways. Research centers collaborate with related academic units. There is at least one exceptional example of wide ranging collaboration in this category, the Consortium on Race, Gender and Ethnicity (CRGE). While CRGE is exceptional in the breadth of collaborations, it could be predicted given the interdisciplinary mission of CRGE. Overall, research units appear to be a bit less siloed than academic units, yet still relatively insular.

Collaborations of other types of nonacademic units are also somewhat predictable. There are many examples of EDI units collaborating primarily with other EDI units. One notable exception is the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Equity Center which has established liaisons with units as diverse as the University Career Center and The President's Promise, and the Department of Resident Life. These established relationships may explain why Campus Pride highly rates UMD for being among the most LGBTQ+ friendly institutions of higher learning in the United States (Seabolt, 2015).

Surprisingly, there are instances where a lack of collaboration is indicated. For example, there are three (3) different initiatives in support of black male students. They are in the Nyumburu Cultural Center (NYUM) reporting to ODI, the Office of Multi-Ethnic Student Education (OMSE) reporting to Undergraduate Studies (but which formerly reported to ODI until 2017), and the Student Success Initiative within the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. NYUM did not cite OMSE or the Student Success Initiative under collaborations. OMSE did not provide any information on collaborations. We are left to wonder if the different programs work in concert or in competition with one another.

Similarly, there are a handful of dialogue programs on campus, including Common Ground (Resident Life), Words of Engagement Intergroup Dialogue Program (WEIDP; Office of Diversity and Inclusion), in addition to a dialogue program run by the Clarice Performing Arts Center, and others. These programs were developed in different units across campus, for different purposes, to serve different constituents, and operate from differing conceptual frameworks, but pursue similar goals, but in the absence of collaborative partnerships and without recognizable communication between the organizers. The Office of Diversity and Inclusion has begun working toward the establishment of a campus-wide dialogue initiative that could bring together these disparate programs under the framework of a Campus-wide Difficult Dialogues Initiative. Under this conceptual framework there will be an effort to build collaborative partnerships that have the capacity to broaden the scope of work on dialogues across campus and increase the impact—building an initiative that will be greater than the sum of its parts. The need for this initiative has also been highlighted by one of the findings and one of the recommendations of the Joint President/Senate Task Force Report:

- Faculty and staff do not have the tools necessary to facilitate dialogue on issues of hatred and bias in the classroom and in the workplace.
- Develop a comprehensive prevention and education initiative on diversity, inclusion, and respect for all members of the campus community that includes content areas such as implicit bias, cultural competency, bystander intervention, and civic engagement. The initiative should draw upon expertise from campus scholars and should be administered by the Office of Diversity & Inclusion (ODI). (p. 24)

During the 2017-2018 academic year, courses fulfilling the Cultural Competence requirement were offered by twenty-four different programs with unique prefixes (e.g., ENGL for English, AASP for African American Studies, etc.). Understanding Plural Societies were offered by thirty-eight programs. These are programs rather than departments as one department may have more than one program (e.g., Women's Studies, [WMST] and Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Studies [LGBT] are both programs in the Department of Women's Studies). As mentioned above, many of these courses are cross-listed. For example, courses in African American, Asian American, and LGBT literatures appear as both English courses and courses within the programs focused on those particular groups. Typically, the home for the course is in the more traditional academic unit, in this case English.

Data from Testudo, UMD's online schedule of classes, collected in February 2017, show the following number of seats available, the number assigned, and fill rate for all general education courses offered during the 2017-2018 academic year (minus summer courses). For cross-listed courses, each seat is counted only once.

All Diversity General Education Courses, 2017-2018

Fall 2017	offered	issued	fill rate
Cultural Competency Courses	921	773	83.93%
Understanding Plural Societies Courses	7,767	6,524	84.00%

Winter 2018	offered	issued	fill rate
Cultural Competency Courses	175	110	62.86%
Understanding Plural Societies Courses	1,104	664	60.14%

Spring 2018	offered	issued	fill rate
Cultural Competency Courses	875	747	85.37%
Understanding Plural Societies Courses	6,780	6,298	92.89%

While the fill rate may indicate sufficient seats for the diversity requirement, a deeper analysis would likely show that the summary numbers alone do not tell the whole story. Also, the impact of this requirement on a broader diversity agenda would also require a deeper analysis. They undoubtedly support a sense of belonging for students with the relevant social identity, but they may have limited impact on students without those identities. For example, an LGBTQ+ student may find a home and develop academic interests in LGBT Studies and never venture into any of the other academic programs focused on diversity. Some have called for the general education requirement to "teach tolerance" (de Silva, 2017). In other words, with an increased level of scrutiny regarding the frequency of hate-bias incidents and dissatisfaction with the campus response to them, there have been a number of proposals to directly tailor the diversity requirements in the undergraduate general education curriculum to foster greater competencies (awareness, knowledge and skills) to interact with others without bias and discrimination (intentional or unintentional).

While the Office of Undergraduate Studies is responsible for the General Education Program, responsibility for the development of specific courses is diffused throughout departments, programs, and individual faculty members. In 2014 and 2016, the Office of Undergraduate Studies and ODI worked together to provide incentives for two cohorts of faculty to develop new courses to fulfill the cultural competencies requirement in an effort to expand the number of courses offered to satisfy this requirement. They jointly offered seminars on the development of the courses with economic incentives to complete the process—from successfully developing a course to receiving approval to fulfill the cultural competence requirement to offering the course and completing an evaluation once the course was completed. The program was short-lived, in part because the senior administrator who initiated the program left her position, and in part due to challenges related to the administration, funding and resources to support the program.

For nonacademic units, we requested data on two key resources, space allocation and budget totals for fiscal year 2018. For space allocation, the majority did not report on square footage. Exceptions include those who occupy a whole building, such as NYUM and the Center for Young Children (CYC). Other exceptions are more difficult to explain. When reported, space allocation does not appear to be generous and is frequently tight. Two examples of especially small allocations given the nature of the units are ODI and Academic Achievement Programs (AAP).

Reports on budgets reveal that some units have significant resources derived primarily from outside the university. The most dramatic examples include the Center for International Development & Conflict Management (CIDCM) with about 97% of their budget from outside sources, the Maryland Population Research Center (MPRC) with about 93.5% from outside sources, and the Center for Minorities in Engineering (CMSE) with either 87.5% or 82% from outside depending on how one calculates additional support from their dean. These centers all received research funding and are located within colleges. Reports from nonacademic units, especially those with a broad EDI mission, have little or no funding from outside the university. Their budgets are typically small in relation to their functions. ODI has proposed an organizational plan to hire a development officer within our office to pursue external funding from donors, foundations, and other sources. The Nyumburu Cultural Center (part of ODI) has also proposed to hire a staff member with primary responsibilities for alumni relations and donor development, but at this time the search has not been approved.

Conclusions

UMD has many outstanding units focused on EDI, yet it is difficult to know who is doing what. The old adage seems applicable: “The left hand doesn’t know what the right hand is doing.” The formidable task of gathering data on EDI units speaks to the need for better information sharing. This issue is also evident in the other studies provided. We do not have a particularly coherent approach nor are we very good about sharing information. From the Joint President/Senate Task Force Report:

- There is substantial concern with the way the administration communicates with audiences and the tone it sets when hate/bias incidents occur on campus.
- Despite numerous administration efforts in recent years to address diversity and inclusion on campus, there is a lack of transparency in how the campus handles hate/bias incidents that gives the impression nothing has been done.
- Students, in particular, are frustrated that they hear about hate/bias incidents from outside sources before they receive information from the University.
- The University does not fully appreciate the importance of social media when communicating information about incidents.
- There is a lack of coordination between campus units and no central source of information, making it difficult to find information on current diversity and inclusion programming and resources.

The scattered locations of EDI units and the lack of any articulation of how units relate to the university's overarching EDI mission or goals indicate problems associated with decentralization, fragmentation, and silos. One can point to outstanding EDI units, but we are left wondering how or if they add up to any cohesive university vision. Their scattered nature indicates no consistent reporting or accountability. Until recently, ODI has provided mostly symbolic leadership for EDI efforts on campus, with limited funding and diminished capacity due to be short-staffed—nevertheless, the commitment from President Loh to infuse new resources may help to elevate the level of the office beyond symbolism to a fully functional campus-wide division with the capacity to increase the scope and impact of EDI services, form collaborative partnerships through a network of EDI units on campus, and provide a centralized location for the communication of EDI activities, events, programs, and initiatives at UMD.

With so little reporting on goals or objectives of programs, key indicators of success, and number of participants, it is impossible to begin assessing with any precision the collective value of these programs or units. We simply do not know the outcomes for individuals who participate in most of these programs, or their collective impact in advancing EDI at UMD as a whole.

EDI assets associated with specific research tend to be amply funded from outside sources. Assets with a broad EDI mission tend to have little to no outside sources of income and, given their mission, they are under resourced by the university. This breeds a competitive culture and can easily lead to a zero-sum game for adequate funding.

President Wallace D. Loh
University of Maryland
7901 Regents Dr.
College Park, MD 20742-6105

Dear President Loh,

On behalf of the Diversity and Inclusion External Review Team, please find the final copy of the University of Maryland External Review of Diversity and Inclusion Report attached. It is based on our analysis of documents and interviews with key University stakeholders between April 25-27, 2018. Our hope is that the report will be helpful to you and your leadership team as you forge new directions for diversity, equity and inclusion at the University. As requested, this document is being shared only with you and Senior Vice President and Provost Rankin for your decision regarding how it might be shared and used.

As we concluded in the report, Provost Rankin, Assistant President and Chief of Staff Eastman, Interim Associate Provost Worthington, and members of their respective staffs were extremely helpful in preparing us in advance of the visit, and hosting us while on campus. Frankly, everyone we met provided personal and professional insights regarding the strengths and challenges of the campus that were valuable to our review. We came away from the campus with a common belief that the community cares deeply about the University and that they welcome the opportunity to make it stronger in every way.

We were especially pleased with our meeting with you. You provided additional context and information needed for us to consider the full scope of issues as we conducted our analysis. We also left with a strong sense of your commitment to this work and your analysis about how you thought the institution should proceed.

Finally, each of us would like to thank you for the invitation to be part of the External Review Team. We collectively learned a great deal about the good diversity and inclusion work at the University of Maryland. The visit also provided organizational models for us to consider as we pursue our individual work. We wish you and the rest of the University of Maryland community all the best as you move forward.

Sincerely,

-R

I. INTRODUCTION AND CAMPUS CONTEXT

The University of Maryland College Park (UMD) is a public, land-grant research university that is fully accredited by the Higher Learning Commission and holds membership in several national associations, including the Association of American Universities (AAU), the Association of Public and Land Grant Universities (APLU), and the Association of American Colleges & Universities (AAC&U). The institutional members of these associations range from elite research universities to a wide range of two- and four-year colleges and universities that focus on the quality of the curriculum and student learning outcomes. This reveals the expansive reach of UMD. The University's website offers the following self-description:

The University of Maryland, College Park is the state's flagship university and one of the nation's preeminent public research universities. A global leader in research, entrepreneurship and innovation, the university is home to more than 40,000 students, 10,000 faculty and staff, and 352,000 alumni all dedicated to the pursuit of Fearless Ideas. Located just outside Washington, D.C., we discover and share new knowledge every day through our renowned research enterprise and programs in academics, the arts and athletics. And we are committed to social entrepreneurship as the nation's first "Do Good" campus.

As one of the nation's premier higher education institutions and an academic innovator, UMD has a rich tradition of advancing diversity both in the academy and the larger society. This was affirmed in the 2010 strategic plan, Transforming Maryland: Expectations for Excellence in Diversity Inclusion. The document states:

Our vision for the next decade is to become a model diverse community of learning, exploration, and self-examination whose impact is felt across the state and the region and throughout the nation and world. (pg. 6)

Eight years later President Loh reaffirmed this goal in light of challenges being raised nationally about equity, diversity, and inclusion issues. These issues range from outreach and retention of the historically underserved and underrepresented; to growing incidents motivated by hate and bias; to an unfortunate murder on campus. All of these factors contributed to President Loh creating the Joint President/Senate Inclusion and Respect Task Force (hereafter the Joint Task Force), which was charged with reviewing equity, diversity and inclusion concerns. It was specifically asked to:

... consider our existing practices, and develop a comprehensive plan for initiatives on prevention and education, improving campus climate, responding to incidents motivated by hate and upholding the pillars of academic mission with legal guidelines. (pg. 1)

In this statement President Loh underscores the importance of insuring consistent, ongoing and effective leadership for equity, diversity and inclusion (EDI) efforts at the highest level. He announced in 2016 that he would be creating a cabinet level position of Vice President for Diversity and Inclusion. The position is to provide collaborative leadership across campus units to develop, initiate, and coordinate EDI efforts related to the UMD's mission, and to advise the University.

On July 6, 2017 Dr. Loh appointed Dr. Roger Worthington as Interim Associate Provost to lead this work and develop a plan for the proposed VP position and office structure. Among the plan elements were:

- a) a climate study (which was recently completed);
- b) enhancements in professional development; coordination of EDI efforts; enlistment of a team of national diversity thought leaders to explore research projects for the newly created diversity institute (October 2017); and
- c) invitation to an external review team to identify the strengths and challenges EDI efforts at UMD.

Three nationally recognized individuals were identified by Dr. Worthington to serve as the External Review Team (ERT), Dr. Nancy "Rusty" Barcelo, Dr. William B. Harvey and Dr. Alma Clayton-Pedersen. The team members collectively have amassed more than one hundred years of experience in higher education, including holding positions as Chief Diversity Officers at four flagship research universities, vice-presidencies at two national higher education associations, and the presidency of a publicly funded college.

At this point, UMD is responding to the rise of campus violence and hate speech nationally, which has prompted an expressed sense of vulnerability to attack on the campus. By undertaking this review, UMD is recommitting to its previously articulated goals of equity, diversity and inclusion as hallmarks of success and excellence. With the appointment of a Vice President for Diversity and Inclusion (VPDI) and the many efforts underway, UMD will be at a comparable level with its peer institutions. Efforts that are now in progress will contribute to reimagining EDI efforts at UMD and will serve as an important step toward healing from the recent acts of intolerance and violence. It was clear to the ERT that there remains much residue following the murder on campus of Lt. Collins last year. Although the interviews revealed a profound sense of optimism, there is also skepticism about whether proposed changes to restore a sense of safety will actually occur. As such, we are grateful to the scores of individuals who met with us to share information and perspectives to advance this very important work.

We have reviewed all of the materials provided and had many conversations across the campus community. These observations provided a unique opportunity to conduct an in-depth analysis of the current and aspirational equity, diversity and inclusion (EDI) work across the University. Consequently, we unanimously agree that UMD can address the challenges of inequity, prejudice, discrimination, and exclusion that have prevailed at UMD in new and innovative ways. As indicated in the various reports, the commitment and desire from the administration, faculty, staff and students that signal the possibility of UMD being uniquely poised to reclaim and advance beyond its previous position as a national higher education leader in EDI. Described below are the remaining four sections of the Report.

The Review Process comprises Section II. It details: the steps undertaken to conduct the review, the questions intended to guide the review, the analysis of individual and group meetings, and the review of documents. Sections III and IV—Observations and Recommendations respectively—seek to describe our observations in six (6) areas and then link those to a set of overarching considerations for action in the Recommendations section.

Our observations are all based on the readings and onsite interviews. The recommendations flow from those observations and our collective knowledge of effective and promising practices in EDI work. We provide in Section V Conclusions a brief summary and remarks. Our hope is that the review will complement the findings of the President/Senate Joint Inclusion and Respect Task Force Report (hereafter the Joint Task Force Report). We also hope that the report assists UMD in achieving its aspiration of being a national model of excellence in equity, diversity and inclusion as it strives to create a campus-wide environment that is rich in diversity, inclusive, and supportive of all of its members.

We are impressed with the policies, programs, and the human and fiscal resources that are dedicated to achieving UMD's EDI goals. Yet, we also understand that complete realization can only be assessed accurately, despite good intentions, when the University moves forward to fully implement its strategies.

We made reference to UMD's membership in a number of national higher education associations because we are convinced that UMD could recapture and advance its previous leadership role in equity, diversity and inclusion strategy and success by leveraging its membership in them. We are convinced that by using internal and external collaborative approaches to the institutional-level EDI work, UMD can accomplish its goal of national acclaim. By acting collaboratively within the campus and with outside others, UMD can address the national cynicism towards the nation's long history of attending ineffectively to differences among the people that have led to the current state of affairs.

The racial/ethnic, immigrant, LGBTQ, and other historically underrepresented communities in higher education are increasingly being marginalized and attacked simply for being who they are. These realities underscore the urgency of the University's efforts to rethink and intensify its EDI efforts. The long history of cooperation and collaboration within the Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) of the Big Ten Academic Alliance makes it especially relevant and poised to serve as a conduit for recommending collaborating with this entity. There is high potential to gain both strength in numbers and the resources to advance the work in collaborating with this and other associations. And, that filling the cabinet-level position internally will create the synergy needed to make UMD a distinctive leader in EDI strategy and effectiveness. We elaborate on the leadership role that UMD can play to move the country in a more positive direction with strategic actions and supports in our recommendations.

II. THE REVIEW PROCESS

The external review was conducted from April 25 - 27, 2018. President Wallace Loh and Senior Vice President and Provost Mary Ann Rankin elaborated in their letter outlining the charge to the ERT. They requested that we assess the impact, effectiveness, coordination, structure, and organization of, and the resources for equity, diversity, and inclusion efforts across the University. The ERT focused its review on the broader integration and coordination of EDI work across multiple units and programs to determine their impact on the campus as a whole. We also reviewed the impact of other units' efforts on behalf of diversity, equity and inclusion.

The ERT conducted interviews with a broad range of individual and group campus constituents. The agenda for the review is included as Appendix 1. Preparation for the task included reviewing the following reports:

- Inclusion and Respect at the University of Maryland;
- Preliminary Report of the Comprehensive Campus Climate Assessment for Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion at the University of Maryland;

- Equity , Diversity, & Inclusion at the University of Maryland Self Study Report;
- Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report 2016-2017;
- Fulfilling Commitments: A Structured Approach to the University of Maryland's Transition to a Division of Equity, Diversity and Inclusion; and
- Transforming Maryland: Expectations for Excellence in Diversity and Inclusion.

Additional materials, including budgets, policies and program level reports, were provided on-site. All of these materials were reviewed and considered by the ERT in writing this report. These materials assisted the team in formulating three basic questions to address the charge as outlined by the President and Provost that we believed would encompass the questions President Loh and Provost Rankin provided.

The agenda established for the review team arranged for meetings – together and separately - with a broad range of individuals and groups that represented students, faculty, staff, deans, and senior administrators. The process generally adheres to the guidelines established by Senate document 00-01-134Z entitled Policy on the Review of Academic Units. The ERT was very impressed with the candor and honesty of all the individuals and groups with which we met. They expressed a belief that the external review was important in order to move forward while also building on the past.

Outlined below is a brief description of the team's charge, a set of common questions asked during interviews, the materials reviewed prior to the visit and a brief description of their content. Additional materials received by the ERT while on campus are not listed. However, all documents received were reviewed and considered in the development and details of the observations, recommendations and conclusions offered in this report.

External Review Charge and ERT Questions

Provost Rankin presented the team with a total of eleven questions for consideration as part of charge for our review (see Appendix 2 for the full list of questions). From among these questions, there were three that were identified as priorities to address specifically. They included:

1. How can we optimize the equity, diversity, and inclusion efforts at UMD to have the greatest impact and effectiveness?
2. How does UMD compare to its peer institutions with respect to campus initiatives and programs to promote diversity, equity, and inclusion?

3. What would it take to become a national model for [equity] diversity and inclusion?

The ERT sought to provide a common set of questions for the individual and group meetings. Thus, whether we met separately or as a group with campus constituents, three (3) guiding questions were posed to the interviewees and listed below.

1. What are strengths and challenges with regard to equity, diversity and inclusion at UMD?
2. What do you see as the vision for Office of Diversity and Equity (ODI)
3. What would you like to change?

Together the six (6) questions guided the interviews and the document review processes. While responses to the questions regarding strengths, challenges and vision varied from session to session, they provided an important overarching framing for the team and the review. The ERT's questions also provided a general means to address many of the remaining eight (8) questions posed by the Provost. The insights gleaned from the materials and the respondents are interwoven throughout the Observations section of the report.

Materials Reviewed

The depth and breadth of the University's commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion (EDI) is evidenced by the sheer number of initiatives, organizational structures and resources—human, physical and fiscal—dedicated to the work of making excellence inclusive. These efforts are documented in the material provided for review. Especially important in this regard is the Transforming Maryland: Expectations for Excellence diversity plan. It offers guidance that is more thorough and detailed than seen in other institutions' plans. Since 2010 it has provided critical guidance to the campus in its quest to serve equitably the citizens of Maryland and beyond.

Similarly, the Preliminary Report of the Comprehensive Campus Climate Study for Equity Diversity and Inclusion at UMD reveals that there is still work to be done to achieve the ideals articulated in Transforming Maryland. Although preliminary, this climate assessment already pinpoints areas where there are wide disparities between groups in their campus experience. It offers insight into what needs to be better understood. The work ahead is to develop consensus about the means by which these disparities in constituents' campus experience are addressed and assessing if the actions taken make a difference over time.

The Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (EDI) at the University of Maryland: Self-Study Report offers: a historical analysis of the environment for EDI work at UMD; a comprehensive list and description of the work of the various Offices that are engaged in the EDI work; a review of diversity in the curriculum; a review of the implementation of Transforming Maryland plan mentioned above; and an overview of its self-study process. This document offers an up-close and realistic assessment of the accomplishments of EDI programs and the needs for the future.

The Report on Diversity Assets at the University of Maryland (2017) not only offers descriptions of the programs and initiatives underway, but also key collaborators, and space allocations. Also, budget allocations for many entities were provided. This is among the most comprehensive reviews compiled into a single document of EDI assets of a major University that the team has seen. Its overview, entitled Diversity, Inclusion, Equity and Social Justice Assets Map offers a visual representation of all the EDI work that makes it easy for the community to recognize the enormity of UMD's commitment, but also the complexity of managing, assessing and communicating all of the work being done to the campus and larger communities. The 2-page overview of the assets is included as Appendix 3.

The team's list of pre-reading also included the Inclusion and Respect at the University of Maryland report authored by the Joint Task Force. It offers recommendations for a comprehensive diversity and inclusion initiative in nine areas and calls for the resources to enact their recommendations. Their recommendations are drawn from the Joint Task Force's review of diversity-related initiatives, current practice, scholarly research, issues and concerns expressed by the community and their findings.

The challenge of the existing structure of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI) is outlined in Fulfilling Commitments: A Structured Approach to the University of Maryland's Transition to a Division of Equity, Diversity and Inclusion. It offers five (5) recommendations including reorganizing the office into a division over a three-year period to achieve economies of scale and resources, and greater synergy across the many initiatives currently underway at the University.

In addition to these documents, the ERT received several other pieces of information from leaders of various offices to further inform the Review process.

The ERT appreciates the thoughtfulness of the various individuals and groups that participated in generating and gathering the information to help us obtain a truly comprehensive understanding of the equity, diversity and inclusion (EDI) work at UMD.

