Greetings from the Board of Regents

The 2023 Maryland General Assembly session is in full swing, meaning we’ve had plenty of opportunities to talk with lawmakers about the University System—our impact on the state and its people.

Many of these conversations center on the resources we need to keep that impact growing. Gov. Wes Moore’s FY24 operating budget proposal for the USM is $2.1 billion, nearly 11 percent over our FY23 appropriation.

Gov. Moore talks often about how education was transformative in his own life. He talks about its power to shape a future strengthened by knowledge and discovery, service and compassion. Gov. Moore has long been a friend to public higher education, and this budget shows his support—support that will allow us to limit tuition increases and keep a USM education affordable for Maryland students and their families.

That said, we know that nearly 50,000 Maryland students have unmet financial need, and we know that these students often turn to loans to fill the cost gap. That loan debt, in turn, can delay key milestones, like buying a home or starting a family. It can keep graduates from contributing to their communities through civic engagement and service.

That’s why we’re especially grateful for legislation (SB0426), sponsored by Sen. Nancy J. King, that provides for the USM to establish a quasi-endowment whose income would go toward financial aid for students across the System. This aid would be a lifeline for thousands of Maryland students—some who might otherwise be unable to attend college at all, and some who might attend, even graduate, but at a financial disadvantage that keeps them playing catch-up for years.

We encourage you to champion this bill and, with it, the brilliant, talented, deserving students it’s meant to help.

Sincerely,

Linda R. Gooden
Chair
USM Board of Regents

Jay A. Perman
Chancellor

Update on the USM FY2023 Operating Budget. The Finance Committee shared an update on the status of the USM operating budget as presented in the FY 2024 Governor’s Allowance. The USM budget includes revenues from state appropriations, tuition and fees, auxiliary services, federal and other contract and grants, and other revenues for a total budget of $6.7 billion. The governor’s FY 2024 proposal of $2.1 billion in state support to the system represents a 10.8 percent increase over the FY 2023 appropriation.

Update on the USM FY 2023 Capital Budget. The Finance Committee also shared an update on the status of the USM capital budget. The Governor’s FY 2024-28 Capital Improvement Program includes $993 million for the USM, representing a total increase (when compared with the Board’s request) of $56.619 million over the five years of the plan. The plan includes funds for design, renovation, and new construction projects at USM institutions, including the Interdisciplinary Engineering Building at UMCP; the Martin Luther King Jr. Communication Arts & Humanities Building at BSU; and the Health Professions building at TU. Gov. Moore added funds for several projects, including the Agricultural Research and Education Center at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES); and the Coastal Dynamics Laboratory at UMCES. The budget also includes $17 million in Academic Revenue Bond funding for systemwide facilities renewal.

Approval of an Amendment to the Policy on Affiliated Philanthropic Support Foundations.

The board approved several amendments to Board of Regents Policy (IX-2.00) on Affiliated Philanthropic Support Foundations to clarify the responsibilities of affiliated foundations and the scope of their activities. The policy amendments include new reporting requirements for affiliated foundations to enhance their transparency and accountability.

THE USM SAYS FAREWELL TO THE QUINTESSENTIAL USM LEADER, JOANN BOUGHMAN, SENIOR VICE CHANCELLOR FOR ACADEMIC AND STUDENT AFFAIRS

Trailblazing scientist. Gifted administrator. Policy wonk. Logistics czar. Student ally. Advocate. And a lifeline. These are just some of the roles listed as Chancellor Jay Perman paid tribute to retiring Senior Vice Chancellor of Academic and Student Affairs, Dr. Joann "Jo" Boughman during the Board of Regents meeting last Friday.

She was appointed by Chancellor Emeritus William E. Kirwan in 2012 and retired last month after more than a decade of inspiring leadership and tireless service to the USM. She championed initiatives to improve student success; strengthen the P–20 pipeline; advance diversity and inclusion; and ensure access and affordability. She led the USM’s COVID response, ensuring the safety and well-being of all on our university campuses. Her contributions to the USM span nearly 40 years, as she served as both a faculty member and administrator at UMB, making contributions too far-ranging to list in this newsletter, and her legacy will continue through the Student Voice Legacy Trust, which she established and endowed.

UMCES PRESIDENT PETER GOODWIN ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT AT THE END OF THE ACADEMIC YEAR

After serving as president of the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science for nearly six years, Dr. Peter Goodwin announced that he will retire at the end of the academic year. Under his leadership, UMCES has expanded the USM’s interinstitutional graduate program in marine and environmental science and produced pioneering research that allows scientists,

UMS ADVISORY COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES ADVOCATE FOR THE SYSTEM IN ANNAPOLIS

Last Wednesday, members of three USM advisory councils - the University System of Maryland Student Council, the Council of University System Faculty, and the Council of University System Staff - as well as representatives from the USM Women’s Forum, visited Annapolis for USM Advocacy Day. Before heading out in small groups for a day of meetings with Maryland legislators, these USM business leaders, educators and policymakers to better understand, protect, and restore Maryland’s natural resources. He held an integral role on the Governor’s Chesapeake Bay Cabinet and served as lead science advisor on the Maryland Commission on Climate Change. Representatives gathered with Chancellor Jay Perman and Vice Chancellor for Government Relations Patrick Hogan to discuss the System’s strategic priorities, funding needs, and support for Gov. Moore’s proposed budget for the USM.

PRESIDENTIAL SEARCH IS UNDERWAY AT TOWSON UNIVERSITY
The TU Presidential Search and Screening Committee has begun the work of identifying the university’s next president and held its first Town Hall last week. The committee is chaired by Regent Ellen Fish, who previously served on the TU Foundation Board of Directors. She is joined on the committee by Regent Hugh Breslin and nearly two dozen students, faculty, staff, alumni, and other stakeholders from the TU community, who will be responsible for developing a short list of the most qualified presidential candidates for the Board of Regents to consider.

THE MARYLAND MOMENTUM FUND INVESTS IN MARINALIFE, A TECH COMPANY WITH TIES TO TWO USM INSTITUTIONS
Last month, the USM Maryland Momentum fund announced that it had joined the Series A funding round for Marinalife, a Baltimore-based technology company delivering solutions that allow boaters and marinas to easily connect and manage transactions, supporting the state’s valuable boating industry. Snag-A-Slip, a Marinalife company—was founded by Dan Cowens, an alumnus of both Salisbury University (SU) and the University of Maryland Robert H. Smith School of Business.