OBSERVATIONS

UMD has long history of being viewed as a national model for diversity. The University has evolved significantly since its construction by slaves and adherence to racial segregation into the 20th century. With the coming of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the University, like others throughout the country, initiated efforts to diversify the institution. UMD soon became a national leader due to the strong leadership of the Presidents, three of whom have been people of color. To our knowledge, only one other predominately white, major research university in the nation can match this appointment record.

A strong desire was expressed by many, starting with the President, to regain the University's national status as an EDI advocate as it works to enhance its efforts. We were pleased to learn that there is representation of individuals from broadly diverse backgrounds who have been at UMD during most of their careers, if not entirely, because of this rich history and commitment to diversity. While they expressed concerns, they believed the potential to do more compel them to remain at UMD and engage in the effort to do more.

The team's Observations are framed within six (6) major topics that emerged consistently from our review of reports and interviews. Specifically, the topics and themes include the following:

1. Communication and Transparency
2. Professional Development and Education
3. Collaboration and Coordination
4. Resources/Development—Fiscal/Human/Physical
5. Accountability
6. Leadership

It is important to note that several of these topics are consistent with the findings in the Joint Task Force Report. Consequently, we believe it is imperative to address them for purposes of building institutional capacity and sustainability, and to address the questions posed by the president and provost.

Communication and Transparency

More effective communication and administrative transparency were consistent responses to our three guiding questions concerning strengths, challenges and vision. Comments focused primarily on what appears to be a lack of transparency regarding the status of unresolved issues. These issues included: a) the status of the search for the Vice President for Diversity and Inclusion (VPDI); b) efforts following the Lt. Collins murder; and c) decision-making strategies regarding the allocation and/or reduction of resources to address EDI issues. Interviewees shared concern that beyond the work of ODI, UMD's diversity efforts, in general, seem modest. Some unit employees expressed concern over the limited understandings of how their efforts might be influenced or incorporated with the appointment of a VPDI.

Both academic and non-academic units tended to agree that they often are unaware of what other units are doing. As a consequence scheduling conflicts are created that negatively affect participation. There is a general consensus that restructuring EDI efforts would be a positive step toward enhancing communication.

Following the murder of Lt. Collins, an atmosphere of uncertainty descended on the campus that seems to be evolving into suspicion regarding the administration's commitment to diversity. Part of this attitude reflects confusion regarding certain measures that have been suggested to memorialize Lt. Collins, measures that we understand take into account the wishes of the family. Frustration was also expressed that the previously announced selection of Dr. Worthington to the Vice President's position has not officially occurred. One student leader, when asked what the administration should know regarding the perspective of her peers on this matter, said that the delay was hampering efforts to move the University forward by not having a point person at the senior administrative level, and that if the President didn't follow through, "How can we trust him?"

The issue was raised on several occasions regarding the need to clarify what is meant by the term "diversity," or dismay that there is no standard for what we mean by diversity. For example, Asian Americans are not underrepresented in the sense of racial composition, yet they are still viewed in a racialized context that sometimes leads to micro aggressions. There was some sense that a point person and/or cultural center would help to address their needs. It was not clear from our conversations how the GLBTQ, women and disabilities communities are part of the current diversity mandate. All these groups recognized and appreciated the support of ODI, but that it needed to have more robust financial and staff resources.

Such uncertainties attributed to communication and/or transparency issues can further erode trust. Once lost, trust is difficult to regain especially when messages are inconsistent or not forthcoming in the face of stressful events. This is particularly relevant for communities that continue to suffer disparities from mistreatment, disrespect and outright hostility in the larger community and on campus. If left unresolved, this matter will likely affect the recruitment, retention and success not only of students, but of faculty and staff as well.

There was near universal agreement among those interviewed about the need to enhance communication strategies designed to improve coordination and collaboration of EDI efforts. Such resources are critical to create the institutional capacity to sustain and evolve the work over time. The interviews also indicated, especially among the academic representatives, that it would be helpful in their planning processes to know who is doing EDI work. They also remarked that it would help maximize their resources if there was more collaboration with those most familiar with the work. They all shared the perspective that the decentralized model of UMD makes it imperative for communication to be a priority.

These observations suggest that clear articulation of the EDI goals and the human resources assigned to achieve them must be clearly communicated to the community, both on and off-campus. Effective communication is critical to gaining broad engagement in articulating and achieving the goals that EDI efforts seek to accomplish. These human, fiscal, physical and knowledge resources support the means to accomplish UMD's EDI goals.

There also was recognition of the progress the institution has made on regarding diversity. Interviewees cited such examples as every search committee having diversity representation, new education and professional development efforts by Human Resources, and ADA services.

Professional Development and Education

There was wide-spread support for new professional development and education efforts for the Office of Diversity and Inclusion. Also expressed was a need for efforts to educate and prepare students for a diverse world, and to raise awareness among staff and faculty of the needs of diverse students and increase their knowledge of how they might be served. There was general agreement that there are good efforts in place for professional development and education. However, there also was concern that such efforts were not always consistent or sustainable, and that it was difficult to discern if there was a comprehensive and effective professional development plan to address issues from sexual misconduct to acts of racial intolerance.

Collaboration and Coordination

There was consensus among the individuals and groups that met with the team that the University operates in a highly decentralized manner. Yet, the Joint Task Force Report noted that:

The University should work to achieve a balance between centralization and decentralization of equity, diversity, and inclusion efforts on our campus. Efforts to achieve equity, diversity, and inclusion are the responsibility of the entire campus. (pg. 26)

Adoption of such a view by the entire campus requires both intentional collaboration and effective coordination. Establishing deep knowledge and operational collaborations across the various elements of the campus EDI work will likely have many positive community outcomes and very few negative ones. Some evidence of this is shown through the coordination efforts that already exist in the Diversity Officers' Network. However, the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI) Self-study report found a lack of articulation of how units relate to the University's overarching EDI mission and goals, and identifies a need for a coherent university vision.

The ODI serves as a coordinating, catalytic unit for planning, action, and policy development across the campus, and also executes some specific responsibilities within the office. Clearly, one of the most notable aspects of the review was the support, and even gratitude, that was expressed for the leadership that has been shown by Dr. Roger Worthington during his short time as the Interim Associate Provost for Diversity and Inclusion.

The university has devoted significant resources to the EDI work. Yet, it has fallen short in the more difficult task of establishing coordination, collaboration and coherence across its efforts to achieve economies of scale. A well-considered development plan to establish innovative initiatives that focus on the element of coherence around this work will promote changes that enhance UMD's EDI efforts and increase revenues. A limited effort will continue to be what has referred to as "islands of innovation with few bridges between them" (Carol Schneider, President Emeritus AAC&U).

Resources

Resource allocation and distribution can be complicated, and sometimes divisive, in any complex organization. This is particularly so when a new unit is being created or an existing unit is assigned additional responsibilities. The elevation of the Associate Provost for Diversity and Inclusion to a cabinet level position with the title of Vice President obliges a review of the human, financial and physical resources currently assigned to the unit to ensure that it can successfully carry out the additional duties that it will be executing.

In the case of the new Vice President for Diversity and Inclusion (VPDI), the position should operate in a manner that the administrative engagement crosses the standard vertical sectors that other institutional Vice Presidents are most likely to operate. For example, the Vice President for Finance can focus his attention on fiscal matters and concerns; the Vice President for Student Affairs is able to focus her efforts and those of her staff on issues that affect student life and learning. The VPDI, on the other hand, will need to engage in horizontal administration, working across the existing administrative units and with the other Vice Presidents as they carry out their assigned duties. At any given time, the VPDI might be working with the Provost on curricular expansion and reform; with the Vice President for Advancement on effective fund-raising strategies to support EDI initiatives; and with the Vice President for Student Affairs on creating diverse student-led discussion groups to improve the campus climate and address stereotypes that students may have brought with them from their respective communities.

With these considerations in mind, the various funding proposals that have been generated for discussion and possible implementation can serve as starting points to reach an understanding of what is an appropriate and acceptable allocation of human, financial and physical resources for the VPDI as this person initiates the recently expanded position in the Fall of 2018. A plan for staffing and funding the ODI must also be approved that will reflect the further growth and refinement of responsibilities that will be incorporated in future years. Some examples might include:

- a) active participation in the recruitment and retention of diverse faculty and graduate students;
- b) creation of effective outreach programming to the Prince George's communities for recruiting and public relations purposes; and
- c) connections with prominent alumni from historically marginalized groups to assist with both national undergraduate recruitment, and potential expansion of the pool of financial contributors to the University.

In the meeting with the review team, President Loh referred to the significant amounts of money that the University currently expends for a broad range of EDI activities, events, and services. These investments are commendable and reflect the serious commitment of the institution to achieving a more diverse and inclusive environment. However, because the responsibilities of the VPDI are vital to reaching and maintaining the level of excellence to which UMD aspires, appropriate and necessary resources must be provided and sustained whether they are new, reallocated, or raised from external grants.

While there is always a limit to the availability of institutional resources, effectively and appropriately funding the ODI will likely facilitate a set of collaborative engagements across the campus. This will result in various other units actually needing fewer of their existing resource allocations to develop and promote diversity and equity initiatives within their areas of responsibility. Thus, the VPDI and the Office staff will be able to function better as catalytic agents. They could then use their expertise to encourage, facilitate, and support important initiatives that would benefit parts of the campus community in some cases and the entire campus in others. Thus, the opportunity for the ODI to maximize its impact and enhance the campus atmosphere has a direct relationship to the level that it is appropriately resourced.

Additionally, seeking external grants to fund research on institutional-wide EDI efforts does not seem to be pursued similarly as other types of research. Yet, if the EDI work is considered similarly, success may generate the resources needed to build a more coherent and collaborative structure of support for the work. It will be prudent for the University to pursue such grants in ways consistent with other resource pursuits. This may be particularly appealing to funders at this particular point in time in the U.S.

Throughout many of the discussions there was concern about limited resources to achieve goals. For example, there was concern that current program like DACA, African American Cultural Center, the GLBT Center and other areas were under staffed and funded to accomplish goals. In fact, several individuals mentioned that academic lines in ethnic study related programs were often lost. This seems to have negatively affected morale and contributed to distrust of the "administration."

Given that many institutions are struggling with these issues, there has been a move to partner with their alumni associations and Foundation offices to enhance development effort for increased scholarship opportunities, programmatic support, endowed professorships, and diversity efforts to name a few. An outstanding example of this would be the University of Washington that has had a well-established development effort underway since 2005.

Accountability

In a highly decentralized institution such as UMCP, clear measures of accountability are likely to result in more efficient procedures and practices. The Office of Diversity and Inclusion is expected to shoulder the responsibility of providing leadership, vision, and direction to the University in all matters that relate to equity, diversity and inclusion (EDI). It must also exercise creativity and thoughtful consideration to help identify ways in which appropriate measures of accountability can be implemented across the institution. The discussions held by the review team with the Vice Presidents and Deans provided a high level of confidence that they are not simply prepared for, but are actually looking forward to collaborative interactions with the Vice President for Diversity and Inclusion that will result in effective actions within their own respective areas to enhance diversity and inclusion in measurable ways.

A notable example can be seen in the A. James Clark School of Engineering (SOE), where Dean Pines has been able to increase the diversity of both faculty and students through the use of timely and effective personalized outreach by him and other SOE representatives. This situation contrasts markedly with schools and colleges of engineering across the nation, where race and gender remain stubborn and serious constraints to increasing the diversity among both faculty and students. Dean Pines and his team have utilized a proactive recruitment approach that is complemented by feeder programs that use early identification of talent programs. These efforts identify and engage individuals who they believe can bring added value to the academic programs and the social environment within the School. The success of this approach bears repeating in other units as well. The VPDI will be positioned to assist other Deans in developing approaches that resonate within the particular nuances of their own student and faculty populations.

The reality of academic environments is that some parts of the institution are more change-averse than others. Where circumstances exist within the institution that indicate covert opposition to EDI efforts, they are stumbling blocks to making progress and they must be addressed. It may prove necessary to incentivize a reversal of these efforts, and support from the highest levels of the administration of the VPDI efforts to interface with each unit to create plans and actions that can move the University forward and succeed in achieving stated institutional goals. Different tactics may be necessary to recognize and honor the broad range of options for success across academic and administrative areas within the university. Pragmatism notwithstanding, each unit must ultimately be held to an established, predetermined measure of success in reaching goals that correlate with the larger vision of institutional success. This ultimate reality cannot be compromised when it comes to EDI matters, any more than it would be in matters related to academic quality or fiscal growth and integrity.

Institutional accountability is usually considered to be vested in the administrative and faculty ranks. UMD, like its peers, also expect students to develop cultural competence, as it is articulated by the University, and to actually demonstrate it in their campus and subsequent work interactions. The University could convey to its students that it is also their individual and collective, moral and ethical actions that will determine its actual commitment to reaching the goal of equity for all members of the community. Led by the VPDI, and joined by all other relevant administrative and faculty leaders, the university could challenge students to be intentional and proactive in considering ways that UMD could become more inclusive and respectful in its treatment of all members of the community. The university could also distinguish itself among the colleges and universities nationally by encouraging the students to hold faculty and administrators to the same high standard of behavior and interaction.

One could conceive of a role that would be played by the VPDI in creating a 21st century conception of individual and institutional accountability at UMD. A conception that combines a sense of shared responsibility with mutual insistence on effective outcomes. A national model of intentional, concerted action is desperately needed in the higher education arena; a model that would bring an end to student demonstrations that are fueled by their frustration over differential treatment. In turn, these are often met by half-hearted institutional acquiescence on the least significant measures, resulting in a period of relative calm before the students begin the next round of demonstrations. UMD has an opportunity to be that national model, and the tragic situation of Lt. Collins' death is one factor that might have unexpectedly propelled it into that position.

Accountability is demonstrated through structures that lay out how the EDI work is done and provides motivation to engage in the work effectively. These are needed to avoid the fits and starts that often occur. When individuals or units are separately held accountable, no one is held accountable for the overall institutional impact of the work. Like student recruitment and admissions, if the enrollment target is not met it has ramifications for the whole institution. In EDI work, when goals are not met the campus climate for all suffers—either directly or indirectly. Clear and consistent direction and accountability is needed to address the rising polarization of the nation's citizenry, and to address the legacies of past discrimination and other injustices.

Leadership

It became clear to the ERT following a review of the documents, and interviews with individuals and groups, that the need for broader leadership on behalf of EDI was essential. There was a general sense that there needed to be strong leadership from the “top.” There were specific references to the President in terms of there being a clear vision of the goals and how EDI can best be achieved. It was not clear that there is a general understanding and/or appreciation that President Loh and Provost Rankin have taken multiple steps to address growing acts of intolerance, a campus tragedy, and more during the past year.

Specifically, President Loh has made it clear that he is committed to creating a senior level cabinet position Vice President for Diversity and Inclusion to provide leadership and oversight of EDI efforts at UMD. This led to the appointment of Roger Worthington as the Interim Associate Provost for Diversity and Inclusion to assist in the development of the position, enhance the services of ODI, address campus climate, and more. In addition, President Loh with the Joint Task Force with the specific purpose, to:

... review these concerns, consider our existing practices, and develop a comprehensive plan for initiatives on prevention and education, improving campus climate, responding to incidents motivated by hate, and upholding the pillars of our academic mission within legal guidelines.

(Transmittal Issues Summary)

The report was recently approved by the Senate and accepted by the president. It could well become the launching pad for a comprehensive approach to EDI that would engage the entire University. While many believed this to be a positive step there was still concern as to whether or not these efforts would actually come into fruition.

The second level of leadership focused on the overall need to have a VPDI. In fact, there was general appreciation that the president was creating such a position with some reservation given that the initial search was postponed. Most individuals agreed that such a leadership position would serve to enhance collaboration and coordination within a decentralized model. While there was agreement for the position there was also concern that the position/office would centralize diversity efforts. There were also some who questioned why Roger Worthington was not immediately appointed to the position as interim to move forward in a more timely way. Many acknowledged that EDI under Dr. Worthington’s leadership had accomplished much during a very short time span from the climate study, to professional development and education efforts, to bringing groups together.

Our observations are consistent with many of those found in the Joint Task Force Report summary section entitled “What we heard from the campus community” (pgs. 3 - 4) and listed below. That Report’s clarity of needs, and subsequent means of addressing them, offers corroboration that underscores the areas of observations that the ERT has presented above. Their Report indicates:

- Despite numerous administration efforts in recent years to address diversity and inclusion on campus, there is a lack of transparency in how the campus handles hate/bias incidents that gives the impression nothing is being done. [Communication and Transparency]
- Diversity programming is not comprehensive and does not have a broad overarching vision. [Accountability]
- There is a lack of coordination between campus units and no central source of information, making it difficult to find information on current diversity and inclusion programming and resources. [Collaboration and Coordination]
- Substantial concern with the way the administration communicates with audiences and the tone it sets when hate/bias incidents occur on campus. [Communication and Transparency]

IV. RECOMMENDATIONS

The Observations section above sought to highlight the University’s challenges and compare them with the larger high education context related to equity, diversity and inclusion. We use the themes reported in our observations as a template for the structure of the Recommendations offered below. These recommendations provide specific actions that can be taken to address the observations given above. These are addressed in the following order.

1. Communication and Transparency
2. Professional Development and Education
3. Collaboration and Coordination
4. Resources/Development—Fiscal/Human/Physical
5. Accountability
6. Leadership

Although these categorizations have some overlap, we present them discreetly so that the UMD community can link the ERT's observations with the recommendations offered.

As with our observations, our recommendations support those of the Joint Task Force Report. Listed below are some of the specific recommendations in that report that align with areas covered in our recommendations. By linking these two reports the campus will be better able to envision ways to address the observations and recommendations offered in these Reports and others.

- Use the ODI website as a central resource for information about diversity-related programming, events, policies, data, climate reports, and reporting processes, as well as resources related to free speech, expression and demonstrations on campus. [Communication and Transparency]
- Develop a strategy for communicating information related to equity, diversity, and inclusion that is transparent, timely, and responsive to the concerns raised by the campus community. [Communication and Transparency]
- The University should develop a comprehensive prevention and education initiative on diversity, inclusion, and respect that involves all members of the campus community (faculty, staff, and students). The initiative should include a broad vision for diversity programs for the University and should be overseen by ODI. [Professional Development and Education; Accountability; Leadership]
- ODI should:
  - consider developing a diversity-related suite of training options for faculty and staff in partnership with UHR, OFA, and TLTC using existing trainings as a way to develop a more robust program; [Professional Development and Education]
  - continue to develop and deliver programming as part of the University's comprehensive prevention and education initiative; [Professional Development and Education]
  - work collaboratively with representatives from existing University diversity programs in the development and delivery of the comprehensive prevention and education initiative. [Coordination and Collaboration; Professional Development and Education]

Communication and Transparency

Suspicion of ill will diminishes when the institution effectively communicates what it is doing regarding EDI issues both on and off campus. The Report on Diversity Assets at UMD identifies more than 100 large and small, ongoing efforts supported by the University. The extent to which the communities served by the University are informed of these efforts directly affects their perception that EDI efforts are insufficient.

The team recommends that a communication plan be developed to address the prevailing notion that individuals and groups feel uninformed about the status, direction and issues pertaining to EDI efforts and incidents. It is important that such a plan align with the EDI vision and goals of the institution. There is also a need to identify internal and external stakeholders who will serve as liaisons to the various constituents to keep them regularly informed about EDI efforts. This will keep the community informed, and also serve to galvanize their support for efforts such as fund raising for diversity initiatives and research on the practices. Such a plan would be an important step towards: enhancing coordination and collaboration on future diversity initiatives; minimizing rumors and innuendos that are often the seeds of mistrust; and negating comments that institution is not being transparent.

The plan should be inclusive of the many forms of communication from traditional media methods to websites, social media, symposia and regular campus discussions on EDI issues, to name just a few. Effective marketing strategies are also important tools to position new directions and goals for diversity, equity and inclusion work. Examples include supporting and promoting the work of scholars who are doing important research that may aid in developing national policy, and programs like Latino, Asian and African American and Women's Studies. Most importantly, a communications plan could provide consistency of messages and provide a balance between acts of intolerance and successes. At the core of the plan should also be ongoing face-to-face discussions with students, faculty and staff with appropriate campus offices and staff engaged and robustly assessing program impact.

Transparency was closely tied to communication that often focused on not knowing or understanding the processes and procedures related to decision-making. The mechanisms by which mission and goals for diversity are established and implemented were also viewed as ambiguous. Increasing the campus community's knowledge and clarity about earnest efforts to address EDI challenges will likely reduce skepticism and mistrust.

Professional Development and Education

The interest in professional development and education is an explicit recognition of the need to uncover additional effective methods for educating the community, to address acts of intolerance, and to address effectively issues related to EDI.

The ERT recommends that a Professional Development and Education Plan be developed by ODI in collaboration with academic diversity liaisons and Student Affairs representatives. This would provide a comprehensive and sustainable approach for identifying priorities and initiating efforts where there are gaps as well as encouraging collaboration and coordination between the various units. The ODI Self-Study spoke to the importance of professional development efforts as did their colleagues throughout the campus. There was universal agreement that there needed to go beyond Implicit Bias to focusing such as issues from freedom of speech to inclusive teaching practices.

On the academic side, the University should consider developing university-wide, as well as college-focused, academic programming that examines important racial and cultural concerns, with a goal of generating innovative approaches, rather than simply reiterating the problem. For example, "Contemplating Racial and Ethnic Perspectives regarding the 2020 Presidential Election" might be a University sponsored symposium, while the College of Business might develop a program that examines the wealth differential among different racial groups, or the College of Education could analyze the causes of the achievement gap.

For students, the campus might initiate a "common readings" program for freshman students in both the Fall and Spring semesters in which they discuss pertinent materials that address significant racial, ethnic, and cultural issues. These sessions should be structured so as many as possible take place in the residence halls and led by student development professionals as well as faculty from various disciplines depending on the reading topic. Such a program would provide a smaller, yet similar experience to UMD's successful Living-Learning Program and would broaden student access and expose all new students to living-learning experiences.

For the local community, the University might take full advantage of being located in the most affluent African American county in the United States, which presents countless opportunities for joint student-faculty research projects on a wide variety of topics.

Collaboration and Coordination

The ERT recommends that A President's Diversity Council be appointed, and chaired by the VPDI, to provide oversight of and feedback about EDI efforts. The Council should be representative of functional and academic areas of the University. The Council might use the many reports generated to guide their work, but especially the Report on Diversity Assets at UMD Report and its Diversity, Inclusion, Equity and Social Justice Assets Map (given here as Appendix 3). These provide critical pieces of information to identify means of collaborations and coordination across the units. The Council should advise the appointed VPDI by making recommendations about ways to: a) create synergies across these the assets, b) maximize the resources, and c) provide input about means of assessing the effectiveness and outcomes of the many EDI efforts.

This Council's work could include the development of a clear institutional vision of EDI work with goals, objectives, priorities, resources, and assessment mechanisms. Council members should be expected to provide regular updates to their respective areas to enhance communication and transparency. Council members should also consider bringing their unit EDI issues to the Council for discussion. In this way EDI challenges are shared and leaders can obtain broader perspectives on their specific challenges and explore potential means of addressing them.

Resources

The University has devoted significant resources to the EDI work, but there is a need to develop a plan with funding goals and objections that would contribute to collaborative efforts and coherence. A well-defined development plan can initiate changes that will enhance UMD's EDI efforts while simultaneously enhancing revenues. It will be prudent for the University to consider this work in ways consistent with other resource pursuits, particularly at this point in time in the United States.

In addition, resource development strategies could complement state and grant revenue streams. Currently, seeking and acquiring grants for EDI work does not seem to be on par with other types of development activities. Yet, if considered similarly such endeavors could generate some of the resources needed to build a more coherent and collaborative structure of support for the work. It will be reasonable for the University to consider this work in ways consistent with other resource pursuits, particularly at this point in time in the U.S. when many well-resourced Foundations and business entities are concerned about how the nation addresses the challenges of its broadly diverse citizenry.

The institution is reimagining the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI) from its goals, resources and scope to the responsibilities of the newly created Vice President for Diversity and Inclusion. The team recommends that the office be provided human resources either explicitly assigned from the Development office, or located specifically in ODI, to focus on EDI work. The person(s) would focus is on alumni development, planning and raising funds from private and public sources (foundations, organizations, individuals as well as State and Federal agencies) specifically for EDI work institution-wide. It would be especially important for the development officer(s) to work closely with the University Alumni Offices to collaborate on strategies if it is not located in ODI.

To be successful, this effort should be viewed as a complement, rather than a replacement, to institutional advancement efforts. All units that undertake EDI work could be supported in efforts to advance EDI innovations not funded by the University under such an institutional-level umbrella. For example, the GLBT Center, Schools and Colleges, and administrative units could work together with ODI to develop strong proposals that if pursued alone may not be funded; but a comprehensive approach is more likely to be reviewed favorably. This would also place the VP position on par with other leaders of institutional level work. More importantly, the new VP and the ODI work would attain a level of legitimacy as integral elements of the University's overall success. The responsibility for external development work should be incorporated into the VPDI position description along with appropriate resources to be successful.

The appointed development officer(s) should be able to focus on and be successful in identifying and supporting the acquisition of funding for broad range of EDI efforts. Those efforts might range from endowed chairs to scholarships, from faculty professional development to EDI course development, from difficult dialogues to internships focused on diversity in non-profit or for profit entities.

Accountability

It is recommended that a University-wide Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Council is established, chaired by VPDI to advise, monitor progress and provide recommendations about campus equity diversity and inclusion efforts. As such, this Council should be representative of the university and include individuals with the authority to take recommended actions to implementation, evaluation and revision when needed. Appoint subcommittee of the Council to explore and develop accountability measures. Also, the institution should consider budget allocation as an accountability measure as well as explore other factors such as climate studies.

The Transforming Maryland Diversity Plan could be used as to guide the Council regarding the development of the 2020 - 2030 Diversity Plan. The Council's efficiency and effectiveness is not a given. However, effective leadership provided by the VPDI and a powerful plan will give UMD a much needed collaboration and coordination guide to managing and monitoring the large number of existing and future EDI efforts.

For example, the Council might engage Dean Pines of the School of Engineering to understand how best to establish, support, and assess an institutional process that actively recruits nationally recognized scholars from diverse backgrounds in each of the colleges. This would then move towards the formulation of a critical mass of tenured academicians who could: provide support to one another and mentoring for junior faculty from underserved communities; support for student research in nontraditional areas; and outreach to local communities that are heavily populated by underrepresented groups. When successful, such practices might become an institution-wide effort by providing an effective standard operating procedure by which all hiring officials may be held accountable for implementing.

This does not suggest that such actions would restrict who will be hired. Rather it would provide a set of guidelines that would ensure that hiring officials are held accountable for having done their best to ensure that all hiring processes are truly open. The goal is to address implicit biases that are common across search processes, and to broadly diversify candidate pools when hiring and promoting the staff, faculty and administrative workforce.

Leadership

There were very positive comments among those we spoke with about the importance of ODI and all that it has accomplished with limited resources in less than a year under the leadership of Roger Worthington. This was an area that many felt the President had made the appropriate decision to appoint Roger as the Interim Associate Provost with the understanding he would be the VPDI. None knew how the office could support their efforts and needs with what they perceived as a lack of staff and monetary support.

The University leaders should consider and determine the leadership needed for the EDI work in ways similar to decisions about other cabinet level leaders. Senior leaders have a coherent set of goals and responsibilities, as well as specific expected outcomes, including robust assessments to ensure the goals are achieved. These are adjusted based on previous experience on campus and in previous work. The rationale for a similar role for the University's EDI work is similar in that the leader must comprehensively review of all the work, set expectations for various components elements of the work, and support the work of others to achieve identified goals. The leader must have an adequate set of clearly articulated goals, and appropriate resources, authority, and accountability to achieve the goals.

As a nationally recognized scholar on diversity in higher education and a former CDO at the University of Missouri, Dr. Worthington has deep expertise as both a scholar and practitioner in this arena. It was clear that he has put his knowledge and experience to good use at UMD in working to bring greater coherence across all of the EDI work, and to achieve synergies and efficiencies through collaboration in requesting an external review. This is also evidenced by working across units outside of the official sphere of his responsibilities, arranging for the systematic compilation of Diversity Assets at UMD Report, and developing plans for intersectional work with any unit that is doing EDI work. This is the kind of work that seems to be needed to address many of the issues uncovered in the various reports we reviewed.

The equity, diversity, and inclusion efforts at the University can be optimized to have the greatest impact and effectiveness by the appointment of Dr. Roger Worthington to VPDI prior to the beginning of the Fall 2018 semester. This appointment should come with the appropriate allocation of resources that will allow the unit to provide leadership, coordination, and collaboration to the many existing programs and activities, and to create new initiatives.

There are several reasons why we reached this conclusion. These actions would accomplish a number of UMD objectives including to achieve the following.

- a) Reaffirm the commitment of President Loh to place the University at the forefront of American universities addressing equity, diversity, inclusion substantively, and equity issues as fundamental academic and social concerns. Through this action, the President also would buttress his personal national leadership and reputation in these areas.
- b) Reestablish trust between student leaders and the administration, which at this time appears to be very fragile.
- c) Communicate to the President's cabinet a sense of continuity and acknowledgement that outstanding administrative performance is valued.
- d) Communicate to the academic and administrative leaders that they will continue to have support and partnership as they innovate, initiate and implement EDI initiatives within their units.

- e) Communicate to the faculty that the VPDI position is one in which a high level of scholarly achievement is expected in addition to substantial experience in and familiarity with academic concerns.
  - f) Communicate to alumni that a page has been turned and that the tragedy of Lt. Collins death does not pervade the institutional atmosphere.
  - g) Demonstrate President Loh's intent to implement the recommendations made by the Joint Task Force.
  - h) Demonstrate President Loh's awareness of and responsiveness to the wishes and concerns of a variety of groups and individuals with whom we interacted ranging from the University police, to the college and division diversity officers.
  - i) Provide continuity.

We also provide the following general recommendations for consideration. Each is related to one or more of the themes that frame this Report.

General Recommendations

- Develop a robust feeder program in conjunction with the school systems in Prince Georges, Baltimore and Montgomery counties to identify, encourage and support students from underrepresented groups as they are moving through the K-12 systems. This would be an important future enrollments and staffing pipeline for UMD.
- Establish, support, and assess an institutional process to actively recruit nationally recognized scholars from diverse backgrounds at the senior level who could provide support to other faculty and mentoring for junior faculty from underserved communities, support for student research in nontraditional areas, and outreach to local communities that are heavily populated by underrepresented groups.
- A group of new scholars could infuse innovative thinking and programs like a "common readings" program for freshman students in both the Fall and Spring semesters in which they discuss pertinent materials that address significant racial, ethnic, and cultural issues that would engage the entire campus community.
- The University should engage the most affluent African American county in the United States, to explore joint student-faculty research projects on a wide variety of topics. Also, explore a feeder program with the school systems in Prince Georges, Baltimore and Montgomery counties to identify, encourage and support students from underrepresented groups as they are moving through the K-12 systems.

V. CONCLUDING REMARKS

The ERT members were particularly impressed by our conversation with President Loh when he shared his vision of diversity and inclusion at the University. We appreciated his commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion as a measure of excellence, and his understanding of their relationship to the academic mission of UMD. His experiences as a person of color have afforded him personal insights about the presence of racism in the American academy. Projecting a sense of engagement in this area that was both humanistic and pragmatic, made it clear that President Loh has the capacity and desire to take UMD to new heights—to be an institution that demonstrates how diversity functions as a key element in achieving excellence that could serve as a national model.

The External Review Team is truly grateful to the scores of people who took the time to meet with us and provide their insights. We believe they are committed and interested in working on behalf of equity, diversity and inclusion at UMD. It was clear that they care about establishing a campus climate that provides a place where all can thrive and succeed as students, faculty and staff.

We also want to thank Provost Rankin for inviting, hosting and enabling us to undertake this important work, and her staff for supporting us while on campus. We also thank Dr. Worthington and his staff for recommending us to be part of this important endeavor. A special thank you to the staff of ODI who worked with us to make sure we were properly prepared from travel plans to insuring we had the documents necessary for the review. We leave with hope and confidence that the University of Maryland is moving forward in new and innovative ways.

Questions for the External Review Team

Senior Vice President and Provost Mary Ann Rankin

1. How can we optimize the equity, diversity and inclusion efforts at UMD to have the greatest impact and effectiveness?
2. How does UMD compare to peer institutions with respect to campus initiatives and programs to promote diversity, equity and inclusion?
3. What role should the deans and colleges play in diversity and inclusion programs?
4. Are there significant gaps in programs that we should work to address?
5. What would it take to become a national model for diversity and inclusion?
6. Are there additional programs or exemplars of best practice that you UMD should study for possible adoption or emulation?
7. Are our general education curriculum requirements effective means of improving the campus climate of diversity and inclusion, or should we undertake efforts to improve our requirements and offerings?
8. Is campus leadership doing all that it could to model and implement core values of diversity, equity and inclusion? What more would be helpful/effective?
9. Are campus policies appropriate to deal with current challenges such as hate bias incidents? Is campus law enforcement appropriately represented in responses to campus hate-bias incidents?
10. Is the campus law enforcement adequately prepared to deal with a major incident on campus?
11. Can you cite particularly effective programs for increasing the number of underrepresented minority faculty at junior and senior levels?

THE STRATEGIC PLAN FOR DIVERSITY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

DECEMBER 2010

ENDORSED BY THE UNIVERSITY SENATE
ON SEPTEMBER 16, 2010

FROM THE PRESIDENT

The University of Maryland has long promoted diversity as a core value. We recognize a diverse educational community as one of our greatest strengths.

I am proud to be continuing in the tradition of recent University of Maryland presidents who led us to outstanding accomplishments in this area, including Robert Gluckstern, John Slaughter, William Kirwan and C. D. Mote, Jr. Under their leadership, the university embraced a vigorous commitment to becoming a multiethnic, multiracial, and multicultural institution.

The diversity plan presented here, Transforming Maryland: Expectations for Excellence in Diversity and Inclusion, is aligned with the university's strategic plan, which represents the aspirations of our community and calls for the University of Maryland to renew its efforts in diversity. The strategic plan articulates three principles for which we must strive as a preeminent research university: impact, leadership, and excellence. The diversity of our faculty, staff, and students is a fundamental component of each of those principles.

Our 10-year diversity plan is visionary, inspirational, and inclusive, and calls on our university to serve as a leader for the next generation of scholars. It clearly sets forth our aspiration and our determination to become a model diverse community of learning, exploration, and self-examination whose impact will be felt across the state of Maryland and the nation.

I embrace the vision outlined in this document and ask that you read, review, and commit to implementing its strategies and goals.

Wallace D. Loh
President

FROM THE CHAIR, DIVERSITY PLAN STEERING COMMITTEE

The strategic plan for diversity at the University of Maryland, Transforming Maryland: Expectations for Excellence in Diversity and Inclusion, is a document that represents the remarkable journey of the University of Maryland, College Park.

The first 100 years in the history of the university reflect the challenges of our state and the nation. Many were excluded from obtaining an education and working here, and the curriculum made invisible the contributions of many in our society.

However, the past 50 years at Maryland have been extraordinary, first as we integrated all populations into the student body, faculty, and staff, and then as we eagerly embraced the idea of diversity, transforming the institution into a national leader in this area. Today we are well on the path toward realizing our vision of being a “model multiracial, multicultural, and multigenerational academic community.”

I am tremendously grateful to the members of the Diversity Plan Steering Committee for their hard work, diligence, and dedication to developing this plan over an 18-month period. I would also like to thank the hundreds of University of Maryland community members who attended town hall meetings and listening sessions and submitted comments on the plan.

The suggestions offered improved the document and expanded ownership of the notion of diversity beyond any single community. I would also like to thank the University Senate and university leadership for endorsing and embracing the document.

Those of us who worked together to develop the plan believe that Maryland is poised to become the university model for diversity and inclusive excellence in the nation. We have developed a 10-year document that lays a comprehensive roadmap for meeting this goal and calls on the University of Maryland to serve in a preeminent leadership role for the next generation of scholars.

Robert Waters
Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs and Assistant to the President
Chair, Diversity Plan Steering Committee

I. The University of Maryland's Commitment to Diversity »

The University of Maryland, the flagship of the University System of Maryland and one of the nation's top research universities, has long embraced diversity as a core value and counts a diverse educational community among its great strengths. Our commitment to diversity rests on three tenets:

1. We believe that living and working in a community that accepts and celebrates diversity is a joy and a privilege that contributes to the vitality and excellence of the educational experience.
2. We believe that as a state university, we have a responsibility to assure all citizens access to the transformative experience of an outstanding higher education and the opportunity for success in this experience.
3. We believe it is essential that our students have exposure to different perspectives, that they interact with people from different backgrounds, and that they explore ideas with those from different cultures in order to succeed in an increasingly diverse workplace and global community.

In short, creating an educational and work environment that is rich in diversity, inclusive, and supportive of all students, faculty, and staff is morally right and educationally sound. We commit ourselves fully to implementing the strategies set forth in this plan to achieve an optimal environment for all members of the university community.

The university strategic plan of 2008, Transforming Maryland: Higher Expectations, clearly states the results we strive for as a preeminent university: impact, leadership, and excellence. We know without doubt that the diversity of our university faculty, staff, and students is a cornerstone of that excellence. This diversity plan is aligned with the goals of the university strategic plan. It calls for the university to energetically renew its efforts in diversity. The results will be transformative.

The strategic plan states the mission of the university with eloquence: “As the flagship, its task is to look over the horizon, attract the most brilliant minds, advance the frontiers of knowledge, stimulate innovation and creativity, and educate those who will be leaders in business, public service, education, the arts, and many other fields.” To succeed in this task we must have a community that acknowledges and celebrates diversity in all its dimensions.

Through the goals and strategies outlined in this plan, we intend to secure and maintain a working and learning environment in which all members of our community are welcomed and can flourish regardless of race, color, creed, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, marital status, personal appearance, age, national origin, political affiliation, or hidden or visible disabilities.

We are confident that we can meet the goals outlined in this document because the university has special strengths on which it can build: 1) a history of national leadership in diversity initiatives during the past three decades; 2) a substantial record of scholarship on diversity issues across the disciplines; 3) a location that offers opportunities to engage with a wealth of diverse communities, including large African American, Hispanic American/Latino/a, and Asian American populations, and thanks to the proximity of the federal government agencies and offices, a substantial international population; and 4) a conviction that a university community energized by diverse perspectives and experiences provides an enriching educational experience and strong competitive edge for our students, our faculty, and our state.

We are uniquely positioned to influence the world outside the university based on the contributions and research of our faculty, students, and staff. Our vision for the next decade is to become a model diverse community of learning, exploration, and self-examination whose impact is felt across the state and the region and throughout the nation and world.

ii. The University's Transformation into a Leader in Diversity »

University of Maryland Leaders Embrace Diversity

The university undertakes this new diversity plan after three decades of successful initiatives that focus on diversity issues. We are confident in the university's ability to meet new challenges in creating the community of the future. After an early history in which the university engaged in deplorable practices of discrimination and held destructive prejudices against women, we now have a keen appreciation of the moral imperative of equity and diversity. We know that at the time of its founding in 1856, 16 of the first 24 trustees of the Maryland Agricultural College were slave owners and that slaves labored, if not on campus, certainly throughout Prince George's County, in which it was built. White women were first admitted in 1916, and African Americans in 1951. Though slower than we would wish in including all citizens and creating an appropriate climate for their success, in the past decades the university eagerly adopted the ideal of diversity and has worked diligently to transform the campus to become a national leader in this area. The University of Maryland's strategies were among those highlighted in the Diversity Blueprint: A Planning Manual for Colleges and Universities, published with the American Association for Colleges and Universities (AAC&U) in 1995. Today we are on the path toward realizing our vision of being a "model multiracial, multicultural, and multigenerational academic community."

We have been guided by many dedicated members of the campus community in this transformation, especially three exceptional leaders: Dr. John Slaughter, chancellor, 1982–88; Dr. William E. Kirwan, president, 1988–98; and Dr. C. D. Mote, Jr., president, 1998–2010. Under their leadership, the university embraced a commitment to diversity with unwavering vigor. The journey toward a diverse and inclusive institution began with race and gender, but the imperative to address other identities became apparent as we undertook various initiatives. Indeed our terminology that today favors the word "diversity" evolved from a growing understanding of the complexity of this work.

During his tenure as chancellor of the University of Maryland, Dr. Slaughter, one of the first African American chancellors of a major state university, challenged the campus to become a "model multiracial, multicultural, and multigenerational academic community." Under Dr. Slaughter's leadership, the university moved from being an institution focused merely on compliance with equity mandates, to an academic community that addressed diversity pro actively.

Under the leadership of his successor, President Kirwan, the university made giant strides in its commitment to equity and inclusion for minorities. His administration supported major initiatives designed to involve every campus unit and department in activities that supported minority faculty, staff, and students. University leaders raised expectations for recruitment of faculty, undergraduates, and graduate students from under represented groups; developed major initiatives to support and mentor minority members on our campus; and provided significant financial support for activities likely to increase the success of minority members of the university community. From 1990 through 1995, President Kirwan led the university's defense of a legal challenge to the university's Banneker scholarship, a program designed to enroll academically talented African American students. While the court eventually ruled against the race-exclusive nature of the scholarship, the university's defense of the case was a first step in developing the now-widespread use of the diversity rationale to advance affirmative action goals in higher education.

President Mote built on these efforts, deepened our understanding of the complexities of diverse backgrounds and identities, and expanded the focus of our commitment. He sponsored innovative and successful programs that reached into Maryland communities with large numbers of disadvantaged students, and created pipelines for students who had overcome adverse circumstances to obtain an affordable college education. In the past decade, the university significantly increased the graduation rates of undergraduates from all racial/ethnic backgrounds, and made substantial progress in closing the achievement gap. In recognition of the university's growing global impact, President Mote also vigorously supported programs that offer students life-changing international experiences.

Led by the former president, the administration pushed aggressively to promote the rights of gays, lesbians, and women and fought to obtain benefits for domestic partners of university employees. The state began providing same-sex domestic partner health benefits to Maryland state employees and retirees in July 2009. Under President Mote's leadership, the university also introduced new family-friendly policies and programs to help faculty, staff, and students balance their academic, work, and family responsibilities.

WHERE WE ARE TODAY: DIVERSITY ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Diversity and inclusiveness have, over time, become integral and ongoing components of the university's institutional identity. A quantitative sketch of our successes indicates how far the University of Maryland has progressed in recent decades.

The diversity of our students:

- Students of color comprise 34% of the undergraduate student body.
- African American students constitute 12% of our undergraduates.
- Asian American students comprise 15% of Maryland's undergraduates.
- The Hispanic American/Latino/a student population increased 29% at the undergraduate level and 58% at the graduate level from 2001 to 2009.
- The percentage of new minority graduate students increased from 16% in 2001 to 21% in 2009.

The success of our students:

- The University of Maryland is one of the top degree-granting institutions for African American and other minority students in the United States. In 2009, our campus was rated No. 1 among AAU institutions for the number of African American Ph.D.s.
- In a 2010 study by the Education Trust, the university had the fourth-highest ranking for 2007 graduation rates of minorities among public research universities.
- In the same study, the university was ranked 14th in improved graduation rates for minority students (2002-07).
- Six-year graduation rates for African American students have increased from 46.3% to 70.4% in the past 10 years (Classes of Fall 1993 and Fall 2003). Graduation rates for Hispanic American/Latino/a students rose from 49.3% to 72.0% in the same time period.

- The university has achieved parity between male and female bachelor's and master's degree recipients since 2001. In fact, between 2001 and 2008 more women than men were awarded Bachelor's degrees.

- The gap between male and female doctorates is also narrowing, with women earning 48% of all doctoral degrees in 2009.

The diversity of our faculty and staff:

- Between 2000 and 2009, the percentage of women in the tenured/tenure track faculty increased from 26% to 31% and the percentage of faculty of color in this group increased from 16% to 20%.
- In 2009, one-third of new tenured/tenure track faculty hires were women and 43% were members of ethnic minority groups.
- The number of women department chairs grew from six in 2004 to 15 in 2009, a 150% increase.
- The university's diverse staff is 16% African American, 7% Asian American, 5% Hispanic American/Latino/a, 17% from other nations, and 52% women.

III. Taking Stock: Diversity Initiatives at Maryland »

University Offices that Promote Equity and Diversity

Several campus programs have been established that address diversity issues, and the dates of their inception reflect the growing understanding of the complexity of diversity and the variety of groups that need to be served.

The Office of Human Relations Programs (1971), now known as the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI), is responsible for compliance with the Human Relations Code that contains our official nondiscrimination policy (1976; amended in 1992 to include sexual orientation). The office also provides a variety of multicultural and diversity education programs, including intergroup dialogues.

Many other offices, centers, and programs address specific issues. These include the:

- Nyumburu Cultural Center (1971)
- Office of Multi-Ethnic Student Education (1971)
- Disability Support Services (1977)
- Office of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender (LGBT) Equity (1998)
- Maryland Incentive Awards Program (2000)
- Office of Multicultural Involvement and Community Advocacy (2006), formerly Student Involvement and Minority Programs (1987)

Special presidential commissions focus on eliminating inequity and fostering community for specific groups on campus. The four President's Commissions focus on: Women's Issues (1973), Ethnic Minority Issues (1973), Disability Issues (1986), and Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Issues (1997).

The Provost's Conversations on Diversity, Democracy, and Higher Education, established in 2003, promote university-wide awareness and dialogue about nationally important diversity issues.

Diversity in the Curriculum

The university has been a leader in interdisciplinary programs, with its American Studies program (1945) one of the earliest in the nation. This history was a stepping-stone for academic programs and concentrations that focus on educational issues surrounding specific areas of diversity. First introduced in the 1960s, these programs have helped to broaden our understanding of diversity, cultivate community, and build support for various social identity groups.

Many programs that began as concentrations in traditional departments led to the establishment of formal academic programs:

- African American Studies (1968)
- Women's Studies (1977)
- Jewish Studies (1980)
- Latin American Studies (1989)
- Asian American Studies (2000)
- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Studies (2002)
- Persian Studies (2004)
- U.S. Latino Studies (2007)

The university has also been a national leader in fostering diversity as a serious topic for research and academic exploration. One of the most important and successful initiatives has been the Consortium on Race, Gender, and Ethnicity (1998). Faculty members working through the Consortium have published groundbreaking studies on the complexity of issues surrounding self-identity and diversity.

In 2008, the U.S. Department of Education granted the university status as a minority-serving institution for Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders, a gateway to targeted support for the growth of academic programs and support for student scholarships.

The David C. Driskell Center for the Study of the Visual Arts and Culture of African Americans and the African Diaspora, established at UMD in 2001, preserves the heritage of African American visual arts and culture.

Existing and new courses within established disciplines have been infused with elements and principles of diversity with the assistance of the Curriculum Transformation Project (1989). Since 1990, undergraduate students have had a CORE diversity requirement, and they currently have co-curricular opportunities that address diversity such as Words of Engagement: Intergroup Dialogue Program (2000) and the Common Ground Multicultural Dialogue Program (2000).

There are far more activities, campus-wide, and locally, than we can include in this overview, but the programs listed above represent the breadth of our commitment to building a diverse and inclusive campus community.

IV. Recommendations »

The University of Maryland has laid a strong and broad foundation for diversity and equity over the past three decades. The recommendations in the diversity strategic plan aim to ensure that the university will build on this foundation and continue as one of the nation's higher education leaders in diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Clearly, the university has made great progress. However, building a community in which support for diversity permeates all levels is an ongoing process. The university still has much to do to create the optimal and inclusive learning and work environment to which it aspires. Vigorous efforts should be made to further diversify the senior leadership, faculty, and student body; to create a more vibrant and inclusive campus community; to support diversity-related research; and to implement a curriculum that prepares our students to succeed in a multicultural, globally interconnected world. This plan sets forth strategies to take us to the next level.

Our plan seeks to accomplish three goals:

1. To ensure policies and structures are in place at all levels of the university to support transformational leadership, recruitment, and inclusion efforts, and to institutionalize campus diversity goals;
2. To foster a positive climate that promotes student success and encourages faculty and staff members to flourish; and
3. To promote a vision across the university that fully appreciates diversity as a core value and educational benefit to be studied, cultivated, and embraced as a vital component of personal development and growth.

The plan includes many exciting, bold initiatives to help the university meet its goal of excellence in diversity. Highlights include: the appointment of a chief diversity officer and creation of an Office of University Diversity; the establishment of a representative Diversity Advisory Council that will give a central voice to the needs and visions of diverse groups at all levels of the campus community; the introduction of new initiatives to assist with recruitment and retention, such as cluster faculty hires and work-family initiatives; the creation of a “building community” fund to support innovative approaches for enhancing the campus climate; and the emphasis on challenging new general education diversity requirements that will engage students in learning about plural societies and prepare them to be culturally competent leaders.

Following are the major goals and strategies of the diversity strategic plan, organized in six core areas: Leadership, Climate, Recruitment and Retention, Education, Research and Scholarship, and Community Engagement.

A. LEADERSHIP

Leadership is essential to building a more diverse, inclusive, and equitable institution. This plan proposes to strengthen the diversity leadership throughout the campus. The goals and strategies listed below recognize that leadership in diversity must come from senior leaders as well as from the ranks of students, faculty, and staff.

First, the plan calls for leadership from the top. When the university's senior administrators endorse diversity programs and initiatives, they affirm that diversity is a core value and set the tone for action throughout the university. The appointment of a chief diversity officer and establishment of a campus-wide Diversity Advisory Council to replace the current Equity Council will be a visible signal of this commitment. With wide representation from campus groups, the new council will focus on major diversity initiatives that can help move the campus forward.

Second, leadership in diversity requires a commitment to increasing the presence of individuals from diverse populations among those in charge at all levels. This plan proposes an energetic effort to increase their numbers through robust recruitment strategies. In addition, the university should expand and strengthen programs of professional development that prepare individuals from underrepresented groups already on campus to move into positions of leadership. Students, faculty, and staff all benefit from a community in which those in charge reflect diversity among their ranks.

Finally, the university should support a vigorous effort to inculcate the principles of diversity, equity, and inclusion in all faculty, staff, and students so that leadership in diversity is something every member of the university community understands and for which each one feels responsible.

GOAL A.1 The university will provide strong leadership for diversity and inclusion at all campus levels.

Strategies

- A. The president will appoint a chief diversity officer (preferably a vice president with faculty rank) who reports directly to the president and is a member of the President's Cabinet.
- B. The university will create an Office of University Diversity led by the chief diversity officer. The officer and his or her staff will advocate for diversity and equity issues; provide active oversight, coordination, and evaluation of work in these areas; track university progress in meeting the goals of the diversity strategic plan; and encourage and support the efforts of units to achieve their diversity goals.

- The office will serve as a resource providing regular and accurate information on existing university equity and diversity programs, centers, academic units, and identity-based organizations.
  - The office will develop a comprehensive communication plan and strong campus Web presence to: provide diversity and equity information; disseminate examples of best practices for promoting diversity and inclusion; and highlight the university's leadership in diversity research, academic, and co-curricular programming, minority graduation rates, and other accomplishments.
  - The office will establish a resource center to share diversity materials (e.g., curricula/syllabi, co-curricular programs, fellowships, funding opportunities) and provide a site for consultation and collaboration on diversity, equity, and climate issues.
- C. The university will create a campus-wide diversity advisory council with representatives from all divisions, schools/colleges, graduate and undergraduate student bodies, and other appropriate units, to play a key role in advising the chief diversity officer regarding diversity decision-making, planning, and training.
- Units represented on the diversity advisory council will appoint diversity officers who will be responsible for providing diversity education and training, overseeing climate assessments, and supporting diversity-related recruitment/retention, programming, and evaluation efforts within the unit. Diversity officers will also collaborate on campus-wide diversity initiatives. Responsibilities, expectations, and accountability for diversity officers will be clearly defined and consistent across units.
  - Although the diversity advisory council will replace the Equity Council as the major diversity leadership body, units may continue to appoint equity administrators to oversee all aspects of search and selection procedures, including data collection.
- D. The president, vice presidents, and deans will take steps to increase the diversity of leadership ranks across all divisions, colleges/schools, and departments/units to support a diverse and inclusive institution.
- E. The university leadership will help each unit establish measurable goals for diversity and inclusion at the division, college or school, and department/unit levels and help units meet their goals. Accountability mechanisms will be used to assess outcomes. Support for diversity and inclusion will be a uniform qualification for all leadership positions and a performance criterion in the annual reviews of all campus leaders.

GOAL A.2: The university will increase opportunities for leadership training, mentoring, professional growth, and advancement of diverse faculty and staff in all divisions.

Strategies

A. The Provost's Office will:

- Provide an annual leadership orientation for all new vice presidents, deans, and department chairs that includes a significant focus on fostering diversity and inclusion. This orientation should address such topics as supporting diversity research/scholarship and teaching, creating an inclusive climate, dealing with sexual harassment, and recruiting and retaining diverse faculty, staff, and students.
- Offer leadership training and mentoring programs, such as the university's Leadership Education and Administrative Development (LEAD) program, which prepare tenured faculty to assume campus and professional leadership positions. Women, minorities, and faculty from diverse backgrounds will be actively encouraged to apply for these programs.

THE UNIVERSITY of MARYLAND

- B. The university will establish leadership education and mentoring programs for talented staff from diverse groups that provide avenues for professional growth, network development, and career advancement.
- C. The chief diversity officer will offer periodic training that prepares faculty and staff from all groups to be influential leaders, advocates, and spokespersons for diversity initiatives across the campus.

B. CLIMATE

All individuals in a community need to feel that their individual worth is recognized, their work is respected, and they work in an environment in which they can flourish. If students feel marginalized because they are different from those in the mainstream, if faculty or staff members feel that their contributions are not valued, or if any individual feels isolated and excluded by a climate that is unfriendly or uninterested, the university community is diminished. A welcoming, supportive climate is essential in our academic community.

The university has in place clearly defined policies and legal guidelines to deal with egregious problems such as sexual harassment, hate speech, or threats. The initiatives addressed in this plan aim to ensure that we go beyond a neutral climate to one that is completely supportive and inclusive. This diversity plan focuses on ways to enhance day-to-day learning and working conditions. The creation of a climate that nurtures and supports all of its members requires proactive acts of self-examination.

Many useful tools are available for self-assessment of the workplace and classroom climate. Exit surveys, for example, are accepted and valuable ways to measure experiences. The plan proposes surveys and other formal assessments as initial steps, but units will also find it helpful to gauge climate issues through informal group discussions, spontaneous interviews with individuals in the unit, and other activities.

GOAL B.1: The university will ensure a welcoming and inclusive learning community, workplace, and campus environment.

Strategies

- A. Units will actively support and demonstrate adherence to the university's policies on equity, non-discrimination, compliance, and equal employment opportunity/affirmative action.

B. The chief diversity officer, in collaboration with the Diversity Advisory Council, will:

- Create an online climate assessment survey that will be administered by all units to establish a baseline so they can assess their needs in creating a climate conducive to success. The results will be submitted to appropriate unit heads (e.g., deans, vice presidents) for review and feedback. The climate assessment survey will be repeated periodically, maybe even annually, as dictated by the results.
- Create the framework for a climate enhancement plan and help units use the plan to identify strategies for responding to climate concerns and to create an inclusive, welcoming environment. Climate enhancement plans will be submitted to and discussed with appropriate unit heads and unit diversity officers.
- Develop a schedule for unit heads and the Diversity Advisory Council to reach out, work with units, and offer them support and advice as indicated by the results of their climate assessment surveys and the outcomes of their climate enhancement plan activities.

C. The university will survey graduating students on an annual basis concerning the impact of their diversity-related educational and co-curricular experiences, as well as their perceptions of the campus climate.

GOAL B.2: The university will develop and implement innovative, cross-cutting programs to improve and enhance the campus climate for diverse students, faculty, staff, and visitors.

Strategies

A. The chief diversity officer, in consultation with the Diversity Advisory Council, will identify common themes that arise from climate assessments and develop campus-wide programs to foster an inclusive, civil environment and to remedy climate-related problems.

B. The university will create a “building community” fund administered by the chief diversity officer to support innovative initiatives for enhancing the climate within and/or across units, and between social identity groups on campus.

C. Across the university, in campus-wide social activities and campus offices designed to address issues of different cultural and identity groups, the university will celebrate and promote a community based on inclusiveness and respect for differences, encouraging close interaction among individuals on campus with varying backgrounds, experiences, interests, and perspectives.

- D. The President's Office will continue to support the Commissions on Women's Issues, Ethnic and Minority Issues; Disability Issues; and Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Issues in their work to identify campus diversity concerns, educate university constituencies, advocate for programmatic and policy improvements, and celebrate the achievements of diverse members of the campus community. With oversight from the chief diversity officer, the commissions may hold annual (or periodic) town meetings of their constituencies to identify issues that require university attention, evaluate progress in achieving equity and diversity goals, and make recommendations to the President.

C. RECRUITMENT AND RETENTION

Excellence at the university depends on the recruitment and retention of outstanding faculty and staff. Talented individuals with great potential are found among every group. To build an academic community that is preeminent, the university will actively seek and aggressively recruit these outstanding and diverse individuals to our faculty, staff, administrative ranks, and student body. The university has taken action in recent years to remove impediments to effective recruiting and retention of faculty. For example, new policies recognize the needs of faculty involved in child-rearing, a concern that has disproportionately affected the careers of academic women. A newly established Family Care Resource and Referral Service will provide a variety of child and elder care services to facilitate greater work-life balance for faculty, staff, and students. In 2009-10, the university also instituted a policy for part-time status of tenured/tenure-track faculty due to childrearing responsibilities, enabling faculty with young children to work part-time.

Research and experience have shown that achieving a critical mass of colleagues is especially important in recruiting individuals from groups who are not in the mainstream. If many individuals from a particular group find support and success in a department or unit, others from that group will be more eager to join them. It will be our goal, at every level, to build the critical mass that signals the University of Maryland is a welcoming home for every individual who aspires to reach his or her highest potential. The promotion of cluster hires and a renewed emphasis on mentoring of junior faculty will help ensure success in building the corps of minority and women faculty across the university. Likewise, the university will support efforts to recruit, retain, and promote diverse staff members, and to overcome unfair barriers to their advancement.

The university's recruitment strategies over the past two decades at the undergraduate level have reaped rewards and successes. We are proud of the steady enrollment of African Americans and Asian Americans, of the increasing numbers of Hispanic American/Latino/a students attending the university, and of the numbers of women in our programs. Innovative recruitment efforts at the undergraduate level will continue. The university's strategic plan set forth goals for supporting graduate students, casting a wide net in their recruitment that should greatly help to attract minority students and women, and offer them the highest level of mentoring and guidance. We expect steady increases in the enrollment and success of diverse graduate students as a result of these new measures.

GOAL C.1: The university will continue to recruit, promote, and work to retain a diverse faculty and staff.

Strategies

- A. The Office of the Provost and college/schools will implement faculty recruitment strategies, such as cluster hiring, faculty exchanges with minority-serving institutions, and programs that build the pipeline of future faculty, to increase faculty diversity and create an inclusive community that facilitates retention. A faculty recruitment fund will provide support to enhance the diversity of the university's faculty.

- B. The university will join the Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC) to increase its competitive advantage in recruiting talented and diverse faculty and staff, and to identify potential positions for their family members.
- C. The chief diversity officer will work with deans and department chairs to determine the availability of women and minorities in targeted fields, and to ensure that departments are making efforts to hire diverse faculty and staff in proportion to their availability in relevant job pools.
- D. The Office of the Provost, deans, and chairs will develop mentoring, professional growth, and other retention initiatives, such as collaboration cafés, to reduce disparities in the retention rates of tenure-track and tenured faculty from diverse groups. Administrators should replicate best practice models from departments that have been successful in retaining and promoting faculty of color, and should provide mentorship training to faculty who choose to become mentors.
- E. The chief diversity officer will monitor faculty retention and promotion/tenure rates, identify impediments to retention and advancement, and make recommendations for remedying identified disparities.
- F. Deans and department chairs will carefully evaluate campus service assignments and mentoring activities of junior faculty, with a particular focus on women and minority faculty, and will ensure that they have time to successfully complete their teaching and research responsibilities required for promotion and tenure.

- G. The chief diversity officer will monitor staff retention, promotion, and turnover rates, identify barriers to career advancement, and make recommendations for remedying identified obstacles.
- H. The university will implement family-friendly policies and provide services to facilitate work-life balance as retention incentives.

GOAL C.2: The university will recruit, retain, and graduate a diverse student body.

Strategies/Undergraduate Students

- A. The Division of Academic Affairs will adopt innovative, high-contact recruitment models, including those that employ alumni of color and international alumni, to attract a diverse student body from all areas of the state, the nation, and the world. The university will set appropriate goals for increasing enrollments.
- The university will increase the percentage of undergraduate students from underrepresented groups (African American, Asian American, Hispanic American/Latino/a, Native American, and multiracial) to a target of at least 38% of the total enrollment by 2018.

THE UNIVERSITY of MARYLAND

- The university will increase the percentage of international undergraduate students to a target of at least 8% of the total enrollment by 2018.
- B. The university will continue to create scholarship and financial aid programs to ensure that higher education is accessible to diverse undergraduates, particularly low-income, first-generation students.
- C. The Division of Academic Affairs will support initiatives that enhance the academic preparation of low-income, first-generation students during their pre-college years, and that encourage their college attendance.
- D. The university will regularly review its 27 admission factors, including academic achievement, standardized test scores, and other criteria, to ensure that admissions procedures do not negatively impact women, minority, and low-income students. Members of the university community should make every effort to share information about the individualized, holistic evaluation of student applicants to the university.
- E. The university will work to close the academic achievement gap by bringing the graduation rates of African American, Hispanic American/Latino/a, and Native American students in line with those of the general student body. Specifically, the university will reduce the discrepancy between the six-year graduation rate of students from the above groups and that of all students to 5% or lower by 2018.
- F. The university will continue to support offices and programs that facilitate undergraduate student success, progress to degree, and timely graduation, including those that provide smooth transitions to campus life, mentoring advising, and positive academic and co-curricular experiences.

Strategies/Graduate Students

- A. The Graduate School and deans will develop innovative programs to recruit, enroll, and retain diverse graduate students, and increase their degree completion rate.
- The Graduate School and colleges and schools will educate graduate directors and other interested faculty on best practices for recruiting, retaining, and graduating diverse students.
- Colleges and schools will periodically review and provide feedback on department plans for recruiting a diverse student body.
- B. The provost and Graduate School will consider the success of its programs in recruiting and graduating a diverse population of graduate students when allocating institutional financial support to programs, departments, and colleges and schools.

D. EDUCATION

Consistent with the goals of the strategic plan, the university strives to provide every student with an education that incorporates the values of diversity and inclusion and prepares its graduates for an increasingly diverse United States and evolving global society. Curricula should ensure that graduates have had significant engagement with different cultures and global issues.

The new general education plan spells out clearly the courses and curricula that will be required to broaden the vision of all undergraduates. Innovative new diversity courses will increase students' understanding of cultural pluralism, develop their cultural competencies, and provide exceptional opportunities to study abroad. In addition, the university has many outstanding scholars whose work has focused on diversity issues within their disciplines. To name just a few, our School of Public Health has a major research focus on the reduction of health disparities in Maryland's minority populations, our history faculty and students have traced historic connections between African American slavery and the Maryland Agricultural College (which grew into the University of Maryland), and our education scholars regularly conduct studies with urban schools in Prince George's County and Baltimore that have large minority populations. University faculty from many disciplines have made important contributions to the scholarship on diversity and self-identity. These and many other programs can be given campus-wide publicity and tapped to provide educational experiences for undergraduates.

Through a collaborative process, the university will consider how best to incorporate the study of diversity and different cultural perspectives in its academic programs, courses, and co-curricular programs. Students will gain knowledge of intellectual approaches and dimensions of diversity, develop an understanding of diverse people and perspectives, and recognize the benefits of working and problem-solving in diverse teams. Programs and activities that promote cross-cultural understanding will help to prepare students for careers in a global economic environment and life in a multicultural society.

GOAL D.1: The university will ensure that undergraduate students acquire the knowledge, experience, and cultural competencies necessary to succeed in a multicultural, globally interconnected world.

Strategies

- A. The university will implement the new general education plan with Diversity requirements that increase undergraduates' knowledge of diversity issues, understanding of pluralistic societies, engagement with peers from diverse backgrounds, and multicultural competencies. The Division of Academic Affairs and colleges and schools will support the development of new courses and modification of existing courses to fulfill requirements of the Understanding Plural Societies and Cultural Competence courses in the university's general education program.
- B. The divisions of Academic Affairs and Student Affairs will integrate diversity and social justice education into academic courses, living and learning programs, residence hall programs, and other co-curricular activities.
- C. The university will expand opportunities for all students to participate in global learning and leadership experiences, including education abroad, alternative breaks, service learning, and internships. The university will actively encourage and provide incentives for first-generation undergraduates, students from minority groups, students with disabilities, and other students from diverse backgrounds to take advantage of these opportunities.

D. The university will continue to support intergroup dialogue programs that expose students to the identities, backgrounds, cultural values, and perspectives of diverse students, and that enhance their communication, intergroup relations, and conflict resolution skills.

GOAL D.2: Departments and programs will equip graduate students with diversity-related expertise.

Strategies

A. The Center for Teaching Excellence; Office of Diversity and Inclusion; Consortium for Research on Race, Gender and Ethnicity; and Graduate School will collaborate with academic departments to provide graduate teaching assistants with training in how to teach effectively in diverse, multicultural classrooms/settings and incorporate diversity topics in their courses.

B. Working with the Division of Research and Graduate School, departments will ensure that graduate students are educated in the responsible conduct of research, including research involving vulnerable populations.

GOAL D.3: The university will increase faculty capacity to educate students about diversity issues and to develop inclusive learning environments.

Strategies

A. The Division of Academic Affairs will work with department and program chairs to establish curriculum transformation programs that prepare faculty to teach students from diverse backgrounds, employ pedagogies that recognize multiple ways of learning, and integrate diversity issues in their courses and laboratory/research environments, including the new general education courses.

- B. Faculty will work with colleagues from Student Affairs to develop innovative co-curricular experiences, such as service-learning, common ground dialogue programs, internships, and international experiences that equip students to work and live in diverse communities.

E. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP

The university's record is filled with instances of ground-breaking scholarship that illuminate the experiences of women, minorities, and other diverse groups in America. In departments such as Women's Studies, African American Studies, Government and Politics, and Family Science, as well as Journalism, Theatre, and Music (which recently commissioned Shadowboxer, an opera on the life of Joe Louis), research has investigated issues of ethnicity, culture, sexuality, religion, gender, age, disability, and a wide range of other identities. Other research focuses on application of theory to practical situations. In the College of Education and College of Computer, Mathematical and Natural Sciences, as well as the A. James Clark School of Engineering, researchers are identifying the tools for mentoring and teaching specialists in the Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) fields, including methods for use in urban communities with large minority and first-generation college populations. Robert H. Smith School of Business scholars study how diversity in management teams contributes to innovation. Such research is making a difference on campus and in the larger society. Communicating the outcomes of our diversity scholarship in lectures, programs, and events has the potential to energize the campus discussion of diversity issues and inspire research by other faculty and students.

This plan calls for multiple strategies that will strengthen, augment, and enhance opportunities for research and scholarship in diversity fields. In addition, every academic and co-curricular unit will be encouraged to incorporate diversity-related topics, themes, and concerns into their curricula. Such efforts will greatly enrich the educational experience of faculty and students, as well as other members of the university community.

GOAL E.1: The university will commit itself to developing and supporting the production of nationally recognized research and scholarship on race, ethnicity, class, gender, and other dimensions of diversity.

Strategies

- A. The chief diversity officer will engage the faculty in opportunities to participate in diversity-themed, interdisciplinary research centers and programs on the campus.
- B. The university will support the recruitment of distinguished senior faculty who can establish world-class, externally funded research/scholarship programs that address race/ethnicity, class, gender, sexual orientation, disability, and other dimensions of diversity.
- C. The provost will provide seed funding, Research and Scholarship Awards, and/or Creative and Performing Arts Awards for faculty members engaged in cutting-edge diversity research, scholarship, and creative and performing arts projects, including interdisciplinary collaborations.
- D. The provost will sponsor conferences, symposia, and seminars that address diversity research and scholarship, including ways to apply research findings in instructional, co-curricular, and institutional improvement activities.

- E. The Office of the Provost will work to ensure that diversity research and scholarship is appropriately valued and evaluated in promotion and tenure decisions.
- F. Colleges and schools will increase opportunities for graduate students to participate in professional development and career preparation activities that support scholarship on diversity issues, such as national/international conference presentations and fellowships for international study. Women, minorities, and other students from diverse backgrounds will be actively encouraged to apply for these opportunities.
- G. The university will create a President's Postdoctoral Fellowship Program, available in all academic fields, for scholars whose research and presence will contribute to the diversity of the academic community.

GOAL E.2: The university will provide a clearinghouse of opportunities for funded research, scholarship, and creative activities addressing diversity issues.

Strategies

- A. The Division of Research will maintain and disseminate information about funded opportunities for regional, national, and international research, scholarship, and creative activities that focus on diversity and equity issues.
- B. The Graduate School will maintain and publicize an up-to-date list of fellowships and outside sources of support from funding agencies and foundations that are specifically for minority and female graduate students.

F. COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Community engagement has been an underlying theme in several of the goals listed above. The vision that animates this plan is of a university characterized by intellectual vitality and excitement, where individuals from different backgrounds, ethnic groups, national cultures, socioeconomic groups, and life experiences can share ideas and concerns. This would be a university in which students actively engage with other students, faculty, and staff in both formal and informal settings. The Diversity Advisory Council will promote community engagement by sharing examples of other successful campus models. For example, students on the university's Sustainability Council and its student subcommittee share environmental concerns and tackle sustainability issues with faculty and staff from the divisions of Academic Affairs, Administrative Affairs, Student Affairs, Research, and University Relations, and the Office of Information Technology. Such engagement enriches the educational experience and leads to personal growth. It builds trust among participants, supports creativity, enlivens intellectual life, and creates an ambiance that is characteristic of the great universities.

The university's reach and involvement extend beyond the physical boundaries of the campus. The neighboring communities and regions provide valuable resources for learning and personal growth. For example, the Department of Public and Community Health has maintained a 10-year partnership with the City of Seat Pleasant, with faculty, staff, and students providing health education services to residents and residents offering feedback on the department's health education curriculum. College Park Scholars partners with the City of College Park to provide weekly tutoring for children through the Lakeland Stars program serving Paint Branch Elementary School. Other community-based activities are described in the plan, but much, much more interaction takes place between the university and communities throughout the state. Learning experiences include departmental internships, alternative break programs, service-learning, and field experiences for credit or for learning, such as Engineers Without Borders, which takes our students to other countries. Engagement in educational, research, and service activities in communities beyond the campus is an important vehicle that broadens perspectives and increases understanding of the value of diversity. This plan supports university efforts to promote such engagement.

GOAL F.1: The university will promote academic and co-curricular activities that facilitate positive interactions among students, faculty, staff, and alumni.

Strategies

- A. The university will create and support opportunities that facilitate dialogue and engagement among diverse students, faculty, staff, and alumni, and that contribute to the professional, social, economic, and spiritual development of all participants.
- B. The university will create initiatives that support and expand collaboration on diversity issues between departments/units in Student Affairs, Academic Affairs, Research, Administrative Affairs, University Relations, and the Office of Information Technology. Initiatives will reflect the university's values of diversity, equity, inclusion, and citizenship with the goal of developing the "whole student." The university will showcase innovative and effective initiatives as models for replication.

GOAL F.2: The university will increase the number of partnerships and the quality of engagement with the diverse external community.

Strategies

- A. The colleges and schools, Institute for Internal Programs, and Division of Student Affairs will provide increased opportunities for students to participate in community-based internships, service learning, international exchange programs, and related activities that enhance their knowledge of diverse populations and their cultural competency.
- B. The university will create new community-based research, continuing education, and extension partnerships, as well as leverage existing partnerships, that benefit diverse populations in the state and surrounding areas.

V. Implementation »

This diversity plan proposes a leap forward at the University of Maryland over the next 10 years. Like the university's 2008 strategic plan, it sets high expectations and offers a framework and guide for the university as it fulfills aspirations for future excellence in becoming a model of diversity and inclusion. Its vision and initiatives represent a bold and ambitious agenda for the university.

The goals and strategies recommended in this plan must be thoughtfully and carefully implemented. The role of the chief diversity officer and the Diversity Advisory Council will be crucial to the success of the implementation. They will need to prioritize the proposed goals and strategies, develop a realistic timetable, and assign the plan's specific tasks to offices or individuals responsible for executing them. Their success will depend, in part, on their ability to seek the advice and counsel of expert and engaged faculty, staff, and students from across campus as they pursue these goals; their willingness to support bold initiatives; and their acceptance of patience and flexibility in finding ways to achieve their goals. Future, not yet anticipated opportunities or challenges may create a need to modify individual goals and strategies, or create new ones. Yet the vision of a university community that thrives on diversity, that uses diversity as an educational instrument for personal growth and enrichment, and that cultivates future leaders who embrace diversity will not change. It remains our fixed star.

GOAL 1: There will be guiding principles developed for the implementation component of the diversity strategic plan. These principles will be developed by the chief diversity officer in consultation with the Diversity Advisory Council.

- A. The president, provost, vice presidents, deans, department chairs, directors, and the chief diversity officer should use the diversity strategic plan for planning and decision making related to campus diversity issues.
- B. The chief diversity officer should work with the university's senior leadership to develop incentives for implementing strategies presented in the plan.
- C. The chief diversity officer, in consultation with the Diversity Advisory Council, should develop measures to monitor and evaluate the success of plan goals and strategies.

GOAL 2: The university will prioritize and set a time line for the goals and objectives of the diversity strategic plan.

The chief diversity officer, president, and provost will:

- A. Annually identify high-priority strategic plan goals and strategies for implementation.
- B. Identify the individuals/units responsible for implementing and evaluating the progress of prioritized goals and strategies.
- C. Establish realistic time lines and outcome measures for implementing high-priority goals and strategies.
- D. Work with the vice president for University Relations and appropriate development officers to seek financial sources to fund the goals and strategies of the plan.

GOAL 3: The chief diversity officer will monitor implementation of the diversity strategic plan and will report annually on plan progress.

- A. The chief diversity officer will annually report on the progress of the diversity strategic plan to the president and the president's Cabinet.
- B. After presentations to the president and Cabinet, the annual progress report of the diversity strategic plan will be posted on the university website and released to the university community, including the Student Government Association, the Graduate Student Government, the University Senate, and The Diamondback.

GOAL 4: The university will develop processes for modifying the diversity strategic plan and updating it at least once every 10 years.

- A. Members of the university community will have an opportunity to petition for major and/or minor amendments to the diversity strategic plan.
  - Major amendments will require revisiting the goals and strategies of the plan or the basic assumptions that have provided direction for the plan. A major amendment would have an impact on many areas of the plan.
  - Minor amendments might include a change in the wording of a goal or strategy, or changes in responsible leadership.
- B. The president will appoint a diversity strategic plan steering committee to complete a major review and update of the diversity strategic plan no less than once every 10 years.
- C. The chief diversity officer will chair the diversity strategic plan steering committee.
- D. The diversity strategic plan steering committee will include representation from the faculty, staff, senior leadership, and undergraduate and graduate students.

Cultural Diversity Programs and Planning 2018-2019

Summary Statement

UMCES Goals to Enhance Cultural Diversity and Inclusion

UMCES has reaffirmed its commitment to provide a workplace and culture that promotes programs dedicated to cultural diversity and inclusion in the recently developed 2019 UMCES Strategic Initiatives Plan which states the following:

“UMCES will be an exemplar of environmental science professionals reflecting the face of the communities served by its work. Knowledge discovery accelerates and the societal relevance of scientific research improves when supported by a diverse workforce. Building this culture requires new commitments. We will enhance diversity of interns, graduate students, faculty, and staff. We will cultivate inclusivity through professional development and innovative mentoring. We will incentivize change via individual and institutional performance metrics.”

Through collaborations with other USM institutions, including the Maryland Sea Grant College that it administers, UMCES continues to lead, coordinate, and catalyze environmental research and education within the USM. The 2019 Strategic Initiatives Plan emphasizes our commitment to engage students from groups underrepresented in the environmental sciences as well as training and inspiring the nation’s next generation of environmental scientists.

UMCES Areas of Emphasis to Enhance Cultural Diversity

Our approach to tackling this important plan focuses on recruitment and campus climate. In larger institutions, such work is typically associated with a diversity and inclusion office, staffed by professionals trained in the skills and knowledge of this field. Given UMCES’ size, it is unlikely that an entire office can be devoted to this work. However, the appointment of a diversity officer who has the professional background and experience in this type of institutional change could be transformational. We are considering how best to fill this role as funding and added budgeted position requests continue to be a challenge.

Recruitment and Retention: Recruitment to UMCES happens through both search committees as well as student admissions to graduate programs. There are a number of practices to be considered that can increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty. For example, search committees for faculty and staff should receive training specific to the hiring process, while also recognizing that recruitment may extend outside of formal committees. Coupled with these efforts, procedures are needed to document and assess efforts to expand the pool of diverse applicants. For staff and faculty hires we envision a new set of procedures and tracking efforts that target outreach/recruitment, training of search committees (especially on unconscious bias), and evaluation of a set of metrics that can be used to describe progress.

APPALACHIAN LABORATORY    CHESAPEAKE BIOLOGICAL LABORATORY    HORN POINT LABORATORY INSTITUTE OF MARINE AND ENVIRONMENTAL TECHNOLOGY    MARYLAND SEA GRANT COLLEGE

AN INSTITUTION OF THE UNIVERSITY SYSTEM OF MARYLAND

For our student population, we must consider a host of practices, from exposure to the institution through internships to our influence on the graduate admissions process and financial support. Increasing diversity and enabling successful careers requires reinforcement of positive experiences at multiple touch points, from K-12 experiences to mid-career promotions. UMCES can contribute by coordinating and integrating efforts across the career trajectory of internships for high school and undergraduate students, graduate student recruitment and training, post-doctoral experiences, and faculty recruitment and retention as a means of advancing diversity and inclusion at each key step in a scientist's career. Having diversity at each career stage within the institution will also afford synergisms that further reinforce the broad range of diversity objectives across career stages.

UMCES faculty currently supervise a handful of programs targeting underrepresented groups, such as Centro TORTUGA and the Living Marine Resources Cooperative Science Center. While these programs have had some success, much could be done to build and expand these efforts. We also envision partnering with minority serving institutions and their faculty to inform and improve recruitment/retention and our campus climate. Once recruited, conscious effort should be focused on improving retention of employees from underrepresented groups at UMCES. For example, UMCES should pursue opportunities for additional mentoring that is available and accessed, and that overall improvements in campus climate provide a productive and constructive workplace. In order to accomplish this goal, we will need additional resource infrastructure and funding to insure these programs are developed and policies are created that lead to improvements. In addition to a diversity officer role we are looking to form and engage an UMCES Diversity and Inclusion Task Force across our campus locations.

Campus Climate: Tackling the “inclusion” aspect of this strategic plan goal necessitates consideration of our campus culture and climate. A baseline Campus Climate Survey will provide a means to identify areas of strengths and weaknesses, as well as to provide a way to communicate to the community our understanding of relevant issues and concerns. We also emphasize the need for training on diversity and inclusion, with a special focus on unconscious bias and fostering a learning environment on these topics that is appropriate for all members of our community. In addition to appointing a diversity officer, we see these approaches as cornerstones to creating the opportunity for growth and improvement at UMCES in this regard.

Areas of Progress and Improvement

Goal 1: Efforts to increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty

Hiring and Search Procedures

UMCES implemented the PeopleAdmin hiring and recruiting system in March 2018 which includes an applicant diversity tracking and reporting module. In FY 2019 UMCES completed 14 hiring searches with 4 minority candidate hires. We continue to work on enhancing our faculty and staff search procedures and provide training for search committees to focus on attracting a diverse applicant pool. A workgroup to develop and recommend enhancements to our current search procedures and training has been formed and updated procedures are expected to be finalized by December 2019.

Partner with other USM institutions to increase enrollment and diversity in the MEES program.

UMCES partnered with UMD and submitted a joint $1M enhancement funding request to the USM in May 2018 for fellowship funding to attract and retain students in the program with a focus on increasing underrepresented minority student enrollments. Unfortunately, due to other competing priorities this request was not funded in 2018. UMCES and UMD intend to re-submit the proposal in 2019.

Engage students from underrepresented groups in UMCES environmental sciences programs.

For the past several years, UMCES continues participation in the Living Marine Resources Cooperative Science Center, a minority training partnership supported by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). In 2019 $457,000 is currently funding student research, stipends, and tuition. This is a $157,000 or 52% increase over last year's funding.

Goal 2: Efforts designed to create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Engage campus in Institutional Assessment process to include a Campus Climate survey

UMCES began planning for a Campus Institutional Assessment project to include a campus climate and diversity and inclusion discussion in July 2018. We expected to complete the surveys and interviews by end of calendar year 2018, but did not receive MSCHE guidance and approval on the process details until early 2019. Interviews and feedback session are in progress. Results and data analysis are expected to be completed by December 2019.

Engage Student Organizations in Diversity and Inclusion Planning

The UMCES Graduate Student Council shared their Diversity and Inclusion Plan with UMCES Executive Council leadership in May 2017. The UMCES Plan was shared with the Student Council in October 2018 and a Student representative has been appointed to the UMCES Administrative Council for ongoing discussions, plans and feedback.

Designated gifts & grants that support cultural diversity

UMCES faculty and staff continue to pursue targeted funding to attract and retain minority students. L'Oréal has provided funding in support of research mentoring activities for underrepresented students in STEM at the community college level. UMCES-IMET also received $80K in private donor funds to support undergraduate student summer internships in STEM research related experiences and mentoring.

Conclusion

Clearly, there are great opportunities and a commitment for UMCES to expand our work to meet a shared vision of a diverse and inclusive institution. Our biggest challenge continues to be funding and organizational resources in support of these goals. We look forward to the development of an UMCES wide working group approach in the next year to help develop and implement these programs and changes.

Overall Guidelines:

- For the 2018-2019 Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report, complete the two sections (and subsections) in this template.
- In total (including all statements and tables) your report should be 10 to 12 pages.
- Please submit your report to Zakiya Lee (zlee@usmd.edu) by Wednesday, April 17, 2019.
- The USM will generate the desired demographic information; institutions are not responsible for providing that information.

Section I: Progress Report: §11-406 of the Education Article states that each public institution of higher education shall submit a progress report regarding the institution's implementation of a plan for a program of cultural diversity. Progress on the following institutional goals should be reported:

Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty.

Goal 2: Create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery.

Summary Statement

Provide a summary or overview (2-3 pages max) of your institution's plan to improve cultural diversity. Include major goals (short-term and/or long-term), areas of emphasis, strategies for implementation, and an explanation of how progress is being evaluated. Please include major challenges and successes. Additionally, indicate any areas of progress since last year (or over the last few years) and areas where continued improvement is needed.

This summary should be seen as a prelude to the examples you share in the following tables.

Goal 1: Use the table to share how you are increasing the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty. Bulleted, succinct descriptions of major initiatives and strategies are ideal; additional narrative is not necessary.

The aforementioned statements and the information within the tables should be aligned with your institution's plan for cultural diversity, which is required by §1 I-406 of the Education Article. §1 I-406 states that each public institution of higher education in the State shall develop and implement a plan for a program of cultural diversity that enhances cultural diversity programming and sensitivity to cultural diversity through instruction and training of the student body, faculty, and staff at the institution of higher education. The plan should include:

- i. Implementation strategy and a timeline for meeting goals within the plan;
- ii. A description of the way the institution addresses cultural diversity among its student, faculty, and staff populations;
- iii. A description of how the institution plans to enhance cultural diversity (if improvement is needed);
- iv. A process for reporting campus-based hate crimes; and
- v. A summary of any resources, including State grants, needed by the institution to effectively recruit and retain a culturally-diverse student body.

Please submit a copy of your institution's plan for cultural diversity.

The institutional cultural diversity plan should be in an appendix and should not be included in the 12-page maximum.

University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science

Cultural Diversity Programs and Planning

Introduction

The University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science (UMCES) operates under specific statutory mandates and a revised Mission Statement approved by the University System of Maryland (USM) Board of Regents and the Maryland Higher Education Commission in early 2012. Its statutory mandate is to “conduct a comprehensive program to develop and apply a predictive ecology for Maryland to the improvement and preservation of the physical environment through a program of research, public service, and education.” This revised mission included a path for accreditation to award joint degrees with other USM partners and to assume an expanded role in graduate and professional education. UMCES completed its accreditation review by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education and was awarded accreditation in March 2016. Through collaborations with other USM institutions, including the Maryland Sea Grant College that it administers, UMCES leads, coordinates, and catalyzes environmental research and education within the USM. The UMCES Strategic Plan, Focus on the Future, defines UMCES’ commitment to cultural diversity and future goals and plans through 2018. The Strategic Plan emphasizes our commitment to engage students from groups underrepresented in the environmental sciences as well as training and inspiring the nation’s next generation of environmental scientists.

The core values of UMCES as stated on page 4 of the Strategic Plan are:

- Commitment to environmental discovery, integration, application, and education that epitomizes our institutional responsibility to serve society.
- Adherence to the highest standards of academic independence in the pursuit of discovery and knowledge.
- Engagement in translational science in partnership with scientific colleagues, other units in the USM, agencies and stakeholders.
- Responsiveness to the needs of colleagues, sponsors, governments, and stakeholders.

UMCES Plan to Enhance Cultural Diversity

Goal 1: Efforts to increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty

Hiring Procedures

- Enhance procedures to expand the diversity of applicant pools
- Establish procedures to document assess efforts to expand the pool of diverse applicants
- Identify resources needed to
  - Train/ help search committees recruit
  - attract diverse applicants
  - retain diverse applicants
- Implement a new system to track and assess the results of enhanced hiring practices
- Completion Date: January 2018
- Cost: $20,000 per year

Seek to partner with other USM institutions to develop a five-year Marine Estuarine Environmental Sciences (BS/MS) program

- Seek to develop and partner with one or more USM institutions to develop a combined MEES BS/MS program targeted for underrepresented minorities. Attract underrepresented groups that at the undergraduate level who would not be able to financially consider going on to graduate school.
- Feasibility study completion date: Ongoing with UMD.
- Cost: none for study. Up to 40,000 per year for program implementation.

Engage students from underrepresented groups in UMCES environmental sciences programs.

- Sustained participation in the Living Marine Resources Cooperative Science Center, a minority training partnership supported by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).
- Timeline: Ongoing
- Cost: No additional cost

Goal 2: Efforts designed to create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Administrative Coordination and Accountability

- Develop and implement annual reporting to the campus community on the state of the cultural diversity effort.
- Develop and conduct a Campus Climate Survey to establish baseline for assessment
- Completion Date: November 2018 (update with first progress report to USM).
- No Cost

Complete an assessment of Marine Estuarine Environmental Science (MEES) program courses

- Assess how and if the Marine Estuarine Environmental Science (MEES) courses are meeting the general education goals of
  - Interpersonal Communication – Acquiring abilities to relate to and work effectively with diverse groups of people
  - Social Responsibility – Tolerance and respect for diverse groups of people and a disposition toward responsible citizenship and a connection to the community
- Completion Date: December 2018 (necessary for Middle States accreditation review).
- No Additional Cost

Student Organizations

- Copies of this plan will be shared with the UMCES Graduate Student Council organization. They will be asked to review the documents and to provide feedback on plans for cultural diversity.
- Planned program events to expose students to artistic expression and intellectual perspective representing diverse cultures
- Timeline: Ongoing
- No Additional Cost

Faculty and Administrative and Support Staff Development

- Explain to new faculty and staff the importance of cultural diversity to the mission of the University and related challenges and opportunities in the classroom during new faculty and staff orientation programs.
- Copies of plan will be shared with the UMCES Staff Council for review, feedback and new diversity initiative ideas.
- Timeline: Ongoing
- Cost: No additional Cost

Alumni Programs

- Determine ways to engage alumni in the cultural diversity initiative.
- Design an alumni survey to assist with understanding the perceptions and interests of minority groups among its alumni and share this information with the campus community
- Timeline: December 2018
- No Additional Cost

Designated gifts & grants that support cultural diversity

- Timeline: Ongoing
- No Additional Cost

Goal 3: Efforts and process for the reporting of hate-based crimes consistent with federal requirements.

Administrative Coordination and Accountability

- Develop and implement policy, process, and procedure with local police organizations where UMCES campuses are located for the reporting of hate-based crimes.
- Completion Date: December 2017
- No Cost

Conclusion

In summary, UMCES has made great strides in defining its commitment to cultural diversity for students, faculty, and staff through our accreditation process and strategic planning. Our goals, outlined in this plan, will take us through the next level of implementing initiatives and programs to improve cultural diversity on our campuses. Outreach and training will continue throughout the next year to assess and monitor our progress in this area.

INSTITUTIONAL PROGRAMS OF CULTURAL DIVERSITY ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT TEMPLATE

Institution: University of Maryland Eastern Shore Date Submitted: April 23, 2019

Point(s) of Contact (names and email addresses): Dr. Rondall E. Allen reallen@umes.edu

Summary Statement

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES) implemented its Cultural Diversity Plan in 2009. The plan is composed primarily of three major goals with sub-goals and key strategies that align to each goal. The goals, data on the numerical representation of faculty, staff and students, and the variety of strategies implemented are reviewed and reported annually. In the 2009 plan, UMES established a 1-year target date for implementation of the major goals and identified strategy leaders for high accountability and to reinforce its commitment to cultural diversity.

UMES will be restarting its strategic planning process next academic year and goals, objectives, and strategies related to cultural diversity and inclusion will continue to be apart of our future strategic plan. Over the past few years, the demographics of the campus community have changed. Given these changes, the university intends to revisit its original goals to better align them with current demographic data. In addition, UMES intends to revise its existing Cultural Diversity Plan.

The subsequent tables depict a small selection of goals/strategies that UMES has implemented in order to ensure cultural diversity on our campus. We are extremely proud of the collective efforts of our campus in promoting cultural diversity.

Goal I: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty.

Timeline for meeting goal within the diversity plan: _____

Share campus-wide and program-specific efforts designed to recruit and retain traditionally underrepresented students, staff, and faculty. HBCUs must provide information on efforts designed to diversify campus by attracting students, administrative staff, and faculty who do not identify as African American.

Metrics to measure how progress of each initiative/strategy is being evaluated

Data to demonstrate where progress has been achieved / indicators of success

Areas where continuous improvement is needed

RICHARD A HENSON HONORS PROGRAM

Targeted recruitment efforts in minority-serving high schools and at regional college fairs with proportionately high minority populations.	Number of schools / recruitment fairs visited to promote honors and UMES to minority students. Percentage of Honors applicants who do not identify as African American. Percentage of Honors Program students who do not identify as African American.	24: Schools/College Fairs To-date: 50% (n=25 of 50) 39.58% (60.42 % Black; 25.52 % White; 4.69% Asian; 4.69% Hispanic/Latino; 1.56% Other)	Continued expansion of our recruitment efforts to include greater numbers of “feeder” schools with high concentrations of diverse students.
OFFICE OF HUMAN RESOURCES
Hire Academic Search Firm to fill cabinet level positions (Three VP's and a Provost)	Data to review number of non-African Americans interviewed for positions vs number hired	Two of four cabinets positions filled by non-African Americans Four Administrative positions (General Counsel, Title IX, Associate Administrator for Extension, and Director of Government Relations) filled by non-African Americans	Pending funding may use search firm for future Dean or higher level positions
Increase encouragement in diversity in search committee appointments	Review of individuals appointed to search committees for diverse representation		University wide participation on search committees to include inter-departments to increase diversity in networking vacancies
Broader participation in filling of adjunct positions from outside of home departments	List of places where positions are being advertised Increase in non-African American Adjunct Faculty	Eleven out of the fourteen adjuncts hired were non-African Americans	Retaining underrepresented groups in faculty and staff positions
Broader participation in advertisement of student positions	List of places where positions are being advertised	Increase in non-African American students hired in Residence Life, Engineering, Math, Education, Natural Sciences	Ensuring off-campus students are aware of job openings
DIVISION OF ENROLLMENT MANAGEMENT AND STUDENT EXPERIENCE
The recruitment team attends recruitment events designed for targeting diverse student populations such as the Palm Beach, FL County Annual HBCU/Hispanic Serving Institution College Fair, and the annual National Hispanic College Fairs.	Number of total applications Number of recruitment events attended	3,862 total applications received to date Total number of college fairs &amp; events for fall and spring: 155	Renewable diversity scholarships to support transfer students and first-time students; better collaboration with community colleges; continue to build better partnerships with local

Increase the number of MOUs with community colleges The recruitment team continues to saturate Maryland public and private schools with various diverse student populations.	Number of transfer student applications Number of transfer student scholarships awarded Number of first-time student applications and scholarship offers.	Total number of hours for events: 484 hours Total number of onsite : 88 onsite events 163 fall 19 transfer application and 133 spring 19 transfer applications, totaling 296 apps to date. 981 scholarships offered to first time students and 85 accepted 33 scholarships offered to transfer students and 11 accepted	schools for increasing cultural and geographic diversity; hiring of a multicultural recruiter.
Recruit and hire diverse staff and student leaders in the Center for Access and Academic Success	50% of the staff and students that do not identify as African American.	56% of the staff and 67% of student leaders are not African-American	Increase the number of international students from Spanish speaking countries.
Develop more dual enrollment programs with high schools in Maryland	MOUs and actual recruited students	Dual enrollment agreements are pending with Worcester, Dorchester, Wicomico, and Somerset Counties; two additional agreements are in progress with Prince George and Harford County schools.	Complete MOUs and develop relationships with MD High Schools.
DIVISION OF ACADEMIC AFFAIRS – SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURAL AND NATURAL SCIENCES
Our recruitment and hiring practices are in compliance with UMES's policy on non- discrimination. Positions are advertised through a variety of outlets and all groups are welcomed to apply.	Diversity of hiring pool.	The Department hired two new faculty members in fall 2018 from a pool of diverse candidates. One of the new hires is a female of Asian origin and the other is a Caucasian male.	Current strategies should be maintained.
MOU renegotiated to continue the dual degree program permitting students to earn both a B.S. in Biology from Salisbury University and a B.S. In Environmental Science at UMES in 120 credits.	Number of students in Program: This program brings up to 15 majority students per year into the UMES Environmental Science program.
MOU signed that allows students to pursue a 3+3 option providing both an ACS approved B.S. degree in Biochemistry and a Pharm.D. degree in 6 years.	This is the first year the program is available. We are mapping inquiries from students at this time, and will note the number of matriculates of the program in the fall.

DIVISION OF ACADEMIC AFFAIRS – SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND TECHNOLOGY
Regular scheduled Hospitality and Tourism Management (HTM) recruiting visits to community colleges where identifying group is non-African Americans.	Percentage annual graduation rate of identifying group.	Identifying group graduation remains stable at 30-45% of graduating class 2013-2018.	Continuous involvement of identifying group alumni in recruiting efforts and return to campus to assist with department, special events.
Master's degree program in Career and Technology Education in Baltimore to increase the enrollment and retention of underrepresented students.	Graduate CTED student advisees by ethnicity	There currently 50 CTED advisees: Black: 19/50 (38%), Hispanic: 2/50 (4%), Asian: 2/50 (4%), and White 27/50 (54%).	Funding for travel to professional development sites
The Department of Technology hosted a three week STEM program called the Summer Transportation Institute. The Summer Transportation Institute provides awareness to middle school students on transportation careers and encourages them to consider transportation-related courses of study in their higher education pursuits Building awareness of the Construction Management program by presenting at Washington High School in Princess Anne, Maryland. Ethnicity: 30/30 African American. The summer Transportation Institute had 20 attendees from three Eastern Shore counties and seven different elementary and middle schools. The ethnicity breakdown: African American 19/20 (95%), Caucasian 1/20(5%). Thirty students attended the presentation. The number of students attended: 40	Create more opportunities in Wicomico, Worcester, and Somerset counties. Obtain more funding to increase enrollment of the summer program and exposure to UMES programs. Encourage more UMES faculty to participate in local events by the Maryland Business Round Table. Offer this opportunity to more local area schools to increase awareness of programs at UMES.
The department Chair or Engineering Program Coordinator has been attending the BEYA (Black Engineers of the Year Award) STEM Conference in Feb 2019. We bring about 50+ students to the career fair hosted at the BEYA conference. Many engineering students received internships and full-time employment	Engineering Enrollment Data and the rate of increase	Engineering enrollment as of fall 2018 is 142, representative slight decline of enrollment compared with last year's data.	More recruitment effort to high schools and community colleges is needed.

offers from major corporations through on-site interviews and career networking at BEYA Recruitment, Retention and Success of Aviation Students. The aviation team continues to engage in outreach program to advertise the flight instruction program at UMES. Engineering Graduation. In the academic year of 2015-2016 (two semesters), there were only 8 engineering students who applied for graduation. Engineering graduate of December 2018 Habilou Ouro-Koura was admitted to the Mechanical Engineering Ph.D. Program at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with scholarship for 5 years.	Continue to develop collaborations with industry to help engineering students to receive full time employment and internships for workforce development. Continue to advertise the aviation program to reach out to students in the local regions and in the State of Maryland. Continue to develop academic advising policy to ensure four year to six year graduation.
The Department of Mathematics and Computer Science carried out a large digital and personal contact campaign to encourage high school students, especially minority and women, interested in Departmental programs to contact the University for information on enrollment, financial aid, scholarships, and campus life activities.	Number of students that officially commit to enrollment in the Department or in the University. Fall to Spring – examine the return rate of students.	The Department had a total of 53 personal student contacts with student recruits thus far via the open house, Admitted Student Day, etc. 45 students attended the Fall Mathematics and Computer Science Problem Solving Challenge. The Department had only 11 students of the 159 Departmental students not return from Fall 2018 to Spring 2019 semester.	The Department has to improve its ability to secure financial incentives to attract larger numbers of high achieving students earlier in the recruitment process.

DIVISION OF ACADEMIC AFFAIRS – SCHOOL OF EDUCATION, SOCIAL SCIENCES AND THE ARTS
The Department of English and Modern Languages established an MOU with Eastern Shore Community College (ESCC) in 2016. Location of ESCC is in Melfa, Virginia; a rural area on lower Eastern Shore of Maryland. This initiative was done to attract students to the English B.A. program at UMES.	MOUs established with regional community colleges	One new MOU with ESCC was signed in 2016.  A faculty member is actively recruiting at ESCC and in the Accomack County area.	Additional scholarships need to be developed to attract transfer students.
The Department of Fine Arts targeted high schools with populations of traditionally under-represented students to recruit.	Faculty did visits to Severna Park High School, Snow Hill High School, and James Hubert Blake High School.	Schools were visited in person or contacted by phone and email.	Institutional research needs to provide data on where applicants have come from to judge the success of the initiative.

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery. DO NOT INCLUDE STATISTICS.

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore provides a number of options to report crimes and serious incidents and emergencies, to include hate crimes. All students, faculty, staff, and visitors are encouraged to make prompt and accurate reports to the University Police if they are a victim or witness a crime. It is critical for the safety of the community that you report all crimes and other incidents immediately so that the University Police can respond and investigate the situation as soon as possible to determine if a timely warning or emergency notification to the community or a portion thereof, is required.

Reporting Crimes to the University Police

We strongly encourage all members of the University community to report all crimes and other emergencies to the UMES Police in a timely manner. Police Officers are on duty 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. To contact the University Police in an emergency situation dial (410) 651-3300 from a public phone, Ext. 3300 from a University phone, or dial 9-1-1. University extension phones are situated at various locations in academic buildings and in the residence halls throughout the campus. You may also use the “blue light” emergency phones which are placed at various strategic locations on the campus grounds. Non-emergency calls to the University Police should utilize (410) 651-6590.

The “Tip line” telephone number to report information anonymously is 410-651-8484.

The TDD (Telecommunications Device for the Deaf) telephone number is 410-621-2552.

If the crime occurred off campus, University Police will direct you to the appropriate law enforcement agency. Crimes occurring at the Arden's Run apartments or the Talons apartments, both public-private housing partnerships located on UMES Boulevard, should be reported to the Princess Anne Police Department at (410) 651-1822. For emergencies you should call 9-1-1. For crimes occurring within the boundaries of Somerset County contact the Somerset County Sheriff's Department at (410) 651-9225 or the Maryland State Police, Princess Anne Barrack, at (410) 651-3101.

All reports may be made in person at the Police Department, which is located at the Department of Public Safety, 30737 University Blvd South, Princess Anne, MD. 21853 (Across from Waters Hall). Although there are many resources available, University Police should be notified of any crime, whether or not an investigation continues, to assure the University can address any and all security concerns and inform the community if there is a significant threat.

Section II: Appendix -- Institutional Plan for Cultural Diversity

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore has included its current Diversity Plan, developed and implemented in 2009. During academic year 2019-2020, the university has plans to implement a new institutional plan for cultural diversity. A draft of the new plan has also been included.

INTRODUCTION

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES) has developed this "Diversity Plan" in accordance with Senate Bill 438 and House Bill 905, identical bills entitled "Institutions of Higher Education – Plans for Program of Cultural Diversity." According to a letter from Attorney General Douglas F. Gansler, dated May 15th, 2008, to the Honorable Martin J. O'Malley, Governor of Maryland:

"The bills also require public institutions to develop and implement a wide range of elements to be included in the plans, including processes for reporting campus-based hate crimes, programming to enhance cultural diversity sensitivity through training of students faculty and staff, and a summary of resources needed to effectively recruit and retain a culturally diverse student body."

Therefore, the remainder of this plan will include those three aforementioned elements. However, the plan will also include several sections: Institutional Background, Institutional Core Values, Commitment to Diversity, Goals and Key Strategies, and the Policies and Procedures for Reporting Campus Based Hate crimes and Bias-Motivated Incidents.

INSTITUTIONAL BACKGROUND

Founded September 13, 1886, the University of Maryland Eastern Shore has a Mission which continues to evolve and which has necessarily become more comprehensive in scope as the University's affiliations, organizational structure, and purpose have been redefined by relevant governing bodies to address state, national, and global needs. UMES, however, maintains its legacy as a comprehensive, 1890 Land-Grant, Historically Black institution and continues its progress to become a Carnegie Doctoral/Research-Intensive institution.

The profile of the University has been changing over recent years due to a period of unprecedented growth. With a fall 2008 enrollment of over 4,300, the University stands as one of the University System of Maryland's fastest growing institutions, with entering students coming from all 23 counties in the State of Maryland, representing more than 37 states in the United States, and originating from over 42 foreign countries. The program mix has expanded to 29 Bachelors degree, 10 master's degree and 7 doctoral degree programs. Overall, growth extends beyond enrollment to programs that define UMES as a modern, comprehensive University that honors its unique 1890 Land-Grant Mission and that respects the urgent need for workforce development on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, in the nation, and throughout the global community.

INSTITUTIONAL MISSION

University of Maryland Eastern Shore, the State's Historically Black 1890 Land-Grant institution, emphasizes baccalaureate and graduate programs in the liberal arts, health professions, sciences, and teacher education. In keeping with its land-grant mandate, the University's purpose and uniqueness are grounded in distinctive learning, discovery, and engagement opportunities in agriculture, marine and environmental sciences, technology, engineering and aviation sciences, health professions, and hospitality management. Degrees are offered at the bachelors, masters, and doctoral levels.

UMES is committed to providing access to high quality values-based educational experiences, especially to individuals who are first-generation college students of all races, while emphasizing multicultural diversity and international perspectives. The University serves the educational and research needs of businesses, industries, government, and non-government organizations. The University is committed to meeting the economic development needs of the Eastern Shore; workforce development needs of the State; international development priorities of the nation; and commercialization and entrepreneurial ventures of the University through engagement activities and partnerships.

UMES is a teaching/research institution that nurtures and launches globally competent citizens. It will continue to embrace its interdisciplinary curriculum, sponsored research initiatives, rural and economic development priorities, and community engagement. UMES will continue to expand its partnerships and collaborative arrangements with the University System of Maryland institutions, other universities, community colleges, public schools, government, and other external agencies and constituencies.

INSTITUTIONAL CORE VALUES

- Providing high quality undergraduate and graduate programs that will equip students with the knowledge and skills necessary for the challenges of America and other global societies.
- Affirming its role as the State's 1890 Land-Grant institution by providing to citizens opportunities and access that will enhance their lives and enable them to develop intellectually, economically, socially, and culturally.
- Demonstrating shared-governance through recognition of the viewpoints that all members of the university community contribute to the institution.
- Appreciating diversity in its student body, faculty, staff and administration through commitment to tolerance, freedom of expression, and celebration of other cultures.
- Adhering to the highest standards of honesty, fairness, trust and integrity in both personal and professional behavior.
- Promoting student-centeredness as the heart of the enterprise.

COMMITMENT TO DIVERSITY

As a public institution of higher education, the University of Maryland Eastern Shore has a special responsibility to create and maintain a climate that affirms diversity of persons as well as diversity of views. Diversity is an indispensable component of academic excellence. A commitment to diversity means a commitment to the inclusion of faculty, staff, and students from all ethnic groups. Among these characteristics are race, ethnicity, national origin, gender, age, socioeconomic background, religion, sexual orientation, and disability. According to Senate Bill 438 and House Bill 905, "Cultural Diversity" means the inclusion of those racial and ethnic groups, and individuals that are or have been underrepresented in higher education.

By virtue of our commitment to diversity, UMES has an established core value that is provided below:

“Appreciating diversity in its student body, faculty, staff and administration through commitment to tolerance, freedom of expression, and celebration of cultures.”

GOALS AND KEY STRATEGIES

This section, on Goals and Key Strategies, presents diversity goals grouped under three broad areas: Climate for Living, Learning, and Working; Student Access and Opportunity; and Diverse Faculty and Staff. Each goal is followed by a set of “key strategies” – those strategies believed to have the highest potential for success in reaching the goal. Specific timelines are provided with each key strategy, setting a target date for completing or reporting progress on specific actions.

The area of Climate for Living, Learning, and Working includes the culture, decisions, practices, policies, and behaviors that constitute the environment at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. Also included in this area are strategies to enhance cultural diversity sensitivities through training. All members (students, faculty, and staff) of the community will believe that they support an environment conducive to Living, Learning, and Working. The environment at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore is everyone’s responsibility and it must include a climate of civility and respect for all. The climate sets the tone for success in the areas of recruitment and retention of students, faculty, staff, and administrators.

In the area of Student Access and Opportunity, particular emphasis is placed on the successful graduation of all students, in recognition of the campus’ most basic educational mission. However, for this plan the matriculation of non-African American students is emphasized. The plan also includes enrollment, graduation rate and retention goals that contribute to the over-arching aim of increasing the number of degrees earned by non-African-American students.

In the area of Diverse Faculty and Staff, the University of Maryland Eastern Shore believes that a strong faculty is a diversified faculty. Diversity brings a whole world of knowledge by looking at and viewing learning from different perspectives.

In Senate Bill 438 and House Bill 905, the definition for “Cultural Diversity” means the inclusion of those racial and ethnic groups and individuals that are or have been underrepresented in higher education. Therefore, the Diversity Plan for the University of Maryland Eastern Shore will address cultural diversity (racial and ethnic groups) among its students, faculty and staff populations.

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore seeks to provide realistic goals for diversity relative to student, faculty and staff. The goal, however, from the “Diversity Plan” is to match or reflect the diversity of the student body. Therefore, all goals will be set at a level to match student enrollment. The terms African-American and non-African-American will be the terminology used for the establishment of goals. The term non-African-American will include: Native-American, Asian-American, Hispanic-Americans, White, Foreign and others.

GOAL 1: Climate for Living, Learning and Working

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore is committed to fostering a campus environment of inclusion, knowledge and understanding in which faculty, staff and students learn to value diversity and to respect the individual differences that enrich the University community.

Goal 1.A.: Campus Environment – Continue to build and maintain a campus environment that is inclusive, safe and respectful for people.

Key Strategies:

1.A.1

Establish or enhance systems for generating feedback from students, faculty and staff about the status of campus climate and utilize survey information in formulating future strategies. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy leaders: Vice Presidents)

1.A.2

Identify practices or policies that may have negative impacts or create barriers for particular populations and develop coordinated strategies for addressing any issues identified. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents)

1.A.3

Continue to enhance core services for students with disabilities, including assistive technology, interpreting services and learning needs assistance. Progress Report: May 1, 2010 (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents and the Director of Access and Academic Success)

1.A.4

Increase awareness by faculty and staff regarding the needs of students with disabilities and set specific responsibilities and expectations for the enhancement of campus services and programs, including classroom experiences. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents and the Director for Access and Academic Success)

1.A.5

Review and broaden the orientation for new faculty, staff, and students to include cultural norms, climate, services, resources and other diversity-oriented topics. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents, Interim Increase support for improved teaching about diversity and for teaching an increasingly diverse student body. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs)

1.B.3

Increase opportunities for gaining knowledge and understanding of the unique history and perspectives of non-African-American groups, including curricular enhancements and extracurricular programming, to improve the overall education experience. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents)

1.B.4

Promote and increase opportunities for Study Abroad experiences by students, including economically disadvantaged students and non-African American group. Progress Report: May 10, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs and Director for the Center for International Education)

GOAL 2: Student Access and Opportunity

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore is committed to ensuring equal access and opportunity for high quality education at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES) for all non-African American students.

Goal 2.A.: Undergraduate Degrees Awarded – Demonstrate continuing improvement in the number of bachelor's degrees earned by non-African American students. (The total number of degrees for the 2007-2008 baseline reporting year was 119.) (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs)

Contributing Goals:

Goal 2.A.1

New Students – Demonstrate continuing improvement in the number of new non-African American students who enter UMES as freshmen and transfers. (The total for the 2008-2009 baseline reporting year was 226 (18%) of 1,237.) (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Student Life and Enrollment Management and Academic Deans)

Goal 2.A.2

Retention Rates – Continue to enhance the first-year retention rate for non-African American students. (The rate for the 2008-2009 baseline reporting year was 65 (68%) of 96.) (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs)

Key Strategies:

2.A.1

By racial/ethnic group, analyze numerical and percentage trends in degrees awarded, graduation and retention rates, applications, admission and yield rates, and number of new students. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Director of Institutional Effectiveness and Assessment)

2.A.2

Engage student body to assist with recruitment of non-African American students and to contribute to retention through academic support services. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Student Life and Enrollment Management)

2.A.3.

Develop and/or enhance highly focused recruitment strategies aimed at non-African American high-school students, including such initiatives as:

- Building productive partnerships with key high schools that have high concentrations of non-African American students.
- Coordinating outreach programs targeting communities of non-African Americans.
- Expanding participation in summer programs on campus targeting non-African American students.

- Increasing participation in the Admissions Office's program for linking UMES non-African American students as mentors to non-African American students in the local public schools.

Progress Report: May 1, 2010 (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Student Life and Enrollment Management and Vice President for Academic Affairs)

2.A.4

Build partnerships with community colleges aimed at attracting non-African American transfer students to UMES, as well as easing the transition between colleges. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Student Life and Enrollment Management and Vice President for Academic Affairs)

2.A.5

Expand academic support services provided by the Center for Access and Academic Success to extend services beyond the freshman year. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs)

2.A.6

Establish specific strategies by each school and college for increasing the number of degrees earned by non-African-American students; monitor and report progress annually. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs and Academic Deans)

2.A.7

Extend current networks of staff, faculty, and administrators who can support and advise non-African American students toward achievement of academic success. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Academic Deans)

2.A.8

Establish or enhance a set of core services by each school/college and division aimed at increasing success rates of non-African-American students. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Academic Deans)

Goal 2.B: Graduate Degrees Awarded - Demonstrate continuing improvement in the number of graduate degrees (including master's and doctoral degrees) earned by African-American students. (The total for the 2008-2009 baseline reporting year was 36 (41%) of 87.)

Contributing Goal:

Goal 2.B.1: New Graduate Students: Demonstrate continuing improvement in the number of new graduate-level (including master's and doctoral) African-American students. (The total for the 2008-2009 baseline reporting year was 55 (42%) of 131.)

Key Strategies:

2.B.1

By racial/ethnic group, analyze trends in the numbers and percentages of graduate degrees awarded, applications, admission and yield rates, and number of African-American new graduate students. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Dean of the School of Graduate Studies and Director for Institutional Research, Assessment and Evaluation)

2.B.2

Enhance recruitment strategies aimed at prospective African-American graduate students, including establishing positive relationships with other institutions, utilizing alumni groups in recruitment, and enhancing faculty contact with prospective graduate African-American students. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Dean of the School of Graduate Studies)

2.B.3

Seek enhanced funding for African-American graduate student fellowships. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Dean of the School of Graduate Studies)

2.B.4

Establish effective mentoring programs for advising and supporting African-American graduate students, aimed at increasing success rates. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Academic Deans and Department Chairs)

2.B.5

Develop partnerships with the National Association of Graduate and Professional Students (NAGPS) for enhancing recruitment and retention of African-American graduate students. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Dean of the School of Graduate Studies)

2.B.6

Provide career advising and placement services for all graduate students, including those from underrepresented groups, to help improve recruitment and retention. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Dean of the School of Graduate Studies and Director of Career Planning)

GOAL 3: Diverse Faculty and Staff

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore is committed to building and maintaining a diverse community of faculty and staff that reflects a broad range of racial/ethnic groups, cultures, and perspectives.

Goal 3.A.: African-American Faculty - Demonstrate continuing improvement in the number of African-American tenured and tenure-track faculty. (The total for the 2008-2009 baseline reporting year was 44 (40%) of 110.)

Key Strategies:

3.A.1

Establish strategies and implementation plans by schools and colleges for increasing the number of tenured and tenure-track African-American faculty and monitor and report progress annually. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs, Academic Deans, Department Chairs and other designees).

3.A.2

Engage African-American faculty in successful recruitment and professional development efforts to aid in attracting and retaining diverse faculty. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President Academic Affairs, Academic Deans and other designees)

3.A.3

Enhance support for special opportunities in the Division of Academic Affairs to help broaden faculty diversity. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: President, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Academic Deans, Department Chairs and other designees)

3.A.4

Encourage enhanced professional development opportunities for all faculty. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs, Associate Vice Presidents, Academic Deans, Department Chairs and other designees)

3.A.5

Improve communication and understanding about recent changes in tenure procedures that offer broader criteria in research, teaching, and service to enhance opportunities for all faculty. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs, Associate Vice Presidents, Academic Deans, Department Chairs and other designees)

3.A.6

Enhance mentoring programs for tenure-track faculty. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs, Academic Deans, Department Chairs and other designees)

3.A.7

Continue and enhance early preparation workshops on tenure processes and expectations. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs, Academic Deans, Department Chairs and other designees)

3.A.8

Continue to develop an exit interview process to identify opportunities for improvement in retention of all faculty. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Academic Deans and Department Chairs)

3.A.9

Increase research grant funding to expand research opportunities for all faculty. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Academic Deans and Department Chairs)

3.A.10

Encourage faculty to take responsibility for their professional goals and objectives (grant writing). Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice President for Academic Affairs, Academic Deans, Department Chairs and other designees)

Goal 3.B: Non African-American Administrators - Maintain the number of non-African American full-time Executive/Administrative/Managerial Staff. (The total for the baseline reporting year of 2008-2009 was 17 (25%) of 69.)

Key Strategies:

3.B.1

Develop specific strategies by schools and divisions for maintaining non-African American Executive/Administrative/Managerial staff. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents)

3.B.2

Engage non-African American administrators in successful recruitment and professional development efforts to aid in attracting non-African American administrative leaders. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents)

3.B.3

Examine recruiting practices for Executive/Administrative/Managerial staff to determine opportunities for enhancing diversity. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Director of Human Resources)

3.B.4

Develop exit interview process to identify opportunities for improved retention of non-African American administrators. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents and Academic Deans)

Goal 3.C.: Non African-American Staff Members - Demonstrate continuing improvement in the number of job titles where non-African Americans are currently underrepresented. (The total for the 2008-2009 baseline reporting year was 96 (22.2%) of 432.)

Key Strategies:

3.C.1

Implement high-priority recommendations by Human Resource Management to attract potential employees from underrepresented non-African Americans. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Vice Presidents and Director of Human Resources)

3.C.2

Enhance staff development opportunities and succession strategies to improve upward mobility across the campus. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Academic Deans and Department Chairs)

3.C.3

Develop exit interview process to identify opportunities for improved retention of non-African American staff. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Director of Human Resources)

3.C.4

Evaluate retention of non-African American staff by department; establish strategies and implementation plans at both the department and division levels to improve retention. Progress Report: May 1, 2010. (Strategy Leaders: Academic Deans and Department Chairs)

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES FOR REPORTING CAMPUS BASED HATE CRIMES AND BIAS-MOTIVATED INCIDENTS

The University System of Maryland has a policy on acts of violence and extremism that addresses hate crimes and encourages its institutions to pursue criminal prosecution of persons committing such acts under State and Federal criminal laws.

The University has a sworn police force with the power to enforce the laws of the State of Maryland. As such, the University Department of Public Safety enforces all applicable laws including those specifically covering hate crimes. The University also has a Fair Practices Officer/Equity Officer that is trained by State Office of Equal Employment Opportunity which enforces all workplace discrimination laws including those regarding hate crimes. The Fair Practices/Equal Opportunity Officer is trained to investigate all types of discrimination that occur in the workplace and is trained to take appropriate action to safeguard the welfare of all employees. Because we are a small campus, the Fair Practices Officer/Equity Officer handles all cases of discrimination involving students, faculty, and staff. Since we have relatively few such complaints, the officer is able to accommodate all campus constituents. Additionally, our Fair Practices Officer/Equity Officer is an attorney licensed in the State of Maryland and knowledgeable of the various laws that pertain to hate crimes and other forms of discrimination. We also have pamphlets from the State of Maryland that are displayed prominently in the Human Resources Office that specifically address hate crimes, various resources, and complaint procedures.

Complaints of Hate or Bias incidents may be reported to the Director of Public Safety if a crime has been committed and/or to the Office of Human Resources Fair Practices/Equity Officer if the incident is not of a criminal nature. The Hate or Bias Incident form may be accessed at our Diversity Website linked to the Human Resources Webpage. Your complaint form may be delivered by mail or in person to the Fair Practices/Equity Officer located in the Office of Human Resources, UMES, J.T. Williams Building; Princess Anne, MD 21853.

University of Maryland Eastern Shore
Institutional Plan for Cultural Diversity

Interim Plan for 2019-2020 - draft

Note: Data submitted for the next cycle of the Institutional Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report, which is required by 11-406 of the Education Article will be based on a newly envisioned plan for the University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES). Each core principle/goal will include measurable outcomes to effectively tell a data driven story about cultural diversity at UMES. The interim plan below is still in progress.

Note: The institution will create a committee composed of various professionals to assist with reimagining diversity at UMES. The work of the committee will be complete in summer 2019. Committee composition will include Institutional Equity and Compliance, Academic Affairs, Enrollment Management and Student Experience, and Human Resources.

Strategic Diversity Goals:

The broad goals and framework are structured around four core diversity principles that have been central to developing a sustainable institutional frame work and set of initiatives focused on cultural diversity.

Core Principle/Goal #1: Curriculum/Training

- Academic curriculum, research, and training/workshops.
  - To be developed.

Core Principle/Goal #2: Recruitment

- Increase proportion of the underrepresented (non-African American American) and students from other cultures; promote academic success of underrepresented graduate students; increase diversity of faculty; and attract and hire a diverse classified and unclassified staff.
  - To be developed.

Core Principle/Goal #3: Retention

- Beyond attracting students, faculty, and staff, the prime objective is to ensure that undergraduate and graduate students graduate in a timely manner, faculty are tenured and promoted, and staff move through the ranks and remain at the institution.
  - To be developed.

Core Principle/Goal #4: Culture

- Develop deep levels of understanding of culture and difference by continuously working to foster campus environment that supports learning, development, and engagement across and between all members of the community.
  - Develop and improve ways to promote and advance multicultural understanding, cultural competence, and enhance initiatives that build cross cultural skills, knowledge, and understanding.
  - Increase the dialogue and communication around diversity and University System of Maryland's core belief about the positive impact of diversity on learning, collaboration, and achievement.
  - Reward, recognize, and motivate engagement in diversity from an administrative and foundational level – build and support processes and activities that meaningfully recognize engagement in diversity.

Institution: University of Maryland University College Date Submitted: April 17, 2019

Point(s) of Contact (names and email addresses): Blair Hayes Blair.Hayes@UMUC.edu

Overall Guidelines:

- For the 2018-2019 Programs of Cultural Diversity Annual Progress Report, complete the two sections (and subsections) in this template.
- In total (including all statements and tables) your report should be 10 to 12 pages.
- Please submit your report to Zakiya Lee (zlee@usmd.edu) by Wednesday, April 17, 2019.
- The USM will generate the desired demographic information; institutions are not responsible for providing that information.

Section I: Progress Report: §11-406 of the Education Article states that each public institution of higher education in the State shall submit a progress report regarding the institution's implementation of a plan for a program of cultural diversity. Progress on the following institutional goals should be reported:

Goal 1: Increase the numerical representation of traditionally underrepresented groups among students, administrative staff, and faculty.

Goal 2: Create positive interactions and cultural awareness among students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery.

Goals 1 and 2 will be reported in Table 1 and Table 2 below; no additional narrative is needed. Details should include strategies for implementation, metrics to measure how progress is being evaluated, indicators of success about how progress has been achieved, and areas where continuous improvement is needed for select, key initiatives and strategies. Goal 3 should be provided in a brief statement as noted below.

Guidelines for Section I:

- Submissions for Section I (Table 1, Table 2, and Statement 1) should be 10 to 12 pages.
- Bulleted, succinct descriptions of major initiatives and strategies are ideal.

Section I - Statement 1: Reporting of Institutional Goal 3

Goal 3: Provide a statement regarding the process for the reporting of campus-based hate crimes as consistent with federal requirements under Clery. Do not include statistics.

Any individual who feels they may have been subjected to a campus based hate crime or feels they are being threatened can contact the Response Emergency Assessment Crisis Team (REACT). The REACT Team is a 24 hour/7 days a week hotline that includes individuals from Diversity and Equity, Legal Affairs, Security, and Human Resources. All threats, concerns, or issues that constitute a threat to an individual or that would constitute a crime based on a protected category are investigated through this network. Further, we have established Memorandums of Understanding (MOUs) with local law enforcement agencies to ensure that any crimes can be reported and responded to quickly by both internal security and external police forces.

Section II: Institutional Plan: §11-406 of the Education Article states that each public institution of higher education in the State shall develop and implement a plan for a program of cultural diversity that enhances cultural diversity programming and sensitivity to cultural diversity through instruction and training of the student body, faculty, and staff at the institution of higher education. The plan should include:

- i. Implementation strategy and a timeline for meeting goals within the plan;
- ii. A description of the way the institution addresses cultural diversity among its student, faculty, and staff populations;
- iii. A description of how the institution plans to enhance cultural diversity (if improvement is needed);
- iv. A process for reporting campus-based hate crimes; and
- v. A summary of any resources, including State grants, needed by the institution to effectively recruit and retain a culturally-diverse student body.

Please submit your narrative Institutional Plan for a Program of Cultural Diversity. Your institutional plan should align with the information you shared in Section I. The Plan should be in an appendix and should not be included in the 12-page maximum.

*Appendix
Institutional Plan*

- i. Implementation strategy and a timeline for meeting goals within the plan;
- ii. A description of the way the institution addresses cultural diversity among its student, faculty, and staff populations;
- iii. A description of how the institution plans to enhance cultural diversity (if improvement is needed);
- iv. A process for reporting campus-based hate crimes; and
- v. A summary of any resources, including State grants, needed by the institution to effectively recruit and retain a culturally-diverse student body.

i. Implementation strategy and timeline for meeting goals within the plan

The Diversity and Equity Office is comprised of the Multicultural Programs and Training Unit, the Resolution Management Unit, the Accessibility Services Unit, the Title IX Coordinator, and the Fair Practices Officer. Together the office is responsible for maintaining and elevating the climate for diversity and inclusion throughout the UMUC Community. The office supports these efforts throughout the Stateside Offices and has grown to include diversity representatives serving UMUC staff, faculty, and students in Europe and Asia.

The guiding principles of our implementation plan are centered on:

- Senior-level Commitment: Key to sustainability and growth
- Balance: Bottom-up and Top-down
- Inclusivity: Diversity is everyone's responsibility
- Tailored for our Culture: Tied to educational and departmental goals
- Scalability: Address underlying processes, do not just add programs
- Deliberateness: Developed for the long-term
- Action: Measure what people can manage to do
- Programmatic: Similar to our approach to promoting student advancement

The diversity plan is reviewed every two years to ensure that the goals and strategic elements are consistent with the overall mission of the University. The current plan runs through 2020 and will be re-evaluated in the 3rd quarter of 2020 to examine what(if any) changes will be required for the next plan roll out.

UMUC Mission Statement

University of Maryland University College (UMUC) is committed to reflecting the diversity of the global community in which its students, faculty, and staff live. As an institution committed to academic excellence, UMUC celebrates racial, social, cultural, and intellectual diversity, welcoming people from all backgrounds and cultures, while also supporting divergent ideas and opinions. Diversity is one of UMUC's core values, a set of principles designed to guide institutional and individual professional behaviors, and is an integral part of the teaching and learning success of the university. It is the variety in the perspectives, beliefs, and experiences of all members of the UMUC community that helps make the university a world leader in distance learning in higher education.

UMUC advances the appreciation of diversity and inclusion by:

- Attracting faculty, students, and staff of diverse backgrounds
- Fostering an atmosphere of acceptance and inclusion
- Promoting open and honest discussions regarding diversity and inclusion issues
- Conducting ongoing assessments and strategic planning
- Providing communication and feedback channels to continuously improve programs and initiatives

- Diversity Councils/Employee Resource Groups
- Core Values and Diversity Competencies

- Cultural Celebrations and Recognitions
- Awards and Recognitions

iii. A description of how the institution plans to enhance cultural diversity(if improvement is needed)

UMUC will advance the appreciation of cultural diversity and inclusion by:

- Attracting faculty, students, and staff of diverse backgrounds
- Fostering an atmosphere of acceptance and inclusion
- Promoting open and honest discussions regarding diversity and inclusion issues
- Conducting ongoing assessments and strategic planning
- Providing communication and feedback channels to continuously improve programs and initiatives

iv. A process for reporting campus based hate crimes

Any individual who feels they may have been subjected to a campus based hate crime or feels they are being threatened can contact the Response Emergency Assessment Crisis Team (REACT). The REACT Team is a 24 hour/7 days a week hotline that includes individuals from Diversity and Equity, Legal Affairs, Security, and Human Resources. TOPIC: Amendments to USM Policy on Faculty Workload and Responsibilities (II-I.25)COMMITTEE: Education Policy and Student LifeDATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The Committee is asked to review and approve revisions to the USM's Policy on Faculty Workload and Responsibilities (II-I.25). The main purpose of this policy is to promote optimal performance by the USM institutions in meeting the needs and expectations of its students and other stakeholders and to provide mechanisms that will ensure public accountability for that performance, particularly as it relates to faculty work. The USM's current faculty workload reporting and policies were initially adopted in 1994, amended in 1999 and then again in 2003-2004 as part of the USM Effectiveness and Efficiency process. The basic units of work, data collection, and the reporting outputs have remained largely unchanged throughout this period. This stability has helped advance the public perception of the policy as a strong accountability tool and enabled USM and state oversight agencies to compare data over time.

However, as the nature of faculty work has evolved since 1994, the current reporting process has developed a number of issues --most of these resulting from the reporting requirements' rigidity. It is becoming increasingly clear that, not only has the current emphasis on measuring and equating all "teaching" activities to 3-credit hour course units become outdated, but it is also becoming constraining for faculty, departments, and institutions attempting to engage in various academic innovations. With these issues in mind, the Faculty Workload Workgroup is recommending changes to the policy to improve accuracy and coverage, align with current practice, and incentivize policy goals around academic innovation and student success. At this meeting we will review specific changes made and request committee approval of the revised policy and the associated guidelines.

ALTERNATIVE(S): The regents may not approve the amendments, may make recommendations, or may ask for additional information.

FISCAL IMPACT: There is no fiscal impact associated with these proposed amendments.

CHANCELLOR'S RECOMMENDATION: That the Education Policy and Student Life Committee recommend that the Board of Regents approve the proposed amendments to and guidelines accompanying the USM Policy on Faculty Workload and Responsibilities (II-I.25).

II-1.25-POLICY ON FACULTY WORKLOAD AND RESPONSIBILITIES

(Approved by the Board of Regents, August 19, 1994; Amended by the Board of Regents, July 9, 1999; Revised XXXXX)

I. Purpose

The purpose of the "USM Policy on Faculty Workload and Responsibilities" is to promote optimal performance by the University System of Maryland and by each of its institutions in meeting the needs and expectations of its students and other stakeholders, and to provide mechanisms that will ensure public accountability for that performance. Because faculty are the primary performers of the System's teaching, research/scholarship/creative activity, and service, the policy should encourage and support faculty in applying their ingenuity, imagination, initiative, knowledge, experience, and professional skills in performing many diverse functions. Faculty are expected to meet their responsibilities independently and in full accord with both institutional expectations, policies, and procedures and established tenets of academic freedom.

This policy acknowledges the essential development of knowledge through research, scholarship, and creative activity and its application to societal needs, while keeping student learning the central focus of our degree-granting institutions. At the same time, this policy and the "USM Guidelines for Reporting Faculty Workload" document provide the flexibility to accommodate our evolving understanding of human learning and recognition of the role faculty play outside the classroom to address the instructional needs of our increasingly diverse student population, including advising, mentoring, and various academic innovation activities.

II. Application

The policy applies to the following individuals:

1. All persons holding tenured and tenure-track positions who are classified as faculty (instructional, research, and public service) and are so reported to the Maryland Higher Education Commission through the Employee Data System;
2. All persons who, while holding faculty rank, are classified as administrators and are so reported to the Maryland Higher Education Commission through the Employee Data System, and perform their administrative duties at the level of academic department or equivalent academic unit, including chairs, assistant chairs, program director, etc. This policy does not apply to individuals who hold faculty rank but who are assigned to administrative duties outside the department or equivalent academic units, for example, deans, vice presidents, presidents, etc.

USM Bylaws, Policies and Procedures of the Board of Regents

3. All persons who, while neither tenured nor on the tenure track, are employed full time by the USM, are classified as instructional faculty, and are so reported to the Maryland Higher Education Commission through the Employee Data System; and
4. All persons who, while neither tenured nor on the tenure track, are employed full time by the USM, are classified as research faculty, and are so reported to the Maryland Higher Education Commission through the Employee Data System, and whose salaries are supported, in whole or in part, by state funds. This policy does not apply to individuals who are classified as research faculty but whose salary is fully supported by non-state funds, e.g., federal research grants.
5. Policies on workload expectations for non-tenured, non-tenure track instructional or research faculty who are employed other than full-time will be established by institutional policy.

III. Institutional Policy

Each institutional president shall establish, in consultation with faculty and academic administrators, and subject to approval by the Chancellor, institution-specific policy and implementation mechanisms consistent with the University System of Maryland's "Policy on Faculty Workload and Responsibilities." Institution-specific policies, including proviso for departmental/school variation, shall include explicit statements of expectations and accountability mechanisms, including the means for comparing faculty performance with workload expectations and reporting the results of such comparisons.

IV. Standard Workload Expectations

Each institution's policy shall include standard expectations for faculty workload. Generally, standard workload expectations will cover teaching, research/ scholarship/creative activity, and service, and shall be consistent with the mission of the institution. However, in order to focus on the centrality of student learning across all USM institutions, workload expectations for each faculty member with respect to teaching shall be assigned in a way that ensures the institution is generating enough credit hours for students to complete their degree requirements in a timely fashion. Additionally, all faculty members, including those with administrative responsibilities at the departmental level, should have a portion of their overall workload dedicated to some aspect of teaching, even if made up only of activities such as mentoring and curriculum development.

The following table provides percentage of load ranges by institution type for standard workload expectations in the areas of teaching, research/ scholarship/creative activity, and service. It is understood that there may be differences across departments, schools, or colleges of an institution, as approved by its president. Additionally, the balance among teaching, research/scholarship/ creative activity, and service for an individual faculty member will likely change over the faculty member's career.

USM Bylaws, Policies and Procedures of the Board of Regents

---

INSTITUTION TYPE	TEACHING	RESEARCH/SCHOLARSHIP/ CREATIVE ACTIVITY	SERVICE
COMPREHENSIVE % of Total Effort	60-75	15-30	5-20
RESEARCH % of Total Effort	45-55	35-45	5-20
DEGREE-GRANTING RESEARCH CENTER % of Total Effort	5-15	75-85	15-25

In addition to classroom time, teaching effort includes all concomitant activities necessary to the preparation, delivery, and evaluation of teaching and learning, including the various forms of student advising and course/curricular redesign. Research/scholarship/creative activity effort includes but is not limited to discovery research, artistic and creative work, entrepreneurial activity, and/or the scholarship of teaching and learning (integration, application, dissemination, and implementation of innovative pedagogical approaches). Service effort includes but is not limited to contributions to department, school, institution, system, discipline, and/or society more generally through participation in governance processes, evaluation and assessment activities, and/or other activities that benefit students, the institution, and/or the community.

The sum of the "% of total effort" in each area must equal 100% for each individual faculty member. For each faculty member, any substantial difference between the actual and the standard expectation for any basic workload area will be balanced by compensating changes in one or both of the other basic workload areas. Workload expectations for each faculty member should be reviewed annually by the responsible department chair and/or other appropriate administrator in consultation with the faculty member and adjusted as necessary and appropriate.

The institutional faculty reward structure will take into account the workload expectations for each faculty member. Institutions shall develop procedures for the systematic review of faculty, recognize outstanding performance, and establish consequences for failure to fulfill expectations.

V. Variations to Standard Workload Expectations.

All faculty at degree-granting institutions are expected to be involved in teaching, research/scholarship/creative activity, and service as previously defined. Recognizing that some faculty will assume new or additional responsibilities in any one of these areas, variations to the standard workload may be made. However, the department is responsible for making the necessary adjustments in the total faculty workload so that departmental expectations in each of these areas are fulfilled. These expectations shall be determined by student enrollments, curricular needs, and accreditation requirements; consistent with the resources available to the department; and approved by the institution's president.

USM Bylaws, Policies and Procedures of the Board of Regents

Variations to the standard workload may be made based on the following considerations:

1. Teaching. Variations from the standard teaching load may be based upon a number of factors, including class size; development of new courses; modality of instruction (such as distance education); level of instruction; discipline; accreditation requirements; etc.
2. Departmental Administration. Assumption of responsibility for the functions of chair, assistant chair, or program director, or for special departmental projects, may require reduction of expectations for service, research/scholarship/creative activity or instruction. The magnitude of such reduction shall be dependent on the scope of administrative responsibilities and size of the department.
3. Externally Funded Research and Service Activities. Assignment of a higher percentage of a faculty member's workload for research or service activities can be supported by external funds, either research or training grants. In these instances, the accompanying reduction of expectations in other areas should mirror the replacement of departmental salary support by externally funded salary support.
4. Department-Supported Research. (Departmental Research). Assignment of a higher percentage of a faculty member's workload for research activities supported by the department and consequent reduction of expectations for service or teaching should be related to the institution's mission.
5. Department-Supported Service, including service to the institution, system, community, discipline. Assignment of additional time in areas of service and consequent reduction of expectations for research/scholarship/ creative activity or instruction should be directly related to the duration and the extent of the commitment. For example, individual faculty members may be released from the standard expectation in the areas of research/ scholarship/creative activity or instruction in order to make major professional contributions -- e.g., to work in partnership with the public schools or with business or industry.

Each institution's policy shall account for and justify variations to the standard workload expectations. Institutions shall make the minimum number of exceptions necessary for fulfillment of its institutional mission.

VI. Accountability and Reporting

The focus of external accountability to the Regents and to the State for faculty workload will be the institution, not the individual faculty member, and comprise measures of faculty contributions to student success, their disciplines, and the institution.

Each president shall submit annually to the Chancellor an accountability report following the "USM Guidelines for Reporting Faculty Workload" document developed by the University System of Maryland Office in collaboration with the USM's shared governance bodies and stakeholders.

USM GUIDELINES FOR REPORTING FACULTY WORKLOAD

DRAFT May 1, 2019

Pursuant to the “USM Policy on Faculty Workload and Responsibilities,” this document provides guidelines to the USM institutions for annually accounting and reporting to the Chancellor the extent to which faculty are meeting standard workload expectations with respect to student success, their disciplines, and the institution. These guidelines, which will be reviewed and updated regularly by the University System of Maryland Office in collaboration with the USM’s shared governance bodies and stakeholders, are intended to allow adjustments to the measures reported as the faculty role on our campuses and our ability to capture data on faculty work continues to evolve.

Each year in the spring, the USM Office will provide the system institutions with instructions for reporting faculty contributions to student success, their disciplines, and the institution for the previous academic year. As described below, the focus of external accountability will be the institution, not the individual faculty member.

1. Measures of Faculty Contributions to Student Success: Because student success is the central focus of our degree-granting institutions, the primary measure of institutional accountability will be made up of the following student throughput measures that apply to all institutions and that reflect more broadly and inclusively how the work all faculty do results in the progress of students through our institutions (by part-time and full-time students):

- credit hours generated,
- enrollments,
- retention,
- persistence,
- completion,
- and time-to-completion rates.

In addition to the quantitative measures of student throughput, the institutions will also be held accountable for metrics that provide an indication of the quality of faculty-student interactions. These could include but are not limited to: advisement and mentoring; supervision of fieldwork and other off-campus activities (e.g. civic engagement and community-based learning); supervision of creative activity (performances, arts); curricular, program, and course development; and academic innovation activities (new pedagogical approaches, use of technology, development of open educational resources).

2. Measures of Faculty Contributions to their Discipline: While measures that account for faculty role in student success make up the basis of the report, the reputation of USM institutions is also built on the contributions faculty make to their disciplines locally, nationally, and internationally. So, in addition to instructional and student success activities, documenting faculty contributions to the research/scholarship/creative activity of their disciplines, the reputation and financial resources of their institutions through funded projects, and the economic success of the state through entrepreneurial activity are also critical measures of faculty work.

USM Bylaws, Policies and Procedures of the Board of Regents

These could include but are not limited to: amount of external funding; number of books published; number of refereed publications; number of non-refereed publications; participation in professional presentations; participation in creative activities; leadership of professional organizations; editorial and national reviewing activities; awards; entrepreneurial activities (company start-ups, patents, licenses).

3. Measures of Faculty Contributions to the Institution and the System: No institution or state system of higher education can be successful without the engagement of faculty in service and administrative roles. Documenting faculty contributions in supporting the institutional/system infrastructure is also an important part of our accountability to the Regents and the State.

These could include but are not limited to: service to institution (committees); academic administration assignments (course director, supervisory roles, review of adjuncts); peer mentoring and leadership development; support of more non-traditional and new platforms for teaching; days in public service to business, government, schools, and non-profit organizations; compliance / accreditation and assessment.

TOPIC: Amendments to USM Policy on the Awarding of Honorary Degrees (III-3.00)

DATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The USM Office of Academic and Student Affairs proposes to amend the USM's Policy on the Awarding of Honorary Degrees (III-3.00) to provide for a process by which an institution may request that the Board of Regents revoke an honorary degree on the basis that the honorary degree holder no longer meets the criteria or upholds the standards for which the degree was awarded or the honorary degree holder has engaged in conduct that is antithetical to the mission or values of the USM. The necessity of such language has been discussed by the USM institutions' provosts and faculty senate chairs. The attached amendments have been approved by the Office of the Attorney General.

ALTERNATIVE(S): The regents may not approve the amendments, may make recommendations, or may ask for additional information.

FISCAL IMPACT: There is no fiscal impact associated with these proposed amendments.

CHANCELLOR'S RECOMMENDATION: That the Education Policy and Student Life Committee recommend that the Board of Regents approve the proposed amendments to the USM Policy on the Awarding of Honorary Degrees (III-3.00).

USM Bylaws, Policies and Procedures of the Board of Regents

III-3.00 – POLICY ON THE AWARDING OF HONORARY DEGREES

(Approved by the Board of Regents, November 30, 1989; Amended July 13, 2001; Amended February 17, 2017; Amended )

1. Each institution is authorized to grant honorary degrees with approval by the Board of Regents.
2. Each year, the Chancellor shall solicit nominations from institutions with a deadline for receipt of the materials at the end of the fall semester. The Committee on Education Policy and Student Life will review all nominations and make recommendations to the full Board. Full Board action will occur during the February meeting.
3. In accordance with standard practice at American institutions of higher learning, care should be taken to ensure strict confidentiality at all stages of the honorary degree process. In particular, there should be no communication with prospective degree recipients regarding a likely degree until after the Board of Regents has approved the award. After approval, presidents may begin to arrange for the awarding of the degree. Approvals shall remain confidential until the candidate is notified of his/her selection. Degrees may be conferred at any time within five years of approval, unless withdrawn by the Board of Regents for cause.
4. Each institution shall establish procedures for recommending candidates for these degrees. Procedures shall, in all cases, include, at a minimum, a means for soliciting nominations from schools, departments, and individual faculty members and shall describe the review process and the role of the faculty in the process. Procedures shall be on file in the Chancellor's Office.
5. Prospective recipients of honorary degrees shall exemplify the highest standards of personal and professional conduct, and shall have
  1. made exceptional contributions in intellectual, scholarly, or creative areas; or
  2. risen to a position of eminence in their chosen field or who have acquired a national or international reputation in a selected field or endeavor; or
  3. compiled a record of distinguished public service.
6. Normally, honorary degrees may not be conferred on currently serving faculty, staff, members of the Board of Regents, or current holders of political office (elected or appointed). Exceptions for compelling reasons can be made only by two-thirds majority vote of the Board of Regents.

7. The president of an institution that wishes to award an honorary degree shall submit a recommendation to the Chancellor. The written recommendation shall include the following information:

- a. type of honorary degree to be awarded (e.g., Doctor of Humane Letters, Doctor of Laws, Doctor of Public Service, Doctor of Sciences);
- b. biographical sketch of the proposed recipients;
- c. justification for awarding the degree; and
- d. probable date of award.

8. The Chancellor shall submit the request to the Board for consideration and shall inform the president of the institution of the Board's decision.

9. The president shall report to the Chancellor in a timely fashion all honorary degrees awarded.

10. If an institution president concludes that an honorary degree holder no longer meets the criteria or upholds the standards for which the degree was awarded or if the institution president learns that the honorary degree holder has engaged in conduct that is antithetical to the mission or values of the University System of Maryland and/or the honorary degree-granting institution, that institution's president can recommend that the Board of Regents take action to revoke that recipient's honorary degree, and the Board will consider the recommendation.

BOARD OF REGENTSSUMMARY OF ITEM FOR ACTION,
INFORMATION, OR DISCUSSIONTOPIC: Recension of the USM Policy on AIDS (VI-11.00)COMMITTEE: Education Policy and Student LifeDATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: Upon urging from a member of one of our institutions, Dr. Joann Boughman and her team established a workgroup of experts from several USM institutions and the Office of the Attorney General to review USM's Policy on AIDS (VI-11.00) ("the Policy"). The Policy was adopted by the Board of Regents in 1990 and has not been amended since that time. The group identified several concerns about the Policy. One concern relates to the extent to which students, faculty, and staff with HIV/AIDS (currently defined as a disability under applicable law) may be treated differently under the Policy from similarly situated students, faculty, and staff without HIV/AIDS. Another concern is that the Policy could be interpreted to allow for housing discrimination based on an individual's HIV/AIDS status. Application of the Policy could conflict with USM's legal obligations under the Americans with Disabilities Act, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Fair Housing Act, the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008, and the Maryland Fair Employment Practices Act. It is also in conflict with other USM and institutional policies prohibiting discrimination on the basis of disability. Since the Policy represents an outdated view of HIV/AIDS inconsistent with current state and federal law, we seek to rescind the Policy. The aforementioned workgroup has already begun researching institutions' policies and offering suggestions regarding the establishment of a policy on blood-borne pathogens that will meet the letter of the law and reflect the many changes that have been realized since the Policy was established.

ALTERNATIVE(S): The regents may not approve the recension, may make recommendations, or may ask for additional information.

FISCAL IMPACT: There is no fiscal impact associated with these proposed amendments.

CHANCELLOR'S RECOMMENDATION: That the Education Policy and Student Life Committee recommend that the Board of Regents approve the recension of the USM Policy on AIDS (VI-11.00).

167.0 VI-11.00 – UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND SYSTEM POLICY ON AIDS

(Approved by the Board of Regents, June 21, 1990)

A. The University of Maryland System Board of Regents recognizes that in many cases it will not be necessary or appropriate to deny any individual access to academic, social or employment opportunities because they have AIDS or are infected with HIV. The Board of Regents also recognizes that in some cases it will be necessary and prudent to limit or deny such opportunities to protect the health of the HIV-infected individual or to avoid inappropriate risk of transmission of the HIV virus in the course of study or employment.

B. In all matters relating to persons who have AIDS or who are infected with HIV, the University of Maryland System will observe requirements of applicable federal and state laws.

C. Faculty members, employees or students with any form of HIV infection will be permitted to continue their activities at an institution or unit without change to the extent (1) permitted by their health status, including their risk of contraction of infectious diseases from others; and (2) consistent with the University's interest in preventing infection of others.

D. Although current knowledge indicates that there is no health risk from living quarter contact with persons with AIDS or HIV infection, requests to change living arrangements (a) to minimize contact with persons with AIDS or (b) to minimize contact of the HIV-infected with other persons having infectious diseases will be considered.

E. Confidentiality will be observed by each institution or unit as to information about individuals who know or suspect that they have AIDS or HIV infection unless an exception is granted by the affected person, a report of infection is required by law, or a report of possible infection of others is required by law or infection control policy. However, such information will be shared among institution officials and the University's legal counsel on a need-to-know basis.

F. A program of education about AIDS and HIV prevention and transmission will be provided to students and employees by the institution or unit.

G. Each president or unit head may adopt infection control policies for his institution or unit dealing with the activities of HIV-infected faculty members, employees or students. Such policies are encouraged for institutions having faculty, students and employees involved in health care. For cases not falling under an infection control policy, each president or unit head shall appoint a committee to examine the matter, evaluate the risks presented to the faculty member, employee or student and to others, and recommend any reasonable measures to reduce or avoid risk of transmission of the HIV virus or unreasonable exposure of the HIV-infected individual to other contagious illnesses.

H. Each institution shall develop a policy, to include a procedure to deal with exposure to blood-borne pathogens, for the education and protection of employees at risk to infection from blood-borne diseases. All employees and students who handle human blood or other tissues will be provided personal protective equipment necessary to perform their jobs with minimum risk of infection.

I. Each institution and unit of the University of Maryland System shall designate an individual or office which will have responsibility for maintaining a current roster of agencies and organizations to which persons seeking further information about AIDS, including persons concerned that they may have AIDS or are infected with HIV, may be referred for counseling and other related services.

TOPIC: Campus Crime ReportsCOMMITTEE: Education Policy and Student LifeDATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The data included in this report are required by the Clery Act and the Higher Education Opportunity Act and are submitted annually by all postsecondary institutions that receive Title IV (federal student aid programs) funding. Additionally, the Department of Education requires that, by October 1 of each year, these institutions publish and distribute an annual campus security report to all current students and employees. The statistics represent alleged criminal offenses reported to campus security authorities and/or local police agencies and do not necessarily reflect prosecutions or convictions. And although the crime data reported by the institutions have not been subjected to independent verification, at this time, this is an important measure of campus safety and security.

The tables on crime reports by institution include criminal offenses, arrests, and campus disciplinary actions for violations that occurred in the following Clery geography: on-campus, noncampus, and public property. In addition to total number of reported incidents, the tables provide a rate that reflects the total number of incidents per 1,000 students. A trend table showing five years of system-wide data (total number of incidents in each category) is also included.

This report will inform the regents about various aspects of campus safety and security, providing context the regents may use to ask questions and make suggestions and recommendations about activities at institutions within the System.

2019 Campus Crime Report Summary

Campus safety and security are perennial topics of concern for those on college and university campuses, prospective families and students, and other stakeholders. The extent or perceived extent to which one will be safe on campus is a factor many weigh when deciding where they or their loved ones will pursue a postsecondary education. The United States Department of Education provides data to help constituents make such decisions. The USM Campus Crime Report compiles and presents those data as one measure of the safety and security of our institutions.

The Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990 (later renamed the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act) requires all postsecondary institutions that receive Title IV (federal student aid programs) funding to disclose campus crime statistics and security information. These publicly-available data (<https://ope.ed.gov/campusafety/#/>) represent alleged criminal offenses reported to campus security authorities and/or local police agencies and do not necessarily reflect prosecutions or convictions. The Department of Education also requires that, by October 1 of each year, these institutions publish and distribute an annual campus security report to all current students and employees.

The tables within this report provide information by institution for the most recent three years available – 2015, 2016, and 2017. The reports include statistics on a variety of criminal offenses, arrests, and campus disciplinary actions for violations that occurred on-campus, as well as in noncampus settings and on public property. In addition to the total number of reported incidents, the tables provide rates that reflect the total number of incidents per 1,000 students. A trend table showing five years of system-wide data is also included and is the basis for the following highlights:

Between 2016 and 2017 there were:

- Decreases in reports of fondling, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, motor vehicle theft, weapons possession violations, liquor law violations, and hate crimes.
- Increases in reports of murder/non-negligent manslaughter, rape, VAWA offenses, arson, and drug abuse violations.
- No changes in reports of negligent manslaughter, incest, and statutory rape, which all stand at zero (0).
- In 2017, USM's proportion of the following criminal offenses was higher than our proportional representation among all four-year public institutions that report to Clery: murder/non-negligent manslaughter, robbery, aggravated assault, and hate crimes.

- In 2017, USM's proportion of the following criminal offenses was lower than our proportional representation among all four-year public institutions that report to Clery: negligent manslaughter, rape, fondling, incest, statutory rape, VAWA offenses, burglary, motor vehicle theft, arson, weapons possession violations, drug abuse violations, and liquor law violations.

As the Department of Education notes on its website, these crime data are reported by the institutions and have not been subjected to independent verification. However, the Department does conduct audits into institutions' compliance with Clery. Reviews are initiated when a complaint is received, a media event raises concerns, a school's independent audit identifies areas of noncompliance, or for other reasons. Between 2010 and 2017, the Department of Education imposed 40 fines on colleges totaling over $5 million. Cases seem to be setting the precedent for higher fines, as institutions have recently been imposed fines of $1 million and $2.4 million. However, the average per violation fine is slightly more than $55,000. Nationally, some school administrators suggest that compliance with Clery reporting can be difficult and that unclear requirements can lead to costly violations for what some believe are paperwork errors. However, these audits have also revealed more serious violations including, but not limited to, failure to publish and distribute an annual security report, failure to report accurate crime statistics and provide documentation and records to substantiate crime statistics reported to the Department, failure to maintain an accurate and complete daily crime log, failure to issue timely warnings, and failure to provide consistent and/or accurate crime statistics in the annual security report and to the Department.

Closer to home, the USM Office of Internal Audit also conducts audits to verify that our institutions are in compliance with Clery/Department of Education guidelines. Since 2015, 11 USM institutions have been audited or reaudited. Internal Audit has found that most universities are in full compliance with Clery guidelines. Where there were violations, the auditors conducted follow-up audits to determine the schools' responses to recommendations that were made and annually assesses each institution's need for another full audit. This information is provided in detailed reports to the Chancellor and summarized reports for the Audit Committee of the Board of Regents and can be provided to other regents upon request.

These layers of review are important to the process. Ultimately, administrators know that Clery Act compliance is crucial, and keeping up with it is a year-round obligation. Campus officials are constantly adjusting and working hard to ensure the safety and security of our campus communities while appropriately tracking, disclosing, submitting, and publishing the information required by law and due to the public.

Glossary

Aggravated Assault

An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault usually is accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm.

Arrest

Persons processed by arrests, citation, or summons.

Arson

Any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

Burglary

The unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or a theft.

Dating Violence

Violence committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim. The existence of such a relationship shall be determined based on the reporting party's statement and with consideration of the length of the relationship, the type of relationship, and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship. For the purposes of this definition:

- Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse.
- Dating violence does not include acts covered under the definition of domestic violence

Domestic Violence

A felony or misdemeanor crime of violence committed:

- By a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim;
- By a person with whom the victim shares a child in common;
- By a person who is cohabitating with, or has cohabitated with, the victim as a spouse or intimate partner; and
- By a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction in which the crime of violence occurred, or by any other person against an adult or youth victim who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction in which the crime of violence occurred.

Drug Abuse Violations

The violation of laws prohibiting the production, distribution and/or use of certain controlled substances and the equipment or devices utilized in their preparation and/or use. The unlawful cultivation, manufacture, distribution, sale, purchase, use, possession, transportation or importation of any controlled drug or narcotic substance. Arrests for violations of state and local laws, specifically those relating to the unlawful possession, sale, use, growing, manufacturing and making of narcotic drugs. The relevant substances include: opium or cocaine and their derivatives (morphine, heroin, codeine); marijuana; synthetic narcotics - manufactured narcotics which can cause true addiction (Demerol, Methadone); and dangerous nonnarcotic drugs (barbiturates, Benzedrine).

Fondling

The touching of the private body parts of another person for the purpose of sexual gratification, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of his/her age or because of his/her temporary or permanent mental incapacity.

Hate Crime

A crime that manifests evidence that the victim was intentionally selected because of the perpetrator's bias. The applicable categories of bias are: race, gender, religion, sexual orientation, ethnicity/national origin and disability.

Incest

Non-forcible sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.

Liquor Law Violations

The violation of state or local laws or ordinances prohibiting the manufacture, sale, purchase, transportation, possession, or use of alcoholic beverages, not including driving under the influence and drunkenness. Include in this classification: manufacture, sale or possession of deadly weapons; carrying deadly weapons, concealed or openly; using, manufacturing, etc., of silencers; furnishing deadly weapons to minors; aliens possessing deadly weapons; and attempts to commit any of the above.

BOARD OF REGENTSSUMMARY OF ITEM FOR ACTION,
INFORMATION, OR DISCUSSIONTOPIC: USM Enrollment Projections: FY 2020-2029COMMITTEE: Education Policy and Student LifeDATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The Board of Regents III-4.10—Policy on Enrollment requires the Chancellor, in consultation with the presidents, to present an enrollment plan to the Board each year. Each institution is charged with having a well-coordinated enrollment management strategy based on the short-term realities that support the operating budget request and the long-term campus plan that supports the long-term capital needs.

The USM Office works in collaboration with the institutions to insure the accuracy of these projections by sharing supporting data, sharing analyses enrollment trends, and discussing the proposed enrollment plans with the campus leadership. Any significant issues are discussed and resolved, and the projection submission is modified when necessary. In recent years, this process has helped to develop enrollment plans that are more realistic with and increasingly more accurate for most USM institutions.

Following review and any campus discussion, the USM Office aggregated all institutional submissions received to date. The USM short-term enrollment projection continues to be reasonable with increasing precision.

Highlights of this year's institutional projections include:

- Overall headcount is projected to increase in Fall 2019 by 0.6%, an increase from 176,430 to 177,554. Without UMUC, growth in Fall 2019 is expected to be approximately 0.4%. These projections reflect enrollment stabilization at some institutions and the manageable growth plans expected at other institutions.
- Overall projected headcount growth for the ten-year period is 6.6%, an increase from 176,430 to just over 188,000.
- Undergraduate enrollment is projected to expand 6.4% over ten years from 135,132 to over 142,768.
- Graduate enrollment is projected to grow by 7.3% for the ten-year period from 41,298 to 44,318.

Projections were presented for action at the March Finance Committee meeting and approved by the Board on April 19, 2019. Presently, this report is being presented to EPSL as an information item and for discussion.

Enrollment Projections: FY 2020 (Fall 2019) – FY 2029 (Fall 2028)

Overview

The purpose of this annual report is to provide the Board of Regents with the institutional student enrollment and full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollment projections as required in the Board of Regents III-4.10 - Policy on Enrollment. The aggregate and institutional enrollment projections in this report are informed by the internal campus strategies for managing enrollment to meet the institution's access mission, to provide increases in key workforce development areas, and to enhance higher education quality in Maryland. Institutions are expected to have a well-coordinated enrollment management operation that reflects near-term and long-term realities, institutional missions, demographic and economic trends, and enrollment targets required for the projected campus size.

In total, the University System of Maryland (USM) enrollment projections for the period of FY 2020 through FY 2029 is estimated to have slight enrollment growth. In the short-term, enrollment is expected to increase just over 1,100 students next year and USM will continue an incremental, steady 1,000-1,200 increase each year through Fall 2028. The long-term growth over the next ten years is expected to increase 11,600 students for a total enrollment projected to over 188,086 by Fall 2028. The aggregate enrollment plan for the USM continues an enrollment growth trajectory like plans presented in recent years while incorporating enrollment shifts as required to meet the enrollment demand in the Workforce Development Initiative.

Highlighted Findings

Tables 1 through 15 summarize the ten-year projections from FY 2020 (Fall 2019) to FY 2029 (Fall 2028) by institution, by student level, and by overall enrollment demand. The tables also provide detailed projections for each institution and for the entire System over this period.

- In the short-term, between Fall 2018 and Fall 2019, headcount enrollment will rise by 0.6%, or approximately 1,100 students. After excluding UMUC, the increase 0.4% or a +500 student increase (see Table 1 and 2).
  - UB (-233) and UMES (-61) expect declines next year as the larger cohorts graduate and are replaced by smaller cohorts.
  - Coppin and UMB are expected to maintain enrollment.
  - UMUC (+606), Towson (+207), UMCP (+175), UMBC (+151), Salisbury (+133), Bowie (+85) and Frostburg (+71) are projected to grow a combined +1,428 students next year.
- USM is projecting a one-year 1,000 FTE growth. In most instances, changes in FTE reflected changes in headcount enrollment. The exceptions were UB and UMES, where the losses in headcount are not expected to decrease FTE. UMCP projects a slight increase in headcount with the same FTE as estimated in FY 2019.

- Over the long-term, headcount enrollment for the ten-year period is projected to increase from 176,430 to 188,086, an increase of 6.6%. If UMUC is excluded, the projected growth over the ten-year period will be 4.6% (increasing from 115,827 in Fall 2018 to 121,143 in Fall 2028).
  - UMCP (-875) projects a long-term enrollment decrease for the sixth consecutive year (sustained campus size of 40,325 versus 37,300 previously planned).
  - Coppin and UMB are expecting to retain the campus size into the future.
  - All other campuses project some enrollment growth (+13,068) over the next ten years—UMUC (+6,340), UMBC (+1,702), Towson (+1,269), Salisbury (+1,122), Bowie (+949), UMES (+355), UB (+417), and Frostburg (+314).
- Most of the enrollment growth is projected at the undergraduate level. Over the ten-year period, USM is projected to expand from 135,132 to 143,768 undergraduates, a 6.4% increase by Fall 2028. During this same period, graduate enrollment is expected to increase by 7.3% from 41,298 to 44,318. (see Table 1 and 2)

Summary

The aggregate annual and ten-year enrollment plan for the USM is like plans submitted from previous years. These plans reflect the institutional success in an increasingly competitive marketplace. Unlike previous years, campuses have incorporated enrollment shifts into academic programs that meet the Workforce Development Initiative. Some of these Workforce Development programs will grow enrollment in the regional higher education centers while others will grow or shift enrollment on campus.

As USM plans for FY 2029, one-half of USM's long-term enrollment will be accounted for by UMUC's growth, especially with non-traditional students within Maryland and across the nation. The remaining growth will be achieved by moderate enrollment growth plans by Bowie, Frostburg, Salisbury, Towson, University of Baltimore, UMBC, and UMES. Two institutions, Coppin and UMB, will remain the same size, and the state's flagship, University of Maryland, College Park, projects a long-term decrease in enrollment beginning in 2020.

In summary, the aggregate enrollment plan for the University System of Maryland, accounts for the institutional missions, reflects workforce development needs, enhances the quality of higher education, and remains on track with aggregate enrollment expectations approved by the Board of Regents in recent years.

TOPIC: William E. Kirwan Center for Academic Innovation Update

DATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The USM's William E. Kirwan Center for Academic Innovation was established in June 2013 to enhance and promote the System's position as a national leader in higher education academic innovation. The Center's charge is to capitalize on recent findings from the learning sciences and the capabilities of emerging technologies to increase access, affordability, and outcomes of higher education. We are bringing together academic change leaders from across the System to identify ways we might improve the success of students, evaluate the feasibility of these approaches, share our findings, and scale-up and sustain promising models.

Working at the System level has been vital to the impact that the Center has had to date. Our position allows us to leverage the collective strengths of our diverse institutions, which are working together to support innovation across the USM. From this vantage point we have been able to:

1. Create a collaborative environment to support innovation both among the USM institutions and across the State of Maryland;
2. Incubate initiatives aimed at catalyzing change;
3. Remove barriers that block progress; and
4. Lead the national conversation on academic transformation.

Dr. MJ Bishop, Director of the Kirwan Center, will share an update on the Center's progress since her last report.

TOPIC: 2019-2020 EPSL Agenda Brainstorming

DATE OF COMMITTEE MEETING: Tuesday, May 7, 2019

SUMMARY: The annual agenda for the committee on Education Policy and Student Life includes many standard reports, new academic program proposals, and other anticipated action and information items. As we conclude the Committee's business this year and in preparation for next year, regents will hear about a few key anticipated topics of interest. Additionally, the regents have the opportunity to suggest the addition of items that may warrant particular attention by the Board.
